CAR HITS POST DRIVER KILLED

Charles J. McCabe Fatally Hurt in Subway in Toronto.

GOES THROUGH GLASS.

TORONTO, May 11—Striking one of the centre pedestals of the King Street Subway while driving west in his motor car early this morning, Charles J. McCabe, aged 32, of 569 Windermere Avenue, secretary-treasurer of McCabe and Company, Ltd., undertakers, 167 Bloor Street east, was hurled through the windshield, severing his jugular vein. He died within a few minutes of the mishap. He has removed to the General Hospital in an ambulance, where an examination showed life to be extinct.

The subway, the police say, is not very well lighted where the tragedy occurred. McCabe was going west along King Street at a fairly good rate of speed when, while opposite the tenth pedestal from the east end of the subway his car suddenly swerved and plunged head-on into the support. The crash was so terrific that McCabe was thrown headforemost through the windshield. The shattered glass cut his throat, severing the jugular vein.

Close behind McCabe's car when the collision occurred was another motor car in charge of Miss Kennedy, 347 Kennedy Road, with her was Miss G. Hughes, 166 Close Avenue. They were witnesses of the crash. As McCabe's car met the obstacle they heard the crash, applying the brakes Miss Kennedy stopped within a few feet of the other auto. As they were alighting McCabe tumbled out of the wrecked car, with his hand to his throat. He was covered with blood. He could not speak.

Realizing that the man was badly injured, the two young ladies set about obtaining aid for him. Dr. Bruce Barnes, 1247 King Street east, was called. He hurried to the scene, but was unable to do much for the badly stricken man. When the ambulance arrived McCabe was placed in it and rushed to the hospital.

Standardized Kitchens Needed To Stop Waste

GENEVA, May 11 (United Press)—Kitchens of the world should be standardized, three women members told the League of Nations International Economic Conference to-day.

They said that the difference in sizes of stoves, stove lids, pots, pans, kettles and kitchen fixtures caused waste throughout the world.

NEW ARRANGEMENT FOR HANDLING OF TOURISTS' AUTOMOBILES BETWEEN COBOURG AND ROCHESTER.

The Ontario Car Ferry Company of the Canadian National Railways takes pleasure in announcing that arrangements have been completed for the handling of tourists' automoolles between Cobourg, Ont. and Genesee Dock, N.Y., via the steamers Ontario No. 1 and Ontario No. 2, commencing with the scheduled summer service on May 28th.

This new arrangement will undoubtedly prove of great convenience to automobile tourists who will be able to take full advantage of this short and pleasant direct route between Central Ontario and Central New York State. Only a limited number of cars may be handled on any one trip of the steamers, and in view of the anticipated heavy traffic, it will be necessary to make reservations in advance through the Agent at Cobourg. The charge for each automobile will be $12.50 each way.

Tourists will also require to comply with the regulations of the Canadian and United States' Customs respecting the export and entry of their cars. 2d-4-11.

TRENT CANAL

CONCRETE DAM AT LOCK 24 Notice to Contractors

SEALED tenders, addressed to the undersigned and marked "Tender for Concrete Dam at Lock 24, Trent Canal," will be received at this office until 12 o'clock noon, standard time, on Tuesday, June 7th, 1927.

Plans, specifications and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on or after the date of this notice at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Superintending Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterborough, Ont.

Copies of plans and specifications may be obtained from the Department on the payment of the sum of twenty-five dollars. To bona fide tenderers this amount will be refunded upon the return of the above in good condition.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $9,000.00, made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, (or Dominion of Canada Bonds to the same amount, or Dominion of Canada Bands and accepted cheques, if required to make up the amount, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque or bonds or cheques and bonds thus sent in will be returned to the respective Contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque or bonds, or the cheque and bonds of the successful tenderer will be held as security or part security for the fulfilment of the contract into which he enters.

The lowest, or any tender, not necessarily accepted.

By order,
J. W. DUGSLEY,
Secretary.

OBITUARY.

DR. A. H. LLOYD

DETROIT, Mich., May 11 (Canadian Press).—Dr. Alfred H. Lloyd, Dean of the Graduate School of the University of Michigan, died here today, aged 63 years.

MRS. HARRY PEARSON.

Death called away on Tuesday morning at 9.30, after a short illness, one of Smith's most highly respected citizens in the person of Drucilla Pendergrass, beloved wife of Harry Pearson, at her late residence in Smith township.

The deceased had been ill but a short time and her death came as a severe shock to her many friends.

Mrs. Pearson was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Pendergrass of Lakehurst, where she was born 61 years ago, but had resided in Smith most of her life.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother, a sorrowing husband, three sons, Reginald, Wellington and Stanley at home; three daughters, Mrs. Samuel Trude of Lakefield; Mrs. Wilbert Northey of Smith, and Mrs. Galvin Dunford, of Detroit, Mich., and an only sister, Mrs. Lizzie Faucett, of Lakehurst.

The funeral took place from the family residence on Thursday afternoon at 1.30, conducted by Rev. S. M. Wesley, assisted by Mr. S. A. Northey and proceeded to Lakefield cemetery where interment was held.

The pall bearers were her three sons: Reginald, Wellington and Stanley, and three sons-in-law, Samuel Trude, Wilbert Northey and Galvin Dunford.

The many beautiful floral tributes showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held. She was a faithful member of Wesley United Church, and a kind and loving friend to all. Being of such a bright and cheerful disposition she will be sadly missed in her home and community.

Resentment Disappears.

While resentment against false news of the arrival in North America of Nungesser and Coli still lingers, bitterness toward the United States, apparently attributable to reports that the United States weather bureau withheld forecasts, is gradually subsiding in view of despatches describing the whole-hearted efforts by United States authorities to find the missing fliers. The question on everybody's lips is "how long can the Nungesser-Coli 'White Bird' remain afloat?" If it descended gently it could float for a long time, owing to the empty gas tanks forming ideal floats. The aviators had a small cook stove, with apparatus to distill sea water for drinking, flares and rockets, compressed food, and fishing tackle.

Liner Follows Course.

HAVRE, France, May 11 (Canadian Press).—The liner France, leaving tonight for New York, has been ordered by the French Line to follow the route Captain Nungesser's trans-Atlantic plane is supposed to have taken in the hope of rescuing the aviators.

During the voyage the France will follow the line between 56 north latitude 30 west longitude and 53 north latitude 40 west longitude.

Sub Reports Plane.

LONDON, May 11 (Canadian Press) —The British submarine H-50 sighted a plane believed to be Nungesser's, near the Isle of Wight at 7.15 o'clock on Sunday morning in the English Channel, the Admiralty announced.

Canada Co-operates.

OTTAWA, May 11 (Canadian Press). — The Canadian Government is co-operating to the fullest extent in the continued search for the missing French fliers, Captains Nungesser and Coli, and fresh instructions have been issued to radio stations, coastguard stations, and patrol vessels along the Atlantic coast.

BISHOP VISITS MANY CHURCHES

HERE NEXT SUNDAY.

TORONTO, May 11.—His Lordship Rt. Rev. Bishop Sweeny will today administer the rite of Confirmation in St. George's Church, Oshawa, at 8 p.m. As is the usual custom, the girls from Bishop Bethune's College, who are candidates for confirmation will participate in the ceremony at St. George's, this being their parish church.

On Friday His Lordship will go to Innisfail for the consecration of the new addition to the cemetery adjacent to St. Paul's Church. The service will take place at 3 p.m. He will also administer the rite of Confirmation at St. Peter's in Churchill at 8 p.m.

On Sunday His Lordship has three Confirmation services in Peterborough—in the morning at 11 in St John's Church; at St. Luke's at 3 p.m., and in the evening, at 7 o'clock in All Saints'.

On Monday there will be confirmation at Warsaw.

On Tuesday next, May 17, the Bishop will go to Havelock for Confirmation and the dedication of some rifts at the Church of St. John the Evangelist, and in the evening he will officiate at Confirmation in Christ Church, Campbellford. On Wednesday he will be back in Toronto again in time to administer the rite of Confirmation at St. Philip's Church at 8 p.m.

Standard Exchange Quiet; Gains and Losses Even

TORONTO, May 11 (Canadian Press).—With total sales of less than half a million shares, business on the Standard Mining Exchange today was quiet and featureless. The market was steady, with declines and gains being evenly distributed throughout the list. Teck Hughes gained six at 8.00, Vipond Consolidated gained six at 120, Kirkland Lake declined eight at 1.38, and Area was up one at 5¾. Argonaut Consolidated lost two at 49. On the unlisted side, Noranda was 25 higher at 2.95. Amulet lost five at 124 and Central Manitoba Mines lost 12 at 168. Total sales amounted to 461,212 shares.

The margul, a Mexican tree, supplies from its bark a thread three times a strong as ordinary cotton.

Weather Conditions Better; Wheat Prices Lower

CHICAGO, May 11 (Canadian Press).—With better weather conditions northwest, wheat averaged lower today during the early dealings. Improved prospects for Spring seeding more than offset here the effect of higher quotations at Liverpool and of bullish aspects of the Canadian Government crop report. Opening ¾c off to ⅝c up, wheat later underwent a material setback all around. Corn, oats, and provisions were relatively firm, corn starting at ⅛c decline to ⅝c advance and then scoring slight general gains.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 117⅜; July 135⅝. Corn, May 79¼, July 84⅝. Oats, May 48⅝, July 48⅞.

Upward Move Shows In Spite Of Speculators

NEW YORK, May 11 (Canadian Press)—Opeartors for the advance seemed to experience more difficulty in getting prices up in to-day's stock market, despite the leadership of several high grade industrial and railroad issues.

A number of oil stocks displayed outstanding strength. A big falling off in building permits throughout the country presumably was responsible for the weakness of Foundation Company, which declined four points. Reports of new combinations continued to have their effect. Certainteed products moving up to new peak. Food and Public Utilities stocks showed further responses to popular demand.

United States Steel showed intermittent flashes of strength, at one time selling up to within a point of its record high and there was also a general inquiry for the best grades of Southern Railway shares.

Toronto Exchange Active After Listless Opening

TORONTO, May 11. Canadian Press. — Following a listless early session, business on the Toronto stock exchange brightened considerably as the noon recess approached and a sudden flurry of trading began. As a result Noranda established a new high at 23.20, a gain of 50c; Central Manitoba mines dropped 12 to 170, authority, and was not for the 140. Massey Harris common was the leader on the listed market with nearly three thousand shares dealt in and the issue gaining ¾ at 37¼. Burt Common was up 1½ at 61; Canadian Canners preferred 1¼ higher at 93½, and International Nickel 1¼ higher at 57¾. McKinnon common gained 1½ at 25½, with the voting trust remaining unchanged at 25½. Seagrams gained 3-8 at 25 7-8, and Dominion Stores dropped 2 3-8 at 80 5-8.

Winnipeg May Become Centre Of Grain Trade

CHICAGO May 11. — That grain commission merchants propose to remove from Chicago to some other city because of hostile legislation is shown by the active bidding by other cities for this enormous business. Toledo and Kansas City in the States, and Winnipeg in Canada are particularly alert in this respect. In Winnipeg, due to anticipation of heavy demands for memberships on the Board of Trade, the price of seats jumped overnight to $9000, an increase of $2000 in a few hours.

More than 50 of the larger grain dealers in Chicago already have seats on the Winnipeg and Kansas City Exchanges, and it is through these exchanges that Chicago firms are now dealing in December futures, which class of trading was suspended here a few days ago.

The Kessinger Bill, which has passed the Illinois Senate, is responsible for depriving Chicago of its prestige as the grain centre of the world. This bill, if it becomes a law, would put the Board of Trade under the complete control of a State Commission—the usual crowd of politicians. If it becomes a law, the Chicago Board of Trade will practically cease to operate.

is a painful affliction which affects people of all ages, but is especially common with children. It may be associated with almost any illness of childhood, or may come on after vigorous exertion or after exposure to cold or dampness. It results from inflammation or irritation of the nerves of the ear. This irritation may be chemical or mechanical. A mechanical irritation is caused by pressure upon a nerve by bony or cartilaginous tissue. The ears are supplied by fibres from both spinal and cranial nerves.

SPINAL NERVE FIBRES

controlled by the upper four cervical vertebrae, send branches to the carotid and cavernous plexuses from which fibres go to the ears. If one of these neck vertebrae gets slightly displaced and causes pressure upon one or more nerve fibres supplying the ear, you will suffer with some abnormal sound or sensation in the affected ear. Many earaches are produced in this way, and they can be corrected by

JUNIOR WORK IS CONSIDERED AT CONVENTION

W. M. S. Reports on Work of Young People's Organizations.

CLOSING SESSION.

Mission Bands and Circles and C.G.I.T. Groups Are Doing Well.

Sundry business and reports, mainly concerned with Young People's Work, wound up the closing session yesterday afternoon, of the second annual meeting, Lindsay Presbyterial, of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, holding a two-day session this week in George Street United Church. Mrs. R. G. Lawlor of Norwood, the new president, was in the chair. The meeting opened with devotional services conducted by Mrs. Wm. McDonald, representing Knox Church Auxiliary, with prayer led by Mrs. A. Mackenzie and Mrs. Roy Laing. The minutes of the previous session were read by Mrs. W. H. Morton, recording secretary, and the roll call of Young Women's Auxiliaries, Circles, C.G.I.T. Groups, and Mission Bands was made by Mrs. H. Morrison of Lindsay. The appointment of an auditor was made, in the person of Mr. Shipman of Cannington.

Annual Reports.

Presbyterial Annual Reports included the report of Mission Bands by Mrs. E. W. Rowland of Omemee, the report of C.G.I.T. Groups, by Mrs. E. Harstone of Woodville, the report of Circles, by Mrs. F. Riches of Cambray, and the report of the Young Women's Auxiliaries, given by Mrs. E. A. Bailey of Lakefield, followed by general discussion.

Mrs. Rowland reported 32 bands in the Presbyterial, with an annual membership of 837 and Life membership of 85, totalling 922 members. Three new bands were organized during the year, Fenelon Falls, under leadership of Mrs. Twigg and Mrs. Gamble, Havelock, under Mrs. W. R. Archer, and Knox Church, Peterborough, Mission Band, led by Mrs. Howard Clegg. Queen street branch of Queen street Church, Lindsay, led in membership and money raised, with a great deal of credit given to Miss Windrem and George street Church band came next, with Omemee and Norwood almost a tie. Figures of the different Bands were given as follows: Beaverton, 35 members and funds raised amounting to $54.34, Cambray, 17 members, $58.13, Cannington, 36 members, $51.10, Coboconk, 12 members, $16, Eden, 68 members, $32.78, Fenelon Falls, 20 members, $17.20, Greenbank, 45 members, $7.25, Havelock, 26 members, $43.00, Kinmount, 10 members, $22.00, Lakefield (Knox) 25 members, $45.74, (Regent street) 38 members, $32.60, Lindsay (Cambridge street) 26 members, $55.00, (Queen street) 76 members, $111.30, Little Britain, 33 members, $14.20, Lorneville, 32 members, $28.07, Manilla, 7 members, $3.60, Norwood, 32 members, $77.00, Oakwood, 52 members, $49.35, Omemee, 35 members, $75.12, George street, Peterborough, 61 members, 92.19, Knox Church, Peterborough, 24 members, $48.15, St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough, 26 members, $10.00, Mark street, Peterborough, 29 members, $46.46, Peniel, 8 members, $8.00, Stewart Hall, $2.50, Valencia North, 6 members, $13.00, Valencia South, 15 members, $17.75, Springville, $36.50, Salem, 18 members, $11.60, Woodville, 23 members, $72.83. The total amount raised by the Bands was $1204.78, of which $1150.96 was remitted to the Branch treasurer. Annual members' fees brought $83, Life members' fees 80, Thankofferings $193.22, Mite Boxes $57.94, and other sources, including envelopes, $790.62.

Mrs. Harstone reported 7 C.G.I.T. groups affiliated with the W.M.S. led by St. Andrew's, Peterborough, group, headed by Mrs. J. A. McKone, with 42 members and givings of 64.00. Knox Church, Peterborough, under Mrs. Roy Laing, came next. Total givings amounted to 98.50 from the C.G.I.T. Groups. Mrs. Harstone also outlined the aims and scope of the C.G.I.T. programme, and advocated the giving of a regular allowance to C.G.I.T. girls, mentioning the case of a small girl who gets 50 cents a week, and keeps only 15 cents for her own use, the remainder being divided between her savings bank and her church collections.

Mrs. F. Riches of Cambray, reporting on Circles, recorded 14 within the Presbyterial at the commencement of the year, Bridgenorth having dropped out later, leaving 13 active Circles, with a membership of 398, and total funds raised at $2450.27, an average of about 6 per member. Special men-

Report That Aviators Were Sighted Is False

NEW YORK, May 12 (United Press).—New York and other cities had another brief flurry of excitement yesterday over reports that Captains Nungesser and Coli, Paris-to-New York aviators had been found.

The report originated in New Bedford, Mass., and was to the effect that an unidentified fishing boat had "sighted" the French plane off the Massachusetts coast.

Investigation discredited the report, but in the meantime it had been widely circulated, reaching such separated cities as Detroit and Baltimore, and in New York was carried on broker wires, creating much excitement on Wall Street.

BOYS DISCUSS CITY AFFAIRS

WELL CONDUCTED.

As part of Citizenship day in "Boys Week," a full boys' City Council sat in the aldermanic chairs in the city council last night, and discussed matters that are of vital importance to the city.

Boy Mayor G. Richardson opened the meeting by bringing the city transportation problem up for discussion.

"It is up to this council to formulate some plan whereby there will not be a tie-up like the one that occurred a month ago, when all classes of citizens were considerably inconvenienced. There have been two solutions suggested: The first is to do away with the two-man street cars, and replace them by one-man cars, but in this I believe the initial cost is too great. Then again it is hardly likely the city would make them pay when the Hydro was not able to. Three hundred automobiles have been sold in this city this year, and taking a family to average five persons, there are then 1500 people who will ride in street cars no more. Then the problem might be solved by having a private bus company. Both companies admit at present they are not making any money, so I think we might be able to give a limited franchise for a number of years, and let the first company take over the buses of the second.

Alderman J. Collins moved, seconded by Alderman D. Gordon, that the Borden City Transit Company be given a franchise for a number of years. When the motion was put it was carried unanimously.

Alderman G. Kay moved that the council build in the James Stevenson Park, tennis courts and bowling greens, and that one of the houses be turned into suitable dressing rooms; that a dyke be built along the river to prevent flooding in the spring, and that the park be free to all sporting organizations.

Alderman J. Hall, in seconding the motion, said that in the future, he thought the caretaker ought to be appointed earlier in the season, so that the grass would not become too long for cutting, and the ball club would be able to practise. He also suggested that new wire netting be put in front of the stands, that they be painted, and that the score board be fixed.

The motion was carried.

Alderman D. Gardiner moved, seconded by Alderman Hanna that a more suitable place be provided for a tourist camp, which was carried.

He said the exhibition ground was not the kind of camp that tourists wanted, and he suggested establishing one in Jackson park.

The council was composed of Mayor G. Richardson; Clerk, R. Howden; Aldermen G. Kay, J. Collins, H. Snider, D. Gordon, H. Bath, J. Hall, P. Hanna, G. Rishor, D. Gardiner and J. Madden.

The only criticism Mayor Holloway had to offer after the Boys' Council adjourned, was that they did not scarp like the City Council. He said he would have liked to have heard the subjects further discussed, but he congratulated the boys on the way they handled the meeting.

STAGE READY BORDER LAW CONFERENCE

Secretary of State Kellog and Vincent Massey Head DELEGATES.

SET FOR TO-DAY.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (Canadian Press)—The stage is set for the international conference between Canada and the United States on border immigration to-day.

It is understood that Secretary of State Kellogg will head the United States conferees, instead of leaving initial details to subordinates. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian minister, will therefore, head the Canadian party, which will include A. L. Jolliffe, Canadian commissioner of immigration, and Hume Wrong, of the Canadian legation. Secretary Kellogg will be seconded by an imposing array of high officals for the United States.

Mr. Massey was in all day conference with his secretaries preparing the Canadian case in the border immigration ruling requiring Canadian residents working on the United States side of the boundary to comply with the United States laws on the same basis as immigrants. The legation has been hard at work for two days preparing arguments looking toward modification of the ruling affecting Canadians born outside the Dominion.

Non-native Canadians working in border cities in the United States are estimated as numbering 5,000 at Windsor alone, with several hundred at Niagara Falls, Sarnia, and other points.

Are Condemning

Newspapers from every part of Ontario, from Winnipeg and Montreal, reaching Washington are condemning editorially the discrimination postponed in the new regulations. News dispatches received here record the action of the border chambers of commerce petitioning the Dominion government to compel suspension of regulations under threat of reprisals. Neither the state department nor the labor department will comment on these matters, but gossip freely reports that the United States immigration authorities never realized the possible extent of the reaction of Canadians at points distant from the border.

No inkling of the brief Canada will present at the conference has been disclosed, but it is likely that the question of the right of the United States to define a Canadian citizen will come up, and the state department will have to consider the possibility that Canada might claim the right to define United States citizenship in any international transactions such as deportation cases. Matters in which this possible definition by Canada would be of interest to the United States are coming up almost weekly between the two countries. Mr. Massey declined to discuss any of these affairs to-day.

Not Taking Part

The British embassy is taking no part initially because the morkers affected are nearly all naturalized Canadians. If their naturalization is not recognized by the United States, the British embassy may be compelled to take a hand. The embassy has been watching the case closely.

In the absence of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, the Canadian Press could not obtain any comment on the charge reiterated in Canada that organized labor in Detroit had compelled the imposition of the new restrictions.

The whole matter of the new immigration rulings has aroused more interest here than anything which has come under the purview of the Canadian legation since its formation.

The state department, it is understood, hopes that to-morrow's conference may be completed at one day's sitting, but there is a possibility that a longer time may be required to sift the views of both delegations and thoroughly discuss the issue.

COLLECTOR ROBBED OUTSIDE WINNIPEG

Found Trussed in Sack and Securely Bound on Lonely Road.

Press)—Trussed in a sack, his hands and feet firmly bound with strong cord, Harry Friedman, collector for a local fruit company, was found in his automobile on a suburban road five miles from the city late yesterday. Friedman claims that he was kidnapped by three men from in front of a downtown departmental store and robbed of $1,700.

A Taxi Driver By Day Sings Opera At Night

CHICAGO, May 12 (A.P.).—A taxi driver will become "Elijah" for a night, when Saul Silverman sings the title role of the Handel oratorio at Orchestra Hall June 1.

Silverman drives a cab to support himself, his wife and their child, and to finance his voice studies. Though only 25 years old, Silverman has appeared on the same stage with Tito Schipa, Rosa Raisa and Giacomo Rimini.

In Los Angeles, where Silverman also was a cab driver, his voice was judged so promising that he won a transfer to Chicago where he might find better opportunities for study.

Silverman's voice is described as an "extraordinary bass."

BAKING SCHOOL IS PRESENTED BY ASSOCIATION

LOCATED AT GUELPH.

New School Associated With Ontario Agricultural College.

The official presentation and opening of the Trent Institute, Canadian School of Baking, at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, by the Bread and Cake Bakers' Association and the Allied Trades to the College and to the Prime Minister of Ontario, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, B.A., K.C., LL.D., was held yesterday at the new building erected on the grounds of the Agricultural College.

The ceremony began at eleven o'clock in front of the institution when the Gift Deed was presented to the Ontario Government by James Dutton, president of Bread and Cake Bakers' Association, and president of Stock's Bread Company of this city. In presenting the deed, Mr. Dutton remarked that it was a very happy and momentous day for the Association. He stated that the inception of this project dated back a quarter of a century, to a convention that was held in Toronto in 1902 when Professor Harcourt, in the course of an address, made the statement that he believed the day would come when a School of Baking, where men could study the science of their craft, would be a necessity.

Then for a long time nothing was done in connection with the thought of such a school, until 1923 a company of prominent bakers assembled at the College to take short courses on chemistry, biology, technology, in such a way that it proved very beneficial to those who attended the classes. It was then decided that a permanent School of Baking was a real necessity, so at the annual convention in the same year the inaugural campaign was launched for raising the necessary funds, which it was estimated would amount to about forty thousand dollars.

"At this convention," said Mr. Dutton, "three thousand was raised, and then through the untiring efforts of the honorary secretary, H. E. Trent, the various presidents of the Association and many others, the amount required was raised, thus do we honor our secretary by naming this school after his name, The Trent Institute."

On behalf of the Association, Mr. Dutton expressed their sincere appreciation of the sympathetic interest and support given by the Provincial Government, for the building was erected under the supervision of the Provincial architect.

The Government also provided the site, and undertook to supply the heating and lighting for the building. He also thanked the Allied Trades for their gifts of money, machinery and other necessary equipment, and for part of the library furniture. To Principal Reynolds, Professor Harcourt, and other members of the College faculty, he also expressed the hearty appreciation of the Association.

"To the Fleischman Yeast Company," said Mr. Dutton, "we acknowledge our indebtedness for their practical interest and generosity in the contribution they made towards the building."

Important Industry.

In speaking about the importance of the baking industry, he stated that out of the forty leading industries in the Dominion, the baking industry ranked seventh, and so with the opening of the school, the industry enters upon a new phase in its history and is stepping out into a new consciousness. Mr. Dutton said that the Association realizes that in the manufacture of a people's food they had a great responsibility, and so one of the

MISSING BOOKS IN LIMELIGHT BEFORE BOARD

O'Keefe's Officials Say Every Effort Being Made To Trace Books.

OFFERED REWARD.

Refusal To Renew License Leaves Number of Men Idle.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 12. Canadian Press. — The missing books of the O'Keefe Beverages, Limited, of Toronto, were again in the limelight before the Royal Customs Commission yesterday afternoon, when D. I. McCarthy, K.C., applied for restoration of this company's license, which was not renewed at the beginning of last April. Argument on his application was still in progress when the commission rose. During the Toronto sittings of the commission, auditors having reported that necessary books and documents of the O'Keefe Beverages, Limited, had not been made available to them, brewery officers were called to explain where they were. Their explanation shed no light on the matter and finally the commission recommended to the Minister of Customs that the expiring license of this brewery be not renewed until the books were forthcoming. The recommendation was followed out, and instructions were given not to renew the license.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. McCarthy, F. H. Phippen, K.C. president of the O'Keefe Beverages, Limited, and Arthur L. Hodgson, head of the Pinkerton detective agency in Toronto, shed what light they could on the situation before and after the loss of the books, which have not been found. Mr. McCarthy stressed one point.

Not ones Required.

"The books over which such a fuss is being raised are not the books which are required under the specific war revenue act," he declared. The books which were made available, he believed, contained all the information required by the commission. The books which were removed by Charles Miller, former president of the O'Keefe's Beverages, Limited, might be described as a portion of the private books of the company," and he submitted that these were not necessary. He commented on "the very severe penalty" inflicted on the O'Keefe Company, "which I understand has been inflicted on no other brewery."

Mr. McCarthy impressed upon the commission that very energetic steps had been taken to find the books during the forty two days which have elapsed since the company lost its license. First, he said, advertisements were inserted in all the Toronto daily newspapers, offering a reward of $1000 to anyone who could furnish information which would lead to the recovery of the lost records. At the same time the matter had been placed in the hands of the Pinkerton agency in Toronto. "Their representative has satisfied himself that the books are not destroyed ,and he can find no trace of them," counsel for the brewery told the commission.

The newspaper advertisements brought two replies, Mr. McCarthy said, which were turned over to the Pinkerton agency. Neither of them, apparently, bore fruit.

Loss of Work.

When Mr. Phippen took the stand he informed the commissioner that the loss of the books was embarrassing the O'Keefe Beverages Limited, in more ways than that of losing their license. He pointed out that the company had been in litigation with the government on the question of whether sales tax was payable on export beer sales. The lost records were necessary in this litigation.

"It is of the utmost importance that the books be produced, aside from the loss of the license," he declared.

"About 150—130 to be exact," replied Mr. Phippen, referring to his records.

The company has kept these men on thus far hoping that it would obtain a renewal of the license but it could not do that indefinitely, he stated.

"Would your company, in the event of the license being restored and the books turning up, guarantee to produce them?" asked Mr. McCarthy.

"Certainly," replied Mr. Phippen.

Mr. Phippen explained his connection with the O'Keefe Beverages, Limited, as one which had no personal interest for himself. He was, he said, an executor of the estate of the late Cawthra Mulock, and this estate owned forty per cent. of the stock of the O'Keefe Beverages. The

Unable To Collect $2 Takes Debtor's Clothes

NEW YORK, May 12.—When Patrolman Joseph Duffy discovered William Grad in an alley with nothing on but his underwear, Grad told him another man had thrown him down and robbed him of his clothes. Duffy ran around the corner and saw a man running away with clothes on his arm. When Duffy overtook him the fugitive said he was Joseph Masse and admitted taking Grad's clothes.

"But," he added, "that guy owed me $2. He wouldn't pay me so when I saw him, I cornered him and took his clothes."

Duffy ordered Masse to return the clothes and then took both men to headquarters.

PLAY CONTEST ENDS IN DRAW

Judges Unable To Choose Between St. John's and St. Luke's.

UNDER A.Y.P.A. AUSPICES.

The result of the Dramatic contest whose final section was staged at St. John's parish hall last evening was a tie between the A.Y.P.A. of St. John's Church and the A.Y.P.A. of St. Luke's Church. The judges, Mr. F. E. Kerr, Mr. A. D. Clark and Miss Cathleen McCarthy, of The Examiner staff, were unable to decide on the equally fine presentation of plays by both these societies ,and the result was therefore a draw between them.

The contest, presented under the auspices of the Anglican Young People's Association of the District, was entered into by six of the A.Y.P.A. societies of various churches. Last week, three one-act plays were given in the parish hall of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Lindsay, by the A.Y.P.A. of that church, the A.Y.P.A. of Christ Church, Omemee, and the A.Y.P.A. of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham. Last evening, in the parish hall of St. John's Church, the contest concluded with the presentation of three more one-act plays given by the A.Y.P.A. of St. John's Church, the A.Y.P.A. of St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook, and the A.Y.P.A. of St. John the Baptist Church, in Lakefield.

The plays, as was the case in Lindsay last week, were cleverly presented and enacted in every instance, the comedy element which was one of the rules of the contest providing plenty of amusement for the large audience, the parish hall of St. John's Church being filled to capacity for the occasion, with a goodly representation of visitors from Lakefield, Millbrook, Omemee and Lindsay. Announcements were made by Mr. W. J. Kent, and a musical programme between plays included selections by an orchestra, giving some popular music in snappy style, with Miss A. Horn at the piano, and the Caledonian Choir, a group of about twenty men and women from the Caledonian Club who sang very tune fully and sweetly several selections, including "Awake," "Hail, Smiling Morn" and "Sweet and Low," led by Mr. A. D. Clark, with Miss Mary Hemphill as pianiste.

The decision of the judges was delivered by Mr. Kerr, who praised the work of the various societies taking part in the contest, referring to the play, "Thirty Minutes for Refreshments," presented last week by the A.Y.P.A. of St. Paul's Church, Lindsay, as being, in his opinion, the best real comedy offering of the contest. However, honors for all-round excellence in presentation were divided equally between St. John's and St. Luke's, of Peterborough. St. John's Church probably offered a more finished production, owing in part to playing on their own stage, with every element available for easy production, while St. Luke's suffered the handicap of a strange stage and very little setting, this disadvantage being overcome by the very apparent element of spontaneity and naturalness injected into their acting by the youthful performers.

The judges were of the opinion that a re-presentation of both plays on a neutral stage, or the presentation by both societies of an entirely new play, in which both might compete on a neutral stage, would be the best solution of the problem.

Rheims Cathedral Formally Re-opened

RHEIMS, France, May 12 (Canadian Press).—The war-torn Cathedral of Rheims has been opened. M. Herriot, Minister of Education and Fine Arts, handed the keys of the partially restored building yesterday to Cardinal Lucon, Archbishop of Rheims. It is stated it will take almost fifty years to complete the restoration.

JUNIORS PRESENT.

Discuss Resurfacing of George Street From Charlotte To C.P.R.

Transportation and paving were the important subjects discussed at the special meeting of the City Council last night when the junior council occupied chairs alongside of the aldermen. Each alderman took special care to explain everything to his charge, and the boys went home knowing more about how the business of the city was transacted.

It was decided to ask legal advice as to whether the Police Commission could give one transportation company the franchise for the City of Peterborough. Mayor Holloway, in opening the discussion, said that it was up to the Council to decide whether they were going to let the Border City Transit Company withdraw their buses and leave the city with three buses as a transportation service, "or are we going to ask the Police Commission to grant a franchise to this company. We must give the Commission a written legal opinion as to whether they can cancel all other franchises," said His Worship.

Alderman Ackerman then moved, seconded by Alderman Cotton, that the city secure legal opinion as to whether the Police Commission would be able to grant a franchise to one transportation company.

Alderman Phelan objected to the way the Council was using Cooney and Jopling. "It has been said that they have not capital enough to give the city a service, but they never have been asked. I suggest that we have a conference with Cooney and Jopling and see whether they are able to give the city a suitable service."

Alderman Ackerman: "We got to provide transportation for the citizens of Peterborough, and Cooney and Jopling have known the situation for months and have never let the Council know what they were prepared to do the other company has."

Alderman Fife thought that Cooney and Jopling ought to be met so as to see if the situation could not be solved.

Alderman Denne: "We are not taking action against Cooney and Jopling, it is only legal advice which we ought to have, that we are asking for."

Aldermen Ackerman, Macdonald, Cotton and Mayor Holloway were appointed a committee to go into the matter and prepare an agreement for to present to the Council.

Welcomes Boys' Council.

Mayor Holloway, in welcoming the Boys' Council, expressed the hope that there would be other meetings in the future with the junior council as is the practice in other cities in Ontario. "The boys are doing a real work for the city and they are getting experience along with it, and on the whole I hope this meeting will be a real benefit to the Council, the city and the citizens in general."

Addresses Council

Ex-Mayor Mitchell of Windsor and the President of the Border City Transit Company, addressed the Council on the transportation problem. He said that his company had the complete backing of the Gotfredson Motor Company of Canada and that they were willing to give the City of Peterborough suitable transportation if arrangements could be made.

With the two bus companies operating in this city, his company was barely making expenses, as the second company was operating at the time of day when the most revenue could be obtained. His company had thrown up a contract with the Hydro, which bound the Hydro to pay for each bus as if driven 100 miles a day for three months, so as the citizens of Peterborough would have some kind of a transportation service. His company could not continue with the present opposition on the streets and he believed that this could be overcome by the Police Commission refusing to give prmiets to other companies. In Windsor when Mr. Mitchell was chairman of the Police Commission, that body had refused to grant permits, and the case was taken to the courts, and the city won out. Mr. Mitchell said his company would give the citizens a better service as he had gone over the routes today, and found that these could be so changed so as to take in more streets and still give the people the same rapid service. "If we can get any suitable proposition from your Council, giving a committee power through your solicitor to act, we are willing to come to an agreement whereby the citizens of Peterborough will be given a transportation service," said Mr. Mitchell.

Mayor Holloway said he had discussed the legal side of the matter with the Police Commission and he had been assured that if suitable legal advice could be given the other permits would be rescinded.

COUNTY OFFICE COMES TO CITY

PREPARATIONS MADE.

The office of the County Agricultural representatives is being moved from Norwood to Peterborough and will be situated in the Lundy Block at 267 George Street. This office was formerly occupied by the Hydro Electric Power Commission until the street railway ceased operation. The interior of the building is being redecorated and partitions are being put up.

Hon. John S. Martin, when addressing the annual banquet of the Exhibition Board this winter, announced that the office of the representative would be changed from Norwood to the county town and it is expected that the change will take place in a few weeks. In all probability the new representative, who was recently appointed, will start his duties in this new office.

TRADES BILL STORM CENTRE IN PARLIAMENT

Opposition Parties Ready For Long Session To Discuss Measure.

HASTEN PASSAGE.

Former Premier Censures the Unions Measure Now Pending.

LONDON, May 12 (Canadian Press) —With the inauguration yesterday of the committee stage of the Government's Trades Unions Bill, to make coercive strikes or lockouts illegal, the House of Commons is faced with the prospect of long and bitter sessions.

Notification has already been given of more than 350 amendments and other are expected. The Laborites are prepared to continue fighting the bill tooth and nail. The Liberals, headed by former Premier Lloyd George, will also press several amendments.

The Government intends to suspend to-night the rule which automatically closes the daily session at 11 p.m. Consequently all-night sittings are in prospect.

Hasten Passage.

Suspension of this rule may be invoked daily to hasten passage of the measure, which the Government aims to have enacted before the end of the present session of Parliament. Other steps may be taken to expedite the bill, but these depend upon the tactics adopted by the Opposition.

Should the Government regard progress as too slow, it can employ two forms of closure, either the "guillotine," which sets a time limit for the discussion of the various clauses, or the "Kangaroo," which empowers the chairman of a committee to hurdle amendments, eliminating any which he judges are merely obstructive.

By-Elections.

Two approaching by-elections in Great Britain, one in the Bosworth division of Leicestershire, and the other in the Westbury division of Wiltshire, are expected to prove an indication of what the country thinks of the Government's now famous Trade Unions Bill.

All three political parties will have candidates in the field, with Labor hopeful of winning the Bosworth seat because of the large mining vote certain to be polled. The campaign has already opened and polling day has been set for May 31.

Both seats were formerly held by the Conservatives, but the Liberals are nevertheless straining every effort to oust the Tory candidates.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 12. — (United Press).—J. Ramsay MacDonald, former British Prime Minister, has almost completely recovered from the severe attack of throat and nose affection which has kept him in the Jefferson Hospital since April 23. He hopes to be able to leave the hospital to-morrow, although the date has not been definitely decided.

His physician, Dr. Solis-Cohen, said Tuesday that for a time he had been "very anxious" about Mr. MacDonald's condition, but that now he was entirely relieved of this anxiety.

Attacks Government.

Ramsay MacDonald, former British Premier, and head of the British Labor Party, yesterday emerged from the seclusion of his hospital sick room here and attacked the British Government Labor Bill now pending in Parliament.

He called it the "most iniquitous piece of legislation produced by blind and stupid people, that I have known in my lifetime."

NO MORE PILES

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

This Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Every pile sufferer should benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, McDermid & Jury and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.

Would Ban Silk Hose From School Campus

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., May 12 (Canadian Press).—The fashionable silk stockings and fancy dresses worn by some of the high school girls here would disappear from the school campus, if a recommendation of the local council of women is adopted by the city school board and pupils.

The board is urged to recommend to the pupils the adoption of uniform dress. In winter, a plain serge skirt with flannel middy and woolen hose would constitute the "uniform dress."

KANSAS CITY, May 11. Canadian Press. — Prospects of a steadily increasing death list in the huge checker board scooped out of the middle west by a series of tornadoes and storms in which at least 228 persons perished, and nearly a thousand were injured, to-day added to the trials of the relief workers.

The debris of the razed communities in Missouri and Kansas yielded more bodies, and several of the injured have died in hospitals.

PRINCIPAL FIRED STUDENTS STRIKE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 12 (By United Press)—Six hundred students of Sacramento high school walked out of their classes "on strike," yesterday, as a protest against the dismissal of Principal John F. Dale by the city board, Monday night.

Just before the school bell sounded yesterday more than 1,000 students held a protest meeting in the bleachers of the school athletic field.

Because of a warning by C. C. Hughes, city superintendent of schools, that drastic steps might be taken, if the "strike" were called, a special squad of police was detailed to prevent a riot.

The police were called into action when the students stormed a newspaper cameraman, threatening to smash his camera if pictures were taken.

MISSING BOOKS

remainder of the stock, he believed, was very largely in the hands of the Charles Miller estate.

Occurrences prior to the disappearance of the books were detailed for the benefit of the commission by Mr. Phippen. He had seen Mr. Miller just a day or so before his death on Oct. 21, 1926, and the former president of the company had taken the ground that the books should not be laid before the customs commission. Mr Miller had even suggested taking out an injunction to restrain the commission from having access to the books.

"I objected to that," said Mr. Phippen, "I said that if the commission wanted the books it should have them."

Had Sent for Books.

His first information regarding the disappearanec of the books had come from W. T. Kernahan, the general manager of the company. "He told me that Mr. Miller had sent for the books, and I said that he must get them at once."

Mr. Phippen said he was not afraid at the time that the records would not be produced, but he was apprehensive that they would not be available in time for the commission auditors. "I had no thought of the books being destroyed," he said. "I knew Mr. Miller was a lawyer and an honorable man."

There had been some criticism voiced by the commission because the police were not notified when the loss was discovered, said Mr. Phippen. This was explained by the fact that he had no idea it was a serious matter. He thought that Mr Miller had merely put the books somewhere for safekeeping and that they would certainly turn up.

From Arthur L. Hodgson, head of the Pinkerton agency in Toronto, the commission received an account of the steps which he had taken to locate the missing books. His investigations had lasted for about two weeks spread over the period from April 1 to the present date. He said Mr. Kernahan suggested the possibility of the books having been burned in one of the brewery boilers, but his investigations satisfied him that this was not done with the books and records which are wanted. There were some obsolete records disposed off in this way in December, 1926 he said, but they were records of different societies with which Mr. Kernahan had been connected.

Mr. Hodgson told of having visited different places in Toronto to locate the missing books, without success.

He was still on the stand when the commission rose.

An Ex-Buck Private Goes Back to France

Arras Cellars Once Ran Ankle Deep in Vin Ruddy--on Black Easter.

Dear Mac:

I got out of Paree tout sweet yesterday, and here I am in Arras, right on the edge of things. I intended to go down to Le Havre and come up the line in the regular way, after giving the hee-haw to the Bull-Ring, but I've postponed that pleasure till later. Before I leave this section I'm going to visit Vimy and Roclincourt and Nine Elms and Neuville St. Vaast. If there's one place in Europe well known to the Canadians, it's the territory shown on the "Lens 11" map. And here we are!

All our visits to Arras were more or less happy. The Vimy Ridge affair was not unduly protracted, and unlike the Somme and Paaschendaele, it yielded substantial gains as some compensations for the toll in sweat and blood. Though the fight was fierce, and though conditions nearly as bad as those encountered on the Somme were aggravated by snowfalls, most men who served in the Arras sector entertain of it memories less grim than they do of the Somme. And then that flying visit we paid it in 1918—oh, la! la! Even yet we're almost afraid to tell the story, especially before men of the Second Division who were well punished for the capers of fellows who had red patches on their shoulders. Remember the cellars ankle-deep in vin ruddy? Remember the meals of dried kippers toasted on braziers and washed down with eggnoggs made with real old champagne? That was some visit! And the squareheads were just over the hill.

But I must stick to my knitting. . . .

Roses of Artois.

The billetting area behind this part of the line held many comfortable places. And always, within about an hour's journey of the line, lay the city of Arras, pathetic in its broken condition but still sweetly charming when the enemy guns and airplanes left it alone for a spell. The Hun never succeeded in knocking the graciousness out of the old place, not even in March, 1918, when he deluged it with shell fire. And that brings me back again to dangerous ground.

In summer, there were roses behind the broken garden walls, and birds sang in the old trees in the courtyards. There were little shops, here and there, where one might find delicacies, and estaminets where the tired soldat might buy a glass of beer, or, more probably, a can of beer, for glasses were short-lived in Arras. And the subalterns gathered around the Officers' Club and the bathing pool.

There was the Hotel du Commerce, where it was generally possible to get a dinner which seemed like a banquet. Do you remember the flaxen-haired ma'mselle at the cash desk? She had usually a brave smile for customers, unless a sudden bombing visit hurried a retreat to the cellar. The hotel is just as it was, save that glass has been put into the windows in replacement of the glazed linen which did duty for so many years. The mirrors in the dining-room have the same long, serpentine cracks they had in 1917, and the shrapnel holes in the ceilings are covered only with small pieces of paper. The stone frontage of the building reminds one of the face of a boxer who has received a good hammering. No attempt has been made to repair it, and, by the entrance, one may still read the words stencilled, in English, "Private; in French occupation."

It is from this place of a hundred memories that we set out to survey the city and the old battlefields around it.

Looking about the streets and squares, what surprises one is the amount of restoration that has been accomplished. Much that made the charm of Arras remains. Nearly all the old gable-roofed houses and shops in the two squares have been restored to their pre-war condition. Rain no longer leaks through shrapnel holes in the roof of the fish market. But the venerable Hotel de Ville, one of the glories of French architecture, was damaged beyond repair, and foundations are now being laid for an entirely new building on the site of the old. Do you remember how Heinie used to make a dead set on that piece of real estate?

Work has begun on the Cathedral, and in the quiet streets surrounding that ancient, roofless pile, the musical ring of the mason's chisel is heard all day. I recall standing on the rubble inside here in 1917 and gazing up through one of the holes in the roof to where a Hun bomber was hovering. That was before the entire roof was blown in, though just as I reached the crypt in search of a better hole a bomb took off another slice. Many years will pass before the Cathedral is roofed and finished. The work which has been done during eight years of peace does not amount to much in comparison with the whole. Indeed, few of us who climbed over the wreckage of the walls in 1917 would have believed it possible to ever rebuild this mammoth wreck. Many thought the Cathedral looked better in death than in life, and suggested it should remain a ruin. But apparently Arras thinks otherwise.

As a matter of fact, one of the workmen explained that the falling-in of the roof was the very best thing for the Cathedral, as it buttressed the walls and thus preserved the original lines of the edifice. Many of the statues were unhurt, the side altars still stood, and many of the fine painted windows were saved before the shelling was at its worst. The Bishop's Palace, remarkable for its hoary cloisters, showed more signs of injury and was more difficult to restore, considering its relative size, than the Cathedral.

Many of the streets are a curious mixture of old and new. In the Rue Gambetta we find a succession of old houses of grey stone and oak (how pleasant they were, ten years ago!) followed by three or four new shops in which snow-white concrete and red bricks are mingled, while massive bronze surrounds the plate-glass windows.

But there is a spell about Arras. The charm of the arcaded Renaissance buildings that surround the Grand Place can not be forgotten. Each house is the same as its neighbor, yet each has an individuality all its own. The soul that breathes in age-old brick and stone is made manifest in Arras. One dreams of the days when that oaken door crouching beneath its heraldic hatchment clanged to behind My Lord the Vidame and his train; there, where the frowning archway holds finger to lip and looks askance into the dark entry it guards, echoed against the shrill "A moi! A moi!" and from the narrow street debouched the partisans, on their lips "A Guise!" "A Montmorency!" while the death sob strangled in the ring of steel on steel. And as darkness fell a shadow athwart the cobbles became some luckless tribute to "the mercy of the King," and the flicker of a furtive candle was a flambeau to Monsieur, bound for his lodging after picquet and Rhenish.

And then the dark days when the Hun hammered at its gates, and the Uhlan patrol clattered along the cobbled streets; when shells drove the inhabitants to the highways cluttered by relieving troops; when airplane bombs shattered its finest buildings and, later, when the newly-found surface-exploding bombs scattered death to scores of unsuspecting Canadians gathered in its roadways.

These footpaths trod by lords and commons since early in France's history, by invading German and defending Canadian, are now broken and muddy. Here and there a new curb, within the old, adds to the discomfort of walking, while the paved roadways are as irregular as a choppy sea.

The theatre looks much as it did ten years ago. The railway station, where the Kaiser almost lost his precious life in 1914, has been repaired, and looks as if war was complete stranger to it. On the boulevard to the east of the station is a curious new feature—a block of flats built on the latest principle. Flats in Arras! One almost wishes for another war to blow them away. It seems incredible that along this very boulvard, in 1915, barbed wire separated the French and German trenches; that almost into the backyards of these houses in 1918 came the German horde that broke through the line at Kemmel and Mont des Cats and Messines.

And it is something to know, Mac, that it was the Canadians who relieved Arras of the menace of capture in 1917, when we took Vimy, and stopped the invader at the very gate in 1918. For in spite of all that we did in Arras, I think most of us came to love Arras.

A team, hauling a huge log, pads over the bridge on the road to Mont St. Eloy. Tied to the log is a leather pouch containing bread for the driver's lunch. Swinging above the pouch is a tiny crock of wine, also for his lunch. Just at the turn in the road are sign-posts—Dainville, Agnez, Maroeuil, St. Aubin, Wanquetin, Avesnes-le-Compte, Barly, Targette, Ecurie—names that must bring floods of memories to those soldiers in Canada who knew this battle area.

This is what we have come back to see. I hope you are not in a hurry, because we want to make a thorough teur. We did a thorough job, over here, and now let's take the time to look it over. Tomorrow we'll go out to Roclincourt and Ecurie—and then on to Vimy and Fresnoy.

LEAGUE MEETING.

St. John's Young People Hear Good Paper on Missionary Work.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 12 — The regular meeting of St. John's League was held on Monday evening, a good attendance being present. After the devotional period, the following programme was given: bible reading by Carl Stevens; vocal solo by Mr. Albert Hazell; reading, Mrs. C. W. Turner. The topic, Missionary Work, was well given by Miss Velma Runnels. The Leaguers were divided into four attendance groups and after an interesting contest, the meeting closed with the Mispah benediction.

PARIS WANTS BASTILE BELLS

With the hope of inducing some wealthy citizen to purchase the clock and bells of the Bastile, and present them to France, a movement to that end has been started in Paris. The clock and bells are now kept in a private foundry in France. The once famous time-teller is without a face which was riddled with bullets during the assault on the Bastile, and the statuettes of Youth and Age which adorned the front are gone. The bells are said to be of finest bronze. On two of them are royal and other historic decorations and inscriptions.

PUBLIC SERVICE AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, May 12 (Special) — The anniversary of Confederation will be signalized in Campbellford by a public service of praise and thanksgiving to be held on Sunday evening July 3 at 8.30 o'clock on the public school grounds. Arrangements for the event are being made by the Ministerial Association to whom the details were transferred by the Daughters of the Empire. It is understood that a special speaker will be engaged for the occasion.

The Agricultural Society will hold a meeting on May 17 to make final arrangements for the holiday program. Bills and posters have been widely distributed and it is expected that the Fair directors' efforts will be well rewarded.

The dance at the pavilion on Friday night is under the auspices of the Bowling Club and if it is as largely attended as their previous dance a short time ago the Bowlers will be quite satisfied.

Incidentally J. R. Wilkinson has already been at work on the bowling green, and with the club reorganized this week it is believed the game will be even more keenly taken up than last year. An early season would be a big help in giving the game a good start.

Local Option In Wales Is Rejected By Lords

LONDON, May 12 (Canadian Press Cable)—A bill to establish local option in Wales and regulating clubs introduced by Lord Clwyd was rejected by the House of Lords yesterday after a speech by Lord Desborough, for the government, who asserted that the government was not prepared at present to embark on licensing legislation pending the forthcoming report of Lord Southborough's committee on the subject of disinterested management.

VERDICT JUST SAYS JUDD GRAY

Says That Evidence Warranted Conviction—Mrs. Snyder Quieter.

CLOSELY GUARDED.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N.Y., May 12.—Judd Gray regards the verdict of first degree murder, returned against him and Mrs. Ruth Snyder, as a just one, he told Under-Sheriff Desmond yesterday.

"If I had been sitting on the jury, under similar circumstances," said the slayer of Albert Snyder, "I would have been forced to return the same verdict. The evidence warranted it."

Gray told Desmond he had found solace in reading the Bible and was resigned to the death sentence, which Justice Scudder will impose on Monday.

Only the fact that he has been denied permission to see and talk with Mrs. Snyder disturbed his tranquility.

Mrs. Snyder was calmer yesterday and more cheerful. Three matrons continued to guard her constantly, especially at meal times, when it was feared the woman might harm herself with table instruments.

She was handed her mail, which had assumed tremendous bulk since the verdict. Many of the letters were sympathetic.

HANKOW-NANKING TRUCE REPORTED

Nationalist Breach Said To Be Healed—Drive on North Contemplated.

Staff Correspondent.)

SHANGHAI, May 12—Unconfirmed reports that the Hankow and Nanking Nationalist factions had arranged a truce, and would collaborate in a joint drive against the armies of North China, circulated here, yesterday.

The Nationalist faction, commonly referred to as extremists, has headquarters at Hankow, and the moderates at Nanking. Nanking troops, it was reported, had been sent across the Yanktse river, above Pukow, which is opposite Nanking, to initiate a flank attack, which was to turn north at a favorable moment.

The fight here, for at least equal representation for Chinese on the municipal council, was renewed yesterday. The board of directors of the Chinese Taxpayers' association met and passed a resolution against the municipal councils action, in increasing taxes without consulting the Chinese.

The protest will be presented to the council.

Gas Spoiled Sleep, Made Her Dizzy

HOPE NOT YET ABANDONED IN FRENCH CAPITAL

MANY FOLLOWERS.

Another Flier, De Marnier, Planning Long Distance Flight To China.

PARIS, May 12 (Associated Press). —"All hope is not yet abandoned," is the characteristic headline in the Paris paper yesterday afternoon in contrast with the joyous announcement of the departure of Captains Nungesser and Coli on Sunday and the exuberance attendant upon the erroneous heralding of their arrival on the other side of the Atlantic on Monday.

Paris and all of France are experiencing a real state of anguish over the whereabouts of the airmen, upon whom they counted for the achivement of the most spectacular air exploit of the century.

Workmen leaving the factories at noon and again last evening made a mad rush to the news stands for the latest word of the searches on both sides of the ocean. The two air aces have no more ardent followers than among those of the poorer quarters of the city, and it is the workingmen and women and working girls who are showing the most emotional concern over their disappearance.

Anti-American feeling, which prevailed so strongly Monday night and Tuesday has subsided. This was due in a measure to second sober thought as well as to Ambassador Herrick's message to the State Department at Washington, in fhich he warned that a United States flight to Paris at this time, before the fate of the French airmen is known, might be misunderstood and misinterpreted. M. Bokanowski, Minister of Public Works, also contributed to a better feeling by his good words in the Chamber Tuesday about American co-operation.

Even one of the most rabid papers calmed down enough to term Commander Byrd's offer to do what he could in the search for the French airmen, "a handsome gesture."

Planning Take-Off.

Nothing daunted by the fate which may have befallen Nungesser and Coli in the North Atlantic, and Saint Roman and Mouneyres in the south, another French aviator, De Marnier, is planning to take off from Le Bourget some time in the forthcomi full moon period, probably Saturd He will pilot a 500-horsepower plane and will try to break the world's nonstop distance record, probably heading for India.

No Sign Yet.

NEW YORK, May 12 (Associated Press).—The eyes of the world were still turned upon the North Atlantic last night and hope refused to die that France's "White Bird" would be found somewhere in those watery stretches with its two dauntless airmen still alive.

Two days ago the clouds should have parted to reveal the victorious approaches of Captains Nungesser and Coli, the daring Frenchmen who sought to wrest for their country the honor of the first non-stop flight from Paris to New York.

But the clouds rolled solidly across the sky, a curtain shielding all from knowledge of whatever grim adventure had befallen the intrepid fliers.

Yesterday the search for the aviators was fully organized. Canadian wireless stations and coasting vessels maintained their lookout along the eastern seaboard of the Dominion. The United States coastguard was practically turned over to the task of finding Nungesser and Coli.

Besides that, all ships in the North Atlantic were requested to keep a special lookout for the fallen plane, and the liner France received orders on the other side to alter its usual course to New York so as to parallel the air route of the fliers.

From Maryland to the northernmost point of the New England coast boats of the coastguard took up the hunt, and it was announced at Washington that the search would be extended to mid-Atlantic.

Patrolling Coast.

Twenty coastguard patrol boats were patrolling the New England coast yesterday for 100 miles out to sea. Eight destroyers had been taken from other duty to concentrate upon the search further from landi and, the cutter Tampa which had been watching for icebergs off the Grand Banks was assigned a 1,200-mile area north-east of Boston.

The liner France was ordered from its course to look for Nungesser and Coli shortly before leaving Hayse last night for New York. Instead of swinging in a southerly curve as it is accustomed to do, it will take a course considerably to the north of the regular steamship lanes, at one point being practically 400 miles north of its regular course. As it approaches the Grand Banks, with the accompanying danger of icebergs, it is expected to turn south again and loop down to New York.

All hope for the missing aviators was based on the fact that the 'White Bird' was built to float indefinitely. Concentrated rations were carried by the aviators, and unless the plane came down in ice that ground it to bits, airmen saw no reason yesterday why the Frenchmen might not still be alive.

OMEMEE UNITED W.M.S. MEETING

Much Business Transacted By Ladies of Trinity Church.

OMEMEE, May 11.—The Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United church met in regluar monthly session on Thursday afternoon in the Sunday school room. The attendance was not as large as usual. Mrs. Rowland, the president, occupied the chair, and after the opening hymn conducted the business session which included the appointment of two ladies, Mrs. J. Shields and Miss Rutherford, to be responsible for the programme for the ensuing three months, and Mrs. R. H. Williamson and Miss Lila Parsons to arrange the hostesses for the year.

A motion was passed to continue the suggestive literature supplied by the book-rooms and the corresponding secretary was authorized to send the required sum of money for some to Mrs. Phillips, Toronto.

The president devoted a few minutes talk on the necessity of systematic giving and urged upon the members to lay aside each week whatever amount each sees fit to contribute, so that at the close of the year the call to the missionary funds, such as the cent-a-day band, thank offering, etc., would not be heavy. Mrs. E. Bradburn and Mrs. J. Widdis were appointed as assistants to the one-cent-a-day band treasurer, Miss Eva Race.

Mrs. J. Shields, the assistant treasurer, read the names of the paid up members and life members and an opportunity was given those present to enroll for the ensuing year, to which many responded.

Letters of appreciation to the Society for the flowers and sympathy at the time of illness and bereavement were read by the secretary.

The committee in charge of the quilt strips reported that five quilts were ready for quilting and it was decided to set the date for quilting same on Friday, May 20th. This concluded the business.

The president read the Scripture lesson from St. Matthew, chapter 15, followed by prayer by Mrs. H. Lamb. The devotional leaflet, "Faith and Power", was given by Mrs. Bradburn, after which the closing chapter of the study book, "New Days in Old India", was given by Mrs. L. Mahood.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Rowland. A social half hour was enjoyed with Mrs. Bradburn, Mrs. W. Connell, and Mrs. H. Lamb as hostesses.

About forty-seven representatives from the A.Y.P.A., Omemee, accompanied the cast of characters, Misses Marion Dickson and Ethel Stephenson and Messrs. John Bent and Horace Hill, to Lindsay, on Friday evening, where they presented the one-act play entitled, "Converting Bruce", in competition with five other organizations of the district. St. Luke's of Peterboro, St. Paul's of Lindsay, and Omemee competed in Lindsay and three others will visit Peterboro on Wednesday evening. The winning group will be presented with a silver cup.

CONCERT GIVEN BY AUXILIARY

Campbellford Girls Give Entertainment in Christ Church Hall.

MANY IN ATTENDANCE.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 11.—The Girls' Auxiliary of Christ Church, under the management of the president, Mrs. Laurie, gave a very enjoyable concert in the Parish Hall on Tuesday evening. A large number were present. Mr. Bygott, as chairman, in a few words welcomed all who were present and assured them of a pleasant evening. The programme was as follows:

Solo—Little Miss Elizabeth Free; accompanists, Mrs. F. De F. Free. Her encore was "Hickory, Dickory Dock."

A Missionary Pageant was next presented. Canada, Mrs. Laurie; Nova Scotia, Hyacinth Collison; New Brunswick, Mrs. M. Sargeant; Prince Edward Island, Florence Lambert; Quebec, Alice Sargeant; Ontario, Elsie Sothern; Manitoba, Susie Cowain; Saskatchewan, Ivy Ray; Alberta, Miss Ethel Bedford; British Columbia, Beatrice Baker; Far North, Edna Marks; Indian, Agnes Moore; Eskimo, Gladys Poulton; England, Hilda Sothern; United States, Muriel Linton; China, Isabel Bygott; Japan, Grace Runions; Jew, Miss Helen Tait. The Pageant closes with "O Canada."

Violin Solo—Kenneth Collison; accompanist, Arnold Bates.

Quartette—Messrs. J. M. Bygott, G. W. Lucy, J. H. Bell, and W. Henson; "My Old Kentucky Home." Encore, "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground."

Solo—Mrs. F. De F. Free; accompanist, Miss Gertrude Maynard; "Spring is the Time for Love." Encore, "Within the Garden of My Heart."

Piano Solo—Miss Isobel Bygott. Encore.

The Highland Fling; danced by Eileen Linton and Lillian Runions, was heartily applauded and well given.

Violin Solo—Franklin Linton; accompanist, Miss Bygott. "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms."

A Playette — "Katie Maloney's Philosophy," was well given by Miss Alice Sargeant and Miss Beatrice Baker. Miss Sargeant, as Katie, was a happy, care-free Irish lass, who enjoyed life. She denied having any parents or relatives, not even a lover, but ended her talk by the clause: "But if Paddy McGrew were to ax me."

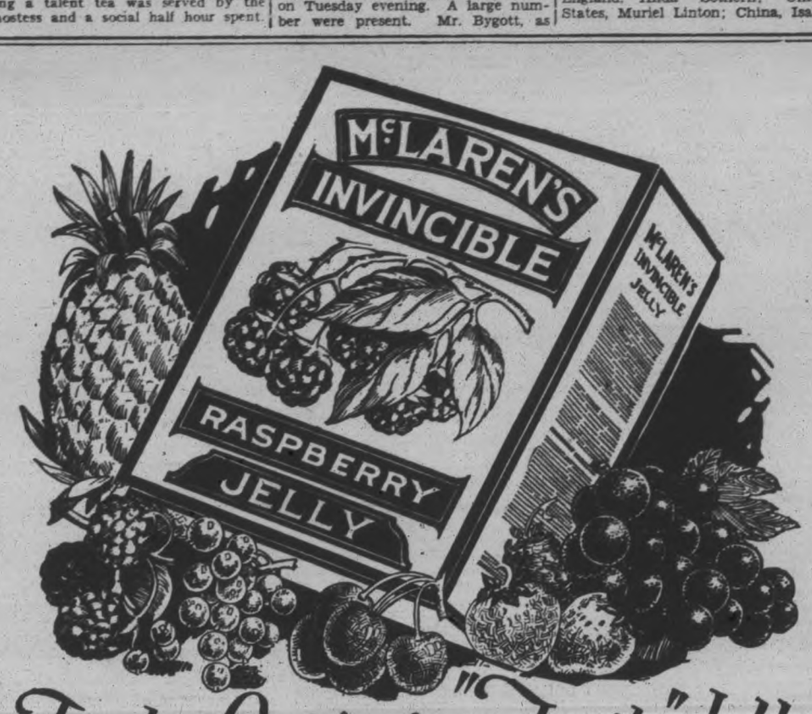
Piano Solo—Arnold Bates.

Solo—Miss Emma Meiklejohn; accompanist, Miss Irene Stephens.

Selection by the Quartette, Messrs. Bygott, Bell, Lucy, and Henson.

Major Bygott, on behalf of the Auxiliary, expressed sincere thanks to the artists of the evening for their hearty co-operation in the programme.

Refreshments were served downstairs and all enjoyed a social time.



"Tender, Quivering, Fruity" Jelly BECAUSE it contains ACTUAL JUICE of Muskoka Wild Raspberries

ONE TASTE proclaims the difference between McLaren's "Invincible" Raspberry Jelly and ordinary kinds. You immediately notice the more tender texture—reminiscent of "real-fruit" jelly. You detect at once that distinctively "fruity" flavor which only the actual juice of tempting wild raspberries can give.

From the glorious Muskoka district come the wild raspberries from which the juice is crushed for superb "Invincible" Jelly Powders; from the world-famed Niagara orchards come choice strawberries, cherries, grapes, currants, and from the sunny Tropics come the delicious pineapples that provide the natural flavorings for McLaren's actual fruit juice Jelly Powders.

If you watched "Invincible" Raspberry Jelly Powder being made in McLaren's spotless pure-food laboratories, you would see the actual juice of Muskoka Wild Raspberries added to highly-refined gelatine and first-grade sugar. In the same way the actual juices of choice strawberries, currants, cherries, grapes and pineapples are foundation flavorings for other "Invincible" Jelly Powders.

Mixed, dried, ground and packaged without being touched by human hands, "Invincible" comes to your larder to be the basis of delicious, healthful desserts. Now, as for years back, Canadian women prefer

A UNIQUE EXHIBIT.

The Hobby Show at the Y.M.C.A., one of the unique features of Boys' Week, might well adopt as its slogan, "If you have a hobby you'll find it here."

There should, therefore, be many things of interest to every visitor to the show, and the opportunity to encourage the city boys in the development that necessarily accompanies the pursuit of useful hobbies should not be lost sight of by citizens generally.

A Hobby Show is something new to Peterborough, but it is an enterprise that is distinctly worth while and deserves encouragement.

It is being continued for three nights so that there is a good chance for it to be visited by many citizens.

GROWING PAINS.

If there was any doubt as to the growth and progress of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, the demands that are being made by various committees for more accomodation would surely dispel it completely.

An exhibition that finds itself so overwhelmed with entries that many departments need to be enlarged must most certainly be making rapid and substantial advancement.

That is the situation at present with Peterborough's big fair.

Poultry exhibits have increased so rapidly that the poultry building erected some years ago is entirely too small.

There are so many fine cattle to be shown here that another cattle barn has become a necessity.

The dog show committee is asking for a permanent building for their splendid show, which is attracting dogs from all over the province.

The demand for space by manufacturers and merchants cannot be complied with in the present quarters.

In fact the Exhibition in many of its activities is suffering from growing pains; it is expanding so rapidly, gaining so much attention from exhibitors that the present plant is fast becoming inadequate and it is almost impossible to maintain a building programme that will keep pace with the pleas for more accomodation.

WATCH YOUR COMPANY.

Frank Nighbor, famous Ottawa hockey player, who for years has been regarded as one of the best centre ice players in the fastest game in the world, has probably never heard of the present Boys' Week campaign in Peterborough.

Nevertheless at a recent banquet in Pembroke this fine athlete delivered a note of warning that might well be remembered by the boys of Peterborough, not only during this week when they are occupying the centre of the stage, but during their lives.

Every boy aspires to be a good hockey player, an expert at baseball, or a star at football.

Mr. Nighbor tells them one way they can help themselves to succeed in the following little sermonette, which can be applied not only to professional hockey and sports generally but to the activities of every day life:

"Watch your company. If you would have a successful career as a hockey player you must live right. I know for I have been through the mill. The friends who invite you out after the game and pull a cork are not your friends. They may mean well but if you take their advice you will soon have an unsavory reputation that will stick with you, and furthermore, you cannot accept of their hospitality and continue to give of your best. So I say if you decide to enter upon a professional hockey career watch your company; be careful."

This straightforward message from one of Canada's best known athletes should not be forgotten by Peterborough boys.

It is particularly appropriate to Boys' Week.

MUNICIPAL SERVICE.

It was a happy though in connection with Boys' Weeks that the Boy Mayor and Council should have been given an opportunity to watch the City Council in session, and that squads of local boys have been taken to look over Peterboroughs municipal institutions.

The average citizen who grumbles about the amount he has to pay in taxes understands more or less distinctly that he gets services in return from the municipality, but few people have any accurate idea of the extent and value of these services.

The boys who have been watching the municipal wheels go round have perhaps been able to see that among the things purchased by Mr. Peterborough Citizen from his municipality through taxes are the following:

(1) He purchases protection from fire for his life and the building which he owns, or works in, or occupies. In addition the fire insurance rates which he pays directly or indirectly are partly determined by the efficiency of his civic fire protection and fire prevention service.

(2) He purchases protection from violence for his life and property, and the valuable right of living in an orderly community.

(3) He purchases education for his children and for the children of the community with whom his children are brought up and by whom they must be greatly influenced, and the possibility of living in an enlightened community.

(4) He purchases health for the community through its public health and sanitation services, and this benefits himself and his family both directly and indirectly.

(5) He purchases highways and sidewalks which make his home and his place of business available for use.

(6) He purchases parks and playgrounds for the community in which he lives and has his home.

All this costs the average citizen—infant and adult—in urban municipalities from $30 to $50 a year or the average family $150 to $250.

UNCLAIMED WAR MEDALS.

Of the Canadians who served overseas in the war 67,636 have never claimed the British War Medal to which they are entitled. Department of National Defense figures show also that 1,915 Stars of 1914-1915 are unclaimed, as well as 40,390 Victory Medals, and several veterans who were awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal, the Military Medal, the Order of the British Empire and the Croix de Guerre have not yet taken possession of these honorable decorations. It is a situation which is not easily explained.

The Victory Medal was awarded the soldiers of all Allied nations who served on the establishment of an authorized unit in any theatre of war, and thus was given all Canadians who went to France or any other scene of actual hostilities. Canadians who were sent to England and no farther did not get it. The British War Medal, on the other hand, was given all Imperial troops who left England for any war theatre, and to all Dominion troops who left their own country. Canadians who were stationed in England therefore are entitled to this medal, but neither it nor the Victory Medal was given the Imperials who guarded danger points in the British Isles, particularly on the East and South coasts and in the mouth of the Thames, unless as well they had served in some other field.

Every country has had a similar experience with unclaimed medals, and many factors probably enter into the apparent disregard for these well-merited honors. As the war recedes into the glamorous past, however, these decorations will be valued more and more and the number unclaimed is likely to drop steadily. It should be pointed out that the Department of National Defense has made every possible effort to place these 108,000 medals with their owners, even to the extent of writing them at their last known addresses and communicating with their next of kin.—Ottawa Journal.

NATURAL, NOT ARTIFICIAL.

A write in Saturday Night says that there was no national demand for the celebration of the jubilee of Confederation, but that now the country has been committed to it there should be no doubt of its success. The latter opinion is sound, but the former calls for some comment. If there had been no general desire for a celebration, Canadians would have been a queer people. It is true that they have not been demonstrative in the past. The national holiday, Dominion Day, has been celebrated very little, and far more attention has been paid to anniversaries commemorating old world events and traditions—all good in their way, so far as they did not perpetuate old world feuds. In the United States the Fourth of July has been celebrated with great exuberance by fireworks and oratory. Canadians have gone to the other extreme. Our neighbors keep in memory the establishment of a nation by war. Surely it is worth while to commemorate the growth of a nation by a process in which friendly relations with Great Britain have been maintained.

There is much to celebrate. In no boastful spirit it may be said that the history of Canada has been a wonderful story. The French regime is full of the color of romance. The struggle between Great Britain and France for ascendency is a record of heroism of which both races may be proud. The work of exploration and pioneer settlement has all the interest of war with none of its bitterness. The political problem presented by the growth of the two leading races was one calling for the highest qualities of statesmanship, and its solution reflects credit upon statesmen and people. Self-government has been won in the main by peaceful means broken only by the rising of 1837-38. Canadians have shown conspicuous ability in all that makes for the upbuilding of a national civilization—in tilling the soil, in mining, in manufacturing, in forestry, in transportation, in finance and commerce, in religious and secular education, in the administration of justice; and it would have been strange if they had been adjudged incapable of governing themselves.

So there is nothing forced or artificial about the jubilee celebration. It may be that the Canadian people did not at once realize the importance of the opportunity. They have been doers rather than talkers. But once the suggestion for a celebration was made, the public response showed that the right chord had been struck. Not at Ottawa alone but all over Canada preparations are being made for the event. The school children are talking about it and brushing up their Canadian history. The interest aroused in that history has already made the celebration a success; and what is done on the first three days of July will be the crowning superstructure of an edifice now in process of building.

The past is interesting. The present view of the resources of Canada affords ample ground for congratulation. Imagination can hardly go too far in picturing the possibilities of growth between now and the year 1967, when Confederation will be a hundred years old, a day which many of our boys and girls will see. The congestion of older lands will add to the value of our splendid national estate. The liberal provision made for education all over Canada shows that the development of the human element in our resources has not been neglected. A national literature is springing up, not by a forcing process, but as the natural fruit and flower of our civilization. The speeches and spectacles of next July will have the same origin; they will pass, but the underlying causes of congratulation and hope will remain.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Have Peterborough boys many hobbies? The Hobby Show at the Y.M.C.A. will answer that question effectively. Don't fail to see it.

The Canadian Joint Prevention Committee is able to report that fire losses in Canada have been reduced by 30 per cent. in the last five years. But the yearly total, $38,395,000, last year is still far too large.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., May 12 (Canadian Press)—A moderate amount of business was done in wheat, oats and barley by Montreal exporters yesterday with the United Kingdom and the continent, but the market on the whole was quiet.

There was some demand from exporters for Manitoba spring wheat in the local market and sales of tough No. 1 Northern were made at C.I.F. prices here, and New York holders of No. 3 Canadian Western barley sold a few loads at 95c per bushel, C.I.F. Montreal.

Owing to the continued strength in the Chicago future market for corn, local spot prices for the cash article were advanced two cents per bushel. Car lots of No. 3 yellow were quoted at 97 1-2c, No. 4 yellow at 92c, and sample corn at 89c per bushel.

The demand for spring and winter wheat grades of flour was of a limited character, but prices were firm.

The trade in millfeed was fairly active, and prices ruled steady. The demand for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet but values were unchanged.

The egg market was moderately active and firm. The receipts were 3,051 cases.

Potato prices were firmly maintained on account of the continued small offerings and the steady demand. Sales of odd car lots of Quebec white stock were made at $2.00 per bag of ninety pounds in bulk, ex-track.

A moderate amount of business was worked in butter and the undertone was firm. The receipts were 530 packages.

The cheese market was quiet but prices were unchanged. The receipts were 1,432 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 17 (Canadian Press)—Corn suddenly advanced yesterday to the highest levels in many weeks and brought about a late rally for other grain. The corn bulge was accompanied by general purchasing on the part of commission houses and by the Chicago board of trade under control of Illinois state officials appeared likely to fail.

Corn finished strong, 1 7-8 to 2 5-8c net higher; wheat unchanged to 3-8c lower; oats 3-8 to 5-8c up, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents down.

Better weather for spring wheat seeding dominated the wheat most of the day, but in the late dealings strength of corn helped wheat to overcome the bulk of losses which had previously taken place. Much selling of wheat witnessed at times was ascribed to undoing of spread trades, a process in which corn was bought. Export business in North American wheat to-day was estimated at 450,000 bushels.

Oats derived strength from corn and also from reports of delayed seeding.

Provisions were governed by a decline in hog values.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, May 12 (Canadian Press)—Cattle 10,000; largely beef run with $11.00 to $12.50, steers predominating; best heavies $13.65; long yearlings $12.65; heifer yearlings $11.00; vealers $10.50 to $13.00, according to weight and condition; selected lots $13.50.

Hogs 16,000; top $10.25; average weight 170 to 200 pounds at that price; bulk better grades 150 to 200 pounds $9.90 to $10.15; 210 to 240 pounds $9.75 to $10.10; 260 to 300 pounds $9.45 to $9.75; butchers 310 to 375 pounds $9.25 to $9.45; most packing sows $8.50 to $8.75; bulk medium to good pigs $8.75 to $9.50; few best $9.75 or slightly higher.

Sheep 10,000; good to choice Colorado wooled lambs $17.00 to $17.25; medium native spring lambs $16.50 to $17.00; good to choice clipped lambs $8.00 to $8.50; desirable wooled ewes $9.50.

WANTS DIRECTORY.

The Edior, Daily Examiner:

Dear sir:

Might I offer a suggestion regarding the "Want Ad" page of your newspaper? I've been a constant reader of your columns since the first of the year and very often have wanted to follow up some of your advertisements but not knowing the locality of the streets mentioned I have let the matter drop. As there seems to be no street directory of Peterborough on sale, I think it would be to the advantage of your paper and its readers if some small directory were printed and placed on sale.

There are doubtless many newcomers to Peterborough who, like myself, would appreciate this service.

Yours very truly,
A CONSTANT READER.

In connection with the above letter we might say that the Examiner has an up-to-date map of the city showing all streets and locations of all manufacturing plants in the city.—Editor.

MARRIAGE RULES.

To the Editor, The Examiner:

In the recent cases where the Church has declared to be null and void various marriages such as that of the Duchess of Manchester and of Signor Marconi, the point is simply this:

Can any body of people or any institution declare to be null and void that which the laws of the people authorise? Can therefore these or any other marriages be declared null and void by any other body than the people?

The difficulty in the matter is this: The mere going through a form of ceremony prescribed by the people or anybody else does not, in the eyes of the Catholic church, con-

GETTING RID OF A BAD BREATH

It is said that in the beginning the Creator breathed into man the breath of life—and he became a living thing. It may be that Adam and his family lived wholly on fruits and nuts, and if so, they doubtless had sweet, wholesome breaths. But as far back as we can trace, a majority of the members of the human family have suffered from bad breaths and made their friends suffer also. The average breath does not smell like a breath of life, but more like a breath of death.

The wholesome odor of the breath of the baby is soon tinged with offensive taints after the child is given the wrong food to eat. After the milk diet is abandoned, mothers are urged to feed their babies on plenty of everything, with no regard to any rules, except to stuff the baby with heavy foods to make them gain weight.

Most baby specialists recommend cereals with cream and sugar for children under one year of age. Various prepared baby-foods are added and the growing child is fed scientifically (?) many times daily.

From that time on through life he struggles against the poisons which come from the decomposition of bad mixtures of unnecessary foods. The intestines become a veritable cesspool of fermenting, decomposing food-stuff. Any of these foods might have been good if they were not used in excess and in improper combinations. The liver becomes burdened with the toxic wastes from such intestinal putrefaction, and to save the life of the body, the lungs throw out abnoxious gases which make the breath unpleasant.

If bad breath comes from such causes it can be eliminated by a return to a rational dietary. The bad odors will not disappear at once, but it often takes months before the breath will again be sweet and wholesome as a baby's. Even though the dietetic errors are corrected, it is necessary for the body to throw out the poisons which have already accumulated.

A bad breath can be caused by diseased tonsils or catarrh of the nose and throat, but again, these troubles are really caused by an improper diet and can, in every case, be cured when the dietetic errors are corrected.

Pyorrhea, or abscesses of the teeth, are responsible for a very obnoxious kind of breath. If such causes exist, it is also necessary to diet properly to get rid of the hyperacidity of the stomach, which is really responsible for the pyorrhea. Your dentist should be consulted at least every six months and the teeth should be treated and scaled if necessary, while the fundemental acidosis is cured through diet.

The tubercular patient always has an offensive breath due to the large amount of pus which is present in the lungs and throat.

Onions and garlic produce a bad breath, and if smoking is ever prohibited in public, it is certainly reasonable to make a law compelling the onion-eater to stay at home for three or four days after eating a meal with onions.

Nothing will cool the fires of love any more than an unpleasant breath. When halitosis comes in the front door—love jumps out of an upper-story window.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

TELL IT TO THE DEBATERS.

Now that the debaters have settled the question about whether dandelions should be picked for anything besides greens, a few other super-issues have cropped up for the arguers to wipe out. . . . A debate ought to be held to decide who is the better citizen, the man who can drink 36 glasses of milk or the one who can chew 100 sticks of gum at once. . . . Another moot question is step-ins for men. One university student who stepped out in a pair was so stepped on that he felt like the threshold of a padlocked New York night club. . . . The girls, to be sure, have settled the issue about how long a dress should be. They ended the controversy by taking it up recently.

The WEALTH of the Home Garden

And "Wealth" is the right word! A great many dollars can be saved in one season by having a little truck garden of your own. What a delight it is to go out and pick fresh lettuce, scallions, sweet corn, cucumbers, tomatoes, with the dew still on them! They taste better and they are better. And the outdoor exercise, of course, is good for you.

To make a success of a home garden, you must have the right seeds and plants from fine stock, and you must most assuredly have a complete line of garden tools. They are an investment in health and happiness. Give your table a "treat" this summer.

AT THE GRAND

"SCANDALS"

George White's new Scandals known as the Seventh Edition, which will be seen here for the first time tomorrow night at the Grand when first reviewed in New York, was acclaimed the greatest dancing show of the decade. Great as such, because it contained more varied types of dances and formations perhaps than any other musical production in years. First, the Albertina Rasch Girls, who come her with the company, represent more nearly, perhaps, than any other ensemble dancers on the stage today, the perfect form of stage dancing. Theirs is a rare combination of modern syncopation and classic dance. There is the jazz ballet, the new rythm ballet, the soft-shoe, the tap and almost every other kind. They do all that the Tiller girls do, but do not stop there. Trained to clock-like perfection and representing the sine non qua of precision, they, nevertheless, were selected also for their youth, beauty and individual personalities, as local audiences will soon have an opportunity to observe. There will also be in the new Scandals, the famous George White Beauty Chorus, making in all the largest dancing ensemble of any musical production now on tour. Young girls they are, too—some of them said to be barely out of school. The musical score of the new edition is rich in melody, yet filled with that snap and verve so essential in present-day revues. Life, action, vitality, and an impetuous tempo are the outstanding characteristics of the new Scandals, while the brilliant Broadway cast, and the sumptuous scenic production, with the daringly-beautiful costumes, all apparently combine to make this a memorable performance.

AT THE REGENT.

HER ABILITY TO CHARLESTON IS A GREAT HANDICAP.

When Joan Crawford went to Yosemite on location to make exteriors for "The Understanding Heart," the Cosmopolitan production now playing at the Regent Theatre, she pledged every member of the company to keep her Charleston dancing ability a dark secret, for she wanted a few days' rest. As nearly every one knows, Joan is Los Angeles' favorite "Charlestoner," and wherever she goes she is asked to give an exhibition of her dancing prowess.

But there was no such luck for the actress. Her fame had preceded her. As soon as she arrived in camp, two boys who had seen her dancing in the Montmarte in Hollywood spied her, and she was asked as a special favor to dance that night in the open air dance pavilion.

Of course, what could the poor girl do? She not only danced once but again and again; members of "The Understanding Heart" troupe declare that she became the most popular "tourist" in the park.

In "The Understanding Heart," Miss Crawford as Monica heads a cast that includes Carmel Myers, Francis X. Bushman, Jr., Rockliffe Fellowes, Jerry Miley, Richard Carle and Harvey Clark. It is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture.

DELORO PLANS CELEBRATION

Committee Appointed To Arrange For Dominion Day.

PROGRAMME OUTLINED.

MARMORA, May 12. — Under the direction of Reeve S. B. Wright and the councillors of Deloro, a meeting was held in Deloro Hall on Monday evening to discuss a proposed local celebration of Canada's Diamond Jubilee. Some general suggestions were given by Messrs. S. B. Wright and F. A. Bapty, meeting with the approval of those present. These included plans for a meeting in the Hall with music and patriotic speeches, essays by school children, outdoor sports, Boy Scout exhibition, decorations and fireworks. Upon motion of the meeting S. B. Wright was appointed honorary chairman and F. A. Bapty, chairman of the general committee to arrange for this two day event. G. E. Blake will act as secretary. The following form the committee with power to appoint the necessary sub-committees: H. F. Berry, C. Buckmann, C. H. Barlow, S. B. Cheeseman, F. Craig, R. A. Elliott, R. Hunter, H. R. Haackle, H. A. McNally, F. Paquet, A. V. Yates and J. Richardson.

Upon adjournment of the meeting, the committee met and proceeded with the appointing of sub-committees.

SPEAKER STRESSES VALUE OF BOOKS

Rev. J. D. Paterson Gives Address at Home and School Meeting.

An open meeting of the King George Home and School Association was held on Tuesday evening in the kindergarten room of the school, the president, Mrs. Ada Craig, in the chair. Arrangements for the school picnic, to be held toward the end of June, were made, and a musical programme given, which included vocal solos by Mrs. Wm. Hepburn and Mrs. Davies, and a piano solo by Gwennie Boorman. Refreshments concluded the programme, which was featured by a very interesting address by Rev. J. D. Paterson, rector of All Saints' church, who spoke on the value of good books and their place in the education of the child. Emphasis was placed on the kind of book read and the authors who were chosen. Parents, said the reverend speaker, should exercise supervision over their children's reading and determine what they should read, as such reading exercised a great influence on the mind of the growing boy or girl. The next meeting of the Association will contain on its programme a report of the delegates to the recent Home and School Conference in Toronto.

LADIES ARRANGE TO BEGIN BOWLING

Room in Club For Some New Members—Greens Are Good.

A very enthusiastic business meeting of the Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club was held on Thursday evening at the residence of Mrs. C. Perry, Brock street, when plans were made for the coming season and improvements suggested. The new greens which the ladies have built up are in first-class condition and arrangements were made to have them watered during the forenoon, making the greens in excellent condition for the business girls. Season fees were set at $5.

An innovation this year will be the drawing by the skips for their vice-skips, instead of choosing them as formerly. Several new applications for membership were received, with available reservations still open. Applications must be in the hands of the secretary, Mrs. F. E. Miller, before May 24th, if members wish to play in the scheduled rink games.

THE yard is the setting of the house. The prettiest home, architecturally, can suffer when its surroundings are not pleasing to the eye and when neglect has been permitted to get the "upper hand." And a well-kept yard is so essential for the "Street Beautiful." Your neighborhood, of course, depends on the part you play!

And therefore, while observing Arbor Day, not only plant a tree, as the custom goes, but look around the entire place and see what can be done. Fix up bedraggled trellises and train flowers that cover them. Mend and paint fences. Tidy up the porch furniture—new enamel, lacquer or paint, perhaps. See that every window-box is painted. A yard should receive every bit as much attention as the house.

GIRL RECALLS THREATS MADE BY DR. BROWN

Tells Coroner He Said He Would Kill Any Man She Loved.

ONCE HIS FIANCEE.

Dr. Puddicombe Not Yet Able To Testify at the Inquest.

MONTREAL, May 11 (Canadian Press).—Coroner McMahon yesterday heard an account of the events which led up to Sunday night's shooting tragedy at the Royal Victoria Hospital from the former fiance of Dr. Frank Brown.

The woman, whose name is being withheld and who is not connected with the hospital, told the coroner that for some months she was the fiance of Dr. Frank Brown, who put a bullet through his head after wounding Dr. J. P. Puddicombe, an interne at the Pine Avenue institution. Last February, said the girl, the engagement was broken, but she and Brown agreed to be friends despite what had happened. At the time, Dr. Brown told her that he was able to reconcile himself to losing her as a wife, but warned her that if he discovered she was attached to anyone else he would kill the man. The girl refused to consider this remark seriously.

The pair continued to see one another from time to time, and last Saturday Dr. Brown took his former fiancee for an automobile ride. She then told him that she had fallen in love with Dr. Puddicombe.

Brown received this information very badly. "I will kill him to-morrow," he declared, according to what the girl reported to the coroner. Again she believed he was merely "talking."

The young woman told Coroner McMahon that the night of the auto ride was the last time she saw Brown alive.

Coroner McMahon may go to the hospital to take a deposition from Dr. Puddicombe, but, in the possibility that this is not practical, a verdict may not be brought in before the wounded physician is recovered sufficiently to come to court.

MILLBROOK CADETS PLACED IN GRADE A

MILLBROOK, May 12.—The annual inspection of the Millbrook Continuation and Public School Cadet Corps took place on Tuesday, at 11 a.m., on the school grounds, the weather fortunately clearing in time to have the event out of doors rather than in the Armouries as was feared would be necessary.

Captain V. W. S. Heron, D.C.O. was the Inspecting Officer, and quite a representative number of citizens were present, giving the occasion the recognition from the entire community which its importance warrants.

About sixty boys paraded from the Armouries to the school grounds promptly at 11 o'clock, and in a most creditable manner went through the various manœuvres, including ceremonial, company, and platoon drill, rifle exercises, extended order, and Strathcona physical drill.

Medals were awarded to the officers of each platoon, and also to the smartest cadet on parade from the Continuation and Public schools in their respective sections. Captain Heron found that decisions in the latter case were a difficult matter as buttons were all shining, with uniforms and equipment apparently in first-class condition. Finally, by a process of elimination, selecting the boys who looked the best, and again sifting these by attention to the most minute details, with appeal to the onlookers who expressed their opinion by applause of varying degrees of warmth, the choice was made: George Clarke in Platoon No. 1, and William Todd in Platoon No. 11.

The medals were pinned on, at the conclusion of the formal inspection, by Instruction Officer, Captain B. B. Dawson, Principal of the Public School.

Captain Heron, in addressing the Cadets, said he had been coming to Millbrook since 1923, and had noted an improvement each year that was most gratifying. He complimented the boys highly for their splendid showing, and their Instruction Officer for the very efficient training evidently being given.

The Inspecting Officer's assurance that the Millbrook Corps, on its musketry drill and physical training would now be placed in Grade A, the highest record yet reached, called forth hearty applause from the parents, friends, school faculty, members of the school board, and other onlookers.

Captain Heron stated he had always found the local Corps thoroughly dependable both as Cadets and Officers, dependable in their drill and other exercises, and in carrying out the school spirit, hence he would rank them second to none in Military District No. 3.

The training received as a Cadet is not in expectation of war, but develops citizens of good manners, good bearing, keen intellect, and gentlemanly character, with due respect for authority, all of which are needs of the present day, because to a certain extent there is a laxity in home training on these heads.

"I am not blaming the times, the boys and girls, nor the parents; but 'fast and go' is the character of the age, and there are other things dearer and more to be cherished than this spirit, and I believe the Cadet training is a counteracting influence.

"I have found the boys showing the greatest respect to their elders to be those under training in the school Cadet Corps, so I hope the day will never come when this will cease to be a feature of our school activities. I am gratified at what I have seen to-day, and I wish you continued prosperity. I hope the school board will do me the favor of granting a holiday in return for the good work of the Cadets."

Captain Heron was warmly applauded as was also Colonel Odell, of Cobourg, Public School Inspector for this district, who spoke briefly, expressing his pleasure at being present for the first time at the annual Inspection, his full agreement with Captain Heron in his remarks on the necessity and usefulness of Cadet training, particularly the extended movement by signal, "which was done in a manner to bring credit upon older troops." Colonel Odell also referred to the interest of the public as a pleasing feature.

Miss S. Muir, Principal of the Continuation School, and J. A. Vance, ex-Chairman of the School Board, followed with brief addresses, and G. E. Burnham, Chairman of the Board, added the information that Captain Heron's request for a half-holiday was granted by the officials he represented.

The programme followed during the inspection took the form of the march past, with salute, column platoon drill, close column platoon drill, company drill, under Captain Aubrey Todd, extended order under Lieutenant George McKnight and Physical drill under Captain B. B. Dawson.

Y.P.S. BANQUET GREAT SUCCESS

MADOC, May 12.—The annual meeting of the Young People's Society of the United church was given on Tuesday last when the red side, which was the losing side in the attendance contest, entertained the white side. The tables were prettily decorated and, as usual, a splendid supper was provided. The toast to the King was proposed by James Wood and responded to by the National Anthem. "Our Country" was proposed by Albert Caskey and responded to by James Keene. "The Young People's Society" was proposed by Edna Pettit and responded to by J. Wood. "The Missionary Department" was proposed by Mrs. Wellman and responded to by Mrs. Brown. "Our Guests" was proposed by Rev. Foster and responded to by Mrs. Foster. Enjoyable music was provided by Miss Lucy Foster who gave a piano solo, and by a trio by Misses Helen Ludbrook, Norma Fair, and Mrs. Ludbrook, playing their own accompaniments on guitar, ukelele, and piano.

The evening was also made the occasion of presentations to two departing members of the league, both of whom will be very much missed. A handsome bronze basket filled with marigolds was presented to Mrs. A. H. Foster on behalf of the Young People's Society, by Miss Muriel Rousehorn, and a pair of pictures was presented to Mrs. J. Marcellus by Miss Edna Pettit. Rev. and Mrs. Foster leave in June for their new charge at Parkhill, and Mrs. Marcellus is leaving to join her husband at New Liskeard, where Mr. Marcellus became principal of the high school last fall.

Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Marcellus have both been invaluable assistants in all the work of the United church and will be sadly missed in all other departments, as well as the Young People's Society.

During the first four months of this year 179 persons were killed and 6,613 injured in traffic accidents in London.

THAMES RIVER CLAIMS VICTIM

BODY RECOVERED.

CHATHAM, Ont., May 11.—Six-year-old Bobbie Tisdale, whose home is at 103 Emma Street, was drowned in the River Thames near the Public General Hospital yesterday afternoon. The body was recovered last night by Capt. H. E. Crow, former Great Lakes navigator, using a pike pole.

The lad was missed by his people, and about 6 o'clock a search was instituted. Four-year-old Jackie Taylor, son of William Taylor, it was learned later, saw the boy fall into the water.

The boy, when questioned, said he saw Bobbie sitting on the embankment and that the wind blew him in. The body was recovered 10 feet from the spot where the Taylor boy saw the lad disappear.

LECTURE ON MUSIC

Rev. F. J. Horwood Gives Interesting Talk at Apsley.

APSLEY, May 12.—A very interesting and entertaining lecture on music was given in the United church on Tuesday evening by Rev. T. J. Horwood, Mus. Doc., of Bowmanville, Ont., which attracted a fairly good-sized audience. The lecturer dealt with the subject in a masterly manner, illustrating the various styles of musical compositions on the organ, from the majestic work of the great composers of sacred music to the giddy jazz. The lecture was repeated on Wednesday and Thursday evenings at Grace church, Lasswade, and Eden church, Haultain.

Y.W.A. HEARS FINE REPORT

Miss Edith Telford Tells Norwood Branch of Provincial Meeting.

NORWOOD, May 12.—The Young Woman's Auxiliary, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, held its May meeting on Thursday evening last at the home of Miss Elizabeth Douglas. The meeting was in charge of Miss Annie Ferguson. Rev. Mr. Aitkens, the newly-appointed pastor was present and gave a very short address. The report of the Provincial Convention of the W.M.S. held last week in Brockville, was given by the president, Miss Edith Tedford, who was the delegate from the Society. Mrs. John Rogers and Miss Rhoda Frost gave an instrumental duet. The following is Miss Tedford's report of the convention.

The First Presbyterian church, Brockville, chosen as the meeting place for the 13th annual gathering of Ontario Provincial Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church in Canada, presented a very animated scene, as delegates from the various Presbyterials, throughout the province, were met upon arrival and cordially welcomed by the ladies of the congregation.

Monday evening at 7 o'clock, upon the occasion of the preliminary meeting of the executive board, the school room presented a delightful appearance, when about 80 ladies sat down to an appetizing repast, prepared by the members and friends of the First church Auxiliary. The tables were decorated with baskets of roses, daffodils and many spring blooms, and aglow with lights from golden candelabra. These decorations were donated and arranged by one lady who supplied all the flowers during the conference.

(Rev.) Mrs. McOdrum presided, and very gracefully welcomed the guests, reminding them of the very successful and worthwhile work accomplished in the past, and of the beckoning opportunities for the future and also welcoming all to the hearts and homes of the Brockville ladies. (Hospitality shown through all conferences.)

The Executive Board met in a Round Table conference, when many interesting and vital topics, were discussed in preparation for the business of the meetings which opened at 2.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Tuesday morning, the Executive continued in session, the keynote of the devotional exercises being the "Uplifting Power of the Cross of Christ." Healthful discussion on vital questions in connection with the progress of missionary efforts were engaged in by members.

Tuesday afternoon session opened by devotional exercises and the words of the prayer hymns, "Breathe On Me Breath of God," rose from the lips and hearts of hundreds of delegates gathered together from all parts of the province.

Mrs. Riddell, President of Brockville Presbyterial, expressed her appreciation of Brockville, being chosen as the place of meeting, especially as the first foreign medical missionary (Dr. Beatty) was from Brockville Presbyterial, also Miss Irene Stringer, who recently went to India. She also paid tribute to other members who had since passed away and to others who are still ardent workers.

The appointment of committees then took place, after which Mrs. Milne, President of the Provincial gave a very splendid and helpful address. She took for her subject—"Speak to the children of Israel, that they go forward." She reviewed the year's work and said that the givings had increased 65% over last year and 5½% over the allocation. The allocation for this year being $130,000, an increase of $5,000, not a large increase, but just a step forward, and in order to meet it, it does not mean that we expect greater sacrifice from those who have already given so generously, but that we aim to enlist more members, that others may have the joy of sacrifice in helping on this great work.

Our forward progress also means a new consecration of life, time, talents and money, for every member of any society; a stronger faith in Him who has promised to be with us; a forward step into the great adventure of resting only on His promises when the way is not plain before us, into a faith that will claim the 'World for Christ," and a will to do our part to answer our own prayers and into the hope that the time may come when every woman in the Presbyterian church may be enlisted in this service. She said, "We are humbly thankful to our great leader, for all that has been accomplished in our province during the past year, and for the many encouragements that have come to us through his goodness and the means that He is supplying to help us in the work that lies before us." She also gave short sketches of the different parts of the work, and also mentioned different missionaries who were designated under our provincial society for overseas service in the mission fields. She closed her address by saying, "The fields are before us and white unto the harvest. Let us continue to pray the Lord of the harvest to send workers for these fields."

Forward be our watchword,
Steps and voices joined,
Seek the things before us,
Not a look behind;
Burns the fiery pillar,
At our army's head:
Who would dream of shirking
By Jehovah led?

Report on Presbyterials.

Mrs. McCullough, corresponding secretary, then gave a report of the different presbyterials, which was indeed very encouraging, speaking also of Miss Edith Sinclair, secretary of Girls' Work, and of the great work she has been doing among our young people, and how she had crept into the hearts and lives of the young people. She closed by giving mention to those who had suffered the loss of dear ones. Three of our Provincial members and one of our missionaries, who had passed away. What more can we say of these, our late dear co-workers than that they were faithful unto death, and the memory of their beautiful lives will linger with us, as long as life shall last.

They have left us, but are—
"Just a little way ahead
And await us around the bend."

The different Presbyterial secretaries gave their reports, and all reported a very encouraging year.

The Young Women's secretary, in her report, stated that we were the Peters, the James and the Johns of this world. She said, "How are we to get young people interested in missionary work. The great need in this department is to get interested older members, who will be willing to give a little of their time to kindle a flame in the hearts of our young women, so that the torch will be carried high in the Master's service.

The treasurer's report showed a remarkable increase in giving, the receipts being $134,970.79, and a balance on hand of $4,864.22.

Instead of 25% taking "Glad Tidings" it has increased to 50%. Every home should have "Glad Tidings."

The Home Helpers' report showed a membership of 5388 members, an increase of 25%, with contributions of $7,488.10, an increase of over 50%. Let us in the new year before us labor as we have never labored before looking to Him, without whom we can do nothing, remembering that to-day is the future from which a few months ago, we hoped so much.

The W. and W. secretary stated that 6426 new comers were welcomed in Ontario, over 3,300 were visited in hospitals, 700 were reported located, 250 removals reported and 250 were visited in new districts.

It is in eresting to hear of the number of young people interested in this work. They visit and entertain by reading and singing to many patients in hospitals and homes, and they love to do so. We may look for intensive, extensive work during the year 1927, for we know that every visit paid and welcome given by our Canadian Presbyterian women to our new friends, who were members of Presbyterian churches in their home land is deeply appreciated.

The general interest depends on individual interest in our home life, and the homes of Canada are the riches of Canada. The church's one foundation is Jesus Christ. Pray for our leaders of Societies. Prayer in our societies is very important. The aim and object of our W.M.S. and Y.W.A. shall be to unite the women and children of the church in prayer and service fo the kingdom of Christ.

Tuesday evening's session opened with the grand old hymns, "All Hail the Power Of Jesus' Name," "Jesus Keep Me Near The Cross." The triumphant note resounded in every part of the interesting and instructive program, which was enjoyed to the full. The devotional period was in charge of the Bruce Presbyterial. The special subject o prayer being for all the Mission Boards of the church, to vision the longing world's need of Christ. Rev. Mr. McOdrum, in an inspirational address welcomed the delegates from far extended parts of the province, because of the wonderful work they were doing, and the splendid results obtained. He reminded the hearers that it was not unnatural, but very easy to take as the standard of work the large amount of money gathered in. That is by no means the most important thing our women are doing for the church of Christ. Their greatest achievement was the real work they were doing, such as clothing the naked, visiting the sick, and above all the bigges achievement had been that the whole church had been awakened, nourished, and brought to strength. He said the biggest thing we had done is this: we have brought and nourished the missionary conscience of the church. The first thing is to awaken, nourish and bring to strength the missionary conscience of our congregation, church and community. The W.M.S. have awakened, have studied the facts of the missions, laboured with the young people.

Prayer, study and social interest in our congregation is the one important thing in our W.M.S. and Y.W.A. We should work fields intensively instead of extensively. Minority groups should be our first thought, and people who speak our language is second thought. Put emphasis upon preaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Give the message of the Gospel to the people.

Story on Missions.

Miss Bertha Robson, missionary on furlough from Amkhut, then gave a successful missionary story of her work in the Bhil country. She said there were between 250,000 and 300,000 in the Bhil district.

It is 30 years since the first missionary went in to the Bhil country and she related that Dr. Buchanan spent his first day in prayer and that his success was gained by prayer and also his interest in one small native boy. The Bhils were taught to make lime, brick, tile and carpentry by him. The first house built by them still standing, is a sacred spot to them, for there they learned the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Never is one day's work started, without a Bible lesson. There is also a doctor at work among them. Farming is being taught and the natives are being paid for their work, and to-day Amkhut is a Christian community, with native leaders, who are teache s, preachers, Bible women and evangelists of their own people. Dr. Buchanan's and Miss Robson's aim for these southern fields is that they may become a Christian Bhil nation, n the heart of India, leavening the unreached millions in this land of promise. Many of the Young Christians are already sending forth the resounding slogan, "Shout Victory to Jesus." God moves in a mysterious way. He is treasuring up His bright designs for the Bhil people.

The devotional exercises of the Wednesday morning sesseon were conducted by the Chatham Presbyterial. Encouraging reports were received from all.

The Guelph Presbyterial had charge of the devotional exercises of the afternoon meeting.

The Secretary of Mission Bands said in her report, "Ladies, it is our duty to make this Mission Band work worth while. Unless we aim high, we accomplish little. Christ's promise to us is, 'Lo I am with you alway, even to the end of the world.'

"When does this work of ours begin? In the home, in the Mission Band, in the Sunday school, or wherever we come in contact with children. The spirit of Christ in their hearts and His rule in their lives for life.

"On whom does the responsibility rest? Christ organized the first Mission Band. Teach them to pray and to work with their little hands. Save the children for the church, for they are the foundation of our work.

Mrs. Lill, a Mission Band worker, in an address, said: "Do not wait until your churches are built to dedicate your children to the work of the Master."

Miss Edith Sinclair, secretary of Girls' Work, gave an interesting address. She was very enthusiastic over the possibilities of work with the girls. She urged a closer co-operation between mothers and daughters, and asked for a sympathetic understanding of our 'teen age girls. A great deal depends on the way a truth is presented, and we should be very careful in teaching the girl the right attitude toward home and church, and in our appeal to them, so they will want to learn the things they should know. Christianity is lived, not talked. The need of home training was emphasized. Girls are just as serious to-day as they ever were, and more interested in the best things of life. Girls and boys of to-day will be the men and women of to-morrow.

The evening session was in charge of the Kingston Presbyterial. Greetings were given by Rev. Hugh Munroe, of Cornwall, from the Montreal and Ottawa synod.

He also congratulated the ladies on the splendid reports of their work. Optimism, he said is the keynote of the church, because no light task is facing it. He said there were 24 students in the colleges, young, but amazing in qualities of service and in ability to win members for the church of Christ. Because of his deep interest in Canada he wished his hearers to so speak of and think of the ministry, that our young men may consider it the noblest calling.

The Corresponding Secretary, in her remarks, said: "With a total of 1028 organizations and a membership of 32,538, what can we not do for Christ.

Dr. Kier Fraser, of Renfrew, then addressed the meeting and took for the basis of his remarks, "Has the church failed?" He said our church needs a tonic rather than a depression. What is failure? God looks at what we try to do, not at what we do. There is no such word as failure in the idetionary of the Christian Church. There is the failure of vision to see the task set before us.

Failure of faith. There is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Let us quit talking about debt.

Failure of sacrifice.

Failure of prayer is the most important. A prayer church will never fail. David said, I will give myself unto prayer. We must pray God into our individual lives, our church work and into our home life. "Let us quit talking about failure and talk about the coming of the King," were his closing remarks.

Thursday morning session was opened with devotional exercises, led by the Maitland Presbytery, and after this the election of officers took place.

Miss Bessie McMurchy, corresponding secretary of the Council Executive Board, was in charge of the discussion of questions. Many useful ideas were received from the questions asked, and the discussion on them.

Mrs. Milne, the retiring president, was addressed by Mrs. R. J. McLean, on behalf of the Convention and was also presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses from them. In her remarks Mrs. McLean said, "The records on the pages of time will ever be able to reveal what the coming of Mrs. Milne to our Provincial Board meant to us all.

The closing session of the convention was held on Thursday afternoon and Miss Bessie McMurchy, who was a delegate to the Women's Foreign Mission Boards at Atlantic City gave a very inspirational address. The great impression left was of the value of quiet devotional life as an excellent preparation for all lives of Christian service.

Mrs. J. A. Lochead gave the closing remarks. She said: Are we all in much prayer? Are we practising the daily looking up, so as to find out what He would have each one of us do with her life?

The 248 delegates, in leaving Brockville, conceded that no more inspirational or enthusiastic meeting of the Provincial had ever been held.

CHURCH FILLED WITH DISLOYAL MEN IS CHARGE

Home Secretary Says High Officials Not Loyal To Doctrines.

WANTS GUARANTEES.

If Bishops Say Reformation Was Mistake He Will Leave.

LONDON, May 11 (United Press).—"I wish to declare that the Bishop of London has filled the London Diocese with men who are not loyal to the doctrines of the Reformation."

This startling criticism was made last night by Sir William Joynson Hicks, the Home Secretary, at a meeting of the National Church League.

"Throw him out of the Church—that's the best thing to do with him," shouted a number of women, but Sir William protested at such a drastic proposal.

"No, no," he told his indignant hearers, "I don't want any hard words said against His Lordship, but I want him and his co-bishops to know that we look to them to see that men are not promoted to higher positions in the Church unless they are prepared to abide by what the bishops know to be the real doctrine and faith of the Church of England."

The Home Secretary asked for guarantees that the present revision of the Book of Common prayer would be final and demanded that the bishops "come down on one side of the fence."

"If they," he concluded, "come down definitely and say to the Church of England at large that the Reformation was a mistake, we shall then know where we are, and I for one shall go out into the wilderness."

NO RETALIATION IN BORDER LAW

Hon. Mr. Forke Hopes Matter Will Be Amicably Settled.

SAILS FOR EUROPE.

QUEBEC, May 12.—There will be no effort at retaliation on the part of Canada because the United States have chosen to restrict the movement of Canadians who are employed in the United States and we are hoping that the whole matter will be amicably settled at a conference in the near future," declared Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, in connection with news dispatches intimating that the department of immigration has decided to investigate the number of Americans employed in this country as a means of retaliation against the United States measure.

Hon. Mr. Forke sailed from Quebec yesterday on board the Empress of France for a three month tour of Europe. He was accompanied by Mrs. Forke and just prior to the liner's sailing quite an interesting event took place, when a diminutive bell boy made his way to the cabin occupied by Hon. Mr. and Mrs. Forke and therein deposited huge bouquets of American Beauties and other flowers.

There were a dozen of these bouquets among which was one from the local staff of the immigration department.

The Minister of Immigration stated that he was going over to Europe to look over immigration conditions and matters there and also to see whether there were any suggestions to be made to the Imperial Government and others as to beneficial changes which may be made.

Could Not Sleep Heart and Nerves Were So Bad

Mr. Geo. Meek, Windsor, Ont., writes:—"I suffered with my heart and nerves and could not sleep at night for noises in my head. I managed to keep at my work somehow, until I began to have dizzy spells which got so bad I could not go to my work. I was afraid to go out any place, for very often I would stagger on my feet, and everything in front of me would turn black and fade away. While I was home sick a friend told me to take MILBURN'S HEART NERVE PILLS. I got four boxes and by the time I had used them the pains and noises in my head ceased and I was able to get a good night's rest. Although that was six years ago I have never been troubled with that complaint again."

COUNCIL WOULD

company were given the franchise that only Peterborough men would be used to run the busses and also look after the executive matters pertaining to the service.

Alderman Ackerman asked if the Border City Transit Company was prepared to pay anything towards maintaining the streets over which their busses ran. Mr. Mitchell replied that they would not, but in the matter of the removal of snow he though that some agreement could be reached.

Street Paving

When Alderman Fife submitted the report of the Board of Works, the resurfacing of George Street from Charlotte to the C.P.R. tracks came up for discussion. Alderman Fife moved, seconded by Alderman Denne, that the Warrenite bithulithic be used instead of asphalt pavement. The Warrenite bithulithic tender was for $1.85 per square yard, and the other was for $1.65, the former is what the city has been laying recently. When the aye's and nay's were taken, it was found that the amendment was lost.

Aldermen Phelan, Cotton, Fife, Ackerman and Denne voted for the amendment, and Alderman Stocker, McIntyre, Hancock, Macdonald Greene and Mayor Holloway voted against the amendment. The motion then carried by the same vote.

On the second reading of the by-law, Alderman Macdonald moved an amendment, that amiesite be laid instead of asphalt. Alderman McIntyre seconded the amendment, and in doing so he said it was the kind of pavement that the ratepayers had asked for. A second vote was taken when the original motion carried. Against amendment—Phelan, Cotton, Stocker, Fife, Ackerman, Denne and the Mayor—7. For amendment—McIntyre, Hancock, Macdonald and Greene—4.

Mrs. J. Bradley and W. G. Morrow asked for eating house licenses, and the clerk was instructed to write them, saying that there was a resolution on the books that no temporary licenses be granted.

A communication was received from the Hydro saying that as they were going to dispose of the assets of the Peterborough Street Railway, they wanted to know if there were any of these which the city wished to buy. Alderman Fife, Mayor Holloway and Engineer Parsons were appointed to find out if the city needed any of these assets.

Alderman Hancock, McIntyre, and S. R. Armstrong were appointed delegates to the convention of Canadian Municipalities.

Will Take Action

The City Solicitor was instructed to take action against the Nu-Art Kera Tile Company, Limited, to collect rent for the buildings which the company has been using. It was felt by the aldermen that the company has not given the city a square deal, as instead of meeting the Council in a business-like way they have moved their machinery out of the city while still owing $103 for rent.

Notice will be given that the city intends to lay a sidewalk on the east side of Aylmer Street between Manning and Aberdeen Avenues.

The Canadian General Electric Co. is willing to pay the cost of paving in front of their plant on Park Street, so as to clean up the front of the property. The aldermen decided to construct a larger sewer from the C.P.R. tracks to a point about 400 feet south, which the company is going to pave.

A grant of $500 was made to the Canadian Legion to aid them in financing the provincial convention which meets here in June.

Those present were Mayor Holloway, Aldermen Phelan, Cotton, Stocker, McIntyre, Hancock, Macdonald, Ackerman, Greene and Denne.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

stitute a marriage whilst it does in the eyes of the People (State).

Which has the authority therefore to prescribe the rules for marriage, The Church or The State, God or Man? The whole matter centres in the answer to that question. Accordingly as you answer one way or the other you will be with the Church in the Contention or with The State. So tremendous a convulsion of general public opinion has not been stirred up in centuries. Which then is supreme in marriage, The State or The Church?

Is it a religious question?

Now, nowhere in the Bible is the rabble or multitude whom Christ came, if possible, to save from Hell, authorised to decide upon the propriety or otherwise of adopting any of the laws of God.

Clergymen of all demoninations have constituted themselves judges of what the People should do and how far their rights go in matters which the clergy declare to be religious.

The "keys" or symbol of control were given by Christ to some one, this is, if we believe the Scriptures. They could not have been given to those who deny that they have received them. They may have been given to those who claim that they were given to them.

Misconduct in contracting marriage is inconsistent with Christ's general teaching and entails a declaration by Him or those to whom He gave control that it cannot be allowed and must be declared against.

Believing that Christ gave the Catholic Church the Keys of that Church which He says He established for the teaching of religion and the Christian saving faith The Catholic Church declares its control of marriage, having nothing to do, however, with that form of so-called marriage, called the marriage-contract established by The People and which governs rights of property. Prohibition was a case in point touching upon the same principle because if the People had a right to regulate private moral conduct in that case or in any case it follows that they have the right in matters of private conduct in general and therefore in marriage, which is the crux of the question now under debate. The matter to be settled therefore is not simply concerning marriage but "Has the State (the people) any right to regulate or prescribe rules for the private conduct of a man or woman, always supposing, of course, that we are speaking of the men and women who are acknowledged to be of good report but who, nevertheless, must do in the matters of private conduct as The State says.

Is therefore marriage a moral that is religious condition or merely a man-made legal one?

The civil contract marriage authorised by law which is just as much of a contract as it would be if it were between two people to build a house requires that the contract between husband and wife shall be agreed to and signed by the parties thereto before a competent official duly authorised, whether a clergyman or not. The contract and all that arises out of it, including offspring, is enforceable or cancellable as other contracts are, only before our courts or parliament.

If, however, the parties wish to be married, not only in the legal sense but in the religious sense as well, they may go where they please, the law having no control over them in that respect. This means as often happens in continental countries two ceremonies, one in the church the other in the civil registry-office or before a magistrate.

If an appeal is made afterwards concerning the religious or church marriage to the church authorities the latter are at liberty to say what they like about it, but not about the civil contract-marriage and the courts in reviewing at any time the civil contract-marriage make no reference to the church marriage.

Where a priest or other clergyman performs a marriage as authorised under the civil law in Ontario he performs possibly both the civil marriage and the church marriage. In that case he can not attack the marriage afterwards as a civil contract-marriage because that is only for the law courts, but as for the part of the ceremony called the church marriage the priest or other clergyman can say what he likes.

The husband and wife are therefore free and their civil marriage annulled only when the courts say so, but the church part may be annulled or otherwise whenever the church sees fit to do so.

It is, therefore, this double ceremony, even if performed by the same person and at one time which explains the apparent conflict of church and state and shows that there is no conflict in reality.

Has the state a right to tamper with Religion? Was it authorised by Christ so to do or does it care whether it was or not?

Is the ultimate authority in a state in all matters the determination of a majority to have its own way? These are in my view as a layman speaking to laymen the basic issues of this question.

Delicious in Place of Cream

THOSE who really know Carnation Milk know that, used in place of cream, it really "makes" a cup of coffee. Delicious, too, in salad dressings, sauces, gravies, soups. And Carnation works wonders in improving all cooking.

You'll like its finer-than-ever taste, its creamy richness. And its great economy will please you, too.

STEAM ROLLER BREAKS SEWER

Crushes in the Roadbed For Forty or Fifty Feet at Campbellford.

MAKES GAPING HOLES.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 12 — The steam roller in going over Sabastopol street crashed in the road bed directly over the sewer for a distance of forty or fifty feet. The firmness of the top surface had carried all the heavy traffic entrusted to it, till the arrival of the machine whose business is to make the roads smooth, and when the top surface gave way it left several yawning gaps that would take more than a load of gravel to fill. It is the opinion of some of the Councillors that the water main has broken, causing a wash out in the sewer bed. The sewer was built three years ago. Workmen have commenced digging operations to locate the trouble.

Garage Remodelled

Charlie Davidson has remodelled his garage giving more space for the Chevrolet show room, the entire north half of the building being given over to the display of cars, with a small private office and rest room, toilet and wash room at the rear. The main office and parts department is located in the centre front the rest of the building is taken up with the garage proper. Two expert painters have been busy for the past two weeks painting the office and parts department and spraying the show room with a coat of whitewash. They are now giving the outside the appearance of a new building. A new twin gasoline pump is on the ground ready for installation and when completed Davidson's garage will be one of the most spacious and up-to-date buildings of its kind in the district.

Mother's Day is Observed

KNOX PRESBYTERIAN, HAVELOCK

HAVELOCK, May 12."Mother" was the subject of the address by Rev. G. E. Lougheed, B.A., at the morning service in Knox church. "It has been said that the church has discontinued observing holy days," said Mr. Lougheed, "and now Mothers' Day, father and son, and children's day are being observed. Why do we keep these days?" he asked. "Because we live in a practical age. Everything is tested by its usefulness. Observance of Mothers' Day is helpful and influential.

"The house rests upon the mother: Prov. We give honor to whom honor is due. Who can gather up all a mother is? If her boy is chivalrous, we know his mother calls it out."

Mr. Lougheed divided the notable characteristics of mother under three headings:

Her Kindly Sympathy.

Who understands her boy as she does, for love not only covers a multitude of sins but it unlocks hearts and makes discernment by mother keener.

Father does not know all. He receives it second-hand from mother and he receives it in a softened state. Had father known it first, there would have been trouble. Many a boy would have left home but for mother, and many a boy had not learned his place in life but for his mother. It is at mother's knee the children learn to pray, learn to read the Bible, learn to be patient and persevere, and learn to profess Christ. The secret of many neer-to-do-weels is that their mother died when the boys were young. A mother's sympathy makes her the best of friends, the best of confidants. She would not betray her boy. Loyal when all others desert him and unwearying in illness, her sympathy is as deep as a well.

Her Influence.

Mr. Lougheed quoted George Herbert as saying that one good mother is a hundred schoolmasters, a tremendous compliment.

The recollection that someone cares, loves, and is thinking of him is the mightiest agency in helping a boy to be true to the highest ideals of manhood. As a result, he quotes his mother, how she looked, what she used to say. What she stood for and rarely does he deserts what she stood for.

Cromwell says no one influenced him as his mother. She cared nothing for his grandeur. Her only thought seemed to be for his welfare, comfort, and the honor of his name and reputation.

The Work Mother Does.

She is a consulting agent, holding a brief for the whole family. She toils the longest. She, as a priestess, makes offerings of love, and her whole attitude is that of intercessor. As an exhorter and preacher she warns and advises, inspires with her words to nobler actions and life. She has often told what is the wise, true, and noble course to pursue. Her preaching is not only acceptable but is sought after. One often hears, "What does mother say or think?"

Mr. Lougheed closed with the following words of Kipling:

"If I were hanged on the highest hill
I know whose love would follow me still.
If I were drowned in the deepest sea,
I know whose tears would come down to me.

"If I were damned in body and soul,
I know whose prayers would make me whole—
Mother o' mine, Mother-o' mine."

The order of service, as printed by the Presbyterian church in Canada, was used. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, and an appropriate vocal solo was rendered by Mrs. C. Jamieson. New chairs were installed in the choir-loft last week, and were used for the first time on Mothers' Day.

TRINITY CHURCH, OMEMEE.

OMEMEE, May 11.—The services in Trinity church on Sunday were very appropriate to Mothers' Day, especially at the morning worship. The programme for special use in Sunday schools was carried out, as far as possible, at the church service. Mr. Rowland read a poem, "Hymns My Mother Sang", in which the choir assisted by softly singing, "Am I A Soldier Of the Cross" and "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name". The choir rendered a mothers' day carol entitled, "Pilgrims". A short address was given by the pastor, who took for his subject, "The home as a nation builder."

The evening service was along missionary lines when the Rev. Howard Veals, recently returned from China, occupied the pulpit.

Both services were marked by large congregations.

The floral decorations consisted of daffodils, red and pink geraniums and primroses and were very artistically arranged.

WELCOME UNITED CHURCH.

WELCOME, May 11.—A very interesting Mothers' Day service was held in Welcome United church on Sunday afternoon.

The basement was bright with flowers, and flowers were worn by many present.

The responsive service prepared for the day was followed. The pageant which was being prepared had to be dropped on account of illness in the neighborhood. Instead readings of mother were given by Miss Gertrude Lewis, Miss Elva Pearce, and Miss Ida Clare. Miss Marion Martyn recited "I Love You, Mother", and Mrs. Clare read "What Bradley Owes Mother." Miss Hazey Bamsey sang very sweetly a mother song.

AT HASTINGS

HASTINGS, May 12.—Sunday was observed locally as Mother's Day. In the United church a pageant was given, representing the home and its surroundings. Two of the eldest mothers of the church, Mrs. S. Carter and Mrs. Roberts, were presented with beautiful bouquets of cut flowers by two of the Sunday school classes, namely, "The Others" and "Sunshine." Part of the service was in charge of the Sunday school, and the other of the church in general.

The part of mother was taken by Mrs. G. Faux; father, Mr. Neil McDonald; daughter, Madeline Bond; son, Iden Bond, and several others in the children's play, and hidden chorus.

During the service recitations were given by Georgina Beavis, Rhea Preston, and Helen Collins and solos were sung by Mr. Neil McDonald and Miss Jessie Wilcox.

AT MARMORA.

MARMORA, May 12.—Mothers' Day was observed in Marmora United church Sunday school by the usage of the prescribed service, a large attendance being present.

At St. Paul's Sunday school, also largely attended, the special prayer for mothers was used in course of session.

Evening services at both places of worship were also well attended. At the United church, Rev. C. J. Beckley's discourse on "Mother" was most impressive. At St. Paul's, the rector chose as his subject, "Religion and Patriotism," preaching from 1 Peter, 2-17. He referred to religion and patriotism as inseparable handmaids. The religion of the soul and that of the soul go hand in hand. With true love of country, there is true love of God. What is patriotism? It is the surrendering of the personal for national interests. This was never so evidenced as in the late war. What is religion? It is the losing of oneself in the glory of human service. It is a complete consecration of the soul to the service of God and humanity. Comparing the two, we see that both arouse the fighting spirit and that both come from God. Deep down in every human heart is the desire to become the best we are capable of that we may render the finest service to our King and country. Allegiance to God will accomplish all this. "Our minds turn back." Rev. Caldwell continued, to past days and we think of those that loved us and of that influence of a mother's love which never fails. Mother, at whose knees we were taught to pray, desired each of us to be the best that we can be. So loyalty begins in that small circle which we know as home and from it we step out into that wider circle of service to the country whereby we "honor all men, love the brotherhood, fear God and honor the King."

UNION UNITED CHURCH.

ELGIN, May 12.—At Elgin on Sunday, May 8, at 2:30 p.m., the annual Mothers' day service was held at the public school by the Union United church Sunday school.

The auditorium was nicely decorated with flowers and plants. There were white lilies, hepaticas, spring beauties, geraniums begonias and water balsams. Nearly every one had a white or colored flower on her dress or his coat in memory of mothers that are gone or in honor of those now living.

The meeting was in charge of the superintendent, Mr. Henry Thistlewaite. Miss Gertrude Buck was the pianist. The hymns were very fitting for the afternoon. A responsive reading of 1 Corinthians, chapter 13, was next given in the British revised edition (charity was changed to love).

Misses Florence and Angeline Scott and Messrs. Maxwell and Roy Scott sang a quartette, "If You Love Your Mother, Meet Her in the Skies." Mrs. John Scott, their mother, played for them.

On behalf of the Provincial Religious Education Council, Mr. Thistlewaite asked for a liberal offering, which was taken up by Messrs. Wilbert Morrow and George Richardson. The report was given by Mr. Edgar Clark. One hundred and five persons were present and collection was $4.86.

Miss Marjorie Thompson recited "I Love You, Mother."

Mr. Thistlewaite then introduced the speaker, Rev. M. L. Hinton, of Hastings. In doing so, he said it afforded him a pleasure and sadness. Sadness that soon he was to leave this part of the province.

Mr. Hinton thanked the Sunday school for asking him to address them, to bear tribute to mothers living and translated beyond. No harder or easier task could be given to a speaker. Hard in that it was difficult to do justice to the subject and easy because it was a joy. "We are all grateful for our mothers," he said. "Some one has aptly stated that God could not be present in person on the earth and so He created mothers. So, our ideas of mothers are similar to God. Not often do we hear of the motherhood of God. It is generally the stern fatherhood that is spoken of in the Bible.

"The comfort of God is mentioned as compared with a mother's. One of the older readers of the public school expresses the thought:

" 'Who was it who kissed me when I fell
And did some pretty story tell—
My Mother.' "

Power of a mother was stressed by the speaker. He mentioned some personal experiences of his youth. How his mother termed him her preacher and wished only the best for him.

Mothers who were noble women have influenced the world. Susanna Wesley, mother of John and Charles Wesley, took a great part in their early training, although their father was a clergyman.

The painter, Benjamin West, said: "It was my mother's kiss when I made my first drawing that made me a painter."

"It is said that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. It does more; it saves the world. Our early childhood years, when we get our impressions of truth and Godliness save us."

Tom Payne, the infidel, in dying, said: "Nurse, I was made an infidel in the first five years of my life." So tragic was his passing that the nurse hoped that never again would it be her duty to have such another experience.

A young man, son of an infidel, lay dying and just as he was about to go, in speaking with his father, asked him which religion he would choose. The infidel replied that to follow his mother's guidance would be the better.

People can bear tribute to their mothers by doing deeds that please or would please them. Nowadays, tendency is to late hours, dissipations and harmful amusements. Some children are breaking their mothers' hearts.

"The woman's cause is man's;
They rise or sink together
Dwarfed or god-like, bond or free;
If she be small, slight natured,
Miserable, How shall men grow?"

HAVELOCK UNITED CHURCH

HAVELOCK, May 12.—The order of service, as provided by the Religious Education Council of Ontario was used as follows:

Quiet music.

Doxology—"Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

Prayer—by minister.

Anthem by choir—"Zion, City of Our God."

Hymn—
"Lord, while for all mankind we pray,
O hear us for our native land
The land we love the most."

Responsive Reading—Led by Superintendent of Sunday school, Mr. A. C. Denike.

"O, Happy Home Where Thou Art Loved The Dearest."—First, second and last verses sung by the choir; the third verse by the mothers in the congregation.

Offertory.

Vocal Duet—"My Mother's Prayers Have Followed Me," Misses N. Haig and H. Hooper.

Hymn—"Happy The Home, When God Is There."

Prayer—in unison, of praise to God for the sweet ministries of motherhood.

Story for children on "Samson," by pastor.

Hymn—"Faith of Our Mothers, Living yet."

Address—Rev. W. R. Archer.

In opening his address, which was based on 1 Samuel 2, verse 19—"Moreover his mother made him a little coat and brought it to him from year o year when she came up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice." Mr. Archer said, "A great many things have been found in the tombs of long ago, and if I could dig around in one of the tombs I would just as soon find a coat made by Hannah by hands of love as anything I know of."

Samuel means given of God. Samuel had been given to Hannah in answer to her prayer and as soon as he was old enough she brought him to the temple to minister to the Lord. The need of the child is the law of the parent, the teacher, the Sunday school superintendent, and the pastor. Hannah made an annual pilgrimage to the temple and each time she took with her a coat or habit. Using the word habit as meaning conduct or deeds, he asked the mothers if they realized that they are also bringing habits for their children today. "You are also wrapping them up in their habits" he continued. Working on an immortal soul, clothing it over with its clothes of habits. Mothers, will your boys and girls be thankful to you in the years to come for their habits?" he asked. "They will if their habits are kindly, clean and pure. Samuel was a good boy and he made a good man because his mother gave him to the Lord in early childhood."

Mr. Archer closed his address with the following verses:

"Hushed was the evening hymn,
The temple courts were dark,
The lamp was burning dim,
Before the sacred ark
When suddenly a voice divine
Rang through the silence of the shrine

"The old man meek and mild
The priest of Israel slept,
His watch the temple-child
The little Levite kept.
And what from Eli's sense was sealed,
The Lord to Hannah's son revealed

"O give me Samuel's ear,
The open ear, O Lord;
Alive and quick to hear
Each whisper of Thy word
Like him to answer at Thy call,
And to obey Thee first of all.

"O give me Samuel's heart,
A lowly heart that waits;
Where in Thy house Thou art
Or watches at Thy gates
By day and night, a heart that still Moves at the breathing of Thy will.

"O give me Samuel's mind,
A sweet unmurmuring faith,
Obedient and resigned
To Thee in life and death:
That I may read with child-like eyes,
Truths that are hidden from the wise."

ST. JOHN'S ANGLICAN HAVELOCK

HAVELOCK, May 12.—"Holiness" was the theme of the morning sermon by the rector, Rev. T. H. Stanley, who chose as his text 1 Peter 1, verse 16—"Because it is written, 'Be ye holy; for I am holy'." After explaining holiness Mr. Stanley gave as one reason why people should cultivate holiness that it would better equip them to serve a useful purpose in life. He made reference to the ideals of motherhood, pointing out the important purpose ideal mother hood serves in the influence and training in the home life because the home life is the foundation upon which national life is built. He emphasized the importance of the training of the young girls in view of the ideals spoken of, and in paying a special tribute to motherhood he said, "If you train a boy you train an individual, but if you train a girl, you train a family." He also referred to the Christly power of sacrifice and redemption in mother-love.

Special prayers were also offered in the Sunday school for blessing on the home life.

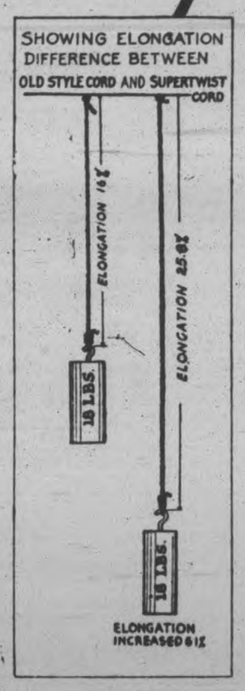
Protects you against Tire Troubles



SEVERAL years ago Goodyear realized the greater mileage which a cord tire would give if the cords in it were more elastic—better able to stretch and recover under the blows of the road. Having its own cord mills, Goodyear was able to experiment to this end.

After several years of actual use in tires, Goodyear can claim these virtues for SUPERTWIST Cord. SUPERTWIST Cord is made by a patented Goodyear process which gives this cord 61% greater elasticity than old-style cords. It stands punishment. It increases the life of Goodyear Tires.

To be sure of SUPERTWIST quality, Goodyear makes this cord in its own cord mills.

All Goodyear Cord Tires—balloon or high-pressure—are built of SUPERTWIST—and only Goodyears. They are sold by Goodyear Selected Dealers at the lowest prices ever quoted for such mileage.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Fay, "Long" Lane's pretty, kind-hearted little bride, was setting the table for breakfast on Wednesday morning when Faith staggered into the dining room, lurched to the homely old sideboard, gripped it with shaking hands and stood swaying drunkenly.

"Oh, Faith, what in the world is the matter?" Fay cried, horror shrilling her usually sweet voice. "You're sick! Your cheeks are scarlet with fever, and your breathing—oh, Faith, darling! I'm going to call a doctor! Long! Daddy Lane!" she shrieked, as Faith collapsed in her arms.

When Dr. Atkins arrived, 15 minutes later, he vetoed, with shocking profanity to hide his anxiety, the very thought of her going to the courthouse that day.

"But Cherry's sick, too. She needs me. I've got to go!" Faith moaned, tossing her dishevelled head on her hot pillow.

Aunt Hattie, to whom they all turned in crises and whom no one paid much attention to when things were going smoothly, arrived at nine o'clock, and immediately set about making turpentine-and-lard plasters and brewing mouth-puckering hot lemonades.

All day Aunt Hattie bustled and fussed and scolded lovingly, invariably creeping tiptoe into the room just as the fever-dazed girl was drifting off to troubled sleep.

"No, sir, you ain't going to see the afternoon papers," Aunt Hattie scolded fondly. "The doctor said you was not to excite yourself, and you ain't —not if I can help it."

But Faith did not obey her. When Bob Hathaway came stepping softly into Faith's room—the front bedroom which had once been Cherry's—holding out toward her a great sheaf of long-stemmed golden-yellow roses, she half-laughed and half-sobbed a greeting.

"I've missed you so terribly," she told him when he sat on the edge of her bed and stroked her hot cheeks with his cool, gentle fingers. "Now—tell me, quick, what happened to-day! How did Cherry look? Was she worried about me? Whom did Churchill call as his first witnesses? What sort of impression is he making on the jury?"

"Whew!" Bob whistled, then bent to kiss her forehead. "One thing at a time, please, Miss Lane! Cherry looked fine, even if she was a little pale. You can't keep a good girl down!

"Oh, yes, the witnesses: Well, Churchill called your father first. That was a real surprise. He got it over to the jury splendidly that Cherry, in breaking her engagement to Cluny, even if it was at the eleventh hour, was really obeying her father and her mother."

"A surprise witness," Bob told her exultingly. "A chap who saw a taxi-cab parked in the alley behind Uncle Ralph's house about the time of the murder."

"Oh, tell me!" Faith raised herself on an elbow, her eyes wildly bright with fever and hope.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

FOR FRIDAY, MAY 13, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

Until late in the afternoon sinister planetary influences are strong, according to astrology and experiences may prove that there is something in the superstition regarding Friday the thirteenth.

Under this sway there may be an inclination to look on the darker side of life, and for this reason an attitude of positive optimism should be assumed.

Gossip and gloomy predictions may be widely disseminated through press and personal contact while this rule prevails, but the seers declare that for the United States only great progress and prosperity appear to be presaged by the stars.

Intrigue and deceit may be encouraged by this planetary government, which affects organizations as well as individual. Secret diplomacy may accomplish much while this configuration prevails.

The habit of truthfulness should be cultivated alike by young and old, inasmuch as the aspects appear to stimulate double-dealing of many sorts.

This is not an auspicious direction of the stars for lovers and domestic peace may be disturbed unless sinister and subtle influences be firmly combated.

Again migrations of population in the United States are foretold. Florida now comes under a sway that proHises much prosperity, although serious storm are indicated for the summer months.

Astrologers foretell that the conjunction of Jupiter and Uranus in July will affect the destiny of nations. Changes in European governments are presaged and the Orient is to command attention.

Military might will gain headway in the summer, when there will be widespread distrust among the nations of the world.

Mars continues in a place menacing to the serenity of the United States government. Changes in policy are foretold, owing to extraordinary events.

Persons whose birthdate it is should pass a quiet year. It will be lucker to sell than to buy securities.

Children born on this day probbly will be talented and exceedingly energetic. They may acquire not only money but fame.

TROUBLED WITH RASH ON FACE

Itching Was Terrible. Cuticura Healed.

"My trouble began with a severe rash on my face which for about six weeks caused a terrible itching, burning sensation. The irritation caused me to scratch, and scratching caused sore eruptions which covered my face. My face was disfigured, and the trouble lasted about four months.

"I tried other remedies but they seemed to make the trouble worse. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and got relief after using it. I purchased more, and in a short time I was healed." (Signed) Miss Annie E. McCluskey, Box 113, Grand Falls, N. B.

Girl Drives Off Rats Which Attacked Babies

NEW YORK, May 12 (United Press).—Ella Street, nine years old, battled two giant rats which attacked her five-year-old younger brother and two sisters in their home last night, gnawing the arms and legs of the two babies of the family, one and three years old.

Ella beat off the rats, pursued them to their hole and stood guard over it with a broom stick, while the screams of other children summoned aid.

Neighbors were afraid to enter the apartment because it had a diphtheria quarantine sign on the door, but Patrolman Mike Corcoran came to the rescue.

By MARY MARSHALL

Here is the little hat that we call a "bonnet." This model is of beige straw and satin with marron feather trimming.

The milliners especially the French milliners are speaking much of bonnets nowadays. Just when is a hat a bonnet? What is a bonnet anyway? When bonnets were last worn the idea came to be that a hat was a bonnet when it had strings. Old ladies fifteen or twenty years ago sometimes clung to their bonnets—flat little headpieces usually with black velvet strings. In the days when hats were fastened on the top of our heads by means of pins thrust through the hair these stringed bonnett were really much more convenient for thin-haired old women who continued to part their scant locks in the middle of their heads instead of arranging them over rats and puffs. For a time conventional widows too wore bonnets—hats with strings—even after fashion had given up strings for other purposes. There was something decorous old-fashioned and rather mournful then about that sort of bonnet.

But now most of the thin-hair bonneted old ladies have passed on. Old-fashioned old ladies now cling to their pompadours and high-set headgear. And the stringed widow's hat is very, very seldom seen.

But the new order of bonnet has no strings—it is just a soft close-fitting bit of a hat that strikes a strong note of contrast to the vagabond felt hat that has been so popular. It is the young women and the women who follow most closely on the heels of fashion who have adopted this bonnet which curves down on the cars with perhaps a soft feather posed at the side with soft ends caressing the cheek.

Certainly it never was called a bonnet through any resemblance to the flat little top-piece with strings—but rather it suggests the close-fitting soft baby's bonnet. It is usually immensely becoming and though it fits closely it is too soft to be uncomfortable and may be made so as to hide a low knot of hair quite comfortably.

Former Manager of Brewery Says Trucks Called For Supplies.

MONEY FROM PERRIS.

Only Legitimate Export Trade Now Served, Firm Claims.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 11 (Canadian Press).—"We sold beer in Ontario, knowing it was for consumption in Ontario," Harry J. McIntyre, former manager for the Grant Springs Brewery, of Hamilton, told the Royal Customs Commission, this morning. "We worked on the cash and carry principle," added this witness. "We had the legitimate export of liquor, we had some export for which we did not get the B-13's back, and we had the cash and carry system.

Mr. McIntyre told the Commission that the Brewing Company had undergone reorganization recently.

J. B. Moriarity, book-keeper of the Grant Grewery, developed the cash and carry business a little further. Strong beer was delivered at the brewery in Hamilton to trucks which carried it off.

"Oh, it was not a cash and carry business in the ordinary sense of the word," interjected Chief Commissioner Brown.

"Did you receive any payments from Mrs. Bessie Starkman?" asked Mr. Calder. "Yes."

Mr. Calder read out the record showing that three cheques were received from this lady: one of $1,000, another of $600, and another for $300.

"That was for beer," said the witness.

"How much did you receive from the Perri's?" "About $2,000 a month."

"Are they still getting beer from the brewery?" "No one is getting any beer from the brewery. It's only export."

Mr. Moriarity admitted that he knew some of this beer purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Perri was for consumption in Ontario.

SAFEGUARDING MILK BY PASTEURIZATION

(Report of M.H.O., Toronto, Continued from Tuesday.

Effects Of Pasteurization On Milk.

It was fully demonstrated in 1907 and 1908 in the Hygienic Laboratories of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service at Washington that heating milk to a temperature of from 140 degrees to 145 degrees F., and holding it at that temperature for thirty minutes, would destroy all disease-producing germs including the tubercle bacillus which was found to be the most resistant of all, and at the same time would produce no appreciable injurious effects upon the milk.

The work done at that time by Schroeder and Cotton in connection with the experimental stations of the Bureau of Animal Industry was most valuable and has frequently been quoted since. They demonstrated that tuberculous cattle discharged tuberculosis germs from their bowels almost constantly—at times to the extent of tens of millions per day. They also demonstrated that the cattle that passed tubercle bacilli by the bowels were not always visibly diseased—many were apparently in perfect health and were not known to be tuberculous until the tuberculin test had been used. In demonstrating the efficiency of pasteurization, so far as the tubercle bacillus is concerned, they inoculated several hundred guinea pigs with the milk in its raw state from these tuberculous cattle. Every one of the little animals developed general tuberculosis. Over 200 guinea pigs were injected with milk from the same cow, after it had been pasteurized at a temperature of 140 degrees for thirty minutes. Not one of these developed any signs of tuberculosis. This work has been confirmed by Professor Rosenau, Conn, Theobald Smith, North, Russell, Hastings, and many other investigators both on this continent and in Europe.

By NELLIE LYLE PATTINSON

Domestic Scientist

Author of The Canadian Cook Book

WHETHER you are an expert cook or a beginner you can now bake perfect cake.

For the perfect Cake Flour is now on sale in the stores. It is Quaker Cake Flour. So sure are its makers of its quality that they have arranged with your grocer to refund the price of the package if Quaker Cake Flour does not give you satisfactory results.

Every cake-baker is judged by her cake. No other form of cookery excites such admiration as light, well-flavoured cake. Your cakes of Quaker Cake Flour will be the delight as well as the envy of your friends.

And then you may reduce your food bill by making your cakes at home. Quaker Cake Flour is not expensive. You use less than of ordinary flour. You have no waste of other materials through baking failures and your cakes keep fresh longer than those made with any other flour.

Quaker Cake Flour is easy to use. You may use it with the recipes printed on the package or with any other good cake recipe. Only use less Quaker Cake Flour—and sift it.

There is no other cake flour which approaches Quaker Cake Flour for the quality of its cakes, simplicity in using it, and the length of time the cakes will keep fresh.

YOU can be sure of uniform results from Quaker Cake Flour. Experts test it continuously as it is being milled. Ordinary flours sometimes vary from month to month and from season to season. In cake-making these variations are a serious factor, resulting in failures which perhaps lead to discouragement.

I know of no better way of ensuring success in the making of good cakes than,

(a) Selecting the best materials;

(b) Following well-tested recipes and methods;

(c) Always sifting your flour;

(d) Learning to control the oven.

Chemist Tells How To End Dandruff and Stop Falling Hair

That dandruff is responsible for nearly all the diseases to which the scalp is heir, as well as for baldness and premature gray hair is a well-known fact. We appreciate therefore the importance of any agent that will destroy its power. For this reason it is a pleasure to give herewith the prescription which a famous scalp specialist state he has found, after repeated tests, will completely end dandruff in from one to three applications. It will also almost immediately stop falling hair and it has in numerous cases, produced a new hair growth after years of partial baldness. This prescription can be made up at home, or any druggist will put it up for you—6 ounces Bay Rum, 2 ounces Lavona de Composee, one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Mix thoroughly, and after standing an hour it is ready for use. Apply night and morning, rubbing into your scalp with the finger tips. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume you'll be delighted!

ARCHDEACONRY MEETINGS END

Conference of Anglican Clergymen of This District Most Successful.

WAS HELD IN LINDSAY.

LINDSAY, May 12.—The conference of clergy of the Archdeaconry of Peterborough, which forms the eastern part of the Toronto Diocese, which closed yesterday, was one of the most successful of its kind ever held. There were some 25 or 30 clergy present, with Archdeacon Davidson of Toronto presiding. Rev. Mr. Crisall of Perrytown, Ont., was elected secretary. Sessions lasting two days were held in the Marsh Memorial Hall, and were quite interesting and instructive. The general subject under discussion was the improved efficiency in clerical work. A pathetic note was struck in the reading of a paper from the layman's viewpoint, which had been prepared just a few days ago by the late J. W. Bickle, who died suddenly on Saturday last at his home in Cobourg.

Reports of the progress of the Archdeaconry were striking and gratifying, showing that five jubilees had been commemorated and that seven new parish halls had been erected.

tion was made of the Circle of the First United Church in Lindsay, which, with a membership total of 69, similar to that of Trinity Church, Peterborough, had raised $1,000, while the local church had raised $375.50. Mrs. Riches also reported on one small Circle at Wilfrid, taking 6 of the 8 Missionary Monthlies taken by the Circles as a whole.

Mrs. Bailey, reporting on Young Women's Auxiliaries, recorded as follows: Beaverton, 26 members, $84.27 raised; the Elizabeth Bell Auxiliary of St. Andrew's Church, 41 members, $400.00, Knox Church, Peterborough, 40 members, $50.00, Norwood, 22 members, $200.00, Lakefield, 13 members, $41.25. The total number of members was 152. Thankofferings brought $184.71, envelopes $149.34, and other sources 395.06. Of a total raised of $892.07 825.79 was remitted to the Presbyterial treasurer.

Study books—Mrs. Lawlor announced the names of the study books for the year, as follows: "New Paths for Old Purposes," for Auxiliaries, Y.W.A.'s and Senior Circles, "Heroes of Our Homeland," for 'Teen age girls, and "Please Stand By," for Mission Bands.—Mrs. Lawlor also announced the holdting of sectional meetings throughoue the Presbytery for the week of Jun 20th.

During an interval, a vocal solo was given by Mrs. H. F. Doig, with accompaniment by Miss Alma Blanchard, Mrs. Doig rendering the sublime prayer of Cardinal Newman, "Lead, Kindly Light."

It was announced that Miss Littleton of Fenelon Falls would take the place of Mrs. Northey of that place, at the branch meeting to be held in Pembroke from June 7th to 10th.

During the period devoted to "Unfinished Business," Miss Dunoon of Lindsay, retiring president of the Lindsay Presbyterial, spoke of the Supply allocation; a bale of mixed clothing and bedding to be forwarded to the Supply secretary, Mrs. Hugh Robb of Norwood, sometime in July, during the navigation season, as the bale is destined for Northern Ontario. Christmas gifts for forty pupils in an Alberta school were also asked for.

It was decided to send copies of "The Examiner," containing reports of the convention, to all auxiliaries not represented at this meeting.

With regard to the Pembroke meeting in June, the district has been divided into two groups, and secretaries to look after the purchasing of tickets for each group were appointed, in Mrs. J. John of Peterborough and Miss E. Dunoon of Lindsay.

Reports of Committees.

The report of the Business Committee was presented by the convenor, Mrs. Edwards of Campbellford, and contained an invitation to hold the next annual meeting in Norwood, which was accepted.

The report of the Courtesy Committee, presented by the convenor, Mrs. A. P. Latter of Oakwood, expressed the gratitude of the delegates to the Reception committee which had provided cars for their convenience, the pastor and officers of George Street Church, those who extended greetings, the choir and assistant musicians, Miss Jamieson and Miss Smyth, for addresses, and the ladies of the church for their hospitality. It also asked that letters of regret be sent to Mrs. F. Brandon of Cannington and Mrs. G. E. Forbes of Weston, who were prevented by illness from being present, and regretted the absence from the city of the Misses Dickson.

A motion which received the unanimous support of the meeting was to the effect that, owing to the change in the Liquor laws of the Province, Prohibition was still far away, the necessity was stressed of endeavoring to forward the cause of temperance.

Closing Words.

The closing words of the convention were voiced by Mrs. J. J. David of Kinmount, in a very fitting brief discourse outlining the A B C of the society. "A," said Mrs. David, stands for the promise, "Ask, and ye shall receive," and the speaker advocated requests for guidance and assistance at all times in the furtherance of the work of the organization. "Let 'Canada for Christ' be our slogan for the coming year." "B" stood for a belief in the blessings which would inevitably follow on the asking, so that "all who labour may do so in the consciousness that those who enter into their labours will make for a cleaner, fairer Canada." "C" stood for 'Counting on Comradeship,", the true comradeship which meant so much in workers in any organization for good. As the Fathers of Confederation, when they separated to go back to their own places and work out their plan for Canada, counted on the comradeship of those with whom they had planned, so workers in the W.M.S. should be able to count on the comradeship of fellow-workers in the cause.

The closing prayer was offered by the president, Mrs. Lawlor. Tea for those remaining over was provided by the W.M.S. of George street church.

BAKING SCHOOL

principal objects in the erection of the school was to train men in scientific methods of preparing this food.

"The Association believes that the work accomplished is very unique," said Mr. Dutton, "for it is the first time such a building has been erected and equipped by the members of any industry and then presented to the Government." Mr. Dutton then presented the deeds which represented the time and work of many, and valued to an extent of over one hundred thousand dollars, to the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of the Ontario Government.

Hon. G. H. Ferguson.

In accepting the deeds of the Institute, Mr. Ferguson remarked that he accepted the splendid and unique gift with great pride, for this is the first time in the Dominion that public spirit has manifested itself in education. He stated that the Association should have the gratitude of everyone in the Province, for this was the beginning of the trend towards the teachings of practical education in Ontario.

"The baking industry has achieved a very important position in the industries of our province," said the Premier, "and the output of this manufacture constitutes eight per cent of the whole output of the Dominion. Inspired by public spirit your organization is the first that have done anything of a like nature, and to be able to hold such a unique occasion as this is.

"I am sure," laughingly remarked Mr. Ferguson, "the representatives from the United States in the interests of the Fleischman Yeast Company will go back with a good opinion of such an achievement accomplished, with, of course, the aid of their own product." Premier Ferguson welcomed all the guests from the "sister country," and then said: "It is with the greatest pride that I accept the splendid gift on behalf of the province from this progressive organization."

Busts Unveiled.

To honor the pioneers of pure food, two busts, one of Julius Fleischman and the other of Louis Pasteur, were unveiled that will remain in the entrance of the school as an inspiration to the students of the institute.

The unveiling of the bust of Julius Fleischman was performed by J. Wilshire, president of the Fleischman Yeast Company, New York City. Mr. Wilshire remarked that it was a great pleasure to be allowed unveil the statue of the famous man who had, through great efforts, brought this famous "break-maker" and health restorative to the public. "Had he lived he would have been proud to see such a great school," said Mr. Wilshire, "and may this bust remain in the institute to speak to the students and tell them of the character and the generosity of that great man. Of Julius Fleischman may be said in truth—'Not as a ladder from earth to heaven, not as a witness to any creed, but simple service, simply given, to his own kind in their common need'."

In unveiling the statue of Louis Pasteur, Professor Jones, B.S.A., of the institute, stated that the reason for erecting these statues was that their memory may be kept green always. "Pasteur was born of humble birth," said Professor Jones, "but he was a great discoverer, a man that looked into things before attempting to carry them out.

"He had a marked power for investigation, and prevented many infectious diseases and studied so that the world to-day is drawing a great deal of benefit from the result of these discoveries. Pasteur grasped what he could not see, and the following is a sort of motto that he carried out:

"An life invisible—we view thee;
All life intangible—we touch thee;
All life unknowable—we know thee;
All life inapprehensible—we clutch thee."

In closing, Mr. Jones remarked that it was a great privilege to unveil the statue and expressed his hope that future students would be inspired when they know how much Louis Pasteur has accomplished for mankind.

School Inspected.

An inspection of the school was then made, let by Professor R. Harcourt, B.S.A., the director, H. C. Maedel, B.A.Sc., assistant director. The school is a four-storey structure, and is equipped with all modern electrically operated machines. The basement is used for a flour storage room. On the main floor are the mixing machines of both American and English makes.

There are more mixing machines on the second and third floors, but these constitute mainly the cake machines, of which samples of cakes were displayed that were made by the ten students that have been attending the school recently. On the top floor is a beautifully-fitted up library and rest room, or as one of the students remarked, the 'Hart House' of the Baking School. Magazines of fiction and literature on the process of making bread constitute the library. A club has been formed by the young bakers, and meetings are held in this room. The Allied Trades donated to this rest room, which is perfect in every detail.

After the inspection, luncheon was served in the main dining-room of the College with Past President M. Bredin occupying the chair.

"To see the realization of a vision of twenty-five years ago, is something that every member of the association should be proud of" said Mr. Bredin. He then thanked Premier Ferguson for leaving his busy life to attend this opening, and all the other busy guests who have thought so much of this institute to assent in taking the part they did yesterday in the programme.

Mr. Bredin then advised the young men of the college to study and keep three good habits: health, work and study. "For," said Mr. Bredin, "the higher you go with your work, the position will be looking for the man, but the lower you go, the man will be looking for the position."

Sir Robert Falconer.

Sir Robert Falconer, K.C.M.G., D.C.L., LL.D., C.X., President of Toronto University, then told of how it was his hope to see such a building erected. "Present bread is excellent, and if this school is erected for the purpose of making bread even better, we will certainly have fine bread indeed," he said. He then spoke of how the school was aiming for better texture in the bread, and stated that proper food is best for not only the comfort of life, but also goes for the maintenance of good health.

"We know to-day what our forefathers never dreamed of knowing," said Mr. Falconer, "but our population is increasing all the time and our present supply of food will not be enough in a few years, therefore we have to have some remedy for this and so this institution is erected for the purpose of enabling men to study the proposition and find out a method to remedy this situation."

He stated that a change had come over the world, for things a long time ago were going in the same old way, but now another change will have to take place. "Chemists in the bakeries, like Pasteur, should have more freedom in working out problems, and not be tied down to one or two necessary ones," he remarked, "and that is what this school is for, to meet the problems with a trained mind, which the students will get here."

Sir Robert then offered his congratulations to the sponsors of the building and remarked that it means that industry is being brought under survey of a well-trained mind, and the students graduating would go out with a knowledge of how to find things out and to do them."

H. E. Trent.

Chairman Bredin then introduced the man that had really made this great hope a realization, H. E. Trent, honorary secretary of the association. Mr. Trent stated that it was very gratifying to have such a great reception. "To-day men who aided in the undertaking are in a medium of gratitude that the fully equipped institute has turned out ten graduates already," said Mr. Trent, "and we are grateful to the recognition received from Premier Ferguson, and the educationalists that are present to-day." He remarked that the hearts of the association were welling over with the privilege that was to be afforded to students from an academic standpoint with the main college.

Mr. Trent then presented to the association a cheque for $500.00 to send a baker's son for one year to the institute, and then enlarged his gratitude to the allied trades for the part they had taken. "This school is not only open to bakers of Ontario but to all young men in the Dominion of Canada," said Mr. Trent.

Mr. Trent expressed his wish that all graduation students would go out and tell the story of their education at the institute to other young men so that all who wished could take a course in this fine modern building. The Fleischman Yeast Company then donated $5.00 a year for ten years, the first scholarship of the school.

Dr. Barnard.

Dr. Barnard, of the American School of Baking in Chicago, agreed with Sir Robert Falconer that the world was due for a change and that something must be done to provide food for a growing population. He remarked that the most important resource is the baking industry, for bread aids the growing child to become strong, owing to the vitamines that the bread contains. "We must move faster," said Dr. Barnard, "and the Trent Institute is one means of doing this, and boys who are training there have the chance to set the pace for the rest of us to follow.

"Greater progress has been made during the last generation than in a whole century formerly," said the doctor, "but now we must face a smaller food supply or learn how to produce a greater yield, and it is up to the trained men like the graduates of this school, who will learn how to better the texture of bread and will gain all the knowledge necessary, to combat against the difficulties of the coming generation.

Past President Dietrich then presented the gold key to Hon. J. S. Martin, B.A., minister of Agriculture, Ontario.

Hon. J. S. Martin.

Mr. Martin spoke of his appreciation toward the splendid enthusiasm shown by the members when the subject was broached to the Cabinet and they were so impressed by it that the building had their support from the first. He then told of the enthusiasm of the real founder, after whom the school is named, H. E. Trent, and also of Mark Bredin, Sr. who is an example for young bakers to look up to and copy his efforts that have given him the position that he has to-day, that of president of The Canada Bread Company in Toronto.

Mr. Martin agreed with the other speakers in that the people of Canada are the biggest asset. "We are past the guessing stage," said Mr. Martin, "and scientific methods must now be carried out, and for this very purpose is the Trent Institute erected, and placed there for the service of the people in the whole of the Dominion of Canada, which, I believe, will become greater and greater in the years to come."

Etchings of the school were presented to the noted guests by Mr. Gignac, past president of the association.

President Reynolds, of the Ontario Agricultural College, before presenting certificates of graduation to the ten young men who have just completed the course, spoke of the generous support that the association had been given by all the outside individuals and organizations. He congratulated Mr. Trent on his splendid work, and remarked that this excellent school, the Trent Institute, would have a great deal of prestige with the college. Certificates were then presented to the pioneer students and graduates of the Trent School, the Canadian School of Baking.

NORTHERNERS ON OFFENSIVE

Five Warships Move South — 12,000 Soldiers Landed.

NEAR YANGTZE RIVER.

LONDON, May 12 (Canadian Press).—Rumors that the Northern Chinese forces are beginning an active offensive are contained in a Hong Kong despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. Five of their warships are reported to have left Tsingtao in a southerly direction, while 12,000 Northerners are said to have landed at Tsung Ming Island, at the mouth of the Yangtse River.

"Should be in every home" Says Mme. Villemaire

Three years of stomach and kidney disorders wrecked her health. Now fully recovered and feeling splendid, she thanks Tanlac.

Mme. Eliza Villemaire lives at 432 St. Patrick street, Ottawa. She is ruddy and robust, showing no signs of the distressing ordeal she went through for three years. "No words can express what I suffered," she said recently. "At times I thought my back must break, and could not even stoop over to set the table.

"My stomach was just as bad, for food would lie there like a lump of lead. I used to bloat terribly, and at times could hardly catch my breath. Nervousness kept me awake half the night. I tried many remedies and treatments but though I spent a small fortune on them, nothing seemed to help me.

"I only wish I had taken Tanlac when my trouble first started for it certainly would have save me a lot of suffering. The way my troubles disappeared after taking it was almost magical. It built me up and made me a new woman. Now my kidneys never bother me. I am free from all pain and my digestion is splendid. If I had my way I'd put Tanlac in every home in Canada. That's how much I think about it."

Don't neglect nature's warnings. At the first sign of trouble, take Tanlac, nature's own tonic, made from roots herbs and barks. Your druggist has it; get a bottle today. Over 52 million bottles sold.

QUAKER OATS CLEANS BANKS

Shore on Both Sides of the River Near Hunter Street Is Improved.

VERY PICTURESQUE.

A clean-up campaign has been launched by the Quaker Oats Company in connection with the banks on both sides of the river, formerly used for dump-heaps. The banks now present a view that causes many people to stop to look, wonder why they did not notice the picturesque scene that the river makes as it flows past such a background as these clean, rugged banks. The reason is very simple, for just a short time ago the same banks were covered with a litter of garbage, ashes and old boxes. The company has been very progressive in this clean-up campaign and with its perfect tennis courts just below the bridge and the river banks cleaned up, the citizens of the city will be proud to point out to visitors the grounds of the Quaker Oats Company.

The city is also aiding in the cleaning up of the river banks by cleaning the ground on the west side of the river, south of the bridge, which was also tagged before as the "dump-heap." Grass is being planted and cinder roadways built, leading under the bridge into the Quaker Oats factory.

In speaking of the tennis courts of the Quaker Oats Company, it might be added that the club formed this year is getting things ready for an excellent season for the employees of the factory. Playing time has been arranged so that every member of the staff will get an equal amount of play during the tennis season.

W. J. Brooks, chairman of the tennis committee for this year, stated this morning that the courts played on by the employees are by far the best in the city, owing to the efforts of officials of the Quaker Oats Company. A caretaker for the grounds is provided, and practically the only expense to the employees is the cost of playing material.

O'KEEFE BOOKS NOT DESTROYED

Pinkerton Agent Says He Investigated the Matter Thoroughly.

COUNSEL PROTESTS.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 12 (CP) — Furnaces at the O'Keefe Brewery in Toronto were used for burning old records of the Brewers' Association according to evidence given to the Royal Customs Commission this morning by Arthur L. Hodgson, head of the Pinkerton Agency in Toronto. Mr. Hodgson, however, declared that he was "practically certain" that the books of the O'Keefe's Beverages, Ltd., which are required by the Royal Customs Commission, were not burned. He declared that he investigated the matter thoroughly.

R. L. McCarthy, K.C., of Toronto, declared to the Commission that the people who were suffering to-day because of the cancellation of the O'Keefe license were quite innocent of the removal of the books.

"We are the only ones who were singled out for this punishment," declared Mr. McCarthy.

The Chief Commissioner informed him that his clients had not been "singled out." It just happened that the O'Keefe license expired at the time the books were not available and its renewal was withheld.

Mr. McCarthy made a formal application to the Commission to withdraw its recommendation which resulted in the license being withheld.

The Chief Commissioners informed him that information had come to the Commission that the O'Keefe Brewery continued to do business after the Government had refused to renew its license.

"I think we ought to have the manager of the brewery here to assure us that the brewery was not run in defiance of the order of the Government and in contempt of the recommendation of the Commission," the Chief Commissioner declared. "You are coming here asking us for something. You had better come with clean hands."

Mr. McCarthy said it seemed rather hard on an innocent shareholder that he should suffer if anything which was not in order had taken place.

PLAY CONTEST

The Matrimonial Agency.

The interest of the audience in the efforts of the performers was manifested throughout each of the three offerings, which were entertaining in the extreme. St. John's church presented "The Matrimonial Agency," with Mr. Massey-Cooke as director. The play revolves about the efforts of a single lady of means to attain a husband through the channel of a matrimonial agency. An applicant arrives and is accepted, but is compelled to hide in a box-couch while conversation goes on in the room between rival suitors of Alice Arnold, the young lady of the house, who has been smitten with the idea of having three proposals in one day, and also advertises in the matrimonial journal. Parts taken in this play were as follows: Harry Beecham, a successful suitor of Alice, played by Wayne Wilbur, Ponsonby Funkleton, the unfortunate gentleman in the couch (Stanton Warren), Matthew Furze, a Yorkshire farmer applying for a wife (Bert Hayter), Augustus Plantagenet Splatchett, a stuttering young man who also desires a partner (Bert Austin), Miss Diane Poppincourt, the elderly damsel (Miss Gertrude Hood), Alice Arnold, the heroine who desires the three proposals (Miss Lucy Nixon), Mrs. Burlingham, a friend of Alice (Miss Florence Hutchinson), and Caroline, the trim little English maid (Miss Minnie Long).

Aunt Susan Jones.

The A. Y. P. A. of St. John the Baptist church, in Lakefield, presented "Aunt Susan Jones," a tale of a rich but old-fashioned aunt who descends unexpectedly on city relatives, who think she is deaf, and make all sorts of disparaging remarks about her, in her presence. She discovers that her niece is a bad-tempered little vixen and that the family is ill-treating an adopted daughter of the house, also that the niece's suitor is an absconding defaulter from her own village of Pigeon Creek. She takes the Cinderella daughter under wing, and departs.

Honors in this piece went to "Aunt Susan Jones," played very entertainingly by Miss Blanche Graham, in an old-fashioned outfit. Other parts were taken by Mrs. Braden Blewett, as Mrs. John Markley, the city hostess of the old aunt, Miss Winifred Payne, as Arabella, her fashionable daughter, Miss Dell Watson, as Anna Wilson, the "Cinderella" niece of the house, and Miss Grace Watson, who impersonated the boyish suitor of Arabella, Augustus Salderfrack. The play was directed by Mrs. T. Waldon.

A Case of Suspension.

The A. Y. P. A. of Millbrook church, St. Thomas', chose a play entitled "A Case of Suspension," as their offering. It dealt with the adventures of a professor in a girl's seminary who discovers several of the girls giving a party to a couple of their boy friends. He goes up in the basket that has taken the boys to their destination, and is compelled, in order to release himself from a position in mid-air, to promise secrecy. The lady dean of the school also comes on the scene and becomes entangled in the mix-up. Those taking part in this play were Rev. P. C. Howard, enacting the part of the inquisitive Professor Emilius Edgerton, Mrs. Howard as Miss Ophelia Judkins, dean of the seminary, Miss Ada Attwooll, as Dorothy, and Miss Martha Lang, as Mildred, the girls in the case, with their boy friends, Harold (Linden Russell) and Tom (Piercy Pitts). The role of the assisting hired man, Jonas, was taken by Mr. A. A. Needler, while Miss Kathleen Fowler took the part of the maid, Kathleen.

At the conclusion of the programme, refreshments to those taking part in the plays were provided by the A. Y. P. A. of St. John's church.

BOYS INSPECT CITY PROPERTY

OPERATIONS EXPLAINED.

Yesterday was citizenship day in Boys' Week. The boys of the Collegiate Institute and St. Peter's High School visited the waterworks, sewage disposal plant, city hall, and fire station.

About 150 boys were taken to the filtration plant and the pumping station by members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs in their cars. At the pumping station the boys saw the pumps in operation forcing the water from the filtration plant through the mains of the city. At the filtration plant the boys saw how the water was filtered. They were shown the difference between the filtered water and unfiltered and all the workings of both plants were carefully explained to the boys by the men in charge.

Seventy-five boys were taken to the sewage plant, sixty visited the fire hall, and a few went through the city buildings. At night the Boys' Council met in session with the City Fathers.

Swimmers in Marathon Must Wear Regular Bathing Suit.

TORONTO, May 12. — (Canadian Press.)—No grease coating without a bathing suit will be permitted in the $50,000 water marathon to be held in connection with the Canadian National Exhibition this fall. The entry forms, issued today, state that regular bathing suit must be worn by participants.

DOCTORS ADVICE TO THE SICK

Wash Away All Poisons in Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels Before Breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, no more headaches, indigestion, gas on stomach, bilious attacks, rheumatism, kidney pains, bad breath, you must bathe your self inside. Start today by taking one Tanol Calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime, then next morning drink a glass or two of hot water to wash from the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels all the previous day's waste, poison and toxins before more food is taken in. Get a few Tanol tablets from F. C. Weber, Charlotte street, Peterborough. They are harmless to take, do not nauseate, no bad after effects, no salts or seidlitz next morning, like ordinary calomel. Then you can eat better, sleep better, work better, think better and look better.

Woman Loses 3 Kiddies Then Bears Triplets

NEW YORK, May 12 (United Press).—Neighbors of Mrs. Peter Orchowsky are inclined to regard her as a resourceful woman.

Two years ago Mrs. Orchowsky's twins died. A short time later her small son, Stanley, fell into the East River and was drowned, but Mrs. Orchowsky was removed to a hospital from the teeming neighborhood where the Orchowsky's reside on Wednesday and in a short time later Peter Orchowsky was notified he was the father of a five-pound daughter. Fifteen minutes later the nurse added: "And a five-pound son." Peter was about to return to his janitoring then, but the nurse called him back: "And another five-pound daughter," she said. "You can go now. Everyone is doing nicely."

OTHERS REPORT HEARING PLANE PASSING OVER

SEARCH PROCEEDING.

Dirigible To Proceed Along the Coast From Lakehurst—Searchers Encouraged.

HALIFAX, N.S., May 12 (Canadian Press)—The manager of the Anglo-American Cable company at Harbor Grace, Nfld., advised the Canadian Press to-day that Mrs. Hinton, wife of the manager of the Imperial Cable Company, also heard the roar of an aeroplane Monday morning. The message from the cable company's manager read as follows:

"Persons other than Patrick O'Brien, farmer of Harbor Grace, who heard the aeroplane are Mrs. Hinton, wife of the manager of the Imperial Cable Company here, also John Stapleton, janitor, in the Imperial Cable Company's employ, both distinctly heard the noise of an aeroplane engine between nine and ten o'clock Monday morning. The sound appeared to be coming from the northwest."

Hope Renewed

NEW YORK, May 12 (Canadian Press)—Search in the air and on the sea for Captains Nungesser and Coli, was carried on to-day with renewed hope as a result of a report from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, that an aeroplane was heard overhead on Monday about the time the "White Bird" was due. Instructions have been issued by the Newfoundland government that any information relative to the fate of fliers be promptly reported.

The navy dirigible Los Angeles, planning a cruise to-day from its hangar at Lakehurst, N.J., was under orders to pursue the search "as far as feasible" along the Long Island coast and in territory not previously covered by ships and aeroplanes.

Virtually the entire coast guard in New England remained in the hunt, coastal radio stations kept their instruments open for word of the missing airmen, and captains of trans-Atlantic vessels scanned their courses for traces of the aeroplane.

Wall Street Trading Is Uncertain in Trend

NEW YORK, May 12 (Canadian Press) — Uneven price movements characterized to-day's stock market, with bullish tendencies again predominating. Oils responded to the efforts being made to regulate production of crude oil and the Van Sweringen Rails were heavily bought on favorable reception created by the announcement of the New Chesapeake Corporation, "Nickel Plate" common soaring 12 points.

Motors had a temporary sinking spell in the early afternoon when heavy profit taking in Hudson forced that stock down to 83 1-2, after having sold above 87 earlier in the session, but they rallied later under the leadership of General Motors, which was accumulated in anticipation of an extra cash dividend at to-day's meeting Steels were mixed. Houston Oil soared to 125 3-8, the highest price since it was listed on the stock exchange, and was followed into new high ground by Laclede Gas, Case Threshing Machine, Westinghouse Air Brake, Montagna Power, Union Bag and Paper, and Submarine Boat.

Mining Exchange Dull; Trading Volume Decreases

TORONTO, May 12 (Canadian Press).—Trading on the Standard Mining Exchange today was dull and featureless. Following the heavy markets of last week, trading has declined greatly and today less than four hundred thousand shares were traded in, compared to last week's markets of nearly a million. Argonaut Consolidated dropped 1¼ to 48½, Barry Hollinger gained 2¼ to 35½, and Kirkland Lake gained 3 at 142. Tough Oakes Burn lost 2¼ at 45, while Wright Hargreaves' new issues showed a gain of 18 at 648 On the unlisted side, Amulet gained 6 at 127, and McDougall was up 2½ at 36½.

TORONTO, May 12. — (Canadian Press.)— International Nickel, with approximately one thousand shares dealt in, was the feature of to-day's slow and uninteresting market on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Nickel, in spite of fairly heavy trading, declined 5-8 at 57. Massey Harris preferred was next in point of activity and gained 3-8 at 108 1-2. Seagrams held unchanged at 25 7-8. On the unlisted side of the market moderate activity prevailed. Teck Hughes declined six at 792. Kirkland Lake gained three at 143. British American Oil was down 1-8 at 25 3-4 and International Petroleum gained 1-4 at 30 1-4.

CHICAGO, May 12. — (Canadan Press.)—Selling on the part of houses with connections north-west, led early to-day to lower prices for wheat. Better weather for completion of seeding of the spring crop was reported. Opening at 3-8 to 1-2c. off to 1-2c. up ,wheat later underwent a setback all around. Profit taking eased corn, but rallied ensued, the market starting unchanged to 7-8c. lower and subsequently scoring gains in some cases. Oats showed strength. Provisions tended downgrade.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 142, July 134 3-4. Corn, May 81 1-2, July 86 1-4. Oats, May 48 3-4, July 49 3-8.

Startling Charges Made Against Young Baronet

LONDON, May 12.— (United Press.)—Sir Gerald Maxwell-Wilshire, 34 year old baronet, was arrested here to-day at Farnsham, Surrey, because of startling charges made by a young woman.

The woman said 'a titled gentleman" took her motoring Tuesday night, ostensibly to a dinner-dance at Maidstone. In a lonely wood, she said, he stopped his car, overpowered her, tore off her clothes and tied her to a tree. Then, she charged, he painted her body with shoe polish and motored away, leaving her bound to the tree.

TAVISTOCK PLANS TO GREET ORATOR

Rousing Welcome For Boy Who Won Contest For Ontario Title.

STRATFORD, May 12.—(Canadian Press.) — A monster reception for Hugh Hotson, winner of the Provincial oratorical contest in Toronto last night, has been arranged by the citizens of Hotson's home town, Tavistock, when the youthful orator returns home to-night. He will be met at the station by officials of the municipality, the band, and citizens, and a procession will be held to the largest hall in the village, where the youth will be accorded an official reception. Hotson's victory in the Provincial contest has aroused great enthusiasm in this locality and his chances to win the Dominion championship next week are considered very bright by the citizens.

Leafs Divide Double Header to Baltimore Orioles

PILE UP LEAD ON COURTNEY

WIN FIRST GAME.

MAPLE LEAF STADIUM, May 12. —After the Leafs had won the first game yesterday from Dunn's Birds in the 13th inning 2 to 1, Manager Wohl sent "Lefty" Courtney in to pitch the second, with Rensa behind the bat.

The Leafs scored their first victory of the season over Baltimore in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader but it took them 13 innings before they scored a 2 to 1 decision after Dunn's men had tied the score in the 9th.

The game was won with two out when Heath scored from second base on Webb's single over third. It was the first defeat of the season for Pitcher Earnshaw and he tossed his glove into the air as Webb's drive whistled past Maisel. Faulkner pitched for Toronto and he and Earnshaw were masters of the situation throughout, both pitching airtight ball with perfect support behind them.

This was the first extra inning game on the local grounds this season and took two hours and thirty-five minutes to play. Bratchi played left field in place of Lawry who has a sore elbow and made some fine running catches. The Leafs threatened oftener than Baltimore, but did not have the winning punch until the 13th.

The Stars took both ends of a double-header from Reading, at Syracuse yesterday. Ruiss Miller registered his second shutout with a 4 to 0 victory in the first game, while Bill Hallahan struck out nine in winning the second, 7 to 4.

MILLIONAIRES WIN OPENER

Beat Hydro 10-7 in First Game of the Campbellford League.

VERY GOOD BASEBALL.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 11 — The Millionaires and Hydro pried the lid off the local softball season in a scheduled game at the Agricultural grounds last night, the Money Kings winning 10 to 7. It was pretty fair ball for the opening game and fans and players alike are convinced the 12 inch ball is productive of faster play. The Hydro infield played fine ball. Adamson's leaping catch of a screaming liner, and the brilliant defensive display of Cowell at second base were the features of the Hydro defence while they failed to hit the pitching of Darling consistently. In all but the third innings the imported speed ball pitcher was the big factor in the Millionaires' win.

The game between the Mill and Outlaws scheduled for Monday night was postponed on account of rain and will be played on Friday night.

The line-ups:

Hydro . . . . . 113 100 001— 7 10 3
Millionaires . . 133 002 10x—10 13 3

Umpires—At plate, V. Farrell; on bases, W. Blakely.

BALL MEETING AT WARKWORTH

Present Prospects Indicate Only Three Teams in Northumberland League.

TEAM FEES SET.

WARKWORTH, May 12.—Present prospect indicate only three teams in the Northumberland Baseball League as only three towns were represented to definitely assure the league of paying their entrance fee. The meeting was held on Thursday evening in the community hall. C. W. Varcoe of Roseneath and M. Davey, former secretary, tendered their resignations which were accepted.

Mr. Charles Davidson of Campbellford, who was elected president of the league for this season at a previous meeting, chose Rev. C. W. Daniels of Campbellford for secretary-treasurer.

The team fees for the league were set at ten dollars; the league to be awarded ten per cent of the proceeds of the final play-off games.

It was decided to employ home umpires for regular games and neutral umpires for play-off games.

A long distance run over heavy roads from Glasgow to Edinburgh, a distance of forty four and one-fourth miles, is the feat recently accomplished by W. Ruthven, a young Cameron Highlander. Many had previously tried and failed. Ruthven's time was 5 hours 54 minutes and 45 seconds.

The record jump of a horse is just over eight feet.

You'd Be SURPRISED!

BY BILLY EVANS

The passing of Roger Peckinpaugh from the Washington Club to the Chicago White Sox reminds me that he once figured in one of the most unusual batting performances I have ever seen in the major leagues. Perhaps it would be more correct for me to say that it was the lack of batting that featured Peck's unique afternoon.

In five trips to the plate Peck didn't make so much as even a foul, yet he reached first base in each instance. I do not recall the Philadelphia pitchers who opposed New York that afternoon, Peck being a member of the Yankees, but they all looked alike to him.

Whenever Peck stepped into the batter's box the Athletic pitchers suddenly developed a case of wildness. The first two pitches would invariably be wide of the plate and Peck would have a decided edge, which in each instance he took advantage of.

Five bases on balls was his record for the day, which falls one short of the major league record held by Walter Wilmot. Not once during the afternoon did he swing his bat at a single offering and in each case the count was three balls and two strikes on him when he walked.

RYDER CUP TEAM IN FIRST PLACE

End of Second Round of the £1,200 Daily Mail Tournament.

WENTWORTH, Surrey, England, May 12 (Associated Press).—Members of the British Ryder Cup team held the first four places yesterday at the end of the second round of the Daily Mail tournament for $6,000 in prize money.

Fred Robson led the field with 72-74 for a 146, while Abe Mitchell was second with 76-72 for a 148. Archie Compson, another Ryder Cup man, was third with 76-74 for a 150, and Arthur Havers was fourth with 76-74, also for a 150.

The three other Ryder Cup players who qualified for the final play of the Daily Mail tournament, did not distinguish themselves. Charles A. Whitcombe and Ted Ray took 158 each, while Aubrey Boomer, apparently tired after a long tour in South America, took 160.

Of the old guard of British professionals, Jim Braid had a fine first round at 72 and then went to pieces. Harry Vardon was steady with a 78-76 for a 154.

George Duncan and George Gadd, both Ryder men, fell by the wayside during the two rounds of qualifying play in the tournament from which 100 professionals emerged. Duncan, by his failure to qualify, missed a great chance to win the event for a third time, because the final day's play was over the course of the Wentworth Club, to which he is attached as pro. Naturally he knows every inch of the fairways and every curve of the greens.

After the Daily Mail tournament the British Ryder team will spend the next few days putting the finishing touches on its game, sailing on May 21 for New York. After the Ryder Cup matches at Worcester, Mass., on June 3 and 4, Abe Mitchell will take his team to Oakmont, Pa., for the American open. The British team will play matches at Toronto and Montreal, returning from Quebec June 22 with nearly two weeks for practice before the British open at St. Andrews, beginning July 11.

MEMORIAL PARK.

Norwood To Have Plot Near Monument Presented as Memorial.

NORWOOD, May 10.—Norwood is to have a Memorial Park. The property on Ridge street, immediately west of the war memorial plot is being purchased by Mrs. Davidson, of Toronto and presented to the village in memory of Lieut. Walter T. Robus, who enlisted at Norwood, at the outbreak of the Great War, and after a most distinguished war career, returned to Canada, and was employed by Mrs. Davidson at her hotel in Toronto, where he died about two years ago.

It is hoped that the work to be done on the property will be completed by July 1st, so the park can be dedicated at that time.

GIANTS GAIN LEAGUE LEAD

CUBS LOSE OUT 5-2.

NEW YORK, May 12 (Canadian Press).—Three St. Louis hurlers were unable to stop the Giants yesterday, and the New Yorkers triumphed by 10 to 1, which enabled them to supplant the world champions as leaders in the National League.

Jess Haines, who had won five straight games, was knocked out of the box in three innings. The Giants scored four runs in the first inning on two passes, doubles by Lindstrom and Hornsby and Harper's triple. Later in the game Farrell and Hornsby each hit homers with two men on base.

At Philadelphia the Phillies defeated the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 2, by bunching four hits on Osborn, Cub pitcher, in the seventh inning. A timely two-bagger by Cy Williams in this inning scored two runs for the Phillies. Brillheart relieved Osborn in the eighth after the latter passed Thompson and Friberg had singled. The run in this inning was scored by Thompson, after Grimm caught Nixon's foul fly.

Game Halted.

The Braves and the Pittsburgh Pirates were clinched in a four to four tie at Boston yesterday when a downpour of rain halted the battle. Two of Pittsburgh's runs, which gave them a lead, came in the fifth inning on an error by Moore. Boston tied the score in the eighth by scoring two runs on singles by Pinch Hitter Fournier, Rhyberk and Jack Smith. There was one out when the rain halted the game.

Brooklyn pushed Cincinnati deeper into the cellar by annexing the opener of a series at Brooklyn by 7 to 5. The pitching of Rube Ehrhardt, who replaced Jess Petty after the Reds had sent the latter to the showers and tied the score, featured the game.

IMPOSE FINES.

CHICAGO, May 12 (Canadian Press). — President Ban Johnson of the American League yesterday imposed fines of $200 each on Ty Cobb and Al Simmons, ranking star of the Philadelphia Athletics, who suspensions were lifted Monday.

President Johnson notified Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, that the fines must be paid by personal cheques from the players within 48 hours or further suspension would follow.

This year's tournament for the championship of the Pacific Northwest golf association will be held at Victoria, B.C., the week of June 17.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON VISITS AT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Ont., May 12 (Canadian Press) — Sir Thomas Lipton, arrived here last evening from Toronto for a 24-hour visit which will be devoted largely to intensive sightseeing.

Sir Thomas was met at the station by Premier King, who accompanied him to the hotel and remained for a half-hour chat. Later he was a guest at dinner of the Prime Minister, with their excellencies the Governor-General and Viscountess Willingdon.

Sir Thomas told reporters that he went to the United States first as a steerage passenger at the age of seventeen. "Now," he commented with a twinkle in his clear eyes, "When I go I'm a devil of a swell." He went to work to make money for his mother, he observed, and when he was given the freedom of the city of Glasgow not long ago he remarked that he had worked in that city for a half-crown weekly.

"Every lad," he declared, "Has the same opportunity if he takes his mother as his guiding star."

TENNIS TOURNEY.

AT LAKEFIELD

LAKEFIELD, May 12—Wet weather has continued to "hold up" the tennis tournament but these are results to date:

Open Singles

G. J. Elmsley won from O. A. Langley, 6-3, 6-2.

Dr. Smith won from T. J. Wood by default.

G. J. Elmsley won from Dr. Smith 6-4, 7-5.

F. Hudson won from J. S. Ridpath 6-4, 6-2, 7-5.

Ladies' Singles

Mrs. Grier won from Miss Mary Mackenzie.

ATHLETICS WIN FROM DETROIT

HOMER FOR RUTH.

NEW YORK, May 12 (Canadian Press).—Babe Ruth's eighth home run of the season, off Ernie Nevers' delivery, and with Koenig on base, enabled the New York Yankees to take yesterday's game from the Browns at St. Louis, 4 to 2. Shocker yielded only eight hits and Nevers seven on the cold, misty day. Both pitchers worked the full game, marred by only one error.

Jack Quinn outpitched Kenneth Holloway yesterday at Detroit and the Athletics won their second straight victory over the Tigers. The score was 3 to 1. Ty Cobb, single-handed, scored one run against his former team mates. In the first inning, with two out, Cobb doubled to centre field fence. He stole third and came home when McManus' throw to catch him at third was over Warner's head. Cobb also doubled in the fifth.

Broke Streak.

Chicago broke the winning streak of Horace Lisenbee, Washington's star pitcher, who had won three straight games, when the White Sox defeated the Senators at Chicago, 4 to 1. Aaron Ward's double with the bases filled in the sixth inning gave the White Sox the game. Ted Lyons held the Griffmen to four scattered hits, their lone tally being helped along by Kamm's error.

Cleveland at Boston was postponed on account of cold weather.

BASEBALL NEWS.

Crescents practice tomorrow evening, and also Tuesday and Friday of next week. All are requested to be present.

In a seven innings exhibition game at Central Park last evening, Lock Works lost out to The Examiner, 12—6. Play was even to the fifth inning, in which frame the newspaper team tallied eight runs.

Umpire: J. E. Nixon.

The Canuck Bantams will play the Lock Works team on Friday night at 6o'clock at the Sacred Heart grounds. All bantam players be on hand early.

WATCH THE KIDNEYS

Fatigue and that tired feeling is the result of poison in the blood. When the kidneys fail to remove this poison from the system it leads to backache, rheumatic pains and sometimes to that fatal ailment known as Bright's disease. When this condition exists, don't delay, go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will quickly correct the cause of your trouble.

Mr. Arthur Pinch of Smith Township states that Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills give him more speedy relief than any other preparation that he had tried.

ST. PETERS BOYS WIN THE SHIELD

THE BUTTON CONTEST.

In connection with the parade of scholars from the Public and Separate Schools, held on Tuesday evening, prizes were awarded on the following basis:

Best percentage of turn out.
Neatness of appearance.
Best conduct on parade.
Best drilled.

The shield, which was given as first prize, was won by the scholars of St. Peter's School, who made an excellent showing.

The committee in charge of the parade desires to thank all those who participated in it and to those who in any way helped to make it a success.

A Winner Wanted

The Button Contest has resulted in the second and third prizes having been won by

Kenneth Norman,
Allan McQuarry.

The first prize has not as yet been awarded; the winning number is 915. If the holder will report at the Y.M.C.A. at 10 o'clock Saturday morning with the winning number, he will receive his prize.

The number is on a small slip of paper in the back of the button and boys are asked to look at their slips so that the prize may be awarded.

First prize was a $3.00 bank account. Second prize a $2.00 bank account. Third prize a $1.00 bank account.

IRISH REPUBLIC MONEY RETURNED

Judge Denies Suit of Free State and De Valera For Bonds.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 11 (Canadian Press).—Supreme Court Judge Peters today dismissed the suit brought by the Irish Free State claiming to be the successor of the "Irish Republic" and entitled to the $2,500,000 bonds subscribed for in the United States for the Republican cause.

The Judge also denied the claim of De Valera to the bonds and directed that they be sold and the proceeds revert to the subscribers.

PRINCE COMES BACK TO WORK

Busy Season Confronts Wales On Return From Spain.

VISIT SIGNIFICANT.

LONDON, May 12 (United Press).—The Prince of Wales returned to London to-day from his Spanish tour, and now begins a series of intensive engagements at home prior to his visit to Canada at the end of July.

Few days will pass without the Prince making any public appearances, and with the heavy social season coupled with the visit to London of the French President, he will be Britain's busiest young man.

The departure of Premier Baldwin to the Dominion at the same time is being given increasing significance. There are several problems left over from the last Imperial Conference to be discussed with Canadian Government officials, together with the problem of future British representation in Canada.

Now that the powers of the Governor-General have been curtailed, the whole question of the appointment of a British High Commissioner will be carefully gone into.

The visit will also provide an opportunity for surveying the working of the recommendations of the Imperial Conference and the effects of the appointment of Hon. Vincent Massey as first Canadian Minister to Washington.

IN MEMORIAM.

BACON.—In loving remembrance of our dear daughter, Beryle, who passed away five years ago to-day, May 12, 1922:

She always had a cheerful word,
Her smiles we see them yet,
Her tender love for everyone
We never shall forget.

She is not gone, she is just away
Upon that golden shore,
Where the light that shines so brightly here
Shall shine forever more.

Days of sadness still come over us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps her ever near us
Though she died five years ago.

SYNOD UPHOLDS CADET TRAINING

Anglicans of Huron Give Unqualified Approval Without Debate.

CLOSING SESSION.

LONDON, May 12. — The Synod of Huron Diocese yesterday adopted a resolution giving unqualified approval to cadet training in the schools.

The resolution was proposed by Rev. Canon Edward Appleyard, M.C., of Woodstock, and adopted without debate.

The mover in presenting the resolution said that those who had been at the front did not want any more of the military spirit, but they appreciated the value of disciplinary training, particularly in view of the present day conditions, when young people do not seem to have a high regard for law and order and for obedience in the homes.

Archbishop David Williams stated at the closing session of the Synod that a new syllabus for Bible readings for use in Ontario public schools was nearing completion. An interdenominational committee is working on this at the request of the Ontario Department of Education.

Representatives of the United, Presbyterian, German Lutheran, Evangelical and Anglica. Churches, are on the committee, and His Grace indicates that the objective was to prepare a syllabus which can be defended against all comers as the best possible selection with a view to providing a systematic, comprehensive knowledge of the Scriptures and will be authorized by the department for use in the schools.

The committee is also making a selection of Bible passages for inclusion in the authorized reading text books and for memory work in the public schools. His Grace is chairman of the inter-denominational committee.

The Synod adopted a resolution by J. K. H. Pope, for a committee on Sunday observance. The mover declared that with the advent of the motor car there has been increased activity of "the forces of greed and indifference seeking to secularize the day of rest."

A committee to prepare an historical record of the diocese was also appointed.

KIDNAPPING OF BABY UNSOLVED

Alexander Forbes Says He Carried His Granddaughter Along Street.

MYSTERY DEEPENED.

TORONTO, May 12 (Canadian Press).—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Lloyd Daley, two months old, who disappeared from his carriage in front of a local department store on Tuesday while his mother was shopping, has deepened with the appearance to-day of the "old man" who was seen carrying a child on Yonge Street shortly after Lloyd disappeared. Alexander Forbes told the police that it was his description which had been broadcast throughout the city. Mr. Forbes was carrying a baby, he admitted, but the child was Pansy Forbes, a grandchild.

820 Charwomen Clean Federal Buildings Daily

OTTAWA, Ont., May 11.—The charwomen who cleans the Government buildings every day is an "institution" in Ottawa. There are 820 of her. She is a force in the community both numerically and sanitarily. She is respected by all who know her. The charwoman works under the aegis of the Public Works Department and her duty is to sweep, scrub and dust the Government offices wherever they exist, and have them clean when the clerks arrive. She has to do her work between the hours of six a.m. and 8.45 a.m. As a matter of fact she is often on the job at 5.30 a.m., and sometimes earlier. She goes early because as a rule she is a widow dependent on her own efforts and has to do other jobs in the day to keep herself going. For her daily cleaning service the charwoman draws $1.25 per diem.

BOYS' WEEK ACTIVITIES ARE BIG EVENTS

WORK OF BOYS IN MANY LINES ON EXHIBITION

Hobby Show Reveals Spare Time Occupations of Peterborough Lads.

MANY COLLECTIONS

An insight into some of the things that interest the boys of Peterborough in their spare time can be obtained by any person who will visit the Hobby Show in the Y.M.C.A. to-night or to-morrow. Whether the boy's tastes run to acquiring or producing, samples of his or his friends' work can be found in the various rooms at the 'Y'.

The show was opened last night by Ald. R. Denne. In declaring it open to the public, Ald. Denne stressed the value of a hobby to every person, and urged those present to see that there was a large attendance at all sessions so that the Y.M.C.A. and the Rotary Club might be encouraged in their work for the boys of the city. The only fault he had to find was that the show is confined to boys, and he expressed the hope that some organization will quickly arrange a similar exhibition for the work of the girls of the city.

The pet stock is the first section to be visited by those who attend. There is on display a splendid assortment of pigeons and rabbits. The rabbits, which are of various colors, are fine big fellows, fat and sleek; in fact the remark of one spectator, which would have struck terror to the heart of the youthful owners if they had heard it, was: "Fine for Christmas dinner." A pen of young rabbits, not half grown, took the eye of many of the visitors.

The pigeons are of many varieties. A striking exhibit is a pen of Jacobins, with their white faces and black hoods, looking for all the world like cowled monks.

Wartime Recalled

Reminiscent of wartime are the posters along the east wall of the gymnasium. There must be pretty near a full collection of the Victory Loan and Thrift Stamp posters issued in 1917, 1918 and 1919. Soldiers, nurses, ploughmen, John Bull, Kaiser Bill, and other figures common in war advertising are there. Further along the same side are American posters of the same type, advertising the Liberty Loans.

Two walls of the gymnasium are filled with the original pictures entered in the "Safety First" poster contest held recently. These are exhibited through the courtesy of Hodgson and Willison and include the winning posters and several by Peterborough people. L. Dyer and A. Cocks, pupils at the Collegiate Institute, had entries in the junior section. The former showed a cyclist engaged in the risky feat of riding without holding the handle bars, at the same time carrying a plank. The latter showed an arrow pointing at the centre of the target of safety. S. Harris had two posters entered in the open section, one showing a peaceful country scene with a farmer handling a scythe, and the other a panneret with a safety device. H. L. Hope, also in the open section, showed a teacher teaching her class the necessity for carefulness.

The processes of making a colored picture for a calendar are illustrated at one end of the room. One row of pictures shows the effect of sending the sheets through only one of the various color presses, with shadowy outlines in red, yellow, etc., of the picture. The other row consists of a series of pictures, each having gone a step further in the process than the one before it.

The dining hall of the "Y" is filled with the creative work of the boys. There is the department of scoutcraft. Two excellent collections of knots, from the simple overhand knot to complicated ones which look like tangles until closely studied, are shown. There are a large number of Union Jacks drawn by various members of the troops. One model bridge, using thin branches instead of the larger poles needed for an actual structure across a stream, is also included in the display.

Woodworking is apparently a useful and interesting hobby enjoyed by many of the boys. Bird houses of many shapes and kinds are included in one section of this department. Most of them are of rustic construction, covered with bark, and will doubtless be snapped up by house hunting birds when put out in the trees.

A striking model in this section is that of an ancient ship, named the Revenge in honor of Sir Richard Grenville's famous fight. This is a splendid copy of the tiny vessels in which the Elizabethan mariners dared the mighty galleons of Spain in that romantic era of which boys like to read.

Lathework is confined to lamps, and there are some splendid models, including one tall piano lamp that would grace any parlor. The spiral portion on this is especially good.

Borough Fights Back To Keep Its Red Flag Flying

LONDON, May 13 (A.P.).—The Socialist Borough Council of Stepney, East London, which has adopted the red flag as its official standard, has experienced much difficulty in keeping the new civic emblem floating in the air.

It was first wrested from the flagstaff on May Day by four men who, upon being arrested, said they would repeat the performance the next opportunity. And they did—or at least, some one did, and the flag was torn to shreds, but the Council has given orders for two others to take its place.

The flag is of the deepest crimson and the figures of four white robed saints serve as the centrepiece. The saints chosen are St. George, St. Dunstan, St. Mary and St. Anne.

BORDER RULING IS DISCUSSED

AFFECT BOTH SIDES.

WASHINGTON, May 13. — Canadian delegates to the border immigration conference went to the state department yesterday morning to meet Hon. Frank B. Kellogg Secretary of State, and other representatives of the United States, who will discuss a compromise on the new United States border ruling which seeks to compel Canadian residents who work in this country to comply before the end of the year with the letter of the U. S. immigration laws.

The Canadian delegates are Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian minister; A. L. Jolliffe, Canadian Commissioner of Immigration, and Hume Wrong, of the Canadian legation staff.

Gentlemen's Agreement.

Canada seeks a continuation of the gentlemen's agreement, whereby any recognized Canadian, irrespective of his birthplace, can cross and recross the border in his daily business. Canada will draw attention to the reciprocal nature of the agreement, and the possibility of far-reaching consequences to citizens of the United States working in Canada, as well as to the serious hardship to residents of border communities on both sides, if the present agreement is abruptly terminated.

One assurance Canada received at the outset was that Canadian who have paid head tax and immigration visa fees will be recognized as legal immigrants to the U.S. so long as their employment continues, and that the proposed inspection every six months would be only for a check to prevent transference or deception. Renewal will not be necessary for bonafide visa holders.

It is unlikely that the Jay treaty of 1794 will play much part in the argument, it being generally conceded that the war of 1812 put an end to such treaties, and that subsequent legislation both in Canada and the United States would take precedence. The British government with whom the Jay treaty was negotiated by the United States, also has claimed subsequently that the treaty has expired.

Canada may ask that the U. S. negotiate a special treaty protecting Canadian naturalized citizens for border crossing purposes, irrespective of the laws affecting other countries. In other words, the Canadian delegates may request that Canada be made a non-quota country under the U. S. immigration laws for all citizens, instead of for native Canadians only.

MISSING BABE IS RECOVERED

CHILD QUITE WELL.

TORONTO, May 13. Canadian Press. — Lloyd Daley, the two months old child of Mr. and Mrs. James Daley, missing from the front of a departmental store since Tuesday afternoon last, was found by the police at noon to-day with a woman in a King street east house.

The child was quite well. He was identified by his mother, who with the father, had been summoned to the house by the police, who had been notified by two men of the presence of the strange baby in the home of Mrs. Louis LePage, at 453 King street east.

Mrs. Page lay in bed off the hallway of the house when Mrs. Daley, the mother of the child entered.

It was a dramatic moment when Mrs. Daley took the child to her breast and exclaimed: "It's my baby! It's my baby!"

Mrs. Daleys claim was feebly disputed by Mrs. Le Page, from her bed.

"No, it's my baby," she said plaintively.

Later Mrs. Lepage broke down and admitted that the child was not her own, declaring "It was given to me by a girl." She had previously told the police the child was her own and was born about a week ago.

This afternoon a charge of kidnapping the Daley baby was laid against Mrs. Audrey Lepage, and Mrs. Elma Harper was charged with narboring. Both women are under detention by the police. Mrs. Lepage said she came from Montreal five years ago. She is about 35 years of age.

After consultation with the doctor as to the physical condition of Mrs. Lepage, she was asked to get up and dress, which she did with the assistance of Mrs. Harper. The police then took her to detective headquarters for further questioning.

SONS GUESTS OF KIWANIANS AT LUNCHEON

Dr. Porter, of Toronto University, Speaks At Boys' Week Meeting.

MANY VISITORS.

Other Clubs Visit Local Members For Father and Son Day.

As a fitting observance of Boys' Week, which ends Sunday, a father and son banquet was held at the Kiwanis weekly luncheon in the Empress Hotel at noon to-day. Besides the local Kiwanians and their sons, or "adopted sons," many members of clubs in other cities were present. Lindsay, Cobourg and Oshawa were all well represented.

Tom Dutton, who has taken such an active interest in this week set aside for the boys, took the opportunity to thank the Kiwanis Club of Peterborough, for the excellent co-operation given the leaders to make it the success it has been.

The booster for the day was Doug. Grant.

President Isaac McNabb then welcomed the visiting clubs, and congratulated the Lindsay members especially for their excellent turn-out, they having thirty-two present. A travelling cup which passes from the hands of one club to another, and is kept moving to induce competition and rivalry between the clubs in the province, was presented to the Peterboro members by Bob Grove of Lindsay, and accepted by John Turner.

A splendid violin solo by Stanley Northrop was well received and an encore demanded. Dr. Frank Neal introduced the speaker for the day, Dr. Porter, of Toronto University, and president of the Canadian Health Society. In introducing the speaker, Dr. Neal remarked that when the boys gathered at the luncheon to-day would enter the university, they would find a real friend in Dr. Porter, who is now looking after the physical welfare of the boys in the university.

Dr. Porter.

Dr. Porter began his address by remarking that for many years he had been an admirer of the Peterborough senior hockey team, and as he is the father of the "Red" Porter of hockey fame for the Toronto "Grads," he naturally took a real interest in the outcome of the battle between these two teams for senior O.H.A. supremacy.

"Life is just like a hockey match," said Dr. Porter, "for we are aiming to get ahead to the goal, and though we were quite often stopped by the defense, we reach the aim or the goal at last."

The doctor's opinion concerning the "adoption" of boys for a father and son banquet is that it is a very fine thing, for boys will tell more to these "fathers" in twenty minutes than they will to their own fathers in a whole day. "There always seems to be a natural dividence between the father and his boy, except on very rare occasions, when the dad and son get real chummy," said the doctor, "and so many secrets come out to these 'fathers' that perhaps would never have been disclosed had not banquets of this kind ever been held."

He then went on to say that mothers know the real secrets and that is where the fathers should go to look for information concerning their sons. Speaking of health, Dr. Porter stated that it is not always the strong people who are fortunate to have good health and statistics show that nearly all muscular men have had poor health in some form. Louis Sear of Montreal was the strongest man in the world, and in shows would lift a weight of 3,536 pounds. But every night he could scarcely sleep for asthma and trouble with his heart, thus showing that the above statements are true.

Worry Causes Disease.

Dr. Porter also remarked that fads about health in matters of dieting, etc., were wrong. "There are many causes for ill-health," he said, "but the main one is worry, for more dis-

Additional Testimony On Report, Nungesser Plane Was Heard Passing Over Maritimes Early Monday

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 13 (Canadian Press).—Additional testimony in corroboration of the report that an aeroplane was heard passing over Harbor Grace between the hours of nine and ten last Monday morning was furnished yesterday afternoon in the following statement received from John Casey, Stipendiary Magistrate at Harbor Grace:

"Today I have received the following statement in support of the probability of the aeroplane of Nungesser and Coli having passed over this part of the island on Monday forenoon: Mrs. R. S. Munn says: 'I was standing at the rear of my dwelling between 9.30 and 10 o'clock when I heard what I considered the noise of an aeroplane passing away to the northwest.' Mrs. Hinton, wife of the manager of the Imperial Cable Company here, says: "I was in my kitchen last Monday forenoon between the hours of 9 and 11 o'clock when I heard what I believed to be the sounds of an areoplane passing in a northerly direction. Both windows of the kitchen were open at the time. I though no more of the occurrence and did not mention it to Mr. Hinton. I lived, when in England, near a seaplane training camp and have a good knowledge of the sounds of aeroplanes when in motion.' A man named Moriarity, working with Mr. Stapleton says he heard the aeroplane sounds and thinks that they were those of an aeroplane. A woman living on a hill north of the town also states that she heard an aeroplane last Monday morning."

PATHETIC CASE OF NEED FOUND

Mother and Two Children Sleep on Floor of Local House.

SUPPLIES REQUIRED.

A very pathetic case which is now engaging the attention of the Big Sisterhood is one in which a widow and three children are involved. Coming to Canada about eighteen months ago, lured by ideas of what might be gained in this supposedly prosperous country, after selling property and furniture to pay the passage money, a woman who was used to a certain measure of refined living in the Old Country, now finds herself compelled to resort to strangers for assistance. She has been a resident of Peterboro for only two months. Her eldest child, a boy of fourteen years, with health of delicate fabric, is in a comfortable home on a farm, but the mother, with two small children, of twelve and nine years, is living in a house whose sole furnishings are a bed, an old table, and a cook stove. A boarder occupies the one bed, and the mother and children sleep on the floor. The small amount received in board provides scanty rations for the woman and children, but the problem of rent has now become a pressing one. Clothes, also, are very scanty, the family being unable to go out owing to want of them. The mother has now reached a state of distraction, and is on the verge of collapse through worry and the lack of sufficient food. She is unable to qualify for the Mothers' Allowance gratuity until she has been in residence in Canada for three years.

The Big Sisters are asking for any articles of household furniture to make the living room, now empty, save for a box with a cloth over it, more habitable, with particular need of one or two beds, mattresses and springs, one or two small tables and a few chairs. Bed clothing of any sort would also be welcome.

The physical and mental need of a newcomer to Canada, and one knocking at the door, rather than calling from some far-off land over the sea, is imperative, if tragic consequences, which often are recorded in the press from circumstances such as these, are to be avoided.

The Examiner is opening a fund for money donations towards this cause, and anyone having articles or clothing may telephone to Mrs. J. Knox, at 788W, or Mrs. G. Benton, at 2924W, and they will be called for.

ART EXHIBITS SHOW TALENT

WIDE RANGE CHOSEN.

The exhibit of Art Work which forms a portion of the display at the Boys' Hobby Show, being held at the Y.M.C.A. during the last two days of this week, is one of the interesting sections of the exhibits in the upper rooms. Here are examples of the boys' prowess in artistic lines, in sketches and pictures, done in pencil, crayons, pen and ink, chalk, charcoal and water-colors.

The boys have chosen a wide range on their subjects, with mechanical ability displayed in the side elevation drawings of steamers and aeroplanes, humour in the cartoon reproductions of favorites of the comic strips, and fondness for color in the flower and still-life reproductions from nature. There are denizens of the jungle in the pencil drawings of the huge lion and the trapped tiger, spirited figures of ball players in the two sketches entitled "Quick Action" and "Snappy Action," and funniess in the advertisement in colors, delineating a confiding chick wearing an Easter bonnet and floppy shoes, drawing attention to Easter sales. "Rudy" is pictured in several poses. The late idol of the screen, Rudolph Valentino, has evidently caught the fancy of several young artists. Here he is, in a fine three-quarter sketch, in the uniform of a Cossack officer and also, with Agnes Ayres, in one of his "shiek" pictures. Lon Chaney, as "Singapore Pete," in "The Road to Mandalay," looks out from one eye, and a "vamp" on the screen poses for the benefit of onlookers.

LONDON, May 13 (A.P.).—Viscount Haldane, in a recent debate in the House of Lords, said that he knew a man who voluntarily submitted to a vivisection experiment which could not be made under an anaesthetic and which was not allowed to be made on animals. He did not reveal the man's name. The Daily Mail announced that the man was Viscount Haldane's newphew, J. B. S. Haldane, a lecturer in biochemistry at Cambridge University.

The experiment, the paper says, was conducted by Professor Fraser of St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London and had as its purpose the production in Mr. Haldane of a condition of acidosis, an acidic state of the blood occurring in diabetes.

The acidosis having been established, Professor Fraser took blood from Mr. Haldane's femoral artery and was able to determine the exact change in the blood's alkalinity. The details of the experiment will be published.

Mr. Haldane, the paper says, had previously tried without success to produce acidosis in himself by swallowing various acids. He is the son of John Scott Haldane, a widely known scientist, who himself had given blood for analysis after breathing quantities of carbonic acid.

J. B. S. Haldane is regarded as one of the most brilliant of modern scientists. He has experimented upon himself many times at the risk of his own life in attempting to eliminate disease. He att ounces of ammonium chloride to prove its utility in lockjaw, and thus has saved the lives of thousands of children. He pedalled a bicycle in an airtight glass case until he collapsed. He was one of the first to test gas masks under actual war conditions.

APPRENTICES ARE GUESTS OF ROTARIANS

Sixty Boys Engaged in Industry Gather as Part of Boys' Week Programme.

LOCAL SPEAKERS

About sixty boys who are serving their time as apprentices in the different city industries, gathered last night as guests of the Rotary Club in the Paragon, where a banquet was held.

The speakers of the evening were James Dutton and J. J. Turner, two men who have served their time as apprentices, and to-day are the heads of two of the leading city industries.

A. L. Killaly acted as chairman, and in a short speech advised the boys to do as they were told, what they were told, and no more.

Claud Rogers, who has been sponsoring boys' week among the boys who are engaged in the industries of the city, told them what the Rotary Club is doing. "The Rotary Club is an organization of business men. In Peterborough we have the boys' camp at Stoney Lake, which was built by the Rotary Club, and to-day it is worth almost $10,000. The Rotary Annes or the wives of the Rotarians, helped to furnish this camp, and it is these ladies who have put on the banquet to-night. Another activity is the crippled children. Dr. Macpherson is in charge of this, and at present he has cured 15 cases. The principal activity undertaken this year is boys' week. There is the Hobby show, which is to interest young boys in hobbies and this banquet to-night is part of the programme, which has been so carefully planned by Tom Dutton. The Rotary has made it possible that every boy in the city can visit almost all the industries at some time, and hence he can choose that which he wants to go into, rather than the old hit and miss method of finding a vocation.

James Dutton.

"Success cannot be achieved unless you are prepared to pay the price, and there is only one way to pay the price, and that is by hard, honest everyday toil in every department of your life," said Mr. Dutton.

"Whether you fellows really realize it or not, this is a day of wonderful opportunities, if you wish to take advantage of them. There are many things necessary to ensure success; I am not so sure that the old apprentice system was not a good thing, but there were conditions, that prevailed under the apprentice system, that are remedied to-day for the general conditions in which people have to work now are very greatly improved and under these your opportunities to make good have increased 100%.

"Learn to take advantage of your opportunities and apply them by every means possible. Read as much as you can and prepare yourself for the job for to-day there are jobs for the men but not men for the jobs. Just yesterday the Bakers of the province handed over to the government a training school at Guelph, so there will be bakers turned out to fill the vacancies."

In closing Mr. Dutton told the boys to prepare themselves as far as it was possible for them to do so, as they must acquit themselves well and would be workmen who are not ashamed of what they turn out.

J. J. Turner.

J. J. Turner, in a short address, said to the boys, that it was a good standard to go by, that the quality must go in before the name goes on. He impressed upon the boys that real community work was essential to good citizenship. So be interested in the community, for you will be leaders to-morrow and the community will prosper just as long as there are men willing to make sacrifices.

"Success to anyone has only come through hard work, carefully planning and giving something to industry. Your success depends entirely upon your vision, and like the little boy who keeps his eye to the knot hole while watching the game on the outside of a high board fence, you boys keep your eyes on the future, and be obedient, be accurate and be proficient.

Stuart Widdess played a violin selection, accompanied by Harry Northrop, and at the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the speakers and the Rotary Annes.

FIRE IN ROOF

Spark From Chimney Causes Small Blaze at Cavan.

CAVAN, May 13.—A spark from the chimney started a fire on the roof of George Cobbly's house in Cavan village on Sunday afternoon. Fortunately it was noticed before it had made much headway and with the help of neighbors was put out.

British Aviators To Seek Non-Stop Record

LONDON, May 13. — From Cranwell airdrome on Monday, if the weather is good, two officers of the Royal Air Force expect to begin a non-stop flight of 4,000 miles to India. They will seek to better the present non-stop record of 3,345 miles achieved by Coste and Rignot, two Frenchmen.

Final arrangements for the flight are now being made by Flight Lieutenants C. R. Carr and L. E. M. Gilman. They are in strict training, similar to that practiced by athletes. Their plane is a Hawker-Hornsley, with a 700-horsepower engine. A thousand gallons of gasoline will be carried. With other equipment the aviators will take parachutes.

ANOTHER MAN HEARD PLANE

Resident of Sound Island Says One Passed on Monday Afternoon.

NOT CONFIRMED.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 13 (Canadian Press).—In response to numerous messages sent throughout Newfoundland asking for information of the French airmen, Captains Nungesser and Coli, the Minister of Posts has received a report from Sound Island, Placentia Bay, stating that Fletcher Beck, of that place, heard a sound like that made by an aeroplane on Monday about noon. A dense fog prevailed at the time. There is nothing, however, to corroborate the report. An aeroplane was previously reported having been heard passing over the town of Placentia, but this was denied from Placentia yesterday.

Ship From St. Pierre.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 13 (Canadian Press).—The Governor of St. Pierre to-day informed Sir William Horwood, administrator of the Government, in the absence of Sir William Allardyce, that he was sending a ship to search Placentia Bay and the neighboring waters for the French airmen, Nungesser and Coli. The Newfoundland Government has promised to aid in the hunt for the fliers in every possible way.

Orteig Offers Reward

WASHINGTON, May 13 (Canadian Press). — Raymond Orteig, United States sponsor of the $25,000 New York-Paris flight prize, has cabled from Paris an offer of $5 000 reward for any aviator who discovers either of the missing French fliers, Captains Nungesser and Coli, or traces of their aeroplane, the Commerce Department announced today.

DEEP MYSTERY AROUND RAID

Police Still Searching Arcos House, Home Secretary Tells Commons.

NO INFORMATION.

LONDON, May 13 (Canadian Press).—Deep mystery continued today as to the reason for yesterday's raid by Scotland Yard detectives and uniformed police on the offices of Arcos, Limited, the Soviet commercial agency in London.

Arthur Henderson, Laborite, asked Sir William Joynson-Hicks in the House of Commons this morning for full information, but the Home Secretary replied that this could not now be given.

"Information was placed before me Wednesday evening by the police upon which I authorized them to apply for a warrant to search the premises of Arcos," he said. "The warrant was granted and entry was made yesterday. Search is progressing. I am not able and shall not be able for a day or so to give any further information."

A vigorous formal protest against the raid was to be lodged with the British foreign office during the day by A. P. Rosengols, Russian Charge d'Affaires.

Police still occupied Arcos House this morning and only employees are being admitted after scrutiny of their identity cards.

The Russian trade delgation, and Arcos Limited, the Soviet selling and purchasing agency, have decided to suspend all operations in London while the police are occupying their offices.

Soviet Charge d'Affaires Rosengols takes a most serious view of the raid, which he regarded as creating a diplomatic situation and that his protest to Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, today was in the strongest terms.

The Canadian Press is authoritatively informed that the Foreign Office was not connected with the raid in any manner, but it is admitted that Anglo-Russian diplomatic relations may be affected in consequence of the police action. Whether this effect will be serious depends first upon what the Scotland Yard search discloses and, secondly how seriously the Soviet Government views the raid.

The Foreign Office maintains that the incident is not connected in any manner with the raid on the Soviet Embassy compound in Peking and was not based upon documents or information found in the Peking raid.

THREE PLANES AWAIT START ON BIG FLIGHT

Bellanca and Ryan Entries Expected To Start Early To-morrow.

BYRD UNABLE TO GO.

Aviator Has Broken Wrist and the Plane is Not Yet Ready.

NEW YORK, May 13. (Canadian Press). — Three United States planes, slated for non-stop flights to Paris, were berthed on Long Island flying fields to-day, and indications were that two of them at least would take off to-morrow in a race to be the first to cross.

At Curtiss Field was the Bellanca monoplane 'Columbia,' in which Clarence Chamberlain and Lloyd Pertaud had hoped to take off early this morning until unfavorable weather reports caused them to decide on postponement until to-morrow morning.

Beside it was the Ryan single seater monoplane, 'The Spirit of St. Louis,' in which Captain Charles Lindbergh, flew from San Diego, Cal. in two days preparatory to a flight to France, which may now develop into a race with the 'Bellanca.'

And at Roosevelt Field was the Fokker monoplane, 'America,' sent over from Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., last night for the flight of Commander Richard E. Byrd.

This flight is to be postponed, however, until the fate of the missing French fliers, Nungesser and Coli, is determined, and until Byrd has recovered from a broken wrist injured during a test flight.

The 'America' still has several days testing before it can be pronounced fit for service.

Although regret was expressed in many quarters that the 'Bellanca' fliers had not been able to get off this morning, as they had expected, the superstitious breathed a sigh of relief when it was finally decided that none of the flights was to be begun on "Black Friday."

Chamberlain and Bertaud now plan to hop off at one o'clock tomorrow morning, and it was generally believed that Lindbergh would be starting at almost the same hour, although he was non-commital as to his plans. Slightly shy, this 25 year old pilot, who had flown all one night from San Diego, then taken a few hours sleep in St. Louis, and flown to New York, was asked whether it could be possible for him to start nearly forty hours trans-atlantic vigil without further rest, and he grinned.

"All I need is a couple of hours sleep, and I'll be ready to go."

BOARD PROBES OPERATIONS OF MASSEY GROUP

Investigating Another Big Liquor Exporting Group at Hamilton Sittings.

SHOW LARGE PROFITS.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Operations of another big liquor exporting group which moves the product of Canadian distilleries across the Detroit river were ventilated before the Royal Customs Commission yesterday afternoon.

Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., commission counsel, referred to it as the "Massey group" and he said that amounts totalling $3,800,000 had passed through the Harold Massey bank account in Windsor in the period from June, 1925 to April of the present year. Harold Massey, who was on the stand for some time could not confirm these figures and he was also unable to state positively what his earnings have been during the seven years in which he has exported liquor.

An interesting point which developed during the examination of Mr. Massey was that the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company, a subsidiary of the Consolidated Distilleries of Corbyville, issued two cheques to W. M. Egan, former Windsor lawyer, totalling $24,800. Mr. Egan has been prominent in evidence as demanding money from brewers and distillers engaged in the liquor business. Mr. Rowell stated that the auditors had found these cheques and that the Consolidated Distillers would be asked to explain them later in the probe. In the meantime he asked Mr. Massey, who said that he acted as agent for the Consolidated Distilleries at Windsor for some time, if he had been approached by Mr. Egan.

Asked For Money.

"Yes, he came and asked me for money if I was to continue shipping. I told him that I wouldn't pay him," replied Mr. Massey.

"You didn't know that Corbys paid him?" asked counsel.

"No."

"Well, they did, according to the auditors' report. They paid him nearly $25,000.

"I didn't know about it."

"He must have gone over your head.

"Yes."

"Mr. Rowell said that what had been found was two cheques payable to Egan. "What they were for we do not know," he said. "When we come to investigate the Consolidated, they may have some explanation."

Mr. Massey said that he had started in the "mail order" liquor business almost seven years ago. For about a year he had been agent for the Corbyville Distillery and after that he handled Gooderham and Worts liquor for about nine months. At present he was handling liquor for the Joseph Kennedy Company, Limited, of Vancouver.

"Under what name did you carry on your export business?" asked Mr. Rowell.

"C. A. Savard."

"For the entire seven years?"

"Yes."

Mr. Massey explained that C. A. Savard was "in the combine" and therefore the business had been carried on under his name. There were ten men in the group.

Displayed Gun.

Mr. Rowell asked the witness about the meeting of the Vancouver Forwarding Company, when, according to evidence given by Auditor George Scott, certain objectors to the profit and loss statement were silenced with a weapon.

"Were you the man who carried the gun?" he asked Mr. Massey.

"I have carried a gun," was the reply.

"Did you have it with you on that occasion?"

"No."

"How did Mr. Scott see a gun?"

"I don't know. I didn't see it."

Mr. Massey told the commission that he and his associates had purchased the Joseph Kennedy Company, Limited, of Vancouver. The purchase price he placed at $500,000. He admitted that he and his associates in the group did a 'pretty large" business. All the export liquor handled was paid for before it left dock at Lasalle, he said.

"Have you paid income tax on this business?" asked counsel.

"Not to any extent," replied Mr. Massey.

"For seven years?"

"No."

"Does this apply to the other men in your group?"

Mr. Massey said he thought it would.

Then Mr. Rowell set out to find out what Mr. Massey's profits amounted to. The witness had only a very vague idea. Finally, on being pressed, he said they might be about forty or fifty thousand dollars a year.

"For each person in the group?" asked Mr. Rowell.

"No, for the whole group.

Counsel was incredulous. He said you didn't make $100,000 this last year?" pressed Mr. Rowell.

"I am," stated Mr. Massey.

Mr. Rowell suggested fifty, then thirty thousand, then twenty-five thousand.

The witness thought it might be twenty or twenty-five thousand.

"Are all these companies operating at the present time just as they were?" Mr. Rowell asked, referring to the liquor export agencies in which Mr. Lowe is interested.

"No," was the reply.

"What's the matter?" asked Mr. Rowell.

"This commission."

"Why, we moved out of Windsor some days ago," interjected the chief commissioner.

"Are we still too near?" asked Commissioner Roy.

"What is the trouble, has the demand fallen off?" pressed Mr. Rowell.

Mr. Lowe smiled and said that he thought the demand had fallen off a bit since the commission visited Windsor.

"Purchasers lying low?" suggested counsel.

Mr. Lowe said that he had not dealt with W. M. Egan, former Windsor lawyer, in any way, in connection with the Mexican Export Company. This is a company which was not operating in the export liquor business while the commission was in Windsor. "Ben Savard" was Frank Savard, Mr. Lowe explained in answer to a question by Mr. Rowell.

He was not certain that any of the names which have been applied to Mr. Savard before the commission are his genuine name.

that records showed profits of about that much a month.

'Don't be so modest," suggested Chief Commissioner Brown. "Why we had a customs broker in Windsor who swore that he made $12,000 a year."

"Are you prepared to swear that

OLD MASTERS

I saw the Conquerors riding by
With cruel lips and faces wan
Musing on kingdoms sacked and burned
There rode the Mongol Ghengis Khan;

And Alexander like a god
Who sought to weld the world in one;
And Caesar with his laurel wreath;

And leading like a star the van
Heedless of upstretched arm and groan
Inscrutable Napoleon went
Dreaming of empire and alone.

Then all they perished from the earth
As fleeting shadows from a glass
And conquering the centuries
Came Christ the swordless on an ass!

Italy's Sky Police Devise New Signal System For The Control Of Nation's Aerial Traffic

ROME, May 13 (A.P.).—Red traffic signal lights will soon gleam in Italy's azure skies from the machines of the aerial police force recently established by Premier Mussolini. Just as the crimson lights in the streets of Canadian cities cause automobiles to halt, so those of Italy's sky policemen will tell aerial wayfarers to check their course by landing as soon as nearby conditions permit.

Besides carrying lights, the aerial policemen, under the regulations being drawn up by the Minister of Aeronautics and Interior, will be identified by flying a large yellow flag and having a broad yellow stripe painted across the wings of their planes, which will be military or built after a special police pattern intended to assure great mobility and capability of manoeuvring.

The traffic function of the air police, at least for the time being, is avowedly secondary to that of providing political policing in time of peace and a military reserve for a time of threatened war, since the unusual flying conditions afforded the new service are expected to train excellent battle pilots.

The personnel of the police machines, all of whom are members of the military services or Fascist militia, will have full powers in the air, the mere presence of police machine in any region being a sufficient indication to any private plane to leave the region speedily, or if a red light is shown to land immediately near by.

If the signal is not obeyed there will be a second one by means of a rocket, smoke signal or machine gun volley. Failure to obey the second signal will authorize the police machine to open fire, while signalling to the land aircraft forces, which are manned by Fascist Black Shirts, to aid in shooting down the disobedient flier.

POLICE RAID SOVIET HOUSE

SEEK DOCUMENTS.

LONDON, May 13.—(A.P.)—One of the most spectacular raids in London's historical financial district took place yesterday when 45 men from Scotland yard swooped down upon the Soviet House in Moorgate and took charge not only of the Arcos offices but the quarters occupied by the Russian trade delegation, whose officials are supposed to be immune from adrest.

The Scotland Yard men were reinforced by 60 uniformed policemen who surrounded the five storey building and no one was permitted to enter or depart without permission. Acting under the instructions of the home office, they took complete charge of the entire building and well on to midnight the search was continuing.

Warrant Issued.

The raid, which began shortly before five o'clock in the afternoon, was carried out under the authority of a search warrant issued by a Guild Hall magistrate upon request of Whitehall officials, who presented evidence designed to convince the magistrate that the laws of the country had been violated, and that on this account drastic steps were deemed necessary in the interest of public safety.

The employees of Arcos, a corporation which controls Russian trade as well as the employees of the trade delegation, were taken completely by surprise. Before they had time to realize what had happened, the building from attic to cellar was in the hands of detectives who endeavored to gain control of papers and documents and took measures to prevent any slipping from their grasp. Consternation prevailed among the clerks and typists, girls and young men and for more than hour not one of them was permitted to leave the premises, they were allowed to go, however, before the search in earnest began, but the officials were detained and closely questioned by Scotland Yard men throughout the evening.

CHOIR ELECTS OFFICERS

Sunday School Choristers of St. John's Guests of President.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 13.—The Sunday school choir of St. John's elected the following officers for this year's work:

President—Miss Essa Cassan.
Vice President—Miss Nettie Forde.
Secretary Treasurer — William Crawford.

Social Committee—Misses Velma Runnels and Essa Cassan, Messrs. Ronald Hazell and Howard Shapter.

On Monday evening the members of the choir were entertained at Miss Cassan's home, to bid farewell to one of their members, Miss Hoard, who is leaving for her home in Belmont.

A social evening was enjoyed by all, and the hostess served a very dainty lunch.

Even Canadian water is pouring over the central Mississippi flood area; this illustration shows, giving a bird's-eye view of the immense territory covered by the Mississippi system. The Mississippi is the main stem of the greatest drainage system of the continent and one of the worlds greatest. Properly speaking it extends to within a hundred miles of the border but innumerable tributary streams cross the line. The total annual discharge is 21 trillion cubic feet. This is 6,775,000 per second. It is over 2,550 miles long. The map suggests these amazing ramifications. There is shown the Chicago drainage canal.

FIND NO TRACE FRENCH AIRMEN

CONSTANT VIGIL.

OTTAWA, May 13 (Canadian Press).—After an intensive watch of four days, ten government radio stations bordering the Atlantic coast and two government patrol boats plying the waters between Canada and Newfoundland, were last night without any trace of the missing French airmen, Nungesser and Coli.

The two patrol boats, the Mikula and Montcalm, are fully equipped with wireless apparatus and any report obtained by them could be flashed to the waiting world within a few minutes.

In addition to the two boats named, government radio station officials at Belle Isle, Point Amour, Grindstone Island, St. Paul Island, North Sydney, Cape Race, Canso, Chebucto Head, Yarmouth, N.S., and Saint John, N.B., are all under special instructions to maintain a constant vigil for the French flyers.

Keen interest is manifested here in the report that the murmur of an aeroplane was heard in the vicinity of Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, on Monday morning, as no Canadian aircraft has been flying around Newfoundland this week. The belief is expressed that if a plane were actually heard and landed in that district, a slight chance still exists for the airmen by reason of the existence of a quantity of ice in the area.

No Tidings

HALIFAX, N.S., May 13 (Canadian Press).—Officers of the Holland-American liner Nieuw Amsterdam, which arrived here yesterday afternoon from Rooterdam via Boulogne and Southampton, reported that they had heard no tidings of the missing French trans-Atlantic fliers, Nungesser and Coli, other than messages broadcast by those interested in locating the White Bird.

NO HOPE FOR ST. ROMAN

DAKAR, Senegal, May 13 (CP).—Hope for the rescue of Capt. Saint Roman and Commander Mouneyres, the French aviators who left St. Louis, Senegal, a week ago to-day, for Pernambuco, Brazil, and have since disappeared, has all but been abandoned here.

WORK OF BOYS

Two airplanes that will really fly, being supplied with motive power from rubber bands, are examples of careful workmanship in the forming of the various parts, which must be exact to a fraction of an inch. Two other models are made entirely of wood and are not intended to fly, but are clever reproductions of the larger craft.

Meccano, Erector, and similar sets provide the means for making several clever models, including a steamship, a steam shovel, a fire engine, etc. The use of red papers for walls adds to the realism of a windmill constructed from these parts.

What Boys Collect

The collections which accumulate in the pockets of small boys (and big ones too) have apparently been thrown together and sorted out into more orderly collections in this department of the show. There are stamps, coins, ribbons, badges, trade marks, everything imaginable. Particularly interesting are the stamps displayed, the collections showing tasteful arrangement, whether in albums or on large sheets under glass. An interesting collection to an old soldier is one of ribbons for various service medals and honors. The plain red of the Victoria Cross is there, along with the vari-colored strips which show participation in campaigns under many flags and in many lands. Coins and medals are shown in several fine collections.

Busy scissors have clipped a number of things from newspapers for collections. There are several bunches of newspaper headings and some of trademarks and slogans. The silk labels used in coats, etc., form another example of the paths along which the acquisitive instinct leads the boys, while advertising, humorous, and souvenir pins are numerous. Pendant chains of automobile license plates add a bizarre touch to the crowded room.

A boys' orchestra conducted by Donald Munro of the Prince of Wales School staff provided music in the lobby during the evening, adding greatly to the pleasure of the exhibition.

SNYDER SLAYERS FACE SENTENCE

Will Hear Doom Pronounced on Friday, the Thirteenth.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N.Y., May 13 (United Press).—Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder and Henry Judd Gray will be taken before Justice Townsend Sudder to-day to hear themselves sentenced to death in the electric chair.

To-day is Friday the thirteenth.

On such an inauspicious day, counsel for Mrs. Snyder will file a motion that the verdict of first degree murder be set aside, and if that is overruled, a motion for an arras of judgment to permit an appeal. The appeal probably will tie the case until fall.

As soon as the formality of sentence is over, Gray and Mrs. Snyder will be put in separate automobiles and taken to Sing Sing Prison. There they will be dressed in regulation prison garments—gray for the man and brown or blue linen for the woman.

HON. W. NICHOL RECEIVES CROSS OF THE LEGION

Former British Columbia Governor is Honored By France.

HONORS ENDOWED.

In Recognition of His Efforts To Promote Good Will.

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 13.—At the convocation of the University of British Columbia held recently, Hon. W. C. Nichol, former Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, was decorated with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

The presentation was made by Paul Suzor, Consul-General for France in Western Canada, in recognition of Mr. Nichol's efforts to create a more general interest in and appreciation of French art, literature and science on the part of the people of Canada. A large audience of students, graduates and alumni gave Hon. Mr. Nichol an ovation as the Chancellor, Dr. R. E. McKechnie, outlined the recipient's interest in France and pointed out how he had strived to create better relationship between the Dominion and the Republic, which is closely linked to Canada by radical ties.

Praiseworthily Efforts.

Mr. Nichol's efforts have extended over a long period. He generously contributed towards the erection of dormitories for Canadian students in Paris, and for this received appreciative comment from Phillips Roy, Commissioner-General for Canada in France. He also donated $18,000 to the board of governors of the University of British Columbia to provide scholarships for graduate study in French. Each scholarship is tenable for three years, and in 1925 the first Nichol scholar entered upon his studies in Paris. Last year two scholars were in attendance, and this year three will be pursuing advanced studies in France. Mr. Nichol's object was to make the French - speaking and the English - speaking Canadians better known to each other by encouraging the study of the French language in the western provinces. He has always followed with keen interest the progress of these scholarship holders and each is awarded a gold medal.

France has been most appreciative of the motives which led to the scheme and the investiture of the former Lieutenant-Governor as a chevalier of the Legion of Honor is the Republic's tangible testimony.

SCANDAL-MONGERS ANNOY FILM STAR

LOS ANGELES, May 13 (Canadian Press).—The motion picture industry is tired of being "spanked' for the sins of its hangers-on and in future will protect itself from undeserved chastisement.

Mary Pickford so declared at an organization banquet of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences attended by more than 200 leaders of the various branches of motion picture production.

"Upon us is laid a great responsibility," said the actress, "and we must accept the fact that our lives do not belong to ourselves. What hurts one, hurts all of us. At times there may be need of chastisement, but henceforth that chastisement must come from within the industry.

The "chastisement from within' will be based, it was indicated by Will Hays, director of the motion picture industry, on a paragraph in the by-laws of the academy which empowers the directors to expel any members guilty of "dishonorable or unethical conduct, or the commission of any act involving moral turpitude."

STRUCK BY TRAIN

AGASSIZ, B.C., May 13 (Canadian Press).—While driving his cows home from pasture Wednesday evening, Finlay Sinclair, 54, was struck by a freight train and killed.

THE GRADUATION EXERCISES OF THE NICHOLLS HOSPITAL TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES WILL BE HELD IN TRINITY CHURCH, ON MONDAY EVENING NEXT, MAY 16TH, AT 8 O'CLOCK. AN INTERESTING PROGRAMME HAS BEEN ARRANGED AND THE CITIZENS ARE CORDIALLY INVITED TO BE PRESENT. NO CHARGE FOR ADMISSION.

POOR BARGAINS.

We make poor bargains
Now and then,
Both foolish women,
Foolish men:
Take poisoned glass
For love of lass,
A skirt too short
For good report,
Some place elect
For self-respect,
For honor, gold—
So joys are sold,
And all we gain
Is tears and pain.

We make poor bargains
Every day,
Yes, someone's love
We throw away
For something less—
Immodest dress,
Unholy pleasures
And tinsel treasures—
The home's delights
For folly's nights,
For midnight mirth
The joys of earth,
Aye, squander even
Our hope of heaven.

Seymour and Campbellford Branch Executive Discusses Proramme.

FOR BETHEL MEETING.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 13. — A meeting of the Seymour and Campbellford Branch of the Ontario Religious Education Council met in the Library room at 8 o'clock on Monday evening.

Owing to bad weather, there was not a large attendance, but the business of preparing for the annual Sunday School convention to be held at Bethel Church, Seymour West, on Thursday afternoon and evening, June 16th, was attended to. The officers in charge of the coming convention are as follows:

President—Mr. J. W. Brown, Bethel Church.

Vice-President—G. A. Kingston, St. John's Church.

Secretary-Treasurer — Rev. C. D. Daniel, Seymour Charge.

Supt. Children's Work—Miss Kate Gould, St. John's.

Supt. Girls' Work—Miss Evelyn Weston, Baptist.

Supt. Boys' Work—Hylon Beattie, Christ Church.

Supt. Y.P. Work—Rev. C. D. Daniel, Seymour.

Supt. of Home Dept.—Mrs. G. A. Kingston, St. John's.

Supt. of Teacher Training — Mrs. R. W. Scott, St. John's.

Supt. Temperance Dept.—George Van Volkenburg, Trent River.

The secretary-treasurer was instructed to get in touch with Manson Doyle of Toronto to prepare topics for the programme. Mrs. Kingston and Mrs. Scott are a committee to plan musical items for the convention.

The financial allotment for the township for this year is in the neighborhood of $350, which would be made up by offerings from the various Sunday Schools from Mother's Day. All superintendents of Sunday schools are requested to see that their givings are sent in at once to the secretary-treasurer.

Last year's financial statement was as follows:

Receipts.

Bank balance	$6.05
Stanwood	1.10
St. Andrew's	5.00
St. John's	13.00
Baptist	2.00
Tabernacle	3.00
Stephen's	3.50
Zion	4.00
Meyersburg	2.00
Burnbrae	2.50
Trent Bridge	6.00
Offerings from convention	12.00
Total	$60.16

Expenditures.

Printing	$5.00
O. R. E. C.	45.00
O. R. E. C. Representation	5.00
Secretary-Treasurer, expenses	1.50
	$56.50

Balance to commence this year—$3.66

It was planned to have Rev. M. L. Hinton of Hastings open the convention with devotional exercises. Rev. D. A. McKenzie of Burnbrae is to close the afternoon session; Rev. N. Clarke Wallace of Christ Church will open the evening session; Rev. W. R. Archer of Trent Bridge will close the convention.

There will be a roll call of schools and all Sunday schools are requested to have delegates present.

One feature of the programme will be a report of the O.R.E.C., Peterboro convention, to be given by Mrs. R. W. Scott.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 13 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in Canadian grain here yesterday was very quiet and only a few loads of rye were worked to the Continent.

There was no further change in prices for coarse grains, but the undertone was firm with only a small volume of business passing.

The trade in Spring and Winter wheat grades of flour was quiet, but prices were unchanged.

The millfeed market was fairly active and the undertone was firm. Business in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet but steady.

Owing to the large stock of storage eggs and the fairly liberal supplies of fresh coming forward, a somewhat unsettled feeling developed in the local market and prices in some cases were shaded one cent per dozen. The demand was quiet. The receipts were 2,641 cases.

A feature of the potato trade of late has been the weaker feeling that prevailed and prices scored a sharp decline owing to the liberal supplies that came forward and the falling off in the demand from United States buyers with the result that sales of car lots of Quebec varieties were made as low as $1.55 per bag, ex-track, but under an increased demand from Ontario sources yesterday the market became stronger again and prices advanced ten to fifteen cents per bag with a fairly active trade at $1.65 to $1.70 per bag.

A stronger feeling developed in the butter market and prices were marked up ¾c per pound. An active business was done. The receipts were 1,563 packages.

The trade in cheese continued quiet but values were steady. The receipts were 732 boxes.

STERLING EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, May 13 (Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:
Demand $4.85 3-16.
Cables $4.85 5-8.

CHICAGO, May 13 (Canadian Press).—Wheat took an upward slant yesterday owing largely to assertions that spring seeding in Canada is three weeks later than normal. Besides, domestic winter wheat crop advices were disquieting. Wheat closed unsettled at the same as Wednesday's finish to 5-8 higher; corn, ¾c off to 1-8c up; oats at ¼c to ½c advance, and provisions unchanged to forty cents down.

Aggressive buying carried corn higher, but profit-taking sales brought about a set-back, with better weather for field work a factor.

Oats were responsive to investment buying and July oats touched the highest point yet this season.

Provisions sagged on account of packers' selling of lard and because of lower quotations on hogs.

MADOC COUNCIL TO BUILD WALKS

Also Decides To Erect Signs at Three Main Corners.

MADOC, May 13.—At the May meeting of the village council a motion was passed that the chairman of the streets committee be authorized to purchase 5,000 feet of lumber for sidewalks, also to put down a cement walk from the mill corner to the bridge on the west side of Russel street; subject to approval of the County Roads Superintendent. Another much needed improvement was passed in the motion that stop signs be erected at the mill corner, Queensboro corner and Durham street.

The Court of Revision will be held in the Town Hall on Monday, June 6th at 8 p.m.

A JUBILEE BOOKLET.

If the celebration of Canada's Diamond Jubilee were to get no further, were all the plans to be abandoned now, the proposal to hold such a celebration would have been well worth while in the interest it has created in the history of this country.

At no time has there been known such a desire to learn something about Canada's past, and the cumulative effect is bound to be of immense benefit to this country.

The Ontario Government has already issued a very attractive jubilee booklet chiefly intended to help the schools of the Province in their Confederation celebration.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has compiled a jubilee Confederation booklet, splendidly illustrated and presenting in a concise form the story of Canada's great development in the last sixty years.

This booklet is admirably designed to tell Canadians of the growth of their country, and to inspire them with renewed faith in the future of the Dominion.

THE BOY COUNCIL.

The session of the Boy Council, arranged as one of the activities of Boys' Week, not only served to show the boys themselves how the municipal wheels go round but it also developed some suggestions from the Boy Council that should not be lost sight of by the Aldermen.

Naturally the members of the junior organization are interested in athletics, and as Aldermen, their first thoughts were of what could be done to provide better facilities for sport.

And they advanced a number of ideas in regard to improvements at the James Stevenson Park that are worthy of consideration.

The establishment of bowling greens and tennis courts, the conversion of one of the buildings into a club house, speeding up the engaging of a caretaker, and the erection of an adequate wire screen in front of and on top of the grandstand, are all in the nature of worthwhile improvements.

Nor was the resolution of the boys in regard to the motor tourists' camp far off the mark.

The Exhibition Grounds, while it provides excellent accommodation, obviously lacks some of the features usually looked for by tourists when they are planning a camp.

CROSSING ACCIDENTS.

To read the details of crossing accidents published by the Board of Railway Commissioners is almost to lose faith in the common sense of mankind. The report lists the date of the accident, the hour and minute, the place, the license number of the automobile, and the cause. There are pages of these details.

Here are a few: "Passed over crossing when electric bell was sounding and passenger train approaching." "Ran under one gate; lifted other gate." "Attempted to drive over crossing in front of train; one killed and three injured." "Auto driver failed to heed signals of yard man to stop. Just missed hitting train." "Driving auto under influence of liquor. Not careful at crossing." "Failed to comply with stop signal; crossed in front of engine." "Ran into gates, breaking same; train was approaching." "Disregarded flagman's signal, passed in front of train." "Auto approached crossing without being under control, broke through lowered gates." "Ran into gates while lowered, breaking same." "Approached crossing at excessive speed and broke through lowered gates." "Reckless driving; ran into lowered gates breaking same." "Ignored signal, crossed in front of moving train." "Ran into gates while down, breaking same."

Education is needed, of course, but it is much more difficult to educate adults than children. Level crossing accidents run into the thousands each year. But what is "the big idea?" Why all the hurry? Apparently it is fun to flirt with death. Reading all these pages of accidents and nauseam, one realizes that all the fools are not dead yet, but most of them soon will be. One automobile plus one fool equals one level crossing accident. —Oshawa Reformer.

THE TRANSPORTATION SITUATION.

The Examiner has been informed by Frank Mitchell, President of the Border Cities Transit Company, that his organization, in the event of an arrangement that will give them a fair chance to operate here, plans to spend a large sum of money to provide Peterborough with an adequate service.

The plans include the replacing of the present small buses by a sufficient number of larger machines to deal with all traffic demands; the re-routing of several lines to serve a larger section of territory without slowing up the service; the installation of wicker and leather seats instead of the plush seats at present in use; the possible erection of a bus garage, and the placing in commission of several buses of the sedan type for charter purposes.

The company is prepared to go ahead at once with the carrying out of these plans, but the present situation is far from satisfactory, and until it has been cleared up, the Border Cities Transit Company cannot be expected to very materially increase their local investment or to maintain the present service.

According to ex-Mayor Mitchell, the company plans to give safe, rapid, courteous service, covering as many sections of the city as possible; to provide competent and clean drivers and modern and clean buses, and to furnish transportation de luxe.

To do so at what is virtually a 5c rate, the company must have a clear field—nothing is plainer than that—and the whole question of whether Peterborough is to have adequate service or not depends upon that one factor.

WHAT THE PROVINCE DOES.

The Examiner yesterday pointed out what the taxpayer received for the money he paid in the form of taxes to the municipality of which he is a resident.

If there is uncertainty in the minds of some citizens as to what their municipal taxes provide, it is even more amazing how many people there are who are at a loss when asked to state what the Province provides for them in the way of service.

Among other things, may be mentioned these:

(1) The Province provides for the training of teachers in the Public Schools, Technical Schools, Continuation Schools, Commercial Schools, High Schools and Collegiates; it inspects the schools, sets sanitary standards and distributes grants, thus promoting the efficiency of the schools.

(2) It maintains a general supervision over public health, and may exercise strong powers affecting sewage disposal, water supply, the sanitation of summer resorts, etc.

(3) It pays a large part of the costs of the administration of justice, and thus protects citizens in their enjoyment of their lives and property.

(4) It provides main highways and assists in providing subsidiary highways throughout the Province.

(5) It provides mothers' allowances to enable children to be brought up under mother's care in case of widowhood or desertion.

(6) It provides for the care of those mentally ill, and directly or indirectly assists in the support of indigent patients in general hospitals.

(7) It protects game and fisheries.

(8) It promotes agriculture, protects forests, and in general supervises the conservation and development of natural resources in so far as these are controlled by the Province.

(9) It protects title to all real property, or provides means which title may be protected.

All these are worth-while purposes, and a consideration of what they involve will perhaps sweeten the pill that has to be taken in the form of taxes.

THE UNKNOWN HEROES OF MEDICINE.

During the war representatives of the medical profession in Canada who served with the Canadian Army Medical Corps at the front earned a record for devotion to duty, without thought of the personal consequences involved, which stood second to none through the Allied armies. Although members of a non-combatant branch of the service, they were frequently exposed to the utmost danger in the performance of their duties, and not a few of them gave up their lives in order that they might bring to bear the knowledge and the experience which they possessed upon the treatment of those who suffered wounds or fell victims to disease.

In time of peace, members of the same profession are carrying on in conformity with the lofty traditions of their calling. Witness the case of Dr. E. D. Brown, a young physician from St. Lambert, who is now established in practice at Nipigon, in Northern Ontario, where he is also divisional medical officer of the Canadian National Railways. Dr. Brown, a graduate of McGill University of the class of 1918, has just been congratulated by Sir Henry Thornton, Chairman and President of the National Railways, for his "personal courage" and "fine devotion to the best traditions of his profession" for having at risk of grave danger to himself and a companion and without hope of personal reward rendered timely assistance which undoubtedly saved a human life. Let Captain R. G. Hinton of the Government Patrol Service, tell the story as he has recently told it in The Canadian Medical Journal:

"Your readers will doubtless remember the story as told by Ian Maclaren, in 'A Doctor of the Old School' of the heroic drive of Dr. 'Weelum' MacLure to see Mrs. Annie Mitchell. Similar stories could be told of many members of the profession in Canada. Here is one. On or about November 5th last an obstetrical incident, which in my opinion is worth recording, took place at Sand Point, Lake Nipigon, twenty-three miles from Nipigon by water, and about thirty-five miles by trail. Owing to the depth of snow the trail was impassable, so there was no way of getting there except by boat. A local woman had undertaken to attend the girl in her confinement, but complications developed, and it was necessary that a doctor should be brought immediately. A messenger from Sand Point managed to reach Nipigon to try and get Dr. E. D. Brown to go. It was blowing thirty-five miles an hour, snowing and freezing. To go back by trail was impossible, and to go by water was dangerous. The Government patrol boat was undergoing some repairs, and to put it in order would involve a delay of three or four hours, so another man was persuaded to take him in a smaller boat. Those who saw them start were convinced that they would never return, but Dr. Brown insisted on making the attempt. He reached Sand Point and remained there until daylight, and was successful in bringing the case through. He knew before he left home that he would get no financial returns for the trip, and that he was taking a tremendous chance as far as his own life was concerned. Such heroism should receive some notice."

But for Captain Hinton's communication to the Canadian Medical Journal and Sir Henry Thornton's recognition of Dr. Brown's bravery and self-sacrifice, that gentleman's deed would have passed unnoticed, as the deeds of many of his confreres pass unnoticed daily. In all parts of the country, and, particularly, in those districts which are still remote and unsettled, members of the medical profession are performing similar if less spectacular service to humanity without thought of the risks which they run or the reward which they will gain. And what of the physicians who constantly expose themselves to infection in the treatment of communicable disease, and those who incur similar danger in the scientific laboratories? There is no profession, unless it be that of arms, which can furnish a greater number of unknown and unrecognized heroes than that of medicine, and it is because those who belong to it consider that they are but carrying out their duty and are as a class averse to ostentation and publicity that more concerning their exploits is not heard.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Have you seen the hobby show? It is a feature of Boys' Week that you should not miss.

This delay in opening the Government liquor stores is not fair to the bootleggers. They don't know when they are supposed to go out of business.

Evidence given before the Customs Commission indicates the brewers and distillers must have a real board of strategy.

Ex-Mayor Angrove of Kingston, who withdrew from the Provincial contest in that city to let Hon. Mr. Nickle and Major Kidd fight it out, has received a Government appointment. Mr. Nickle describes the event as "one of those rare coincidences on which people put their own construction."

A decent play, apparently, is one that can hope for no free advertising.—Vancouver Sun.

NERVOUS CHILDREN

Many children early in life develop a neurotic temperament. The child who is born with a thin face and a tight chest will always be of a nervous, bilious temperament—unless the parents recognize this tendency and give the proper care to the child's physical, mental, and emotional development.

The round-faced, full-chested child has naturally a good digestion and is inclined to be phlegmatic and sluggish, but seldom becomes nervous. He may be subject to rheumatism later in life, but the sensitive child must be trained carefully to avoid neurasthenia, and such disorders as Chorea or St. Vitus's dance. This trouble commonly appears between five and fifteen years of age and is more frequent in boys than with girls. It is characterized by jerky movements of the arms, hands, legs and feet, and involuntary twitchings of the muscles of the face, neck and chest.

The seat of this disease is in the brain and spinal cord, but one of the causes lies in a systemic toxemia which locates in those parts. The nervous child, who is fed on bad food combinations and given an excess of starchy foods will build up a morbid toxicosis which creates an irritation of the large nerve centers.

Such irritation is made worse and literally multiplied by wrong mental training. If the parents cater to every desire and whim of the child, they are definitely educating the child to get what he wants by a show of temper or nerves. The whining child is one who has learned his tricks from the mother who ignorantly gives him what he wants to stop the coaxing.

Too frequently mothers set their children a very poor example by lack of self-control. Mothers who neglect their responsibilities in their household duties must expect their children to learn to dodge their music lesson by complaining of being tired or having a headache.

If a real cause of Chorea or nervous breakdown has started the child must, of course, be kept quiet for a few days. Rest in bed and fasting from all food will quickly restore him to the normal. Frequent enemas also cleanse the colon of any toxic accumulations and have a good moral as well as a good physical effect.

I have never seen a case of St. Vitus's dance which would not respond to this regime in a very short time. If any signs show of its return, a day or two of the same treatment will be enough to calm the child's nerves and make him eager to get back to school.

If the parents will, then, by their example teach the child the priceless lesson of self-discipline there will be no more nervous children in that household.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

THE MORAL OF THE MOVIES.

(By Dr. Frank Crane.)

On the first night: A hero comes treading upon the clouds to the dwelling of his betrothed.

At the gate he stops. Upon the window-blind he has seen two shadows locked in fond embrace. One shadow belongs to the heroine, the other to an unknown male.

Does he go in and find out who the mysterious stranger is? Not he. Instead he plunges into the darkness, drinking from a long black bottle and telling the world that frailty's name is womap.

Came dawn—some reels later—and he discovers that the male shadow belonged to the heroine's long-lost brother. And all is well.

On the second night: The athletic star's father forbids him to play football. The co-ed heroine the star loves asks him why he is not out for the team. He hangs his head and just says he isn't playing that year. Complications for several reels. Then the simple factcomes out and all is cleared up.

On the third night, the heroine has just said "yes" to the hero. The discomfited villain steals a letter from the heroine to a girl friend. He shows the signature "Lovingly, Helen," to the hero, telling him the letter is one sent to himself.

What happens? Does the hero examine the letter, or go to the girl for an explanation? Not that huckleberry. He sails at dawn for Hong Kong or the Argentine. Then, finding out the villain's perfidy, he rushes home to hear the explanation he should have sought back several thousand feet of film.

If every character in every movie gave the others a chance to explain, there would be few mix-ups and few movies.

It is the tongue-tied that thicken the plot.

When we see a movie we are not satisfied unless there is a mix-up of some sort. In our lives, we are just as well satisfied if they are left out.

So the moral of the movies is: get the facts, give others a chance to explain, go to the person himself for an explanation.

Most lovers' quarrels come because they do not wait for a full explanation. Most hurt feelings arise from jumping at conclusions about what others think of us. Most insulted people, most unhappy young people and uncomfortable old people, owe their wounded feelings to similar causes.

Having a "slow brain" when it comes to arriving at conclusions that others are unfaithful, deceptive, two-faced, is a great aid to peace of mind.

An ear that is too well attuned to catching hidden meanings and subtle slights misses much of the real music of life.

THIS WEIGHTY WORLD.

Mother earth weighs six sextillion 592 quintillion tons we are just informed from a reliable party who weighed her. What must it have been 30 years ago when bustles were the thing! . . . MORE IMPROVEMENTS

Editor, Examiner.

Dear Sir,—As I am a resident of the south end and take an interest in the improvements which are taking place at the exhibition grounds I would like to suggest another improvement which should be made. This is, I would like to see the ground made level under the trees where the seats are. I feel sure there are many who would say amen to this. The unevenness at this particular place has often offended my eyes and been an occasion of stumbling for my feet, so I am hoping the Exhibition Board will take this little hint and persuade the little hillocks to flow down into the valleys that they may become one, and by so doing make the path of the weary more pleasant.

Thanking you, I am, yours truly,

Even if you had all the ingredients, you could not mix a feed that would be so economical, for it could not be so well balanced.

Ful-O-Pep Growing Mash is the profitable feed for growing chicks because of the way it makes them grow. You will have bigger-boned, fleshier and healthier birds if you feed it.

The Cod Liver Meal in it sharpens the bird's digestion of the oatmeal and other grains, the proteins and the minerals. Thus the nutriment is assimilated QUICKLY and COMPLETELY.

For little chicks up to six weeks old, feed Ful-O-Pep Chick Starter. It contains Cod Liver Oil, too, which wards off chick diseases so often fatal.

TALKING MOVIES DEMONSTRATED

G. E. Invention Can Be Used On Standard Projectors.

EXCELLENT RESULTS.

Talking motion pictures in which the simultaneous timing of action and sound is all times assured have been announced and demonstrated by the General Electric Company. The process, the result of several years of experimenting in the General Engineering Laboratory of the company, means but slight change in standard motion picture projectors, since it involves only the addition of a sound-reproducing attachment and a loud speaker suitable for auditorium use. Both the picture and the sound are recorded on the same film.

One of the demonstrations has been with music to accompany feature films, the music being by a full concert orchestra. Development of this field requires no change in the technique of making the original film. After the original picture film has been made and titled, the accompanying music is played by a concert orchestra and is recorded on a film. The picture and sound records are then printed on one film in the proper time relation.

Another type has been the showing of singers and instrumentalists while they are presenting programs. Thus, when an orchestra is shown on the screen, it is possible to follow the playing of each musician, and see his actions on the screen and hear him. Even cymbals—among the most difficult to reproduce faithfully—sound like cymbals. Similar demonstrations have been made with vocal and instrumental soloists, with string and with vocal quartets, and with speakers.

To the casual observer the talking film does not differ from the usual motion picture positive. It is of standard width, but along the left margin there is a strip of small fraction of an inch wide on which is a series of horizontal light and dark bands and lines of varying widths and intensities. It is this series of bands and lines which produces the sound. The film is passed through the reproducer at constant speed, and, as these light and dark bands pass rapidly before a tiny slit in an optical system, the amount of light is varied. The ever-changing amount of light is received by a photo-electric coil—the electric eye—which is extremely sensitive to any change in the amount of light to pass through its circuit. This current is amplified and changed from electrical to audible energy by an amplifier and speaker.

Fields of Application.

At this early date it is not possible to define the fields in which this new type of talking motion pictures will be of use. One of the first, however, will be in supplying a full orchestral accompaniment for pictures. The community picture house, accustomed to having a piano, or piano and violin, will be able to have the same music as the metropolitan theatre.

Another field is offered by the news reels. Not only will it be possible to show important persons, but they can talk to the audience, and visiting notables can extend their greetings.

It has not been possible for famed musicians and orchestras to appear in small communities. The talking motion pictures will permit them to be both seen and heard throughout the country.

Educationally, there are also many ways in which the new apparatus will be of service. Many schools and colleges are already equipped with motion picture projectors as an aid in classroom work, and the new film will be found of even more assistance. In the case of professors from abroad, it will be possible to record their lectures and demonstrations simultaneously, and to give their lectures the widest possible use by circulation of the film to colleges and universities throughout the country. Similarly, it will be possible to have an authority on the subject give a description to accompany any educational film for use in schools, the speech pointing out the important features of the picture simultaneously with their appearance on the screen.

These are but a few of the possible fields in which the new talking motion pictures will find applications. The list can, and will, be expanded.

The Apparatus.

Outstanding among the features of the new apparatus are that both the picture and sound records are on the same standard motion picture film, and that a standard motion picture projector, with an attachment for the sound reproducer, is used. Since the picture and sound records are printed side by side on the film, it necessarily follows that the two must be properly timed or synchronized at all times—it is not possible for the picture to break and the sound to continue, or for the sound to stop and the picture to continue.

There are three principle elements in the apparatus, including a standard motion picture camera, a sound recorder and a standard motion picture projector with a sound-reproducing attachment, all driven by synchronous motors. The pictures themselves are made in the usual way on standard film.

In recording the sound, a microphone or sound collector of any desired type is employed, together with amplifiers. The microphone system actuates a tiny vibrating mirror which records the sound on the film as light and dark bands, the light from a small incandescent lamp being reflected by the mirror through a tiny slit in the optical system in front of the film. The higher the pitch of note, the higher its frequency—and the greater the frequency of vibrations of the mirror which faithfully reproduces each sound vibration as a mark on the film.

The sound record can be made in different ways. Both the picture and sound can be simultaneously recorded on the same film by mounting the two recording elements as a unit, with the sound recorded uppermost. The two recorders can also be mounted separately and the sound and picture film negatives made as individual units, such an arrangement being preferable when the pictures are being made in studios and when the camera is being shifted constantly. Again, as in the case of accompanying music, the picture film can be entirely finished and titled, the record of the music then being made on a separate film and the two combined on the finished positive.

The Projector.

The sound-reproducing attachment which is connected to the standard motion picture projector consists of a photoelectric cell behind the film and a small electric lamp with suitable optical arrangement in front of the film. As the film passes a small slit, similar to the one used in making the sound record, a varying amount of light is admitted to the photoelectric cell, the amount of light depending on the photographic density on the sound track. The result is that a very minute and varying current, an exact replica of the sound wave, is produced. This tiny current is amplified and led to a loud speaker which reproduces the sound in sufficient volume to fill the auditorium. Any suitable loud speaker may be employed. The one for large auditoriums which has been used in demonstrations has been a Hewlett loud speaker, chosen because of its ability to give the necessary volume and because of the quality of tone reproduction of which the device is capable.

CANADIAN FIRM DATES FROM 1679

Hay and Fall Wheat Doing Well in Warsaw District.

Two hundred and forty eight years ago in the City of London, England, in the reign of Charles the Second the foundation of the present firm of Brandram-Henderson, Limited, was laid.

Such was the information given out by Mr. George Henderson, President of the Company, on the occasion of the twentieth anniversary of the incorporation of the present company.

The firm of Brandram is understood to have started in business about the year 1679. Fifty years later, or about one hundred and ninety-eight years ago, there was developed the now world-famous method of corroding pig lead known as the "Brandram Process". In 1876, just fifty years ago last November, the founders of Brandram-Henderson, Limited, came to this country to establish their first Canadian Plant in Colchester County, Nova Scotia. The company is thus one of the oldest concerns in the British Empire in the paint and varnish industry, or indeed in any industry.

RADIO SCHOOL FOR MUSICIANS

To Be First Step Towards Great "University of the Air."

DAMROSCH RETAINED.

NEW YORK, May 13.—A definite plan of great magnitude, designed to supplement the musical education of 25,000,000 public school children and college students, became known yesterday when it was announced that Walter Damrosch, former leader of the New York Symphony Orchestra, had been retained by the National Broadcasting Company to act as musical counsel.

In this newly created position Mr. Damrosch will officiate in all matters relating to higher musical activities and has evolved a plan of reaching students through the radio.

Mr. Damrosch explained the immediate impetus for the offer made by Merlin Hall Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Company, was the plan to extend orchestral music by radio to schools and colleges. The plan followed suggestions from hundreds of school superintendents throughout the country. The suggestion, he said, greatly appealed to him.

"The plan," he said, "would be the first step toward the great 'university of the air,' conceived by Mr. Aylesworth. His company is ready to stand back of my dream and make it reality. There is one problem that would first have to be solved, either through boards of education or through local citizens of generous minds. They will have to supply the radio receivers and loud speakers to a majority of schools and colleges.

"I hope through radio to educate 25,000,000 children and students in the beauties of symphonic music. It is my aim to reach the small town schools, where musical qualities are lacking."

JUDGMENT HAS BEEN RESERVED

Suit Against County and Suit Over Agreement in Supreme Court.

BELLEVILLE, May 13.—The Supreme Court non-jury sitting, which has been in progress since Monday before Honorable Mr. Justice Grant, of Toronto, came to a close at noon on Wednesday. There were only three cases on the docket and all were disposed of. In the Smith vs. Weese case His Lordship delivered judgment for the plaintiff. In the Colden vs. County of Hastings and Dickenson vs. Allen, the Justice reserved judgment for one week.

The Colden vs. County case was one concerning an accident which took place on the boundary line of Hungerford and Tyendinaga Townships. Mrs. Colden was driving the car and ran off the end of a culvert. She, with her husband, is suing the county for damages received. They claimed that the guard rails and culvert were not in good condition. The Justice made no comment on the case on the completion of evidence.

In the second matter, Dickenson vs. Allen, concerning the right of one party, who was the purchaser, of moving from the land and cancelling his agreement with the owner of the property, His Lordship found that the plaintiff was at fault in making a sale without tendering the money owed on the property to the original owner. In the matter of the other part of claim of plaintiff as to the returning to him of the monies already paid on the property, His Lordship reserved judgment.

SOFTBALL SEASON OPENS TO-MORROW

A Double Header Will Be Played in the James Stevenson Park.

The softball season will open tomorrow at 2.30 at James Stevenson Park, when the Belmonts will meet the Lock Company in the first game of a double-header and the De Laval will play their old rivals, the C.G.E., in the second fixture.

Mayor Holloway will pitch the first ball, and the usual ceremonies will be held. There are twelve teams in the Softball League this year, which is composed of two groups, and the softball fans of this city are assured of some fine ball being played.

EAST EMILY MAN IS BADLY INJURED

Arthur McQuade Hurt When Dragged by Runaway Colt.

EAST EMILY, May 13.—What might have been a serious accident occurred last Tuesday, when Mr. Arthur McQuade was going to the field with a team of colts hitched to the wagon with the harrow in it.

The rattle of the harrow frightened the horses, which started to run. Mr. McQuade lost control of them and his brother Russel, who was with him, tried to help him but one of the lines broke. The horses dragged the two men for some distance.

Mr. Arthur McQuade's arm was badly hurt in the elbow. He was rushed to the doctor but no bones were broken, although he will have his arm in a sling for about three weeks.

MAGISTRATE ISSUES SHARP CASTIGATION

Wants Man Deported—Would Like To See Aides Whipped.

ST. THOMAS, May 13.—Bert Barter, aged 25, was sentenced to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary by Magistrate Maxwell yesterday on a charge of abducting a 14-year-old Mount Salem girl. In addition, Magistrate Maxwell stated that he will recommend to the Federal Immigration authorities that Barter be deported when his sentence is served. He came here from England about five years ago.

His Worship was very severe in his remarks to Barter, likening him to the principals in the Snyder-Gray murder trial at Long Island City, N. Y., in that he attempted to excuse himself by blaming others. He spoke of Barter as having invaded the girl's home and murdered the peace that prevailed there.

Crown Attorney McCrimmon urged the Magistrate to recommend Barter's deportation, declaring that Canada does not want such characters. His Worship expressed regret that he was not able to order outsiders, reported to have influenced Barter to some extent, horse-whipped for the part they played in breaking up the girl's home.

BEETHOVEN FILM IN VIENNA.

A new Beethoven film which has just been shown in Vienna moving picture theatres has won both praise and censure. The great composer is said to be shown in a pathetic aspect from the beginning of the first reel. His untidy ways, his forgetfulness, temper, selfishness and his admiration, even love for women, all are artistically shown. Yet, critics say, it is not the Beethoven of biography, but a softened gentlemanly figure that walks the screen. Fritz Kortner takes the part of Beethoven, and looks like him, but his portrayal is a disappointment to worshippers of the master musician. The scenes were taken in the Beethoven country, the forest scene being described as being especially beautiful. All say, however, that the film has merit.

Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL.

WALLACE BEERY IN "CASEY AT THE BAT."

The Capitol has an entertaining programme for this week-end. With Wallace Beery in one of his comic efforts and a funny comedy, along with excellent short reels, there is plenty of fun for the audiences who watch the pictured adventures of the big bohunk from a bush league who breaks into the New York Giants' team and does his stuff in his own peculiar way.

When Wallace Beery first broke into fame as a comedian, in "Behind the Front," we wore his scowl most of the time. The humor of his acting lay in its perfect unconsciousness and in the bewilderment of the big man, thrown, willy-nilly, into war days and war settings. In "Casey at the Bat," he strives most of the time to get a funny effect, and the difference is plain. The laughs are not so spontaneous. But he provides stacks of amusement, nevertheless, as the star player of the Giants and the beloved of the wide-eyed, pale Camille, "a tank town Tillie," as the rude manager describes her. Zasu Pitts has this role.

The story is laid in the "Gay Nineties," when "a woman's skirt started at the ankles and a man's thirst ended at the corner," as the sub-title puts it. These sub-titles, by the way, are clever in the extreme. The picture of the dashing sextette of Floradora Beauties, "Flowery Doras," as Casey dubs them, going through little decorous steps on the stage, gowned in floor-length outfits, their pompadours topped by plumed hats, is an illustration of just how far the stage has progressed since these "gay nineties."

"Home Run" Casey is the star batsman of a tank town, Centreville, and his prowess with the ball brings "Dude O'Dowd" to sign him up on the big league. The big simpleton has become entangled with a conniving manager and goes to New York accompanied by this thieving gentleman, who is also an admirer of Camille, and does his best to keep the two lovers apart. Casey, in terrible clothes, cuts a figure in the night-life of the metropolis, and throws a gay party to the "Flowery Doras" when he hears, through his manager, that Camille has turned him down. Then, next day, he appears to "throw" a decisive game, by means of a trick ball planted by the conspirators, who have bet against him, thinking his boozing activities will keep him out of the game. Casey makes a brave showing until the trick ball hits his bat in the ninth inning, with two men out and the bases full. However, the girl discovers the plot, and all ends satisfactorily, with the ludicrous hero embracing his faithful lady love.

The comedy is an inset of Jewish life that is really funny, and one of the short reels deals entertainingly with the Ireland of today, showing many scenes and items of interest in the "green island over the sea." Irish music by the orchestra adds to the charm of these pictures of the "country that never grows old."—Jeanette.

AT THE REGENT.

FOREST RANGERS
HEROES OF FILM.
Spectacular Forest Fire Thrilling Climax of New M-G-M Production.

The most picturesque country of the world furnishes the background for "The Understanding Heart," the Cosmopolitan production which opened last night at the Regent Theatre. It is the land of the big timber in California, and concerns that band of faithful guardians who constantly watch over the country to save it from the ravages of fire.

The story was adapted from the popular novel by Peter B. Kyne, and it has been given an elaborate production by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Expanses of scenic beauty that are literally breath-taking greet the eye constantly, and the spectator is given several exquisite views of Yosemite National Park.

However, this is only the setting against which one of the most pulsing, virile dramas of the year is enacted. Jack Conway, perhaps best known heretofore as the director of "Brown of Harvard," has breathed into the Kyne story importance and reality. The high point of interest is the spectacular forest fire that climaxes the tale.

The cast of the picture is headed by Joan Crawford as Monica, Francis X. Bushman, Jr., as Tony, Carmel Myers as Kelcey and Rockliffe Fellowes as Bob Mason.

Though she is not starred, stellar honors should perhaps go to Miss Crawford, who acquits herself admirably. Here is a girl that looks like the "find" of the year. She plays her scenes with deliberation, finesse and emotion, and with but a few parts to her credit, proves herself an excellent pantomimist.

Francis X. Bushman, Jr., justifies the promise he gave in "Brown of Harvard," and Carmel Myers is surprising in a part that gives her perhaps the best opportunity she has ever had.

FOUR PEOPLE HURT AS CAR HITS GROUP

Third Car Strikes Occupants of Two Others, Gathered on Road.

WOODSTOCK, May 13.—An automobile smash, involving three cars, and in which four persons were injured, occurred late Wednesday night on the Provincial Highway east of Woodstock.

A car driven by Commandant Smith the Salvation Army Immigration Lodge struck a car owned by Robert Rolfe of this city, which was standing on the highway, and knocked it into the ditch. As the occupants of the two cars were surveying the results of the collision, another car, driven by Pice Metheral of Drumbo, crashed into the party, knocking the six or seven people into the ditch, and ending its own career in the ditch.

Commandant Smith sustained a fractured leg; Miss Beatrice Wright of this city suffered serious cuts on her head and legs and severe bruises; Mr. Metheral's knee was badly cut, and John Leigh, a Salvation Army farm worker, sustained serious gashes on his face. The others in the parties were all more or less bruised and shaken up. Commandant Smith and Miss Wright are in the Woodstock Hospital, while the other members of the party were able to proceed home.

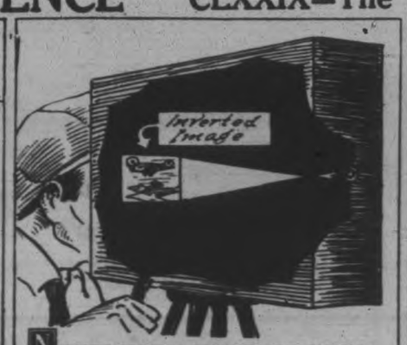
TODAY IT SEEMS A MINOR ACHIEVEMENT TO FILM A RACE BETWEEN AN AIRPLANE AND AN AUTOMOBILE. A CENTURY AGO, HOWEVER, PHOTOGRAPHY WAS BEGINNING TO SAY IT WITH PICTURES. THE FIRST PHOTOGRAPHER WAS A FRENCHMAN, NICEPHORE NIEPCE.



NIEPCE'S PROCESS REQUIRED THE CAMERA TO BE FOCUSSED ON THE SUBJECT FOR EIGHT HOURS. THE SLOWNESS OF THE PROCESS WAS ONE REASON WHY THE WORLD WAS GLAD WHEN LOUIS DAGUERRE PERFECTED HIS "TINTYPE" PHOTOGRAPHY IN 1839. DAGUERRE'S SYSTEM WAS COMPARATIVELY SPEEDY.

HIAWATHA BOAT LIVERY OPENED

The Proprietor Has Everything Ready For Coming Summer Season.

DOCKS IN POSITION.

HIAWATHA, May 12.—This week the local boat liveryman has been busy leveling the lakeshore in the front of his boat-house. The earth and gravel were pushed up during the winter months by the expansion of the ice. The mound raised was, in some places, two and a half feet in height. This year considerable of the sod was broken. He also is placing his docks, or wharfs, which were on the shore, in the water. They extend fifty feet out from shore. Mr. Cowie hopes to have his diving-board in position by June 15. The water there is nearly six feet deep. Mr. Cowie has some very fine boats, which he rents at reasonable rates. Canoes, skiffs, and boats that can be fitted with outboard motors are seen in his well-equipped boat-house.

Messrs. Robert N. Hills and George N. Richardson, of Port Hope and Campbellford respectively, game and fisheries overseers, were in Hiawatha on Friday.

Mrs. Jennie H. Johnson and Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Hinton, of Hastings, were in Hiawatha one evening last week.

Some of the younger boys of the village have seen little robins which were hatched this year.

POLICE RAID SOVIET HOUSE

Refuse Admission To All Callers After Raid on Delegation Quarters.

NO EXPLANATION GIVEN.

LONDON, May 12. — (Canadian Press.)—Police to-day raided Arcos House, headquarters of the Soviet trade delegation here.

After the raid, uniformed police guarded the entrance and refused admission to all callers. No explanation was forthcoming from any quarter and the officer in charge of the raid refused to talk.

MILLBROOK NOT TO HOLD CELEBRATION

Will Not Hold Celebration on Dominion Day—Young People Interested.

MILLBROOK, May 12.—The public meeting held in the Town Hall on Monday evening to consider the advisability of arranging for a community celebration on July 1st, in honor of Canada's Diamond Jubilee, was not very largely attended, so far as the business men were concerned, but the number of teen age boys present showed their active interest in the event.

Reeve W. T. Wood was in the chair and members of the council were all in attendance; outside of these practically the only other representative of the business men of the village was Scoutmaster E. H. Barnes, who had waited upon the council last week requesting, particularly on behalf of the young people of the community, that some action be taken to recognize in a fitting manner this important event in our national history.

Reeve Wood asked for a general discussion, and Mr. Barnes stated that he had interviewed a number of the citizens and found the majority were not in favor of a local celebration, their plans including spending the holiday week-end out of town.

After details had been thoroughly canvassed, and taking into consideration the fact of celebrations, on a large scale, in nearby towns and cities, it was felt that locally no such step could be successfully undertaken. Reeve Wood, however, was evidently impressed with the boys' interest and enthusiasm, and it was decided to form a committee, giving the members power to act as they saw best, in planning a "Community Day," solely in the interests of the 'teen age boys and girls of the neighborhood, holding the same later in the month of July, since the 1st was not available.

Reeve Wood is chairman of the committee, the other members being: B. B. Dawson, representing the Public School; E. H. Barnes, representing the Boy Scouts; C. C. Garside, representing the Tuxis Square and Trail Rangers; and Miss Pearl Burnham, representing the girls' organizations.

The committee will meet in the near future, at the call of the chairman, and consider details in connection with the Community Sports' Day, as suggested at the public gathering.

Fishermen Wakened By Bear Stealing Fish

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 12 — R. McLeod and R. Matheson, of Rock Lake, had a rather unusual experience while on a fishing trip to Fish Lake. They were spending the night in an old logging camp, which was minus a door. They had placed their fish on an old table and were sleeping in an upper bunk, when, about two oclock, they were awakened by something moving about in the camp.

Upon investigation, they saw a large bear, with its front paws upon the table, starting to eat their fish. The noise they made alarmed the bear, which, in its hurry to escape, upset the table and disappeared.

OBITUARY.

MAJOR C. D. MAGUIRE.

ST. CATHARINES, May 12. Canadian Press. — Major Charles D. Maguire, of the firm of Maguire, Cameron and Phinn, contractors on the Welland Ship Canal, and a native of St. Catharines, died in the Welland County hospital this morning in his 51st year, following a short illness from pneumonia.

His widow formerly Miss Bertha Folly of Trenton, Ont., survives him, along with one sister and three brothers.

JOHN L. COMSTOCK.

WESTWOOD, May 12.—John L. Comstock, one of the oldest residents of the township of Asphodel, passed away on Saturday, April 30, in his eighty-fifth year. Deceased was born near Westwood and had been a lifelong resident of the township. He was a member of one of its oldest and most respected families.

He was married about fifty years ago to Miss Marion Elmhirst, of Otonabee, who is left to mourn his loss, together with one son, Stanley, and one daughter, Mrs. C. J. Blake of Norwood. Three brothers and two sisters also survive, namely, Peter of Westwood, W. H. of Asphodel, and George of Treherne, Man.; Miss Ella of Westwood, and Mrs. Trotter of Apsley.

The funeral, which took place on Monday afternoon, from deceased's late residence, lot 15, concession 6, Asphodel, was attended by a large concourse of friends. Interment took place in Westwood cemetery. Mr. Perrin of Lindsay conducted the funeral service.

The pall-bearers were his son-in-law, Mr. C. J. Blake, and five nephews, Messrs. Gordon Faux, Louis Comstock, Harold Comstock, Stephen Elmhirst, and Albert Elmhirst.

Housework often causes over-strain

"PAIN WAS LIKE A KNIFE STAB"

Once helpless from lame back, now does all her own work

Made practically helpless by a strained back, an active young housewife tried everything she could think of, and at last found quick and complete relief from a simple, old-fashioned remedy.

"The pain in my back was like a knife stab," she writes, "and it left me helpless. Sloan's Liniment was given to me to ease the pain, and I am now able to do all my own work."

Just pat it on lightly without rubbing, and at once you feel a warm, comforting glow, as the healing blood is sent coursing through the sick tissues—stiff, contracted muscles relax, the pain stops, and soon normal conditions are restored.

SCHOOL BOARDS HOLD MEETINGS

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, May 13.—The regular meeting of the Public School Board was held on Monday, May 2, in the Council Chamber.

There were present J. W. Ridpath in the chair and Trustees D. H. Charlton, H. R. Wagar and G. H. Spence.

The finance committee presented a report recommending the payment of the following account: W. J. Webster, repairs, $11.50.

On motion of Trustees Spence and Wagar the report was received and adopted.

The following correspondence was presented:

Miss Kennedy re substitute; E. N. Moyer Co. re Fountain; Peterboro Parade Committee re Dominion Day; Principal of High School re sports expenses; Principal of Public school re report for April; W. J. Webster, re tender for clearing ground.

On motion of Trustee Charlton and Wagar the correspondence was received.

Moved by Trustees Wagar and Spence: "That the Board view the field before deciding as to letting a tender.'"

High School Board.

The regular meeting of the Lakefield High School Board was held in the Council Chamber, Friday, May 6th, at 8 p.m.

There were present: J. W. Ridpath in the chair, and Trustees E. H. Northey, Rev. W. J. Creighton, H. R. Wagar and Dr. Smith. The minutes of the last meeting were read and motion confirmed.

The Principal's report for April was presented, and adopted on motion of Dr. Smith and Rev. W. J. Creighton, and the secretary authorized to purchase the art supplies requested therein. Carried.

The Dramatic Club of St. John's church is presenting "Oh, For Pity's Sake" in the Memorial Hall on Thursday, May 19th. This will be a musical comedy and is spoken of as being even better than "The King of Timbuctoo", their last year's offering.

The spring flowers are blooming in the gardens and the trees all budded out well, everything being far in advance of this date last year. Lawn mowers have made an earlier appearance than for several years and everything belies the Jeremiah cry of "a late season."

REGULAR MEETING OF MISSION CIRCLE

Millbrook Branch Decides to Pay Share of Money Pledged.

MILLBROOK, May 13.—The Golden Links Mission Circle held its May meeting on Tuesday eevning at the homea of Mrs. J. L. Byam, Bank street, with over twenty members in attendance.

The illness of the Honorary President, Mrs. V. C. Lambert, which has extended now over some weeks, led to an expression of sincere sympathy, with earnest wishes on the part of the entire membership for a speedy recovery, and this will be conveyed to Mrs. Lambert through messages personally delivered by the girls when her health will permit such calls to be made.

The "Watch Tower" was responded to by Wilma Fallis, who gave some interesting items from a mission field at Toulon, Manitoba, and by Flossie McMahon, her report being from Dondi, West Africa.

The Circle decided to assume its share of the money pledged from this circuit at the recent W.M.S. Presbyterial for the Cobourg district, the amount raised being to reach the full objective of $21,000, allocated to this Presbyterial for the church year just closed.

Miss Marjorie Skitch, the delegate to the convention at Bowmanville, and vice-president of the Circle, was in the chair, and gave an interesting and comprehensive, report of the gathering.

United W.M.A.

The May meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the United church was held in the church parlors on Wednesday afternoon, with over thirty in attendance.

During the business session the mite boxes for the curren year were distributed by the secretary, Mrs. T. H. Aiken; the invitation of Mrs. Thomas Douglas to hold the June meeting at her home was accepted; various accounts were passed, and the Auxiliary decided to pay its share of the money promised to make up the allocation at the recent Presbyterian at Bowmanville.

The "Supply Secretary", Mrs. F. P. Johnson, was given a comittee to assist her in planning for the bale to be sent to the Presbyterial secretary by September 1, the members being: Mrs. F. McMahon, Mrs. H. W. Johnston, Mrs. J. McKnight, and the President. The request from this Auxiliary and mission circle is for clothing, quilt, etc. for a 13-year-old Indian boy, and a girl, at the Coqualeetza Institute, B.C.

The meeting was in charge of Group B, Mrs. C. C. Garside, convener: Mrs. Freslove read the Scripture lesson, and Mrs. J. H. George gave the devotional leaflet on "Faith and Power." Mrs. G. Locke, Mrs. F. H. Smith, and Mrs. J. McKnight read the leaflets on the work in India.

Mrs. H. E. Smith gave a most interesting talk on the Central India Mission Jubilee, which was held from January fifth to tenth this year, Rev. Dr. Endicott, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, and Rev. Dr. Gunn, were the Canadian delegates. The whole event was of a most inspiring character.

Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard had an encouraging word from the mission field in West China, the native workers, the result of forty years' service by missionaries of the former Methodist church, being able to carry on the hospitals, schools, etc., though the foreign workers, with a very few exceptions, have been forced to leave. The work will, of course, not be as fully done, with the limited staff of native doctors, nurses, and teachers, as when the stations were fully manned, but it will go on and that is a matter for gratitude, and a call to earnest prayer on the part of those at home.

The usual tea was not served at this meeting, the group in charge each month using its own judgment in regard to this item.

W.M.S. DECIDES TO SEND BALE

Necessary Supplies Will Be Sent to Indian School by Bethany Branch.

BETHANY NEWS

BETHANY, May 13.—The May meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. A. H. Monk on Tuesday afternoon, Miss Ada Richardson, newly elected President, presiding. It was decided to prepare the bale for the Coqualeetza Indian School, as several quilts were also asked for. It was decided to commence piecing blocks right away, each member to make one or more if possible of the size required to make a good sized quilt. It was decided to continue holding the meetings around at the homes of the different members, Mrs. William Lee offering her home for the June meeting.

The Watch Tower Heralds who reported were Miss McMullen, Mrs. Monk, Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Elmer Rowan. Miss Lily Weatherilt gave a reading on Christian stewardship and tithing.

Miss Ada Richardson, who was the delegate to the Cobourg Presbyterial held at Bowmanville recently, gave a very interesting report of the meetings she had attended.

It was moved and seconded that Mrs. T. J. Jackson be Strangers' Secretary.

A season of prayer that faith might be increased followed an interesting reading on "Faith and Power," based on the words, "This is the victory which overcometh the world."

Mrs. Jackson sang as a solo George Matheson's hymn, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go," which was very much enjoyed.

News Briefs.

The junior room of the Public School was closed for several days this week, due to the illness of the teacher, Miss Nelson.

Mrs. Carscadden, teacher of the senior room, is meeting her pupils for the entrance class, at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Seeds from the Department of Agriculture has been distributed among the pupils of both rooms, to be sown in the home garden. Eggs also have been given out to a certain number. The fruits of these young agriculturalists' work will be seen at the annual School Fair this fall.

Mrs. M. E. Lowe, R.N., of Toronto, will speak in the Town Hall here on Friday evening, May 20, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Women's Institute. Mrs. Lowe comes highly recommended by the Department of Agriculture, and is prepared to speak on a number of different subjects. Other numbers of interest will be given, and no admission charge asked.

Dr. Arthur Jemison, of Millbrook, spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. Sam. Jemison.

Miss May Needham, of Millbrook, was in the village on Sunday visiting with friends.

Rev. A. Poulter spent Tuesday calling on Yelverton friends.

Mr. and Mrs. St. John motored to Uxbridge on Saturday to spend the week-end with friends there.

Mr. Edward Swanson is moving his family and household effects to Millbrook, where he is to be section foreman on the C.N.R.

BRITISH FARMERS WANT PROTECTION

Say They Cannot Compete With Foreign Products Without Help.

LONDON, March 13 (United Press).—A strong demand for protection for agriculture by bringing it within the Safeguarding of Industries Act is being made by country Conservatives, and this demand is already disturbing the Liberals who fear it will mean another departure from Free Trade. Many Tories are linking this campaign with the campaign for more Imperial preference.

Farmers declare they are all nearly ruined and that they cannot compete with foreign wheat and dairy produce without protection.

Mother's Day is Observed

NORWOOD UNITED CHURCH

NORWOOD, May 10.—Mother's Day was very fittingly observed on Sunday morning in the United church The members of the Sunday school occupied the choir loft; the mothers of the congregation occupied the centre pews of the church. Rev. R. F. Stillman and Rev. F. McIntosh, of Lindsay, the visiting speaker and Mr. Arthur Brethen, superintendent of the Sunday school, occupied the platform. The program provided by the Religious Education Council of Ontario was followed with a few additions. .

Rev. McIntosh gave a very interesting address, taking for the basis of his remarks, the words, "Honor thy mother."

Misses Ruth Harper, Florence Burgess, Blanche Stillman, Lillian Greenbank andUna Elliott,each sang a versed of the hymn, "O Happy Home, Where Thou Art Loved the Dearest," and the last verse was sung all together. Solos were rendered by Master Glyn Edwards and Mr. Jack Duffield, and a recitation entitled, "What Bradly Owed Mothr". was given by Master Earl Bongard In this number there was a lesson by which all could benefit.

AT BURNBRAE.

BURNBRAE, May 11.—A large crowd attended the special Mothers' day service at Burnbrae St. Andrew's, on Sunday morning, and enjoyed the features provided. The Young People's department took charge of the evening service in the basement, and put on a splendid programme. Rev. D. A. McKenzie gave an inspiring devotional talk to the young people.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

A number from this community attended the evangelistic services in St. Paul's United church, Stirling, on Sunday evening. Messrs. Crossley and Leonard are both splendid singers, and the music added much to the enjoyment of the meeting. Many in this district remember Mr. Crossley's work in Campbellford twenty-four years ago when he conducted services there with Mr. Hunter, since deceased. Mr. Crossley is now seventy-eight years of age, but is still hale and hearty, and retains all the vigor of a young man when he takes the platform to preach the praise and glory of the Master whom he has served so long.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, May 11.—Mother's Day and Go-To-Sunday school day were fittingly observed at Zion Church on Sunday morning. The regular Sabbath school session met at 10 o'clock with over eighty in attendance, and the whole congregation joined an hour later in the Mother's Day programme. Special music was provided by a choir, composed of the mothers of the congregation, assisted in one number by Messrs. Fred Barnum, Thomas Fry and Rev. Daniel. Mrs. Daniel also gave the address, "The Church's Tribute to the Child's First Teacher." He eulogized the great work of the mothers, down through the ages of Christianity and showed in several instances where the work of some great religious leader was due to the teaching of a saintly mother.

League services were resumed after a week's holiday last Thursday evening with Mr. Fry of the devotional department in charge and Albert Petherick as leader. An interesting programme was followed by a contest on the mountains of the Bible. This was won by the "White" group. Over fifty were in attendance.

Misses Verna Barnum and Gladys Simpson attended the Women's Institute convention in Guelph last week. They are visiting in Toronto on their return journey.

WOOLER UNITED CHURCH

WOOLER, May 11. The attendance at Sunday school on Mother's Day was 237, an increase over last year. The auditorium of the United church was beautifully decorated with flowers, and the carnations and roses were very profuse. The order of service for Mother's Day was carried out and special numbers were a talk by Miss Stella Nelson, and a story, "What Bradley Owed." There was once a boy whose name was Bradley. They called him Tiddley, when he was young, because he was such a tiny little thing when he was eight years of age. He had already got in the habit of thinking of everything he saw, as worth so much money. Now this was rather foolish of him, for there are a great many things that money can't buy; money cannot buy the very best things in the world, as you will soon see. One morning when Bradley came down to breakfast he put on his mother's plate a little piece of paper, neatly folded.

His mother opened it, and what do you think was on it? She could hardly believe it, but this is what Bradley had written:

Mother owes Bradley—
For running errands ..... 25 cents
For being good ..... 10 cents
For taking music lessons ..... 15 cents
Extras ..... 5 cents

Total that mother owes Bradley, 55 cents

At lunch time, his mother put the bill and 55 cents on his plate and he was delighted, but there was another piece of paper neatly folded, and it was a bill from his mother. This is the way it read:

Bradley owes mother:
For being good to him ..... nothing
For nursing him through long illness ..... nothing
For clothes and shoes ..... nothing
For all his meals ..... nothing

Total that Bradley owes Mother ..... Nothing

The tears came in Bradley's eyes and he put his arms around his mother's neck, placed the fifty-five cents, in his mother's hand and said—take the money all back, mother and just let me love you and do things for you for nothing.

The next important feature was the "Pageant." The Coronation of Mother. Mrs. C. R. Terrill, the mother; Doris McColl, the daughter; Doris Nelson, Helen Bentley, Edith Austin, Muriel McColl, Jean McColl, Jean Stacey, Ada Whitney, Elsie Ruttan, Mildred McColl, Everett Bryant, Arthur Putnam and C. F. Wessels were the characters, who so beautifully represented the tokens of love.

WARKWORTH UNITED CHURCH.

WARKWORTH, May 13.—Mother's Day service was held in the United church Sunday morning. The regular program was carried out as nearly as possible.

Rev. W. W. Jones gave a touching address and stated that no one's love, sacrifice, loyalty and faith was as great as mother's. The minister also explained how Mother's Day happened to be held.

Warkworth Presbyterian Church.

The address given by Mr. Lewis Fowler in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening was very appropriate for Mother's Day. The lesson was read from Proverbs 31 from the 10th verse.

The text was taken from first chapter of St. Luke and the forty-sixth verse. The speaker chose Mary the Mother of Jesus as an example of motherhood which all mothers would do well to follow. Mary's home was one of song as proved by the magnificat which she sang. This home was also one of strong love. There is no true love without disciples. So many times children when, on leaving home, are told to be good by their parents. In telling this parents should always tell how to be good. To love one's father and mother truly is to love God more. Mary who was the teacher of Jesus never made a mistake as a mother. Behind every boy and girl is the influence of a mother and boys and girls should be faithful to their mothers.

In the home of Mary was real work and also faith. Good is only done when they work for both. God and the world. All we have finds our best expressions in God. The faith of a mother is one of God's marvellous works.

In the temple of the soul where one sees visions and dreams dreams, the shapes of these are dark until God is brought in.

CAVAN UNITED CHURCH.

CAVAN, May 13.—On Sunday afternoon a very interesting "Mother's Day" service was held in Cavan United church, the Mount Pleasant, Cavan and Cavan Centre Sunday schools being present.

Mr. W. W. Staples of Lindsay, who had been invited to give an address, the superintendent, Mr. H. Seymour, and the assistant superintendent, Mr. James Douglas were seated on the platform.

The regular Mother's Day program was used with the addition of recitations by the Misses Muriel Matchett ,Pearl Richards, and Gwenyth Staples. Mr. Staples spoke from the words of Jesus to John, "Behold thy mother." He said this was the message to boys and girls all down the ages. "Mother" is often the first word learned by lisping baby tongues and the last name uttered by gray-haired men, as perhaps they catch a glimpse of the mother, so long gone before, and their dying thoughts go back to the days when they learned to pray at their mothers knee.

Mother is, or should be a part of every boy's and girl's religion. He quoted Kipling's "Mother O' Mine" to illustrate the endurance and depth of a mother's love. By the use of apt words, illustrations and the quotation of poetry, Mr. Staples portrayed the influence and the untiring work and prayers of a true mother, paying tribute to mothers of the past and present.

There was a good attendance, many motoring from other points to the service.

A pleasing feature was the presentation from the school, by the Misses Doris and Mary Tinney, of two beautiful bouquets of flowers to the two oldest mothers of the community, Mrs. David Hunter and Mrs. Robert Sutton.

Mrs. Sutton was not present, but the flowers were sent to her with her son, R. Sutton.

LAKEFIELD BAPTIST CHURCH.

LAKEFIELD, May 13.—Mother's Day was observed in the Baptist church by special services. At the morning service there was a mother's choir and the children had a part in the service; several of them giving recitations. Miss Marjorie Roseborough sang a solo in a sweet clear voice. The pastor, Rev. William Spencer spoke on "The World's Debt to the Child's First Teacher", giving a forcible and inspiring sermon.

Knox United Church.

The morning service was a combination children's service and Sunday school with the front centre pews given to the children to whom the appropriate sermon was especially addressed. The choir rendered special music, one particularly attractive number being a quartette by Mrs. Yale, Mrs. J. R. Hall and Messrs. W. W. Yale and A. C. Carveth. The pastor, Rev. T. M. Wesley, was in charge.

Regent Street Church.

The morning service was a children's service with the children's surpliced choir. The church was decorated with flowers and six birds in their cages added their sweet notes to the children's voices, joining in praise of their Creator. The sermon conveyed in simple language, which even the wee tots could understand, the message of Mother's Day and what it means to the children.

At the evening service, the mothers were given the front seats of the church and a choir of twenty-five mothers rendered sweet music, appropriate to the occasion. The offertory was taken by ladies and the sermon dealt with the mother and her big part in the worlds life, her influence and her heritage. The pastor, Rev. S. A. Kemp, was in charge.

Wesley Church, Smith.

At the afternoon service there was a record attendance and profound interest was taken in the service which was especially planned to honor "Mother" as a figure in the national life. The children took part in the service and the sermon was especially addressed to them and was inspiring in character to these young worshippers who will be tomorrow's mothers and fathers.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Source of Spiritual Power

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 15. The Source of Spiritual Power. Acts 2: 12-14, 32-41.

By WM. E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

Pentecost is a word that in the Christian church has become synonymous with spiritual power. It is an instance, like the word Easter, of words coming to have a new meaning and association.

Pentecost was the second of the great Jewish feasts, and was so called because it was held on the fiftieth day after the second day of the Passover. It has come to have its significance in Christian life and literature because it happened to be upon that day that the great events recorded in our lesson took place. "When the day of Pentecost was fully come they were all with one accord in one place."

Provides New Meanings.

In somewhat the same way Easter has come into the Christian calendar superseding the Saxon festival of spring in honor of the goddess Oestre, from whom the name Easter is derived. It is the quality of Christian faith and life to give to names and institutions new meaning and significance.

There was, moreover, another association with the feast of Pentecost which gives an appropriate thought concerning, the place of Pentecost in the Christian church. Pentecost was called "the feast of harvest, the first fruits of labor" (Exodus 23:16), "the feast of weeks" (Numbers 28: 26), and "the day of first fruits." Here we have the first fruits of the ministry of Jesus and his disciples, the first great harvest from the sowing that had been in labor, sorrow and death, and the first of many harvest under the power of the Resurrection life.

There has been a tendency, at times, in the church to associate Pentecost mainly with its unusual physical manifestations and to feel that Pentecostal experiences could not be realized or reproduced without the strange and unusual emotional phenomena. So extreme have these emotional reactions been at times that they have been symptomatic of hysteria rather than of restrained emotion.

That phase of Pentecost is one against which Chrisfians should guard themselves, both individually and in the church, with the sanity and restraint with which they guard themselves against all frenzy and fanaticism.

The deep and sound emotions of religion are to be tested in their moral and spiritual effects and results, and this is true of the original Day of Pentecost. Beneath the speaking with tongues and the accompanying physical manifestations one senses here the depth of moral purpose and the power of changed lives. It was a moral response to the vigorous preaching of Peter. Peter's appeal was to the heart and conscience and was not designed simply to stir up wild scenes of excitement.

Paul referred to this and marked a distinction at a later day when he found people who were glorying in the gifts of tongues and other gifts and manifestations, but who were neglecting the greatest of all God's gifts—the gift of love. Thus it was that Paul, as he spoke of those who were aspiring for other gifts, remarked, "Yet show I unto you a more excellent way." It was this excellent way of love that he proceeded to expound in the 13th of 1 Corinthians.

The Essential Thing.

As we think of Pentecost and seek its power in our lives we may well have in mind the words that Paul used, probably with reference to this very occasion, "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels and have not love, I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal."

The power of Pentecost was the power of love and unity, the power of disciples, all with one accord in one place, their hearts and minds fully dominated by the quest of God and by the desire to know and do his will. Wherever these conditions are reproduced in the church at any time or at any place there will be the manifestation of Pentecostal power.

Text: Acts 2:12-14, 32-41.

And they were all amazed, and were in doubt, saying one to another, What meaneth this?

Others, mocking, said, These men are full of new wine.

But Peter, standing up with the eleven, lifted up his voice, and said unto them, Ye men of Judea, and all yet that dwell at Jerusalem, be this known unto you, and hearken to my words:

Therefore, being by the right hand of God exalted, and having received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, he hath shed forth this, which ye now see and hear.

For David is not ascended into the heavens: but he saith himself, The Lord said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand.

Until I make thy foes thy footstool.

Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ.

Now when they heard this, they were pricked in their heart, and said unto Peter and to the rest of the apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we do?

Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost.

For the promise is unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call.

And with many other words did he testify and exhort, saying, Save yourselves from this untoward generation.

Then they that gladly received his word were baptized: and the same day they were added unto them about three thousand souls.

CAVAN INSTITUTE SALE AND CONCERT

Play, "Kentucky Belle," Features Programme—Many Attend.

CAVAN, May 13.—One Tuesday afternoon and evening, May 10, a very sucessful bazaar, afternoon tea and concert was given in Cavan Community Hall, under the auspices of the Cavan Women's Institute.

There was a nice display of goods, both fancy and useful, for sale, also home-made candy, cooking, honey, syrup and other articles too numerous to mention.

The fancy work table had as saleslades, Mrs. E. Syer, Mrs. R. Howden, Mrs. J. Armstrong, Mrs. C. Carr.

The candy, etc., were in charge of Mrs. L. Sutton, Mrs. D. White, Mrs. L. McNeil and Miss Telford relieved by other ladies.

There was a parcel post booth, presided over by Miss L. Syer, Mrs. A. Elliott, and Mrs. C. Fee. This was a busy place. The parcels were all done up and sold without opening at a fee of twenty-five cents. There were many pretty and useful articles in the packages, many of them worth over the sum charged. The booth brought in a sum slightly over twenty dollars.

Miss Francis Hunter and Mrs. I. Keegan poured tea at a long table where Miss A. Kelly and Mrs. J. W. Perrin served the cake and etc. to the waiters. The cake, nut bread, and brown bread was cut by ladies in the baseemnt and carried up to the table, where it was served. Little cakes of various kinds were also on the menu. The tea was also made in the basement by Mrs. Sisson and was of excellent quality.

A bevy of young ladies, the Misses Muriel Matchett, Elinor Pritchard, Elinor Fallis, Irene Howson, and Myrtle Swain were attentive and efficient waitresses.

Duet—Mrs. Mason and Miss Evelyn Mason.

Recitation, "That Smack in School"—Miss Olive Hancock.

Act I of the play, "Kentucky Belle".

Solo, "Miss Cindy," the dark waitress.

Recitation, "Kay's Beau"—Dorothy Rowland.

Act II.

Solo, "Schoolday Sweethearts"—Mrs. Mason.

Chorus by young men in the play.

Recitation, "The Baseball Game"—Miss Evelyn Mason.

Act II.

Chorus, "My Old Kentucky Home"

The play "A Kentucky Belle" was a comedy in three acts.

Act I—Scene in a siting-room in the home of Miss Mariah Douglas.

Act II—Same place three weeks later.

Act III—Same scene Monday morning following the events of Act II.

Cast of Characters:

Miss Mariah Douglas, a maiden lady with aristocratic tendencies—Mary Middleton.

Col. McMillen, suitor to Isabel—Arthur Hancock.

Dr. Blake, a practitioner—Ferd Rowland.

Miss Madden, a trained nurse—Kay Rowland.

John Cason Gordon alias Jack Cason—Harold Middleton.

Mrs. Gordon, mother of Jack Cason Gordon—Katheryn Rowland.

Mrs. Gordon, sister of Jack—Amy Thompson.

Cindy, negro maid—Annie Dixon.

Henry, negro engaged to Cindy—Cecil Hancock.

Young men and girls of the village—Sam Price, Jim Darling, Eric Mason, Evelyn Darling, Dorothy Rowland, Lillian Mason.

Lunch was served after the programme to those taking part in the play.

The Institute was quite pleased with the results of the afternoon and evening. There was a good crowd at the concert in the evening.

Mrs. D. J. Hunter is president of the Institue and Mrs. R. Matchett is secretary.

Dainty Dresses for Girls

Trimmings in self-tone add distinction to the two frocks pictured here, both of which are made from the one pattern. In View A the frock fashioned of dotted material is cut in kimono-sleeve style, with two little tucks at the front of the shoulders providing a flare. The interesting trimming feature of this frock is the set-in panel, and pocket arrangement. The long full sleeves are gathered into a narrow band at the wrist. In View B the pockets are omitted, and the short sleeves finished with a narrow binding to harmonize with the square-cut neck. The material for the panel was plaited before being set under the front. The diagram shows the simple design of pattern No. 1168, which is in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. Size 6 years requires 1¾ yards of 32-inch or 36-inch material. Price 20 cents.

The designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book are advance styles for the home dressmaker, and the woman or girl who desires to wear garments dependable for taste, simplicity and economy will find her desires fulfilled in our patterns. Price of ... [illegible]

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR SATURDAY, MAY 14, 1927

Kindly stars rule today, according to astrology, which finds the conditions auspicious for most of the Earth activities.

This is read as a fortunate day for starting on ocean voyages and for water journeys of every sort.

Astrologers foretell for 1927 a record year for European tours, while the Orient will attract an unusual number of visitors.

Japan is to benefit from trade and is to come under a planetary government that is most fortunate, it is forecast, although it will, also, suffer from extraordinary events.

Women should benefit from the aspects which make for success and happiness for them.

This is a lucky wedding day, since it carries the promise of long association without danger of divorce.

Theatres and other places of amusement are to profit greatly and as world problems increase desire for entertainment is to grow in the United States.

Under this sway romance flourishes and this should be a red letter day for suitors.

Music and art are favorably directed today and all the aspects appear to promise immense progress in the United States.

While the new era is to witness an amazing development of the dark-skinned races, the Caucasian race is to attain supreme eminence in all intellectual attainment, it is foretold.

Warning has been given again and again by astrologers that the survival of the white race depends upon the eradication of vice and the cultivation of health. This is now emphasized by the seers.

Dancing is subject to influences making for a fine physical development and will become even more popular than it has been, it is foretold.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of great success in which friendship will play an important part.

Children born on this day probably will have pleasant prosperous lives. Boys born under this sign often seek a seafaring life.

SAINT and SINNER

"I'm trying to tell you, honey, but you'll have to be calmer or the doctor will beat me up for making you worse." Bob told Faith tenderly. "Lie quietly now, and I'll make it as short as I can. The witness was named Sanders, a chauffeur for the McClintocks, whose garage and servants' quarters are backed up to the alley behind Uncle Ralph's place.

"Sanders was in his room over the garage from half past seven o'clock 'til ten minutes to nine, when he got out the car to take the family to the church for Uncle Ralph's wedding. He looked out of his bedroom window about half past eight—he fixes the time within two or three minutes—and saw a yellow and brown taxicab either parked or stalled in the alley. Says he went into the house in answer to a ring from McClintock, and when he got back to his room to get his overcoat, just before getting the car out to take the family to the church, he happened to look out of the window and saw that the cab was gone. It was ten minutes to nine, he says."

"Bob," Faith cried, her eyes glistening, "there's no doubt in the world that the murderer came there in that cab, found Chris' coupe waiting in the front driveway, hid on the roof of the porte cochere until Chris and Cherry were gone and then climbed up the drain pipe to Mr. Cluny's window. Oh, can't they see it?"

"Churchill's doing his best, but there's darn little for him to work on except theory. No one saw the murderer, and Banning can make it appear that the taxicab was merely stalled in the alley, or was waiting there for a servant or a policeman calling on a cook, or something like that! But, of course I think you are dead right, and the least Churchill can do is to make the jury see that there is room for 'reasonable doubt'."

"Well, you can't accuse Churchill of wasting time," Bob grinned at her, but his eyes were tender with sympathy. "He called June Pritchard, an old-maidish sort of girl who was Uncle Ralph's secretary before Lola Gonzales. She testified to the threatening letter. It was clever of Churchill to figure out a way to get it into the evidence without incriminating me for robbing Uncle Ralph's filing cabinet. June testified that she had opened the original letter, that she had shown it to Uncle Ralph, who looked startled, then annoyed, and then contemptuous—I'm quoting June—and that she had filed it. She admitted that she had automatically discarded the envelope when opening the mail. When Churchill asked her if Uncle Ralph had received any more threatening letters from the same source, she gave us all a big shock by saying he had received two more, which he had destroyed on reading, and which he did not answer, of course. She also swore that Uncle Ralph had been hounded, not long after the last of the three letters was received, by a series of mysterious telephone calls."

"I'm going to court tomorrow if I have to go on a stretcher!" Faith declared vehemently.

WELCOME NEWS

WELCOME, May 13.—Arbor Day was held on Friday at the Public school, when the pupils, under the capable leadership of the teacher, gave the school and grounds a general "clean-up." The girls were responsible for the interior of the school while the boys piled the wood, raked the yard, and burned rubbish. The results were something to be proud of.

Miss Gertrude Lewis was home for the week-end.

Mr. Arthur Lewis was in Oshawa this week, and purchased a new car.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowe (nee Miss Byers of Cavan) are getting settled in the house owned by Mr. Edgar Inch.

The High School students from the vicinity attended the "At Home" at the Port Hope High School on Friday night.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

There are still little girls who when they are good are very very good and when they are bad are horrid but the chances are that if they wear little curls they don't wear them right in the middle of the forehead.

One assumes that the original of the very good or horrid little girl was a mid-Victorian damsel and it was apt of the mid-Victorian fashion to go dressed exactly alike on both sides. Bracelets came in pairs and the one for the right wrist was precisely like the one for the left. Frocks and coats buttoned right down the middle he only difference between the two sides being that there had to be buttons on one side and button-holes on the other. Sashes were tied with symmetrical bows right in the middle of the back. And hair was parted precisely in the middle and the strands on either side were arranged as nearly like each other as it was humanly possible to make them.

So characteristic was that symmetry of mid-Victorian fashions that when we see a frock made precisely alike on both sides worn with hair parted in the middle and arranged alike on both sides we usually pronounce the effect as quite Victorian quaint and demure. Frocks of the period type are to be found that follow this rule of symmetry and with frocks of this sort the center hair part—if becoming—is often most effective.

But the dressmaker of today likes to make wraps and frocks that are different in some way or another on the two sides. And in this they have good classic precedent for the drapery of the Greeks and Romans was almost invariably unsymmetrical.

There is of course nothing new at all about this one-sided treatment but dressmakers are prone to speak of it as one of the new tendencies of the season. Tailored clothes and sports things usually are in a measure alike on the two sides—save where a double-breasted closing prevents perfect likeness. And frocks of the period type are also usually like-sided but the new soft draped frocks which are liked so much by well-dressed women for evening and afternoon are usually of the one-sided variety.

TRENT RIVER MAY BE SITE OF CAMP

Party of Forty From U. S. May Spend Summer at That Resort.

TRENT RIVER, May 13.—Douglas Hains, of Montreal, assistant general tourist agent of the C.P.R., was here on Wednesday for the purpose of meeting with the Fish and Game Protective Association in connection with procuring a suitable camping site for a party of about forty United States tourists. Mr. Hains was looking over several locations along the shores of this popular resort and was most favorably impressed. He went away leaving a strong impression that Trent River would be the selected spot.

PORT ARTHUR TO GET THREE BIG ELEVATORS

Total Added Capacity of Port To Be Over Six Million Bushels.

TRADE HEADQUARTERS.

City Will Lead Fort William in Facilities For Handling Grain.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., May 13.—Announcements coming yesterday from the Winnipeg offices of three elevator companies regarding immediate elevator construction at Port Arthur, establish this port as the headquarters of Canada's greatest industry—the ever growing grain trade. The United Grain Growers announce a new elevator with a total capacity of five and one-half million bushels and the Bawlf and Stewart Companies announce contracts for additions to their present plants totalling one million, or a total addition of six and one-half millions to the elevator capacity of this city.

Lately Port Arthur has been laying claim to the leadership in elevator capacity, but the claim was based on the elimination of one or two of the older plants at Fort William, which have not been operating. Now, however, with even counting those plants Port Arthur takes a clean lead of nearly five million bushels capacity in a total for the two cities of approximately sixty-eight million bushels.

The work represented in the decision of the United Grain Growers to build a 5,500,000 plant at Port Arthur represents the largest single contract for elevator capacity that has ever been awarded in Canada or elsewhere.

A significant and important feature of the situation is that the Grain Growers, having had the construction of such a plan in mind for some time, have been watching the developuments of the grain trade as they related to the Pacific Coast route and also the Hudson's Bay and then decided to locate at Port Arthur on the route via Eastern Canada.

The new plant, in addition to being a large elevator, has been planned to provide the greatest possible efficiency in handling grain and will incorporate new features in design, especially worked out for this elevator.

The elevator will be of reinforced concrete construction throughout. Orders for piles and pile driving work have been placed and work of drivink will commence immediately. About 16,000 piles are required.

HAVELOCK WILL OBSERVE JULY 1

Plans For Public Demonstration To Be Considered at Big Meeting.

TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK.

HAVELOCK, May 13. — A public meeting was held in the Town Hall on Thursday evening, May 12th, to consider holding a celebration on July 1st or 2nd.

A discussion took place about the advisability of holding a celebration in view of the fact that the City of Peterborough is expending so much in attractions and the feeling was that it would be impossible to compete. Mr. Lancaster explained that he thought the majority had the wrong idea regarding the celebration and read the suggested programme issued as a guide by the Dominion authorities in which no mention of a fee is made, the outline being along the line of a community event.

It was then moved by H. Gordon and C. H. Brewster that a civic demonstration be arranged for Friday, July 1st, and on motion by A. Leeson and C. H. Brewster the meeting adjourned on account of the small attendance until next Thursday night at 8 o'colck when committees will be selected from all the churches and organizations. The secretary was instructed to send invitations to the Belmont Council, the Belmont Women's Instiute and the rural schools asking them to assist in the demonstration. A notice of the meeting will be announced from the pulpit of each church on Sunday.

YOUNG BOY KILLED WHEN HIT BY TRUCK

Coroner Will Hold Inquest at Birch Cliff on Thursday—Driver Now in Custody.

BIRCH CLIFF, May 13.— Seven-year-old Leonard Collins of Kennedy Heights, was instantly killed about 10.30 a.m. yesterday when he was struck by a heavily-loaded truck owned by the Toronto-Belleville Transport Company, and driven by Frank High of Belleville on the Kingston Road at the Halfway House.

High was taken into custody by Chief of Police Harry Smith of Scarboro', who said that a charge of manslaughter would likely be preferred in the morning.

The boy had just come out of the post office at Scarboro' Bluffs and ran across the road directly in front of the truck, which was proceeding toward Toronto. The wheels of the truck pasesd over his body, and when medical assistance arrived life was pronounced extinct.

The body was ordered removed to Cobbledick's Undertaking Parlors at Birch Cliff by Coroner Dr. E. Demary. He will hold an inquest at Birch Cliff to-day.

PETERBOROUGH MAN IN IMPORTANT POST

Thomas Hanlon, veteran city clerk of Erie, entered upon the 57th year of his service for the municipality last Friday morning when he was renamed to the post he has filled so long and so creditably by the City Council.

Mr. Hanlon's reappointment was moved by Mayor Joseph C. Williams and was seconded by each and every member of the council.

Recalling the fact that Mr. Hanlon was first appointed to the place on April 10, 1871, Mayor Williams by way of affording an idea of the length of service rendered by the city clerk, remarked that Mr. Hanlon had entered into municipal service before he himself had been born.

Mayor Williams also paid tribute to the conscientious and intelligent service of Mr. Hanlon and his unfailing courtesy and urbanity toward those with whom his duties brought him into contact.

Mr. Hanlon thereupon thanked the Mayor and other members of council for their many kindnesses toward him and expressed the hope that he might prove entirely worthy of their continued confidence and esteem.

With the passage of the resolution introduced by the Mayor, each member pressed forward to shake hands with Mr. Hanlon and to voice the hope that he might be spared to many additional years of usefulness on behalf of the city.

Mr. Hanlon was born in this city and left here 59 years ago. He is a brother of the late James Hanlon of Otonabee and Miss Annie of Rubidge Street.

Kemal Pasha To Wed Beautiful Montenegrin

LONDON, May 13. — United Press.—Kemal Pasha, president of the Turkish Republic, will be married soon to a beautiful 17 year old Montenegrin girl, a Belgrade despatch to the Daily News reported to-day.

Kemal was said to have seen the girl first at Brusa, where she and her father were searching for work. Her beauty captivated him, and she accepted his proposal of marriage.

Kemal was divorced from Latifeh Hanoum, by public announcement, August 1, 1925.

CLAMOUR OVER FIRST CLAUSE

Attorney-General Announces That Government Itself Would Prepare Amendment.

IS LOOSELY WORDED.

LONDON, May 13 (A.P.). — The House of Commons has spent two days in committee on the Trades Union Bill and is still contentiously clamoring over the first clause and how to define a general strike coercive to the community or the government.

The looseness of the wording of the first clause provoked some of the Conservatives to appeal to the government for a better definition and apparently in response to these appeals, the attorney-general, Sir Douglas Hogg, announced that the government itself, would propose an amendment providing that mere strikers taking no active part in organizing or inciting a general strike would not be liable to the penalties under the bill.

This concession was met by a Laborite exclamation of "cold feet," to which Sir Douglas retorted "the honorable member will have the opportunity of judging whether we have cold feet before the bill becomes an act of parliament."

FIVE MEN HURT TWO SERIOUSLY

Railway Trestle Gives Way, Throwing Workmen To Ground.

ALL BADLY BRUISED.

TORONTO, May 13 (Canadian Press).—When the railway trestle on which they were working collapsed here to-day, five men were injured, two seriously. The five men were precipitated from the top of the trestle to the ground, falling among heavy timbers. Richard Lodge sustained injuries to his back and a fractured skull, and his recovery is doubtful. Robert Scott received an injured back and possible fracture of lower limbs. The three other men were all badly bruised and shaken up.

LADIES IN CHARGE OF 'Y' TEA ROOM

Also Manage Refreshment Booth and Fish Pond at Hobby Show.

The assistance of the ladies of the Auxiliary to the Y.M.C.A. has been sought in the carrying out of the Boys' Hobby Show. A tea-room is in charge of the president, Mrs. G. H. Roper, and has a dainty setting in its pale green and rose-pink streamers, curtaining the window with gay festoons, studded, like the mantelpiece, with huge paper roses in natural tints. The same decoration of pink and green is used on the refreshment booth near the main entrance, where candy and ice cream is sold, and on its neighboring booth for the sale of Surprise packages. Mrs. D. A. Loomis has charge of the refreshment booth, and Mrs. W. R. Breyfogle has charge of the Surprise counter. A fish pond is in charge of Mrs. B. F. McNeely, and a booth for special fancy articles is looked after by Mrs. W. E. Herrick. The various booths are in full swing and tea is being served during afternoon and evening.

KNOX LADIES' AID TAKES NEW TASK

Will Begin Effort To Wipe Out Debt on Church

The regular meeting of Knox Church Ladies' Aid was held last evening in the Manse, King Street, with Mrs. J. Foster, president, in the chair. There was a large and enthusiastic attendance of members present to discuss the proposition of taking charge of the payment of the church debt:

It proved to be the anniversary of the date on which they had burned the mortgage on the Manse a year ago, and with fine spirit the decision was made to take over the new task and direct every effort to paying off the church debt within a reasonable time. A representation of the board was present to receive their offer and the chairman thanked the ladies with warm words of appreciation for their splendid offer. Refreshments were served at the close. The next meeting will be held at the home of the president.

LAKEFIELD CADETS PASS INSPECTION

LAKEFIELD, May 13.—The annual Cadet inspection day was held on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 at the High School and 3.30 at "The Grove."

Captain Heron of Military District No. 3 was the inspecting officer and received a hearty welcome back to Lakefield after an absence of three years.

There was a large attendance of children at the High School parade and a slightly increased adult attendance. The attendance of parents and village officials goes far in encouraging the boys and implanting the consciousness of the importance of the movement.

There were about forty boys in the corps which presented a trim appearance as they marched past the saluting base to the tap of the drum which was in charge of Cadet Kenneth Kemp, who was complimented by the inspector for his performance.

After the boys had finished their parade an exhibition of physical drill was given which won a round of applause as it was especially well done.

Following the inspection Captain Heron addressed the boys for a few minutes, commending heartily their performance. It is three years since he last visited Lakefield and he was often found that a corps falls behind but this is not so in Lakefield. The cadet captain is the right man in the right place and a worthy successor to Madill and Ridpath. The inspection, Capt. Heron reminded the boys, is not to show any special sort of drill as much as to be a refresher and a reminder to Canadian boys of the duty they owe to King and Country. When an object lesson is given it is easier to remember. The training of the cadet teaches respect for authority, cleanliness, obedience and loyalty. We do not want Canadian boys and men to find any country better than their own.

Mr J. M. Simpson, Principal of the High School, expressed the pleasure he and the cadets felt at again seeing Capt. Heron after three years' absence. Capt. Trudeau has been inspector in Lakefield in the interval and was also popular. Mr. Simpson urged the boys to remember the inspiring words of Capt Heron which would do much to help them and inspire them to loyalty and good citizenship. At the suggestion of Captain Heron medals were presented to the officers of the corps. Captain Heron, himself presented Cadet Captain Stanley Darling with his medal; J. W. Ridpath, chairman of the school board decorated the second in command, Cadet Norman Lemay. Platoon Commander Cadet Sam Spence received his medal from Miss Duff, Principal of the Public School, and Cadet Lemuel Pamment was decorated by Mrs. W. M. Graham. The Quartermaster, Cadet Gerald Sherin received his medal from Mrs. J. M. Simpson.

At the request of the Principal of the High School, Captain Heron selected the smartest and cleanest Senior Cadet and the smartest and cleanest Junior Cadet. Cadets Wilfred Pluard and Ducie Chads were selected and were congratulated by J. W. Ridpath in a brief address.

Rev. W. J. Creighton congratulated the boys on their good showing. He referred to his residence here twenty years ago when he was a member of the school board and now on his return he finds himself again a member of the Board and he assured them he had no serious objection. Cadet training is one of the most valuable sides to a boy's education as it builds character and the boys of today are being trained to be the men of tomorrow.

Rev. S. A. Kemp was much delighted with the inspection, the first he had seen, and being interested in boys and in the boy movement. He appreciates such an institution as its value is tremendous in discipline and there is no greater discipline than in learning to obey commands. Mr. Kemp congratulated the boys on their splendid showing.

After cheers for the King and Captain Heron the company broke ranks.

"The Grove" inspection was held on the athletic field and was attended by a large number of parents and friends of the school and also by most of the High School Cadets and a large percent of the senior pupils. "The Grove" corps numbered 49 cadets who presented a trim, soldierly appearance as they marched past the saluting base where General Elmsley, commander of Military District No. 3, and Captain Heron stood. The base was marked by a silk Union Jack, which was presented to "The Grove" Cadet Corps some years ago by the late Adam Brown, Hamilton's "grand old man."

Cadet Captain—E. Boultbie.

Platoon Commanders—H. Griffiths and J. G. Robertson.

Section Commanders—R. Pringle, N. Earl, E. Peck and B. Earl.

Drummer—A. Lavery.

Bugler—A. Macauley.

Three hearty cheers for The King, for General Elmsley and Captain Heron concluded the inspection.

The weather man gave splendid weather to both inspections, the sun shining brightly all afternoon. The morning had been so threatening it was feared that there would have to be a postponement but the afternoon was delightful.

Both corps received heartiest commendation from the officers and deservedly so as the showing was never better and the boys of both groups did credit to their instructors and to Canada, their motherland.

How Women

Now keep fresh, charming under hygienic handicap—new way provides true security—discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

THE uncertainty and insecurity of the old-time "sanitary pad" has been ended. Scientific protection now supplants it.

Wear sheer gowns, keep up with social and business requirements, at all times . . . without handicap.

"KOTEX" is a new and remarkable way . . . five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Absorbs and deodorizes at the same time. Thus ending all fear of offending.

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying "KOTEX." There's only one . . . only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex. Women ask for it without hesitancy.

Comes 12 in a package. Proves old ways an unnecessary risk. Try Kotex.

OBITUARY

DOROTHY FEE.

EAST EMILY, May 13.—A very sad death occurred on Tuesday at noon when little Dorothy Fee, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fee, succumbed to diphtheria.

She had been going to school up until Friday.

All that medical aid could do could not save the little life. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon.

MRS. G. M. CLARK.

NORHAM, May 13.—The funeral services for the late Mrs. George Munroe Clark, of Brighton township, who passed away suddenly at her home on Sunday morning in her 88th year, were held on Tuesday afternoon and were conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. F. Everson, of Norham. The large attendance of friends and the numerous floral tributes were evidences of the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The late Mrs. Clark (nee Mary Carnrike) was born in Ameliasburg, Prince Edward County, on September 13th, 1839 and married George Munroe Clark on November 12, 1868. As bride and groom Mr. and Mrs. Clarke, who celebrated the 58th anniversary of their marriage last November, settled on the farm where her death occurred and out of the forest cleared a home for themselves. Mrs. Clarke united with the Methodist church when she was in her early teens and was a faithful and active member for about 75 years. She was of United Empire Loyalist stock, a faithful wife, a true and loving mother, whose first thoughts were of her home and loved ones. She was able to do her own housework all the past winter, had full use of all her faculties, and retired on Saturday evening in her usual health. On Sunday morning Mr. Clark rose and kindled a fire as was his custom and upon returning to the room he found that Mrs. Clark had passed away. She leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband, one son Jacob W. on the homestead, and one daughter, Mrs. Wilfred Valleu, also of Brigton township. At the service by request of the friends, Mr. and Mrs. Everson sang, "The old account was settled long ago."

The pall bearers were: Louis and Leslie Findlay, Robert Nelson, John Junior, John Convey, and Arthur Russel. Interment was made in Warkworth cemetery.

DIED

SWITZER.—On Friday, May 13, at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. T. E. McMullen, Lot 5, Con. 3, Smith Township, Lucy King, beloved wife of the late Norris Switzer, in her 83rd year.

The funeral will take place from her late residence on Sunday, at 1.30 p.m., and proceed by motor to Eden Cemetery, Mariposa Township, for interment. Service at the house at one o'clock. Frends and acquaintances please accept this intimation.

PRESENTATION AT MATHER'S CORNERS

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sexsmith and Mr. and Mrs. C. Nichols Honored.

MATHER'S CORNERS, May 13.—On Tuesday evening, May 10, many friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lowe to show their esteem to Mr. and Mrs. John Sexsmith (nee Miss Mary Northey) and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nichols (nee Miss Jessie Lowe).

At ten o'clock Mr. Peter Mather read the following address:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. John Sexsmith:

Dear Friends:

We, a few of your friends and neighbors, have assembled here tonight to express to you our good wishes and that you may have a constant reminder of our sincere regard for you. We ask you to accept these gifts, not for their intrinsic value but as a slight token of our respect.

We trust that you will be spared many years to enjoy them and have every prosperity in your new homes.

Again wishing you much happiness in your future life.

Signed on behalf of the community:

CLARA COWARD,
ETHEL COLLINS.

Two large mirrors were then given by Miss Marion Adamson and Mr. Thomas Mather. Miss Mary Collins presented Mr. and Mrs. John Sexsmith with two beautiful bookends and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nichols with two exquisitely designed vases.

Both young men replied briefly giving thanks for the kindness shown them.

The balance of the evening was spent in dancing. Mr. Harold Moncrief and Mr. Nevin Stewart of South Monaghan supplied the music.

DID YOU EVER WRITE A WANT AD?

You have heard, of course, of the newly married couple and the telegram. She wrote to her hubby, a commercial traveller, telling him of a chance to get fruit cheap for canning. He dashed off this telegram: "Take flyer home to-day honey love." She, judging by the hysterical note of the yellow form, leaped on the fast train and went to her home, expecting to find her people dead or dying. What he meant was "Take a chance in fruit when it's cheap. I will be home to-day, honey. With love."

And, do you know, the choice of words is just as important in a classified ad. as in a telegram. It is great fun to take some article you have no need of and try to put particulars of it into as few words as you can, still describing it clearly and attractively. Try it.

EMPLOYMENT

There are, of course, some points that should be specifically covered in special ads. For instance, if you seek employment or an employee, what occupation, and if it is a domestic position, how many in family?
What wages and hours?
What experience?
What are the opportunities?

FOR SALE

If you have an article for sale, tell:
What is for sale?
What is condition?
State size, color.
Give maker's name (as of piano).
Has it any special use?
Give price and terms.

RENTALS

When advertising houses or apartments for rent tell:
Where is it?
Give name (of apartments).
How many rooms?
How about closet room?
Upper or lower (flat)?
How about neighborhood, schools, shops, cars?
Is there a garage?
Does rent include water, gas?
How about sun? Heat? Use of phone?

BUSINESS FOR SALE

If you have a business for sale, explain:
Kind of business?
Give location and its good points.
How long established?
What is income?
What is rent?
How long is lease?
What is stock value?
Are there living-rooms?
Give price and terms.

REAL ESTATE

In advertising real estate for sale:
Where is the property?
How many rooms?
How large is lot?
How many acres?
Is it under crops? What kind?
What about water, stock, improvements?
How near railroad?
Is it bungalow, house or cottage?
Has it a high basement?
Has it garage or drive?
Is it near cars, trains, schools, churches?
What of the view? The neighbors?
Give price and terms.

AUTOMOBILES

If you desire to sell your car, cover the following points:
Make and year?
Model?
Roadster?
Coupe?
Touring?
Chummy Roadster?
Mileage?
Extra equipment?
Tires?
Mirrors?
Safety lock?
Side windshields?
Motometer?
Clock?
Wire wheels?
Cash or terms?

WRITE AN AD. HERE

LIVESTOCK

Your livestock ad should tell:
What animals or fowls?
What is the breed, age, color, condition, training?
Give price.

HOUSES FOR SALE

If you have a house to sell, your inquiries will be more satisfactory if you cover most of the following points in your description:
1.—Street No., avenue No., section.
2.—Size.
3.—Kind of floors.
4.—Exterior construction.
5.—Architecture.
6.—Exposure.
7.—Heating.
8.—Lighting.
9.—Finish and decoration.
10.—Plumbing.
11.—Basement.
12.—Roof.
13.—Extras included.
14.—Grounds.
15.—Garage.
16.—Other buildings.
17.—Advantages of location.
18.—Transportation facilities.
19.—Reasons for being on market.
20.—Sale price.
21.—Assessed value.
22.—Prices at which nearby properties sold.
23.—Rising values.
24.—Terms of sales.
25.—Date of possession.
26.—How and when to inspect property.
27.—Advertiser.
28.—Address.
29.—Telephone.

YOU wouldn't feel inclined to answer the following ad. would you? "Bungalow, $8,500. Brown, George street."

Here Are Some Phrases Useful in For Sale or Rent Ads.

1.—Location and Conveniences

"75 x 149, runs through to Water street."
"No stores or trolleys within 3 blocks."
"Corner property, 100 x 220, 2 blocks to street car."
"10 minutes' walk to Golf Links."
"Quiet street, lined with shade trees."
"Catholic church and Public Library within five minutes' walk."
"10 minutes' walk to high and public schools."
"Restricted neighborhood, 20 minutes to shops."
"8 minutes to station."

2.—Description of Exterior and Grounds

"Room for two-car garage and driveway."
"Pergola, sundial and tennis court."
"Concrete curb and walks, crushed stone driveway."
"New brick house, old grape arbor and shrubbery."
"English type house, old grape arbor and shrubbery."

ELECTION FIGHT IN OLD QUEBEC WILL BE SHORT

Voters Go to the Polls on May 16 to Elect a New Legislature.

WOMEN DO NOT VOTE

Suffrage Not Yet Extended in Provincial Elections—Take Active Part.

QUEBEC May 13. — Canadian Press. — After a campaign that will have lasted only four weeks, the voters of Quebec will on May 16th go to the polls to elect the personnel of the Seventeenth Legislature of the Province since Confederation. Unlike most of the electoral appeals in this province, where politics are taken seriously and party lines are very tightly drawn, this campaign has been outstanding for the fact that no grave issues of provincial concern were before the people. The Sixteenth Legislature had run its allotted span and was dissolved as a matter of routine by Premier Louis Alexandre Taschereau. At once the election machinery was set in motion. Replying to a criticism by Arthur Sauve, the Conservative leader, wherein he protested against such short notice, Mr. Taschereau retorted that for many months Mr. Sauve had been warning his friends that an election early this summer was pending, and he added that if three weeks were sufficient for the people of Great Britain to make up their mind—this being the period of notice given to the British electors in the last general election—then four weeks should be reasonably ample for Quebec.

It became early apparent that Mr. Taschereau's main task was to try and recover for the Liberal party the Island of Montreal, which in 1923, returned 11 Conservatives in 15 seats. Montreal, he said was having its destinies directed by rural Quebec. Mr. Taschereau had no fault to find with that, inasmuch he said, as the deputies from rural Quebec were upright, earnest and broadminded, but it was to Montreal's loss that the voice of the city should be heard more in opposition than in administration matters. He hoped that the balloting of May 16 would reverse this situation.

In his manifesto the Prime Minister based his appeal for a renewal of his mandate on the record of the government. Quebec was the only Canadian province which for years has consistently shown not only a balanced budget but a surplus, and this surplus has been employed toward the reduction of debt and towards assisting those elements which stand most in need of aid. The government has built many miles of road and had relieved the municipalities of much of the burden of road-maintenance. In seven years the Liberal Administration had spent $46,278,149 in building and keeping up these highways; it had distributed $11,162,863 for colonization; $11,-635,672 for agriculture; $21,898,637 for public instruction, including grants to the provincial universities; $3,843,-328 for bridges; $1,33700,0 for railways, and had also saved the financial situation in Quebec by advancing $15,000,000 to the Banque Nationale. Annual surpluses had totalled many millions, and of this $14,-760,000 had been obtained by the operation of the Quebec liquor law. Encouragement had been given to outside investors to come into Quebec and develop natural resources—to such an extent had the government been successful that over one billion and a quarter dollars had been invested in Quebec in the last seven years. Premier Taschereau made it plain that his policy would be to continue this programme.

Mr. Sauve's criticism of the government took the form of charging ministers with profiting from administrative enterprises and he also accused the government of maladministration of the Liquor Act. He claimed that Mr. Taschereau had stolen the Conservative party's thunder and that most of the projects which redounded to the good of the province had been suggested to the government by the opposition. Mr. Sauve intimated clearly that he would either return to Quebec as Prime Minister or he would renounce the leadership of the Conservative party.

A feature of interest in the elections is that voting is not by universal suffrage as in the other provinces. The women of Quebec have a vote in Dominion affairs but they have not yet secured this right in Provincial elections. Last session Victor Marchand member for Jacques Cartier introduced a measure that would have enfranchised the women but it was overwhelmingly defeated. Women, nevertheless, have taken an active part in the campaign, particularly in Montreal, where several parties have pledged themselves to support any similar measure that may be introduced in the future.

There are 85 members of the Legislative Assembly, which has been controlled by the Liberal party since 1896.

The standing of the parties after the last Provincial election, Feb. 3, 1923, was:

Government	64
Opposition	21

During the session one Government and two Opposition supporters died. One Conservative, Ernest Tetreau, became an Independent-Liberal. The standing at dissolution, April 19, was:

Government	64
Opposition	18
Vacant	3

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

Charge of Theft Not Upheld By Evidence, Says Magistrate.

MARMORA, May 13.—W. D. Donnelly received word from his solicitor, R. Ponton, on Wednesday that in the case in which he figured on Wednesday last as defendant, with T. Gray of Belleville as complainant, judgment had been reserved by Magistrate Casement of Madoc.

The dispute arose out of the sale of a Boston bull terrier pup to Mr. Gray for the sum of fifteen dollars. The latter claimed that he received a bill of sale or transfer of the dog and a copy of his pedigree. He also claimed that he gave the papers back to Mr. Donnelly to have the dog registered, and that this was not done nor were the papers returned. A criminal charge was laid against Mr. Donnelly and last Wednesday's hearing was to determine whether there was sufficiency of evidence for commitment. In reserving judgment, the Magistrate stated that he did not see that prima facie evidence of theft had been committed.

PERJURY CHARGE AGAINST PERRIS

Witnesses Before Royal Customs Commission To Be Prosecuted.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 13 (Canadian Press)—A charge of perjury will be laid "forthwith" against Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Perri of Hamilton. It is based on evidence which they gave during the sittings of the Royal Customs Commission in Toronto.

"The whole tenor of their testimony is perjury," R. L. Calder, K.C., Commission Counsel, informed the Commission, but he cited two specific extracts from the evidence on which the charges will be based. In the first instance, he said, Mr. Rocco Perri had stated at Toronto that he was not in the liquor business. There was abundant evidence to contradict this evidence. The main allegation of Mrs. Perri at Toronto was that she had only one bank account. It had later developed that she had a large number of bank accounts. "We quite agree with counsel that a charge should be laid forthwith against Mr. and Mrs. Perri," agreed Chief Commission Brown. "We think that action should be taken without further delay. We therefore instruct the proper officers of the Commission to see that a charge of perjury is laid against them."

If Mr. and Mrs. Perri are within the jurisdiction of the Canadian courts they should be prosecuted at once, said the Chief Commission. "If they are outside our jurisdiction, the warrants may have the effect of keeping them out," he added. Since the evidence was given at Toronto he thought the charge should be laid there.

Strenuous but unavailing efforts to ascertain the whereabouts of Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Perri of Hamilton were made before the Commission this morning. Joseph Romeo, Rosario Carboni, and Louis Mascia were called and questioned exhaustively about what they knew of the Perri movements. The net result of the enquiry as far as revealing the whereabouts of these two missing witnesses was the statement that they left five or six weeks ago for Montreal.

FEAR MEN LOST IN LAKE ONTARIO

Friends Think They Went Down On Journey To Belleville.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., May 13.—The disappearance of Harry Porteous, aged 21, of this city, and William Collins, aged 45, Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario, has been reported to the police here.

Friends of the men believe they were lost on Lake Ontario, with a 40-foot naptha launch "The Alma," in which they set out from Niagara-on-the-Lake, on Monday, bound for Belleville, 142 miles distant. Nothing has been heard of them since.

The competitions start at two o'clock.

Wheat Prices Lower On Good Crop Reports

CHICAGO, May 13 (Canadian Press).—Wheat averaged lower early today in a rapidly fluctuating market. Bearish crop reports from Kansas were a factor. May wheat, however, showed relative strength, influenced by the action of Winnipeg prices. Starting half a cent off to ¼ cent up, wheat ranged nervously within about limits of 1¼ cents. Corn, oats, and provisions developed firmness, corn opening at ¼ cent decline to ⅛ and ¼ cent advance and later showing gains all around.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 141⅜, July 135⅝. Corn, May 81⅞, July 86½. Oats, May 49¼, July 49⅝.

Trade In Mines Fair Though Range Is Narrow

TORONTO, May 13 (Canadian Press).—Trade was fair on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day, with little interest being shown in the offering. The market was featureless with gains and losses being equally divided over a somewhat narrow range. Argonaut Consolidated gained one at 48, and Atlas was ½ higher at 5¾. Barry Hollinger declined 3 at 31. Columbus Kirk was up 1-8 at 3 7-8, and Duprat dropped ¼ at 8¼. Kirkland Hunton was ¼ lower at 23. Potter Doal registered a gain of 7 at 34. Total sales amounted to 423,-114.

Speculators Force Up One Stock In Each Group

NEW YORK, May 13 (Canadian Press).—Speculators for the advance regained control of the price movement in today's stock market. Concentrating their purchases on one stock in each group, they selected "Nickel Plate" Common among the rail; United States Steel Common among the steels; General Motors in the motors; Baldwin in the equipments, and Houston in the oils.

"Nickle Plate" had scored an extreme gain of 16 points by touching 221 in the early afternoon. Baldwin was run up at least six points at the partial expense of an overcrowded short interest. Case Threshing Machine, International Harvester, and United Fruit also scored substantial gains. Another break of 2½ points occurred in Foundation Company, which touched 68, the lowest price in years. Laclede Gas also was hammered down 6 points.

Toronto Exchange Busy; Many Gains Are Recorded

Toronto, May 13. Canadian Press. —Friday the 13th holds no terrors for Toronto stock brokers, if to-day's trading on the local exchange is any indication. Business was unusually brisk and the market struck an optimistic note with gains being recorded in nearly all the major issues. International Nickel was again the market leader in point of activity and gained ¼ at 57. Christie Brown was up 1¾ at 56. Davies 'A' gained 2 in heavy dealing at 40½ with the 'B' issue up 1-8 at 16 1-8. Massey Harris common declined ¼ at 36½ and McKinnon voting trust was down ½ at 24½; Seagram was up ½ at 26½. The unlisted side, however, was weak. Noranda dropped 10 at 23.20. Kirkland Lake was down 2 at 140, while the new issue of Wright-Hargreaves declined 15 at 625. Hiram Walker's gained 3-8 at 49 7-8; British American Oil dropped 1-8 at 25½ and Imperial Oil lost 3⅝ at 44½.

PREMIER RESIGNS.

Labor Leader To Be Called To Form Ministry in Victoria.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., May 13. (Special B.U.P.) — Following the recent elections in the state of Victoria, Premier Allan has tendered his resignation, and Mr. Hogan, the leader of the Labor party, will probably be called upon by the governor to form a new ministry.

Mothers Still In Slavery Labor Conference Asserts

HUDDERSFIELD, Eng., May 13 (United Press).—Mothers are the "last relic of slavery," according to a resolution passed by the Women's National Labor Conference, which met here yesterday. Condensing twenty birth control resolutions into one, the conference demanded that the Ministry of Health raise its ban on giving birth control information and that maternity centres be permitted to receive grants of public moneys. After referring to mothers as a relic of slavery the conference endorsed a resolution urging family endowments as a means of making payments direct from the State to mothers.

JUDGE DENIES MOTION TO SET VERDICT ASIDE

Sentences Gray and Mrs. Snyder To Die in Week of June 20.

DEFENDANTS SILENT.

Don't Reply When Asked If They Have Anything To Say.

NEW YORK, May 13 (Canadian Press).—Henry Judd Gray and Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, convicted of the slaying of Albert Snyder, art editor, were today sentenced by Mr. Justice Scudder, the trial judge, to die in the electric chair the week of June 20.

Prior to the imposition of sentence counsel for both Gray and Mrs. Snyder made motions asking that the verdict be set aside. Justice Scudderthe motions. Appeals from the sentences are contemplated. These will be made direct to the Court of Appeals.

Neither defendant showed any emotion as Justice Townsend Scudder pronounced sentence. Mrs. Snyder was dressed in black, the same costume she wore during the trial. A matron stood on each side of her.

Gray's figure was tense. He stood about five feet from his blonde paramour, but neither looked at the other.

Neither Gray nor Mrs. Snyder replied when the Clerk of the Court asked if they had anything to say as to why sentence should not be imposed.

It is expected that six months will elapse before decisions on appeals are given. Neither defendant has appealed at present.

Court attaches said Mrs. Snyder and Gray will be taken to Sing Sing next Monday.

Counsel for Gray denied reports that Gray had asked the privilege of saying goodbye to his erstwhile paramour. Jail attendants quoted him as saying he "wanted only to see her in heaven."

DRY AGENTS READY FOR SATURDAY RACE

Thirty-five Men Called in For Derby Day at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13 (United Press)—Thirty-five outside federal dry agents have been called to Louisville by Prohibition Administrator W. O. Mays for Derby day Saturday.

Stations on roads leading from Chicago, Detroit and Florida, they will swoop down on flask-toters at the track. It is reported a special supply of liquor is on hand for the Derby.

FIRE THREATENS G. P. C. FACTORY

Starts in Some Packing at Closing Time—Employees Combat Blaze.

WATER DAMAGE HEAVY.

A fire that might have proved disastrous occurred in one of the buildings of the Canadian Packing Company at the closing hour last night when some excelsior became ignited and set fire to some empty egg cases. The smoke was so dense when the firemen arrived that it was almost impossible to enter the building, and twice the men were forced out of the room as the smoke threatened suffocation to the firefighters. Some of the men sustained injuries from the broken glass of the windows as it was forced out from the water lines below.

Two water lines of the company were turned on before the alarm was sent in, but when Chief Gimblett saw the situation, he turned in a general alarm. The Chief told The Examiner this morning much credit was due the employees of the factory for the heroic effort that they made in an effort to prevent the fire from spreading and in enduring the dense smoke. The damage by fire was small but the water damage will be heavy although Gordon S. Matthews, local manager, could give no definite estimation of the loss this morning.

LEVEE BREAKS EARLY TO-DAY

AT BORDLEONVILLE.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 13. — (Canadian Press).—The levee at Bordleonville on the Bayou Des Glaises, broke this morning, according to word received here by Food Relief Director John M. Parker. The crevasse, according to this information, is about 100 feet wide. Bordleonville break is about 150 miles north-west of New Orleans, and on the opposite side of the river.

SECURITY ISSUE SLIGHTLY MORE

Nearly 13 Billion Francs in Bonds Placed on French Market in 1926.

STATE SELLS ONE-THIRD.

NEW YORK, May 13. — Issues of securities on the French market during the year 1926, reached 12,873,-100,000 francs as against 12,724,900,-000 in 1925.

Of this total, according to figures compiled by "L'Economiste European" and transmitted to the Bankers Trust Company of New York by its French Information Service, state issues amounted to 4,265 millions, comprising 3.00 millions for the Autonomous Sinking Fund Loan, and 1,265 millions for the 15 year Treasury Bills.

Railroad bonds totalled 2,285,500,-000 francs, as against 1,826,400,000 francs in 1925, while municipal, departmental and colonial loans rose from 570 million francs in 1925, to 1,385,000,000 in 1926.

Issues of shares to the amount of 2,414,300,000 francs and of bonds to the amount of 1,921,000,000 francs, were made during 1926 by 775 established French companies. Two hundred and forty-seven new companies brought out issues to the amount of 605,300,000 francs. Furthermore two foreign loans were floated on the French market, namely 250,000 shares o. the "Match and Tobacco Company," at 90 escudos, and 425,000 two hundred lei shares of the "Societe Roumanobalge de petrole," at 460 lei.

ARCH-DIOCESE TO BE DIVIDED

Quebec See To Be Split, With Bishop at Ste. Anne.

MGR. ROULEAU AWAY.

QUEBEC, May 13 (Canadian Press) —The Archdiocese of Quebec is to be divided into two, it is learned, with the new see being located at Ste. Anne De La Pocatiere. His Grace Mgr. Rouleau, Archbishop of Quebec, who has been studying the opportunity of sub-dividing the territory under his jurisdiction, has left for Rome to make the final arrangements in this connection, it is authoritatively stated.

ease can arise from worry than anything else, for no worry is the first essential of good health. There are many causes of worry for the fathers, and the chief one is finance," remarked the doctor. "And another cause is the putting off of tasks, for men quite frequently put off work such as their letters, and boys put off chores which then cause a general worry till they are completed."

He then stated that Nature is a medicine for the re-creation of humans, and getting out with Nature will do a great deal more than any medicine a doctor can prescribe. "Athletics and games of all sorts are the real essential thing for good health, for the days of bullying are practically gone and life is changing for the better, both in these ways and in its citizenship." In concluding, Dr. Porter told the boys that Canada offers them many opportunities and expressed his wish that they all would take advantage of these. He wished the boys that were present to-day good luck, and that they would live long and prosperous as worthy citizens of the Dominion.

Harry Boyle moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Porter, on behalf of the Kiwanians of Peterborough, and to the violinist, at the same time remarking that, in his estimation, today's luncheon had been the most successful one held so far this year.

In filing an application for a divorce from her husband, Horace E. Dodge, Jr., the former Lois Knowlton declared, "money is not everything." Since then the Detroit multi-millionaire has made a wild dash from Paris to Honolulu by ocean greyhound, airplane, racing automobile and motor speedboat in order to confer with his estranged wife. The only published comment on the parley, however, was a joint declaration that no reconciliation had been made.

ELECTRICITY FOR JUBILEE BEACON LIGHTS

Use of Searchlights Recommended By National Committee For Celebration.

TOWERS FLOOD-LIGHTED.

Instructions On Installation To Be Sent Out From Ottawa.

OTTAWA, May 13 (Canadian Press).—On the night of the sixtieth birthday of Confederation electricity will take the place of the old beacon lights with which those in the days of the Fathers of Confederation were wont to celebrate events of importance. From coast to coast of Canada, which is pre-eminent to-day in the development of electrical energy, illuminating apparatus will be installed on towers, high buildings, or other outstanding eminences, of a capacity which will throw the beams for miles around, and lighten surrounding landscapes.

After careful consideration of the problem of providing electrical beacons throughout the Dominion for the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee the following recommendations were made by the national committee:

1. That the towers of all Government buildings such as the main tower of the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa, be flood-lighted, and that all towns and cities follow the same specifications for the lighting of any towers they may possess.

2. That all monuments of persons prominent in Canadian history, and especially in the forming of Confederation, be flood-lighted.

3. That electric searchlights be located in the tops of towers and other high places in every city and large town in Canada. There should either be four searchlights at each location, one pointing in each direction and arranged with a flashing mechanism or a single searchlight on a rotating stand.

It is stated that the flashlights to be established on the peace tower at Ottawa will be visible north, south, east and west at a distance of forty miles.

Instructions respecting the best installation and type of illumination may be secured from the committee.

PERMIT ISSUE STARTS SOON

Day Not Decided, But Will Be Next Week, Says Chairman.

FOR RESIDENTS ONLY.

TORONTO, May 13 (Canadian Press).—"Permits for the purchase of liquor will be issued some day next week," said D. B. Hanna, Chairman of the Ontario Liquor Board today. "Just what day has not been decided, but it will be next week. They will be issued to residents only and there need be no congestion at any point where they are issued. The temporary permits to tourists and people of only temporary residence will not be issued until after the stores are opened, because they will not have an opportunity to use them." Permits will be issued in all parts of the province at the same time.

The Board has no intention of issuing temporary permits to United States residents of the border cities who wish to pay flying visits across the line in order to purchase a bottle of whiskey. Whether or not the purpose of such visitors is to drink the liquor on the spot or to return home with it, no permits will be issued unless they can prove that they are bona fide tourists intending to make a stay in Ontario. Chief Commission D. B. Hanna was not prepared to say how long they would be required to spend in the Province, but stated: "They must be able to produce proper identification and to give assurance that they intend to visit in Ontario for some time. A man, for example, living in Detroit will not be able to simply walk across the border and demand a permit."

The Commission, it is understood, are nearing the completion of the regulations dealing with the issuance of these temporary permits, and an order-in-Council putting them into effect may be expected in the near future.

It was learned last night that Toronto will have some fourteen liquor stores in all when the local leases are finally signed by the commission. With one or two exceptions, the location of these has now been settled, but as yet no official information is forthcoming on the subject.

TWO MEN DEAD; SHOT EACH OTHER

Bodies Found When Car Crashes Into Fence at Sudbury.

SUDBURY, Ont., May 13 (Canadian Press).—Joseph Martell of Sudbury and John Hudson of Eganville are dead as a result of a shooting affray during which it is believed each man shot the other. The bodies of the two men were found last night when Martell's car crashed into a fence. A member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who was near-by ran over and found Hudson lying beside the running board of the car dying with a bullet wound through his heart and Martell already dead, a shot having penetrated his right temple above the ear.

A 32 calibre automatic pistol was found in the car and a 38 revolver beside Hudson on the ground. Both had been discharged once. Police believe that Hudson was either thrown through the windshield when the car crashed into the fence or was riding on the running board from where he fired one of the fatal shots. His own clothing was burned and the flesh blackened where the bullet had entered his chest.

SCOTT'S HOMER DECIDING RUN

Leafs One Run Shy in Final Tilt With Orioles.

FIVE HITS TO SIX

Maple Leaf Stadium, May 13.—The Baltimore Orioles took the fourth and last game of the Toronto series here yesterday in a tight, well-played game Scott's home run proving to be the deciding factor. Heath got a four-bagger with one on, the game ending 3 to 2.

The Colts went into first place in the International League by defeating Jersey City in both ends of a double-header at Rochester by scores of 12 to 6 and 4 to 1. The two wins made it seven straight for the Tribe. Herb Thormahlen won his first game of the season when he held Jersey City to four hits and one run in the second game, which was abbreviated to seven innings.

The Bisons toppled Al Mamaux, Newark pitching ace, from the mound and won the first game at Buffalo from the Bears, 7 to 5, but lost a chance to tie for first place by dropping the second in a tight finish by a 3 to 2 count. The Bisons outhit the Bears almost two to one in the second, but could not bunch their blows off Howard, just acquired by Newark from the Milwaukee club.

The Stars climbed into the .500 group in the percentage table yesterday by winning their second consecutive double-header from the Reading Keys. Johnson scored his third victory of the year, winning the first game 7 to 1, and Allyn Stout achieved his second victory in the second, which ended 4 to 1.

Tom Milton May Drive Car In Auto Classic

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 13.—Will Tommy Milton drive in the Indianapolis Speedway again this year?

More than a year ago this famous racing driver astonished friends by saying he'd never drive in another race as long as he lived. He has kept that word to date.

A few days ago, however, Milton entered a car in the classic race to be run May 30. The car and the driver were unnamed.

Now fans are wondering whether Tommy himself or some other driver will be the pilot on May 30.

TIGHTEN LEAD IN NATIONAL

DOUTHIT GETS HOMER

NEW YORK, May 13 (Canadian Press)—The New York Giants bolstered their hold on the National League leadership yesterday by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals by 3 to 2 in 11 innings at the Polo grounds. Grimes and Henry pitched great ball against the veteran Alexander, who got himself out of a bad hole in the ninth by retiring his opponents with the bases filled and one out. Douthit hit a homer with none on base in the fifth.

At Philadelphia Chicago bunched hits off Scott in the second and fifth innings to win, 4 to 1. A homer by Stephenson in the fifth inning gave the Cubs their fifth circuit clout in three days and scored two runs. Jimmy Wilson, the captain of the Phillies, was put out of the game by Umpire Hart for disputing a decision in the second inning.

Dazzy Vance was an all around star at Brooklyn yesterday as the Robins made it two straight over Cincinnati by 6 to 3. Vance fanned five batters, limited the Reds to four hits and led the Brooklyn attack with three singles and a double in four trips to the plate.

Pittsburg nosed out the Braves at Boston, 8 to 7, a two run rally in the eighth overcoming a one-run margin piled up by Boston in their seventh inning. In the seventh the Braves made five runs, knocking Aldridge out of the box. Bancroft and Wright, rival shortstops, had a brilliant day.

SOCCER GAME HERE TO-MORROW

Thistle Vs. Quakers at King Edward Park—Kick-off at 3.

Old rivals meet to-morrow afternoon in the local soccer schedule—Quakers versus Thistle—at King Edward Park. Kick-off at three o'clock prompt. John Warde will officiate in the capacity of referee.

A. Mitchell resumes his favorite position in the Quakers' eleven, and an old Thistle player, Jack Wade, will occupy the centre-half place; also Joe Mayette playing the extreme right. The Quakers will play the following team: Edgar, goal; F. Honor and A. Maker, backs, Carmichael, J. Wade, T. Wilson, halves; Joe Mayette, T. Williams, A. Mitchell, Alf. Wilson and T. Foster, forwards.

All players signed for the Thistle are requested to be at the park not later than 2.45 p.m., and the team will be picked from the following: Griffin, Scott, Jones, McLeod, Waddell, Livingston, Bromley, J. McPhate, J. Cameron, Miller, T. McPhate and Alex. Burgess.

Bob Dawson will not be able to play to-morrow through an accident he received at his employment a few days ago. It was not very serious, but he prefers to remain idle for a Saturday.

Any person desiring to go to Toronto for the Old Country soccer team match on May 28th should consult F. Barton at the game or 'phone 1636-M.

NOVEL HANDICAP GOLF TOURNAMENT

A novel handicap gold foursome on the course of the Biltmore Shores Golf and Country Club at Massapequa, Long Island, when (left to right) Walter Hagen, Glenna Collett, Maureen Orcott and Gene Sarazen played a match. The two girls put their skill against the two men, and on the 18 holes, the girls were given six bisques. Hagen tied the men's record for the course with 70 and Miss Collett established a new record with 79. The ladies were defeated 2 and 1.

MITCHELL WINS GOLF TROPHY

RETURNS CARD 294

WENTWORTH, Surrey, England, May 13 (Canadian Press)—Abe Mitchell yesterday again justified his selection as captain of the British Ryder Cup team by a sensational finish in the Daily Mail tournament, which is equivalent to the profession golf championship, returning a card of 294 for the four rounds and defeating Fred Robson by three strokes. Archie Compston, another Ryder Cup man, was third with 302.

Thanks to a prodigious 25 yard putt in the final round, Mitchell snatched the lead from Robson, who had finished a fine fourth round with 73. The excitement grew as Mitchell's chances improved. He made no mistakes, finishing with 71, which with his previous cards of 76, 72 and 75, totalled 294.

Robson's cards were 72, 74, 78 and 73—297. Other members of the Ryder team were Arthur Havers 308, Aubrey Boomer 312, A. Whitcombe 313, and Ted May 316.

The "old man" of the links, J. R. Taylor, played a wonderful third round, turning in a card of 70, which was the record for the tournament. His total was 307.

DEMPSEY WORKING FOR RETURN MATCH

Former Champion Tells Rickard He is Rounding Into Shape.

NEW YORK, May 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Over the long distance telephone yesterday Jack Dempsey informed Tex Rickard that he was rounding into fine shape under a strenuous programme of manual labor at his camp in the California mountains. When he feels he has reached the peak he will notify Rickard to arrange his first fight in his "come-back" for a title match with Gene Tunney.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Wy- "Warner is a six-footer, weighs probably never heard, has been signed for a title crack at the world heavyweight champion in 1929!

No, that is not the dream of an idiot, but a fact, with Jack Curley, promoter of some prominence as the promoter of the big bout in 1929.

Wyoming Warner is a big husky from Wyoming. He was recently brought to New York by Otto C. Floto, who is credited with finding Jack Dempsey.

After looking over what this Warner husky had to offer and listening to the tales told him, Curley signed Warner up for a title bout in 1929.

"Looks like I'm getting daffy in my old age," Curley admitted when asked about the contract, "but it is true. You might call it a speculation in clairvoyancy, but this boy looks every bit a potential champion.

oming Warner, of whom you've about 180 pounds and is still in the prelim class," Curley added. "He'll get socked plenty for reverses between now and then, but don't laugh too much now. Wait a couple of years and see which side to laugh on!"

MARK KOENIG KEY TO YANKS' CHANCES

Upon His Play Rests Possibility of Hugmen Winning Again.

By BILLY EVANS.

Who holds the key to the chances of the New York Yankees to repeat as pennant winners in the American League?

Babe Ruth would no doubt be the immediate reply of fandom, if the question was put to a vote. It is an accepted truth that the Yankees follow in the footsteps of the Bambino.

If the question was slipped to Manager Miller Huggins, he would probably hang the chances of his club on the work of his pitching staff as a whole.

Huggins feels that he has the best offence in the majors. He is more or less willing to string along with the thought that a good offense is the best possible defence. However, he well realizes the great necessity of good pitching.

When I say good pitching, that is just what Huggins means. He believes the Yankees can repeat with that brand, the super-stuff not being needed to tide the club over.

Mark Koenig, to my way of thinking, is the big IF in the chances of the Yankees to take part in the 1927 world series.

Mark Koenig, as every fan knows, is the youthful shortstop of the New York Americans. So far this season his work in the field and at bat has featured the play of the Yankees.

Can Mark Koenig keep up the high standard he has set in the early season play? That remains to be seen. There is no doubt that he is a much improved player.

No shortstop in either major league has more natural ability than Mark Koenig of the New York Yankees. He can go to his right or left with equal ease, has a great arm which enables him to play a very deep short and thereby cover much more territory, is fast of foot, bats well either right or left-handed and is a mighty good base runner.

In other words, Mark Koenig possesses all the essentials of a star. It is my opinion that he is well on the way to that rating in baseball. One thing alone has held him back, a tendency to be erratic.

At various times last season such a tendency cropped out. In the world series with the Cardinals, Koenig played brilliantly most of the way but had tht misfortune to err at the inopportune moment. At one stage of the game last year, Manager Huggins temporarily removed Koenig from the line-up and shifted Lazzeri to short.

However, Huggins at no time lost faith in Koenig, and when he took him out of the line-up he made it known that it was simply a temporary shift to give Koenig, doing his first year in the majors, a breathing spell.

Put back in the line-up, Koenig played brilliantly the rest of the way. He helped the Yankees plenty last season in winning the pennant, despite his momentary lapses in erratic play.

The experience of last year has helped Koenig in many ways. It has rounded off some of the rough spots, gave him a greater confidence in his ability and thereby has lessened the possibility of erratic work.

Every club must have an outstanding shortstop to be reckoned a great team. Mark Koenig, playing brilliantly, fills that role for the Yankees. On his ability to be consistently good depends a goodly portion of the Yankees' chances to repeat.

BUNCHED HITS FROM BROWNS

Yankees Make It Three in Row By Their Four to Three Victory.

RUTH STRUCK OUT

NEW YORK, May 13 (Canadian Press) — The New York Yankees bunched hits off Sam Jones, their former team mate, and made it three in a row over the Browns at St. Louis, 4 to 3. Jones struck out eight men, including Babe Ruth and the two others who faced him in the first inning. The Babe, however, got a single and a double before the game was over. Sisler twice hit into a double play. Batting Gray from the box in the fourth inning, the Tigers took the third game of the series from the Athletics at Detroit, 9 to 7. W. Collins, who pitched for Detroit, was credited with his fourth victory in as many starts, although he did not finish the game. He was removed in the ninth when the Athletics threatened to overcome the Tiger lead and Kenneth Holloway finished the game.

The White Sox ran their winning streak to four straight by taking the third in a row from Washington at Chicago, 5 to 4. After Judge's home run with two on in the first inning had given the visitors the lead the White Sox played an uphill battle, bunching their hits and winning out in the eighth inning when Clancy drove Hunnefield home.

The Boston-Cleveland game succumbed to rain.

CREWS PAID OFF BY TIED-UP FLEET

Officials Say It Will Take Fortnight To Clear Up Port Colborne Congestion.

PORT COLBORNE, May 12.—Two more weeks will be required to clear up the grain congestion existing at this port, elevator officials declared yesterday. At the present rate of despatch relief cannot be expected in a shorter period.

Most of the fifteen grain boats tied up in port last night were without crews, as owners paid off their men in an effort to minimize their losses due to the tie-up. Only those members of the crew absolutely required to keep steam up are being retained on board.

The Brentwood was the only vessel to be cleared yesterday, and with both elevators plugged it was doubtful if any progress can be made during the night. A hope that sufficient canal tonnage would arrive to allow two more boats to unload is the best that marine men looked forward to Friday.

CLERKS DECIDE TO PLAY BALL

Re-enter League and Secure Victory in Their First Game.

BEAT ST. ANDREW'S.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 13.—Out ag'in; in ag'in; win ag'in. The Clerks, last year's champions, disgruntled over the action of the executive in awarding Ibey to the Outlaws, threatened to stay out of the association games this year. They were given till last night to settle the matter and decided to stick with the association. The wisdom of their action was examplified when they defeated the highly-touted St. Andrews, 24 to 13, at the Agricultural Grounds last night. While the champions hardly look as strong as last year, they will give every team in the league a tough battle to the wire. They showed plenty of hitting strength all down the line. Defensively they played pretty fair ball for their opening game, and in Cook, in centre field, they have one of the stars of the association. The Thistles are mostly a team of youngsters and with Storie, Blakely, and Hoard to steady them down, will be heard from before the season is far advanced. Little supplied the feature of the game, when he went far into the left field to pull in McArthur's Texas leaguer.

St. Andrews: Dunk, cf; Bland, 2b; Fox, 3b; Reynolds, c; Storie, p; Hoard, 1b; Bailey, lf; Blakely, lf.; Irwin, sf; Little, ss.

Umpires—Deston at plate; Tinney at bases.

JUDGE DISAPPROVES OF WITNESS SITTING

Objects To Officials Placing Chair in Box For Woman.

LONDON, Ont., May 13.—In the Supreme Court sitting here yesterday, Mr. Justice Kelly expressed definite disapproval of the placing of a chair in the witness box for a woman witness. He declared this was a practice in American courts, but that in Canadiancourts a witness was expected to give evidence while standing. He went on to say, however, that in case the examination was very lengthy and the witness became fatigued, then the placing of a chair would be countenanced, but otherwise he was definitely opposed to teh plan.

The statement came from the court during the testimony being given by Miss Margaret McDougald of Dublin, Perth County, who is plaintiff in an action against the Pilot Mfg. Company of Galt, James J. Gardiner, former President of the company, and Frank A. Campbell of Mitchell. Miss McDougald alleges fraud and misrepresentation in securing from her a note for $1,000 for stock in the company. The case has not been concluded.

Met Hundred People Who Could See Fairies.

TORONTO, Ont., May 12 (Candian Press).—"During my stay in the United States I must have met a hundred people who see the fairies and are able to describe them quite distinctly," so said E. L. Gardner, Secretary of the English Theosophical Society, in an address given here. He told the story of how he had investigated the photographs of the fairies submitted to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and had satisfied himself that they were not faked. As described in course of time by the child who photographed them their most common colors were rose, lavender and apple green. The gnome, or brownie, in one of the photographs, wore a reddish-brown jacket and black knickers. The girls said they had never felt the fairies. Neither had they heard a tune from the fairy pipers, except when the wind wasn't blowing and the leaves were listless, there might have been a slight tinkle.

AROUND THE CITY

Two of the dog population of the city who have cultivated a taste for motorcycle driving of late are Weary and Pete. If anyone asked them their age, and they could answer, they would say, in the words of the song, 'We are seven," because both are seven years old. They are a pair of cocker spaniels, Weary a mid-brown in color, with eyes to match, and Pete a black, with a few white hairs on his chest. With their master and a small boy companion, they go on swift rides in a motorcycle side-car nearly every fine evening, and enjoy themselves thoroughly, manifesting extreme impatience during any lapse in the motoring programme.

Waiter Serves Language Either "Cold or Boiled"

The exact study of menus and a-la-carte lists, printed in English in foreign countries, for the guidance of tourists, not rarely provides the student with some unlooked-for fun, according to an account given by a recently returned Toronto tourist.

In this manner the list giving the more or less savory dishes to be had in an inexpensive, smallish Vladivostok restaurant stated, to the delight of the travelled, that "cold or boiled language" might be secured for the reasonable amount of some twenty-five kopeks.

Whether the Torontonian, on being made to understand that tongue and language are the same words in the Russian lingo, partook of the delicacy is not recorded, but he did enjoy the quarter rouble's worth of fun.

BRANCHES PREPARE FOR BIG CONFERENCE

A.Y.P.A. of This District To Entertain Dominion Delegates in October.

A District Council Meeting of the A.Y.P.A. was held last evening in St. John's Parish Hall, with representatives from St. John's, St. Luke's and All Saints', Peterborough; Christ Church, Omemee; St. Paul's, Lindsay and St. Thomas', Millbrook. The President, Mr. Bent, Omemee, presided.

Several committees were formed this week for advance work for the A.Y.P.A. Dominion Conference, to be held in Peterborough in October of this year.

An invitation was extended by Rev. Mr. Galagher to hold the next meeting in Lindsay, on June 17.

Mr. C. Hope spoke of the A.Y.P.A. Camp to be held at Lake Couchiching this summer and invited anyone to visit the camp.

Rev. Mr. Howard mentioned the Summer School at Port Hope and urged anyone who wished to spend a profitable as well as enjoyable vacation to visit the school.

The handsome silver cup was given to Mr. C. Hope, and is to be presented to the winning A.Y.P.A. in the dramatic contest.

The evening was brought to a pleasant close, when St. John's served refreshments.

HAMBLIN—In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Herbert Hamblin, who died May 13, 1926:
This day brings back a memory,
Of a dear one laid to rest;
And those who think of him to-day
Are those who loved him best.
Folks may think that we forget him,
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know the heartaches
That our smiles hide all the while.

CAR DESTROYED IN SUDDEN FIRE

Millbrook Men Were Motoring Home When Blaze Started.

CAUSE UNKNOWN.

MILLBROOK, May 13. — While Frank Gray and S. Sloan were motoring from Peterborough on Wednesday night about 11 o'clock, their car, belonging to the former, suddenly took fire, and was almost completely destroyed. The occupants escaped hurriedly and uninjured.

The cause of the accident is unknown. The car was recently overhauled, and whether crossed wires led to a short circuit, with the resultant damage, is apparently in doubt. The engine began backfiring just before the smoke and flames from the floor of the car near the front, and a hasty exit was the only thing possible. It was on the Provincial Highway, not far from Frazerville, that the unfortunate event occurred.

Soviet Ambassador Lodges Protest Against Raid

OCEAN FLIERS HEED WARNING DELAY FLIGHT

Definitely Postponed Until Sunday or Later on in the Week.

THREE CONTESTANTS.

Probability That the American Flight May Be Three-Cornered Race.

NEW YORK, May 14 (Associated Press).—The weatherman raised a warning hand last night and the airmen waiting to hop off on a race to Paris for fame and fortune heeded his signal.

Hangar doors were closed and the contest for the $25,000 Orteig prize was definitely postponed until Sunday morning anyhow, and probably until later next week.

"A couple of days ago it looked as though it might be going to clear," said James A. Scarr of the weather bureau, "but now it's getting worse all the time. It would be foolish to expect a turn for the better over the week-end."

So Clarence Chamberlin and Lloyd Bertaud announced that their Bellanca monoplane Columbia would not start over the ocean in the morning, as had been their hope. Charles Lindbergh had previously stated that his Ryan monoplane, the Spirit, of St. Louis, would not be taken from its hangar until the weather man gave the "all clear" signal.

The Fokker monoplane America in which Commander Richard E. Byrd will attempt the crossing has not yet completed its factory tests. He had not intended to leave for several days so he was not affected one way or the other by the weather report.

Three-Cornered Race.

Scarr's prediction concerning several days of stormy weather increased the likelihood, however, that when clearing weather does come the American flight may be a three-cornered race with each of the three monoplanes striving for first place.

As Byrd, however, is not "in the money," not having entered his plane for the Orteig prize, and as he has said that his flight is to be purely for science, he may be content to let the others go ahead.

The weather report late yesterday was the most unfavorable of the past week. Scarr pointed out that he only furnished the facts and the fliers made their own decisions, but he expressed the hope that they would not leave until good conditions were indicated.

"The squally condition is growing worse instead of better," he said, "and extends beyond mid-Atlantic. Of course you know the old saying that fools rush in where angels fear to tread. Well, someone might go ahead and come out all right, but it seems to me that the contest has cost enough in human life already without adding to it unnecessarily."

Issue Special Report.

He said he would give the fliers a special report at 11 o'clock last night, but that there was no possibility that it would show favorable conditions. Later the fliers themselves cancelled their request for this special report.

The fliers were quick to make their decision on postponement as soon as they had seen Scarr's late afternoon report. They were content to wait, they said, until everything was right.

"But as soon as the weather report shows conditions good," Lindbergh said, "I'll be gone and I don't care what hour of the day or night it is, either."

The Long Island flying fields were crowded yesterday with spectators anxious to view the three planes on the ground and watch them in the air. During the day Byrd's Fokker and the Chamberlin-Bertaud were put through tests in the air in preparation for their flight. Lindbergh's Ryan was thoroughly gone over in its hangar by mechanics working under supervision of the young air mail pilot and was pronounced ready to hop off as soon as weather permits.

BULLET BREAKS TWO WINDOWS

Second Time This Spring At Buildings of Kitney Brothers.

POLICE INVESTIGATING.

Yesterday morning about 11.00 o'clock a bullet from a rifle went through two windows in the porch of Kitney brothers' home in the Township of Otonabee, just outside the city limits. The bullet, from all appearances, must have been fired by a high-power rifle. It is thought that it had been fired from some one who was out hunting groundhogs back of the hill at Downer's Corners on the Crowley line. This is the second time this spring that a bullet has broken windows in the Kitney buildings.

Both the city police and Constable Maker have received several complaints recently of boys shooting with rifles and they are determined to put a stop to this practice.

History's Worst Detour Opened Near Brantford

BRANTFORD, May 14.—(Canadian Press.)—"The worst detour in the history of this district," is the definition of the half-mile detour of the provincial highway opened here to enable the T. H. & B. railway to refloor the bridge at Cainsville, three miles east of here. Trucks and cars were stuck in a ploughed field on which a few cinders had been placed and the highway authorities at Toronto have instructed the local highway foreman to get teams and get the traffic through at all costs—charged to the T. H. & B. The work, it is estimated, will take ten days. Last night over 100 cars were tied up at each end of the detour.

FINE DOG SHOW AT "Y" TO-DAY

Dogs Of All Descriptions Exhibited By Boys of City.

MANY ENTRIES.

The first dog show ever held for boys in Peterborough, took place on the tennis courts of the Y.M.C.A. this morning, when about fifty dogs were exhibited to compete for prizes offered in connection with the Hobby Show that is being held to-day as a part of the Boys' Week programme. Dogs of every description were shown and much was the pleasure shown by the young owners of winning dogs.

Officials of the show consisted of three judges: George Eggerton, W. and N. Welch, and B. Copping, assistant director. Stewards of the ring were L. McBain and A. Rutter.

The following are the prize winners:

Section 2 (Airedale puppy), No entries.

Section 3, (Boston bull), 1 K. Welch, 2 S. Townsend.

WATER POURS THROUGH BREAK

WATER FOOT DEEP.

ALEXANDRIA, La., May 14 (Canadian Press).—Water a foot deep poured through a new crevasse today on Bayou Rouge, three miles north of the Cotton Port break and 170 miles northwest of New Orleans on the opposite side of the river, according to information received here. The new break, which is about 200 feet wide, occurred late yesterday afternoon.

American Vessels At 60-Mile Intervals Will Serve As Beacons For Ocean Fliers

WASHINGTON, May 14. — About fifty-two Shipping Board vessels and twelve destroyers and cutters of the Coast Guard will be either on or within easy reach of the course which the Bellanca fliers intend to follow to Europe.

Of the Shipping Board vessels, twenty-six will be eastward bound and twenty-six westward bound, according to estimates yesterday. The estimates are approximate only, as sailings are based on reported and scheduled sailing through May 11. These ships are scattered along the North Atlantic steamship track and their distance from ports of the United States and Europe will vary from one and one-half to twenty-one and one-half days.

While the Merchant Fleet Corporation cannot indicate precisely the longitude and latitude in which these vessels may be found, the calculations, based upon days from port indicate that today at noon there would be an average of two vessels for about every 115 miles across the Atlantic, or an average of one vessel for about every sixty miles. Some, however, undoubtedly would be actually separated by a much greater mileage.

The Modoc will be stationed at a point about 1,200 miles from New York and will mark the turning point of the flight, whence the Bellanca will follow the steamship track. The understanding is that the Modoc will identify herself by a heavy smoke cloud to enable the fliers to follow their course.

BELMONT CLUB ANNUAL DINNER GREAT SUCCESS

J. R. Marshall Gives Inspiring Address To Members of Club.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

What proved to be one of the most enthusiastic and successful banquets in the history of the Belmont Club took place in the Empress Hotel last night when the members of the club held their twentieth annual meeting and installation of officers.

J. R. Marshall, Sales Manager of the Canadian Nashua Paper Company, the speaker of the evening, delivered an address that was outstanding in every way, exhorting his hearers in forceful terms to prepare themselves for the tasks that lay ahead of them in a country such as Canada is destined to be. Mr. Marshall stressed the necessity for the golden rule in business, declaring that this was the only rule that brought true success—a success that brought not only satisfaction to the man who practiced it, but also to the community at large.

C. S. Browne, the retiring president, presided. In handing over the gavel to the new president, F. H. Jobbitt, Mr. Browne thanked the members who had so loyally supported him during his double term of office, assuring Mr. Jobbitt that if he received the same measure of support that this year would be even more successful than any yet.

H. Snelgrove and N. E. Staples rendered several solos in effective style. John Crane presided at the piano, playing the accompaniments for the artists and also for the community singing.

A quartette composed of Hap. Harrison, Walter Byers, W. E. Fanning and C. S. McLean dispensed several old time favorite melodies and also the more modern and up-to-date "Hi Ho the Merrio."

Officers installed.

Dr. A. W. McPherson, Honorary President of the Club, installed the new officers. In appropriate words he instructed each man as to the duties that he was called upon to fill, paying tribute to the goodfellowship that has always existed among members since the inception of the club.

Reg. H. Turner, who has accepted the invitation of the club to manage the Belmont stunt for the Jubilee celebration, outlined the plans he had in mind for that occasion.

J. R. Marshall.

"In Canada, a country that is second to none; a country that holds a future for the young man that no other country can, it is essential that everybody prepare and equip themselves for the big tasks that lie ahead," declared Mr. Marshall.

Sharp practice in business is not an essential feature to the conduct of modern business. It might bring temporary success, it is true, but it would not bring manent success.

In stressing the need for preparation on the part of the young man, the speaker said that the first requisite was confidence; confidence in himself, confidence in the other fellow; confidence in his community and confidence in his country. With this confidence there should be earnestness to do things, to do them thoroughly, so that when the time comes he will be ready to assume responsibilities in a capable manner.

"Nothing can stop the man who is determined to succeed. There's a courage that nerves you in starting to climb the mount of success, rising sheer, and when you've slipped back, there's the courage sublime that keeps you from shedding a tear. These two kinds of courage I give you my word are worthy of tribute, but then you'll not reach the summit unless you have the third—the courage to try it again."

The speaker emphatically declared that the golden rule—Do unto others as you would they should do unto you—was the only rule upon which true

FOG HOLDS UP THREE PLANES AWAITING HOP

Not Likely To Start For at Least Forty-eight Hours More.

SEARCH CONTINUES.

Nothing Found On New England Coast—Conflicting Theories.

NEW YORK, May 14 (Canadian Press).—Fog and thick weather smeared up the better part of the Atlantic Ocean last night and spoiled the changes of any one of the three New York to Paris aeroplanes taking off today.

The Weather Bureau reported there were no signs of clearing and the prediction at Curtiss and Roosevelt Fields was that nobody would take the air in the 3,800 mile flight within 4 hours.

Capt. Charles Lindbergh, of the "Spirit of St. Louis" and Clarence Chamberlain and Lloyd Bertand, of the Bellanca plane "Columbia," are both ready to start when conditions are favorable. Their delay owing to weather conditions seems to be giving Commander Richard Byrd, North Pole flier, an even start with the other two contenders for the great adventure. Byrd will be in charge of the Wanamaker plane "America." The United States planes have received assurance of aid from the Shipping Board and coast guards. Three coast guard planes have been asked to escort the fliers out of United States territory.

Many Theories

NEW YORK, May 14 (Canadian Press). — Conflicting theories and vaguer reports today kept alive the rapidly dwindling hope for the safety of Captains Nungesser and Coli.

The fifth day in which the famous French air aces were overdue in their 3,800 mile flight from Paris to New York saw slight strengthening of the belief that the aviators may be lost in the Newfoundland wilderness.

Only negative reports developed from searching parties along the extreme northeastern Atlantic coast, vessels in the North Atlantic and the navy dirigible, Los Angeles, after its 200 mile cruise along the New England coast. Still the hunt went on, in some instances more intense than before.

Gloom Succeeds Hope

HARBOR GRACE, Nfld., May 14 (Canadian Press).—Gloom succeeded hope in this little Newfoundland town today as no evidence was found that Captain Nungesser and Major Coli, missing French fliers, actually reached this coast on Monday in their attempt to make a non-stop flight from Paris to New York. The widespread excitement which has prevailed during the last two days over reports that planes were heard passing town at nine o'clock Monday morning had subsided.

ABDUCTION CHARGE AGAINST WOMAN

Mrs. Le Paige Remanded Until May 23 Without Bail.

TORONTO, May 14. Canadian Press. — Mrs. Audrienne LePaige, charged with abducting two months old Lloyd Daley, was remanded until May 23rd, when she appeared in the woman's court here to-day.

The Crown refused to grant bail. The former charge of kidnapping against Mrs. Lepaige has been changed to one of abduction, carrying with it an extreme penalty of seven years.

ADDRESS GIVEN ON THE IDEAL CANADIAN GIRL

Mrs. Kingswood, the Principal Speaker at Annual Meeting of Y.W.C.A.

CHARACTER FORMING.

Exhibition of Training and Club Swinging Given By Members.

The annual meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held in the gymnasium of the "Y" last night, when a large number attended.

Opening exercises were taken by Rev. Mr. MacDonald, pastor of Knox church. In a prayer for the association he asked that the girls of this institution might develop strong minds and bodies through influences in the Y. M. C. A. Miss Marguerite Rome gave a splendid piano solo, and following this the minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Miss Annie Wood. A vocal selection was given by Douglas Carlyle, accompanied by Miss Margaret Widdess, which was loudly applauded.

Miss Hamilton, chairman of the association, then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Kingswood, of Toronto, who spoke on the forming of the character of the ideal Canadian girl. "We are all addressed to a great destiny and stamped with privileges," said Mrs. Kingswood; "therefore, girls should realize that they are ideal Canadian girls, so that they will be able to reach their goal." She then went on to say that the destiny of a girl's life depended on her self and the environment in which they were surrounded. "Canada has excellent environment, so it all depends on your self," said Mrs. Kingswood.

"Just as a rose must respond to its environment, the girl who would become an ideal Canadian must respond to the peculiar advantages that are meant for her," she said. One of these advantages is good health habits, and Mrs. Kingswood stated that Canada heads any nation for good health habits, so that any girl should form these when her country has such a reputation. "The ideal Canadian girl must have sound body and a sound mind, for Canada leads in education, and so your minds must be improved to be able to enjoy the advantages that have been set aside for each one of the Canadian girls," said Mrs. Kingswood, "and another important thing is the religious problem to aid in the forming of the character of the ideal Canadian girl; so the church and the schools should co-operate with one another for not one girl can ever hope to reach her particular destiny without linking up these two organizations, and wonderful Christian influence will be found in the Young Women's Christian Association."

Takes Little Place.

Speaking of the financial difficulties, Mrs. Kingswood remarked that money takes little place in the big things of life, but soul and mind culture would take persons anywhere. "Girls rush through their educational life to get out into the business world," said the speaker, "and that is where they make a big mistake, for, in an effort to make money to buy fine clothes, they lose the opportunity of gaining the culture of the soul and mind. Girls must realize the inward growth in themselves for all power comes from the inside out, and though all are addressed to a great destiny, power must lie within to light the spark of these opportunities.

"All ideals come from God," said Mrs. Kingswood, "and, therefore, the ideal Canadian girl should cherish the urge to have a great destiny and not merely to exist. They should also learn to discern between the right and wrong way of living and not be led by foreign influences and literary people of Canada should write for their own country and not compete for foreign literary prizes." Mrs. Kingswood expressed her opinion that old traditions should be adhered to, and pure pastimes of olden days be carried out, and also that the ideal Canadian girl should have expression through service, or serving her day and generation with constant thought in her mind as to what she can serve best.

"Household science," said Mrs. Kingswood, "is the most practical and useful thing a girl of to-day can study, for it aids them in making better homes for their future husbands, and along with other things be ready to serve; for service means popularity, love, happiness and contentment, through which the great destiny of an ideal Canadian girl is reached."

To illustrate this, Mrs. Kingswood quoted the words of our Lord, when He said, "He that is greatest among you must be one who serves."

Following the address, a vocal selection was rendered by Miss Hamilton, who occupied the chair. She thanked all those who had contributed in making the program a success, and spoke of the excellent address given by Mrs. Kingswood, and she agreed with the speaker in that every girl's life depended wholly on herself.

Pageant numbers were then given by the members, including dances by the babies and junior classes, and a perfect exhibition of club swinging was given by the senior girls. Music was supplied for this part of the programme by Miss Gladman.

Orteig Offers $5,000 To Finders Of Airmen

WASHINGTON, May 14. — Raymond Orteig, of New York, donor of a $25,000 prize for a Paris-New York flight has offered $5,000 reward to any aviator discovering the lost French flyers, Nungesser and Coli, or any trace of their missing plane.

W. P. McCracken, jun., assistant secretary of commerce announced that George V. Burleigh, attorney for Orteig, had advised the commerce department that the $5,000 reward had been placed in a New York bank.

Should any dispute arise over award of the money, a settlement will be made by the contest committee of the National Aeronautic Association.

HIGHWAY WORK DONE RAPIDLY

INSTALLING DRAINS.

The work of resurfacing the Provincial Highway from Peterborough to Kendry Station is being pushed ahead very rapidly by the Dufferin Construction Company, who received the contract. A new asphalt stone top about four inches in depth is being laid. The plant for heating the asphalt is set up at Kendry and large trucks draw the mixture from there. It is put on hot and rolled down by two steam rollers. In places where the road broke up this spring, a tiled drain is being laid.

The company was unable to start at Charlotte Street as the city wanted to lay a sewer up to Albertus Street so they commenced at the end of Sherbrooke. It is the same company that built the road between Fraserville and Bailieboro last year. All traffic is let through, as last year, but the motorists must drive carefully.

FOWL SCARCE; EGGS PLENTIFUL

POTATO PRICE VARIES.

Fowl were scarce on the farmers' market this morning, the available supply selling for 35 cents a pound. Butter and eggs were plentiful, the former quoted at 43 to 45 cents a pound, and the latter at 28 to 30 cents a dozen.

In the basket section and on the open market, slips and plants formed a large portion of the produce on view. Slips of garden heliotrope were 3 for 10 cents, golden candlestick, 10 cents, geranium, 5 cents, sweet william, Canterbury bells, gaillardia and pyretheum were 3 for 25 cents, perennial phlox and baby breath and Columbine were 15 cents a slip. Dahlia bulbs in large sizes were 25 cents each and smaller samples sold for 4 for 25 cents. Gladioli bulbs were 25 and 50 cents a dozen. In boxes, at 20 cents apiece, were phlox, asters, zinnias, cauliflower, tomatoes and cabbage. Raspberry canes were priced at 25 and 50 cents a dozen, strawberry plants, 60 for $1.00. Bunches of marsh marigolds, red lilies, trilliums and hepaticas sold for a nickel and a dime apiece.

Potatoes ranged in price from $1.50 a bag to $2.50, the latter price asked for New Brunswick Cobblers. Seed potatoes were $1.50 a bag.

DIFFERENT OFFICIALS ADMIT THAT RELATIONS WITH SOVIET NEARING RUPTURE OVER RAID

More Strained Than Any Time Since Trade Agreement of 1921.

CONTINUE SEARCH.

Some Newspapers Publish Report Rifles Were Found in Building.

LONDON, May 14 (A. P.)—Rupture of Anglo-Soviet relations was admitted by both British and Russian officials here last night as being nearer than at any other time since they were resumed on the basis of the trade agreement of 1921.

The present tension in relations between Great Britain and the Soviet government has arisen from the raid Thursday by Scotland Yard detectives and uniformed police on the offices of Arcos, Ltd., Soviet commercial agency in London. A protest against the raid was lodged yesterday morning with Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, by A. P. Rosengoiz, Soviet charge d'affaires.

Raiders from Scotland Yard were still in possession of Arcos house last night and were continuing their search of the safes, vaults and voluminous records of Arcos, Ltd. An atmosphere of secrecy regarding the raid and its results continues to be preserved in government quarters. Some newspapers of anti-Soviet inclination make a sensation of the announcement that some rifles were found in the Arcos building.

Sir William Johnson-Hicks, home secretary, made the following statement about the raid when Arthur Henderson, Laborite, asked for information regarding it in the House of Commons yesterday.

Issued Warrant.

"Information was placed before me on Wednesday evening by the police upon which I authorized them to apply for a warrant to search the premises of the Arcos. The warrant was granted, and entry was made Thursday. The search is now progressing. I am not able and shall not be able for a day or so to give any further information."

Later, he promised to give parliament a full statement Monday.

The raid has largely displaced the Trades Union bill as a subject of contention in parliament. The opinion expressed in the lobbies is that it is bound to have political repercussions. The appearance of the home secretary in the House of Commons yesterday brought ironical cheers from the Laborites, who assert that at one full swoop diplomatic privileges and the rights of private property have been destroyed. But the bulk of parliamentary opinion seems to support the secretary's approval of the request of the police for a search warrant.

Charges Violation.

The strongly worded protest of M. Rosengolz to Sir Austin Chamberlain charging flagrant violation of the Anglo-Soviet trade agreement, assaulting of Soviet employes by the police and searching of women by the Scotland Yard men, brought little more information from the foreign office than the home secretary gave out in Commons. It was merely stated that the raid was not an administrative measure, that is, the cabinet had nothing to do with its inception, but that the police evidently had sufficient evidence to ask for a search warrant in the ordinary course of their duties. With regard to M. Rosengolz' charges that women were searched and employees assaulted it was stated that the foreign office lacks details of the raid but is convinced that it was carried out in the best tradition of the British police.

Kept in Secrecy.

Government officials insist that they do not know whether the police are trying to locate some source of the subversive propaganda which is said to be constantly spread over the country or whether they are attempting to break up a nest of foreign spies. Regardless of the outcome of the search, serious consequences are seen as possible. If evidence is found, Great Britain may be forced to take some such action as the severance of relations, while if the search is fruitless the Soviet government may take action.

Provocative Action.

The Associated Press was informed in Soviet official quarters here yesterday that the Soviet belief is that the raid is largely a provocative action on the part of the British government, which recently has been "more and more swayed by the die-hards, who have been fostering a campaign for breaking off relations with Russia." Whether the Moscow government will dismiss the incident by continuing relations with Britain remains to be seen.

The Soviet officials maintain that there is nothing to be found in Arcos House but trade statistics and a mass of commercial correspondence. It is remarked in some British official quarters that the Soviet representatives are preparing the alibi of "forged documents" for use in case of any damaging discoveries. M. Rosengolz' protest yesterday pointed out that the raid was conducted for the most part without any Soviet officials being present.

The foreign office denies M. Rosengolz' contention that the Soviet trade agent enjoyed diplomatic immunity and privileges. It is stated that the trade agent has personal immunity, protecting him from arrest or personal search, but this immunity does not extend to his offices or property.

Queen of Sheba's Mines Found In Land Of Ophir

LONDON May 14.—The Queen of Sheba's gold and jewel mines have been discovered and they still contain untold wealth of precious metals and rare gems Commander C. Craitford said in a lecture at the Royal United Service Institution, last night.

The mines are in the long-lost Land of Ophir, which Craitford said he had discovered after a 20-year search 400 miles east of Aden in Arabia. He found the mines by retracing the steps of King Hiram when he set out to find the sources of the wealth of the great Queen.

It was from the Ophir mines that the Queen gathered the 33 tons of gold and jewels she presented to King Solomon.

Bishops Asked To See Opening Of Famous Box Finally To Clear Up Johanna Southcott Mystery

LONDON, May 14 (Canadian Press).—Difference of opinion as to the authenticity of the Johanna Southcott box, contents of which were probed by X-rays last Thursday, has developed in England, the supporters of the Johanna Southcott movement denying that it is the right box.

The box, which has come into the possession of the National Laboratory of Psychical Research, was subjected to X-rays last Thursday, and the outlines of a skull, scissors, horse pistol, bed bag, rings, coins, pins and a roll of manuscript were revealed.

WILL BE OPENED

On the theory that the manuscript, if it is one, may throw light on the announcement of the prophetess, who lived more than a century ago, that she was to be "the mother of a new Messiah," the box will be opened soon.

Since Johanna Southcott, on her death bed made the request that the box should not be opened except in the presence of twenty-four bishops, the National laboratory has invited three archbishops and eighty bishops to be present at a meeting in the near future when the box will be pried open.

PERMITS MAY BE ISSUED ON TUESDAY NEXT

To Be Approved By Cabinet Council at Monday's Meeting.

COVER MANY POINTS.

TORONTO, May 14.—Queen's Park yesterday more or less confirmed rumors that the liquor commission would begin issuing liquor permits about Tuesday.

Following a conference with Mr. Hanna, Attorney-General Price said: "I think the commission is farther ahead with their plans than most people think."

Issuing of permits is held up only by delays in preparation of the commission regulations. These cover many points not included in the liquor control act. "We expect them early next week," said Mr. Price. They will be approved by the cabinet council late on Monday and issue of permits will follow immediately.

OTHERS CLAIM HEARD PLANE

Two Men From Harbor Breton Say They Heard Aeroplane Motor.

MONDAY MORNING.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., May 14 (Canadian Press) — Messages received from New York yesterday afternoon seeking confirmation of a report that the missing French aviators, Nungesser and Coli, had been picked off the Newfoundland coast, resulted in the broadcasting of a general inquiry, but in each case the reply was "nothing new," with the exception of Harbor Breton, where two men asserted before a magistrate that they had heard the motor of an aeroplane Monday morning.

This report from Harbor Breton coincides with the evidence of five persons at Harbor Grace, who testified that they had heard a plane passing Monday morning and would indicate that a likely area to search for the lost fliers would be the lands and waters lying north and west of a line drawn from Harbor Grave to St. Pierre. It is understood here that such a line would be in accordance with the course the aviators intended following when they set out from Le Bourget last Sunday morning.

The whole of the hinterland of the southwest coast is a vast waste of practically unsettled country from which two strangers would have great difficulty in reaching civilization.

Has Little Fanth

WINNIPEG, Man., May 14 (Canadian Press)—Little credence is placed by Captain Roald Amundsen, noted Norwegian explorer, in reports that the "White Bird" carrying the missing French aviators Nungesser and Coli, was ever heard passing over Newfoundland.

"There is no end to what men may see or hear under such conditions. I am afraid we can have but little faith in such rumors," Captain Amundsen expressed fear that the intrepid airmen had been lost.

The famous Arctic explorer who arrived here yesterday for a lecture engagement, declared he was definitely through with exploration work, adding that such missions were essentially for younger men. The days of fighting a way through ice floes by small schooners, or trekking barren wastes by dog team, he said, were passed. Exploration work of the future must be done by aeroplanes.

Pembroke Mills May Profit Through Floods

day the Edwards Lumber and PEMBROKE, May 14.—Yester- Pulp Company mill commenced operations, and the Pembroke Lumber Company will start next week. The cut in Pembroke this year is estimated to be between 30,000,000 and 35,000,000 feet, and in these two mills there will be approximately 500 men absorbed. Owing to the recent floods in the Mississippi district, it is thought that the local market will be greatly improved, as they were the most important competitors.

An Ex-Buck Private Goes Back to France

"The Years Pass, Thy Memory Remains," is French Girl's Tribute.

Dear Mac:

I stood at a corner of the Rue Guemappe, where in 1918 was just a shell of a stone house—a billet without a roof. Two children were quarrelling out in front of it today over possession of a doll. The shell is gone; instead there is a painfully-new red brick house. Are all traces of the war gone? No! There's something familiar about that old man hiking along at the side of the road—sure enough, he's wearing one of those sleeveless leather vests they issued us in the earlier days.

There are more signboards at this corner—Tilloy, Ronville (do you remember the dump?) Achicourt, Agny, Neuville Vitasse. The vestiges of the war will perhaps be gone when we come back again, but the names will remain.

And the local corner spiceries will remain, too. Out in front are boxes with those inevitable, ever-present, dried herring. War or no war, since time began, there have been dried herring at the corner groceries in France, lying stiffly in their boxes, their sunken eyes staring up to meet the appraisive gazes of the peasants. "Poisson sec, made, silver plate. Combien? Une franc, cinquante centimes, et dix sous. Pas compree. Madame, Jenny sais pas!" After ten years that store of army French is as jumbled as the herring in their boxes.

Although, within the city, there are now few gaps in the streets, the condition of the suburbs is very different. In St. Catherine, St. Christopher, St. Laurent, and on the Blangy road we find many of the old ruins almost untouched. New houses alternate with lopsided "Land for Sale" notices which raise their dirty faces above small heaps of old bricks, surrounded by rank grass, and enclosed by old barbed wire. But, even in the suburbs, the work of what has been accomplished is little short of wonderful, considering the continuous demand for builders and building material throughout the whole of the devastated regions.

We conclude our tour of the city with a sense of relief at finding that its character has not been destroyed, and that it is still the old Arras, despite the jazz band in the Grande Place and the shingling shop in the Rue Gambetta.

A journey out of the old line about Roclincourt soon makes it clear that anyone who inspects the battlefields with a narrow, local interest is certain to be disappointed. One must not pay too much heed to the sentimental craving to see again one's old dugout or battery position. A parochial, or even a regimental mind, will return dissatisfied from any part of the front.

Most of the familiar features of the battlefields have disappeared; one must read the story in just what remains, regardless of personal associations. Road crossings that were once almost as busy as George and Charlotte on Saturday night, centres that boasted a military policeman to control traffic, are now just little country crossings whose peace is broken only once or twice in an hour by a rumbling farm wagon or a flying motor car.

It is thus up the road to Lens. Where the roads to Ecurie and to Roclincourt join the main road was once a regular hive of life. There were traffic jams, and dumps, a divisional cinema, a canteen, and huts and shanties of various shapes and sizes. Close by was the camp of a balloon section, where the intrepid airman Captain Ball, V.C., came sometimes for a meal. How many times did those patient balloons come fluttering down like burning newspapers, while anti-craft guns yapped at a retreating Taube!

All you hear now are your own footsteps, and the ring of hammer on anvil at the smithy next door to the "Estaminet of the Last Sou", which is the only building on the cross-roads. We read the slogan on the estaminet: "Today—money; tomorrow—none", and we decide to take the hint and buy ourselves a glass of weak beer for a penny, to console ourselves for the discovery that, as an old colonel put it, "The vandal hand of peace is spoiling the battlefields."

Not far from the estaminet is a handsome new villa, the residnece and office of an insurance agent who has mingled bright tiles with bricks in an effort to make an attractive facade. "Insurance: Life, Fire, Accident" runs his sign, and outside his garden gate lies a choice collection of unexploded shells and bombs calculated to bring about all the disaster against which he is prepared to afford insurance.

But this crossing is no stranger to grim humor. It was here, in 1917, that an anti-aircraft gunner fired a shell at a hostile airplane, and turned round and loaded his gun again, oblivious of the fact that his first shot had scored a direct hit, and that the plane was descending in flames. And you'll admit, Mac, the event was uncommon enough to cause surprise!

Roclincourt, whose new red brick seems aggressive in the early spring sunshine, lies in the hollow, a village completely rebuilt. To reach the military cemetery one must now traverse a long, narrow lane. Ten years ago, we walked straight to it from any point of the compass, for not a single house obstructed the approach.

Long rows of crosses tell of the price Canadians paid for Ar ras in attack and defence

Roclincourt is Rich in Memories For Canadian Forces.

Standing in the cemetery, where are graves representative of every regiment in the the British Army, and most of the overseas contingents, we are impressed by the manner in which three haycocks, close to the cemetery fence, make a background to the Cross of Sacrifice; for here are symbols of two harvests.

It is principally to the cemeteries and the memorials that one goes to read the story of the battle, for elsewhere are few signs, little to tell what heroism, what slaughter and what activity as here ten years ago, when the ridges were seared with trenches, and the valleys swarmed with men. We can follow our own little path, of course, but we cannot picture the trail our net-door company or battalion took. And sometimes we are not sure even, of our own movements in those stirring days.

"The years pass . . ."

The uniformity of the headstones, row on row, is broken only by a little white tile, placed at the head of one grave. It is a trivial thing, such as you may see in any civilian cemetery in France:

"Les annes passent, ton souvenir reste."

"The years pass, thy memory remains" runs the inscription, and one wonders what shattered romance is hinted by this simple tribute. Perhaps, in one of those friendly villages behind Arars, the young gunner who lies in this grave once stirred the heart of a young French peasant maid. In the sunnier months she brings flowers up the white road that leads from Arras, and when flowers are no more, she bears this touching message to lay on the earth covers the blanket-wrapped Canadian boy whom she loved.

But it is no affair of ours. Every one of these graves, without doubt, holds its sweet, pathetic story, for these are the tombs of the young, who loved greatly, and were greatly loved.

We do well to linger here awhile.

Paul Adams.

CHIEFS ASSIST IN FIXING POLES

Indians Invite Government To Preserve Their Ancient Monuments.

TERRACE, B.C., May 14. (Special.)—Cooperation on the part of the Indian chiefs of the Skeena Valley, in the Dominion Government's attempt to preserve the ancient totem poles, was assured when the Tsimpsnian chiefs of Kitselas canyon on the Skeena, formally invited the Totem Pole Preservation Committee to visit Kitselas canyon and preserve all of their ancient monuments, which consist of at least four totem poles on the south side of the canyon and four totem poles, and a large totem stone on the side between the Canadian National Railways line and the river. All of these may be seen from passing trains.

Chief Walter Wright of the Bear-crest, has one pole standing, and one fallen on the south side, and one standing on the north side.

Chief George Kitselas, who is perhaps the last of his line, has also joined in the invitation to have the monuments of his forbears preserved.

Chief Mark McKay, or Eagle Brotherhood, has the stone totem on the north side of the river, and two totem poles which have fallen, on the north side. His Tsimpshian name is "Kneesisgeedicks."

Each of these chiefs has signed full permission for the work of preservation to be carried forward.

They are all exceptionally well informed and intelligent men.

PENNY TO $3,250.

NEW YORK, May 14.—One of the first edition copies of Fitzgerald's "Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam," which sold for a penny apiece after their publication in London in 1859, brought $3,250 at a recent auction. The smallest copy of the book ever printed, five-sixteenths of an inch square, brought $225.

Call Inter-Provincial Conference At Ottawa

EDMONTON, Alta., May 14.—(Canadian Press).—The first step in the direction of an inter-provincial conference at Ottawa which has been somewhat widely discussed for the past year or two is foreshadowed in a letter to Premier J. E. Brownlee from Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Secretary of State, who says that it is the intention of the Federal Government to call such a conference in the fall.

The Premier of each province and one of his Ministers will be asked to attend this conference, and in the meantime suggestions are invited as to both the date and the agenda. Mr. Brownlee states that his Government will give the fullest co-operation possible in bringing the proposed meeting about, and Alberta's chief interests for such an event will be outlined forthwith as asked for.

PRINCE NOT HERE FOR CELEBRATION

Will Arrive With Premier Baldwin Some Time About August 1st.

OTTAWA, May 14.—Advices which have been received by the government are to the effect that while both the Prince of Wales and Premier Baldwin are coming to Canada this summer, neither of them will be here for July 1, the period of the real celebration of the Confederation Jubilee. They are both expected about August 1. The Prince's plans are more definite than those of the British Prime Minister, who is engrossed in parliamentary work.

As understood here, Mr. Baldwin is unlikely to go west of Toronto. His visit will be brief. His royal highness plans to go as far as his ranch in High River, Alta.

NOISY SESSION ABRUPTLY ENDS

Conservatives Put Halt To Labor Debate in British House.

AMENDMENTS DEFEATED.

LONDON, May 14 (United Press)—The house of commons adjuorned at 3.40 a.m. yesterday after a rawdy 13-hour session on the Trades Union bill, in which the Laborites won a single concession, after several of their amendments were defeated under closure.

Sir Douglas Hogg, attorney-general, in charge of the bill for the government, announced the bill would be altered to make only ringleaders of illegal strikes punishable, instead of providing jail sentences for all participants.

The bill prohibits general strikes and restricts the labor unions in various ways.

"We do not believe in general strikes, but we do believe in a general election," Jack Jones, Laborite, told the house.

Only the first seven words of the bill were passed by the house of commons.

The debate will be resumed on Monday.

GOLFERS COMBINE GAME WITH BRIDGE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 14.—Hard on the heels of contract bridge, which players found more exciting than the ordinary game, comes contract golf, the invention of several Kansas City fans. Here skill is scarcely less important than good judgment, for the player must contract to make a hole in a certain number, and if he takes more than that number of strokes he is penalized two more than he actually took. If he makes it in less the contract goes down on the score card. This necessity of "calling your shots" really works toward the improvement of a player's game, enthusiasts say.

Protection Is Asked By British Farmers

LONDON, May 14. — A strong demand for protection for agriculture by bringing it within the Safeguarding of Industries Act is being made by county Conservatives, and this demand is already disturbing the Liberals, who fear it will mean another departure from free trade.

Many Tories are linking this campaign with the drive for more imperial preference. Farmers declare they are all nearly ruined and that they cannot compete with foreign wheat and dairy produce without protection.

DYKES GIVE WAY ON THE ASSINIBOINE

Several Towns in Direction of White Plains Are Endangered.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 14 (Canadian Press).—Dykes hastily thrown up around flood-menaced settlements flanking the banks of the swollen Assiniboine River in Southern Manitoba, were giving way at a number of points before the onrush of the current. The safety of several small towns in the direction of White Plains was endangered as water yesterday began to seep through breaks in the barrier and coursed over the adjoining lowlands.

More than four hundred acres are already under water at Iberville. Work is now being rushed on a second line of defence, a mile from the river bank, near Baie St. Paul and Marquette, where the river is reported to be rising steadily.

The impassable condition of country roads has proved a great handicap to farmers in moving live stock to shipping points. This was reflected in the light receipts at the Winnipeg stock yards yesterday, which handled the smallest receipts in many months.

VIOLET GIBSON LEAVES ITALY

Escorted Home To England By Her Sister and Friends.

IS TOTALLY INSANE.

ROME, May 14 (Canadian Press Service) — The Hon. Violet Albina Gibson, who attempted to assassinate Premier Mussolini in April, 1926, and subsequently was adjudged completely insane by a special tribunal, left yesterday for Great Britain accompanied by her sister and friends.

Miss Gibson, who is a sister of Lord Ashborne, and a British subject, shot the Italian premier on April 7, 1926, as he was emerging from the capitol in Rome after opening the international congress of surgeons. The premier escaped with a slight wounld near the tip of the nose.

Medical experts examined Miss Gibson and said she suffered from chronic hallucinatory phenomena and was completely irresponsible for her act. She was sent to an asylum and the case of the state against her was ultimately dismissed.

BIRTH CONTROL GAINS SUPPORT

Labor Women Back Movement of Liberals in Great Britain.

HOLD CONVENTION.

LONDON, May 14 (Canadian Press).—The Labor women of Britain have joined with their Liberal sisters in favor of removal of the prohibition of birth control information. After a stormy debate, the national convention of Labor women, at Huddersfield, has carried a resolution calling for the lifting of the ban by the Ministry of Health against birth control information being given at public clinics. The resolution was carried by 581 votes to 74 against.

After several speakers had advanced arguments favoring the resolution, Miss Quinn, a stout opponent of birth control, raised an angry scene. She declared the measure was a complete capitulation to capitalism, the philosophy of cowardice and the policy of despair.

Dr. Marion Phillips, who was in the chair, quelled the opposition by shouting: "This scene is a disgrace to you. It is merely a display of violence. You can surely exercise some self control.'

NEWS BRIEFS.

APPROVES ALLIANCE.

LONDON, May 14. — (Canadian Press Cable.) — His Majesty King George has approved the alliance of the Prince Albert Volunteers, of the hon-permanent active militia of Canada, to the Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire Regiment.

CUT IN COAL PRICES.

LONDON, May 14. — (Canadian Press.)—British commercial men and housewives had a pleasant surprise yesterday when two leading coal retailers announced a substantial cut in prices, making them the lowest since 1918.

It is not known at present whether the collieries will follow suit and help overcome the slack trade which is the reason given for the retailers' reductions.

STEAMER AFIRE.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 14.—(A.P.)—A wireless message from Captain Peter M. Cartwright of the steamer Col. James Pickands last night said that the schooner J. H. Stevens was afire in Lake Huron, 14 miles from Presque Isle. The ship, carrying lumber, was bound for Detroit. Two fishing tugs were removing the crew, the message said.

FALSE REPORTS

LONDON, May 14 (Canadian Press).—An Exchange Telegraph despatch from Hong Kong says it was reported yesterday that troops of Sun Chuan Fang, Northern commander, had landed on Tsungming Island in the mouth of the Yangtse and would attack Shanghai, but that an aerial reconnaissance failed to discover any troops, transports or warships.

SITUATION SERIOUS.

As the Northern Leader Moves Down River Towards Hankow.

SHANGHAI, May 14 (Canadian Press).—Wireless despatches from Hankow say the situation there has become worse since the news leaked out that the northern general, Yeng Sen, had captured Ichang and was moving down the river toward Hankow.

Thousands of middle-class Chinese unable to leave the city are reported to have taken refuge in the Japanese concession, anticipating grave trouble in Hankow.

The Nationalists are said to have seized all the flour in the native city for their troops on the Honan front. The price of flour consequently has risen 25 per cent. Rice is becoming scarcer daily.

OLD MASTERS

Fear death?—to feel the fog in my throat.
The mist in my face
When the snows begin and the blasts denote
I am nearing the place
The power of the night the press of the storm
The post of the foe;
Where he stands the Arch Fear in a visible form
Yet the strong man must go:
For the journey is done and the summit attained
And the barriers fall
Though a battle's to fight ere the guerdon be gained
The reward of it all.
I was ever a fighter so—one fight more
The best and the last!
I would hate that death bandaged my eyes and forbore
And bade me creep past.
No! let me taste the whole of it fare like my peers
The heroes of old
Bear the brunt in a minute pay glad life's arrears
Of pain darkness and cold.
For sudden the worst turns the best to the brave
The black minute's at end
And the element's rage the fiendvoices that rave
Shall dwindle shall blend
Shall change shall become first a peace out of pain
Then a light then thy breast
O thou soul of my soul! I shall clasp thee again
And with God be the rest!
—Robert Browning: "Prospice."

BRINGING UP FATHER

By Geo. McManus

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

IT has just been brought to my attention by the son of a famous Jewish rabbi that a certain Methodist minister seems greatly perturbed in his mind that there are some who believe in "a visible and local advent of the Lord." This minister takes comfort from the belief that "a few days will pass . . . . and that spasm will be over." Some modern preachers unable to account for the working of the spirit of God in others, resort to the convenient word "spasm." Conviction of sin, and conversion to God are said to be "mental spasms," and now we have another "spasm," namely, what many devout students of the word of God believe to be, the sure and certain hope of a visible return of our Lord Jesus Christ. If it is a "spasm," it is of a unique kind. History fails to supply another like it so far as duration is concerned, for it dates back to before the day of Pentecost.

HOW STRANGE!

It seems strange indeed how inconsistent some educated people can be. Here is a minister ordained to preach "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth," telling his hearers and readers, "The first thing we affirm is that there is a message, that God has spoken, and that we can understand," and then setting out to describe the faith of multitudes of the best people within the Christian church, as a "spasm" that will soon be over. I wonder how much time and brains he has given to the study of the word of God who thinks that that event which is spoken of in the Scriptures as "that blessed hope and glorious appearing" of the Son of God is only a "spasm" which will soon be over?

CERIST IS COMING.

At the beginning of a book which I have not had time to read yet a story is told of a little band of Red Indian converts in Northwest Canada coming to a missionary with a strange request. "We are always hearing what God has done," said they. "Now we want to know what He is going to do." I have known men in the Christian ministry, who had the clearest possible conception of what God has done in the person of Jesus Christ on the cross, whose minds were all in a haze regarding anything further God is going to do. If, like the Indians, they would say, "Now we want to know what He is going to do," and get down to the business of really trying to find out, many of them would get the surprise of their lives.

Is it possible to find an answer to that wise inquiry? Yes! It is to be found in our creeds and in our Bibles. The one event toward which we are hastening and which, whether they know it or not, is shaping the destinies of all mankind, is the return to this earth of our Lord Jesus Christ.

WHERE IS THE PROOF?

On one memorable occasion Jesus said to His disciples, "I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself; that where I am there ye may be also."

The fact that they did not understand the significance of His words does not in the slightest alter the truth of His statement. We know that the day came when He went from them, and just as surely will the day come when He will return. As e ascended to heaven His disciples stood watching and wondering. "And while they looked steadfastly toward heaven as He went up, behold, two men stood by them in white apparel; which also said, "Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? This same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen Him go into heaven."

Was the going literal? Then the coming will also be literal! Not a spiritual manifestation — whatever that may mean—but an actual appearing, without any change of identity, of the Saviour who left their side and ascended into heaven.

If this does not stand, nothing stands. I have no other assurance of my personal salvation than the word of God. And if that word does not mean what it says in one place, how can I be sure that it means what it says in other places?

EARLY PREACHING.

The preaching of the early church was Biblical in essence and expression. And the Bible is full of the doctrine of the Second Advent of our Lord. It has been stated by those whose words are worth weighing well before they are rejected that one verse in every seventeen of the whole Bible deals with things connected with Christ's coming again. Twenty-three books out of the twenty-seven that constitute the New Testament speak of this event. Why, then, are people so ignorant about it? is a question that might well be asked. It is not because they do not wish to know. For there is no theme which draws such big and eager congregations as that of our Lord's coming again. It has been said that there is no surer way of bringing about a revival than to begin to speak about the return of Jesus. Those who have tried it know well that there is no better way to secure a blessing to one's own soul than to study and to talk to others about this all-important subject.

WHAT MEN ARE ASKING.

In a different tone from that of yore men are beginning to ask, "Where is the promise of His coming?" And it is startling to think that when 250 bishops meet at Lambeth and "discuss and propose and purpose" there is not a single word in all the wonderful report they issue about the greatest of all future events, the coming to earth again of the Son of God. No other event can bring "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace to men of good-will." The truths concerning the coming of Christ are not given to perlex us, but to profit us—not to mystify us, but to inspire us. If the church were sincere it would either give up praying "Thy kingdom come" or else seek to know what the Scriptures say about the coming King without whose advent and actual presence the kingdom cannot come.

—Allan Fairbairn.

Pleasure And Profit

IN the present order of things the darkness has its part to play as well as the brightness, although the one may be more to our liking than the other. The sweet may be more palatable than the bitter, but that does not necessarily make it any more valuable in the scheme of things. In doing the things that are difficult and disagreeable we may be developing a character that could not be developed in any other way. God is not indifferent to conduct, but His great ambition for all of us is to produce within us a character like unto that of His Son.

When Day Is Done.

I AM thinking.

IT IS almost midnight.

NO ONE can guess all that I have seen this day.

ONLY A preacher can understand the glorious toil.

I HAVE been to the hospital, pale faces, sorrow, anxiety.

I HAVE visited four factories and shops.

I COLLECTED money for the Advocate and accepted a pledge for next year.

WHEN DEATH came to a little child, I was there.

THEN I went straight to a woman in sorrow, ten blocks away.

I HURRIED from there to a committee meeting.

I LEFT early to attend a party.

AT ELEVEN I heard a heart-breaking confession.

I INTENDED to answer a letter and decide on the subject of the morning sermon—but the phone rang seven times.

I WENT down to see how the ladies were coming with their supper for there is lots of business around our church these days.

A YOUNG man talked to me about his soul.

THE POSTMAN brought more mail. O, time to think.

A CANVASSER must explain to me his cards on the every-member canvass.

I TRIED to get fresh thoughts from God today, so I can preach.

REPORT BLANKS have to be gotten out for the Quarterly Conference.

I CHECKED up on the benevolence for this year and my heart sank.

I HEARD tales today about one of our members which I would not believe.

I READ poetry fifteen minutes.

I WENT to the police station to help a man in trouble.

IT IS twelve o'clock.

IT WAS twelve-thirty last night.

I PRESUME all my members are in bed, including one I heard say,

"The preacher has an easy job."

I AM going to say my prayers.

AND THEN I will go to bed.

BUT CAN I sleep, when there are so many things upon my mind and so much to do?

BUT I know God will give me strength for tomorrow and perhaps a quiet hour when I can decide about that Sunday sermon.

—Rev. Alfred H. Backus.

A Left-Handed Compliment

A certain preacher tells of an experience he had when he was preaching as a pinch-hitter. It really wasn't such a pinch for him, for he had had a week's notice, but for some reason or other the scheduled speaker didn't notify the church of the substitution until the last minute.

At the close of the service a kindly old lady made her way to the front to shake hands with him.

"I was pleased," she said. "You did very well, very well indeed, when we consider the short notice you had."

CHURCHES AND CHURCHMEN

By I. SEEWELL

A Jew Promoted.

THE Rev. David Baron, founder and Director of the Hebrew Christian Testimony to Israel, has been promoted to glory at the age of 71, after forty-five years of active witnessing for Christ. His home-going is a distinct loss to the Jewish mission field.

On the last day of April, 1877, this eminent Jew (still an opposer to Christianity) was first introduced to the late John Wilkinson in Hull, who quoted to him Isaiah 53 in Hebrew and in English, and later invited him to meet Mr. Adler and himself in a hotel for conversation. The invitation was accepted. Words then spoken to a group of Jews sank into his heart. His own words are: "After remaining about an hour and a half, I went home with the word 'condemned' ringing in my ears."

Sleepless nights and anxious restless days followed. He went to Manchester, felt a longing to have a New Testament, and received one in Hebrew. Still under conviction, he was directed back to John Wilkinson. Daily interviews with Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Adler followed. Writing of those days later, he says:

"Before a month had elapsed I was enabled to accept Jesus as my all-sufficient Saviour and to rest in Him for complete salvation. Since that time the name of Jesus has been more precious to me than anything else in the world."

A reproachful letter from his father, addressed "To my lost son, David," greatly upset him. He was tempted to yield, but the words, "What are you doing?" came to him. He tore up his reply and fell on his knees, weeping bitterly, and later the words, "He that overcometh shall inherit all things, and I will be his God, and he shall be My son," were borne in upon his soul. This crisis past, he never looked back.

Arabs and Jews.

WE are informed by competent authority that a new situation is developing in Palestine, and that the antagonism of the Arab population toward the Jews is diminishing. This is quite contrary to the violently expressed views of some writers who are hostile to the Zionist movement. The Zionist policy has been a distinct boon to the "fellaheen" who form the vast majority of the population of Palestine. We are told that:

"For some little time Arab opposition to Zionism has been on the decline, and the Arab Executive has been losing power. Its followers have begun to realize that the disasters which they anticipated have not occurred. They no longer live in fear of hundreds of thousands of Jews descending upon the shores of Palestine and occupying their lands. Their mosques have not been turned into synagogues. They have reaped the benefit of the British administration, and many thinking Arabs are grasping the fact that there will be no alteration of policy due to any outside influence."

No More Death.

AN American doctor of philosophy has announced that "man may some day overcome death. . . . Death is a scheme of Nature for making room for the young." In commenting upon this statement, which is not any the less foolish because a philosopher is the author of it, a contemporary says: "What is there more foolish in the whole wide world than a sinful man without God? Death is the penalty of sin."

A fact is not any the less a fact because men refuse to face it. And it is a fact whether men like it or not that, "By one man sin entered this world, and death by sin; so death passed upon all men, for all have sinned." "The wages of sin is death," and there will be no cause for any of us to "strike" because we are going to be underpaid. Indeed there are many who stand a good chance of being paid with interest! !

Dark Days in China.

MEN of the world, and especially those in positions of authority, are by no means optimistic with reference to national and international affairs. The Home Secretary, Sir William Joynson Hicks, was approached with reference to the advisability of disbanding the specials enrolled last May for the time of emergency. His reply was:

"Don't think for a moment that all emergency is over. The strike by which it was sought to paralyze the whole position of the country in May failed, but the attempt having been made once, I am convinced that it will be tried again, and possibly again."

Sir Ian Hamilton in a recent address alluded to China's present Bolshevist tendencies in serious tone. In 1912, when he sailed down the Yangtze River, Hankow was as safe as a church, and Shanghai quieter than London, whereas now forces were at work that led to bloodshed, and "bloodshed, once it began was contagious." Men's hearts are beginning to fail them for fear of the things that are coming on the earth.

Unheeded Warnings.

YET in spite of all the warnings that are crowding around us, multitudes sail along life's seas without one serious thought. The moving mountain that swept a whole village away to destruction in the south of France recently is an object lesson of the folly of indifference to danger. The Paris correspondent of a London daily writes:

"One of the most tragic features is that two days ago a crevasse appeared in the hillside between Roquebilliere and Belvedere, a village situated about 240 yards above it, but the villagers refused to believe that there was any danger. The evening before the disaster the Mayor of Belevedere telephoned to his colleagues at Roquebilliere that the fissure was widening and the mountain-side beginning to move in his direction, but the Village Council pooh-poohed the idea and went tranquilly to bed. Early next morning with a rumble like that of thunder destruction was upon them."

THE OPEN DOOR

When we come to the end of our pilgrimage,
And waiting, we stand at the door;
When the Father bids us lay down the load
We have carried—forever more—

We shall come sustained by a steadfas faith
Where fear has no power nor place,
If daily we live in His presence here
Walking humbly before His face.

And what men call death we shall find to be
A gladsome home-coming at night:
In our ears the sound of a welcoming voice,
A door op'ning up to the Light.

A Pen Picture

A young man is standing near a place of worship; he seems deeply moved because of the neglect that is so apparent in everything about the building.

The doors are actually closed up—it has not been entered for years. He causes them to be opened, and some of them fall to pieces in so doing!

Then he calls together a number of men in one of the streets and speaks to them solemnly of the shocking neglect of all religion that has prevailed in the town.

They are roused to action by his words, and going to see for themselves, I observe that they are perfectly shocked, as indeed they may well be, at the impurity and filth which they find in the place.

This is the 15th in this series of pen pictures of Bible history. The key to last week's picture is Luke 17:11.

Children's Corner — TELL US A STORY

"My land!" he said, "look there: a mule's escaped from jail!"

The zebra, grazing slowly, spied a tall giraffe;
"A rubberneck!" he cried. "That makes me want to laugh!"

The old giraffe a camel saw in a field of rye,
Made fun of his old hump and laughed as though he'd die!

The camel saw an elephant, and I heard him say:
"I'd hate to have a nose so long and wobbly that way!"

The elephant then met a porcupine.
"Alack!
I'd hate to wear such thorns," said he, "upon my back!"

And so each animal made fun of those he saw,
And never realized he, too, might have a flaw!

I know a lad who overlooks what people say,
"They may look queer," he says, "but I may, too, some way!"

He pays no heed as long as he just knows he's right;
He looks his best, forgets, and works with all his might.

BOYS' WEEK.

Boys' Week comes to a close tomorrow with special services in the city churches, and fathers are asked to accompany their sons to church.

This campaign in the interest of Peterborough's boyhood has been an outstanding success from every point of view.

The opening mass meeting, the circus, the hobby show, the father-and-son banquets, the parade, and all the other features of the week have been successfully carried out, and for this splendid result Tom Dutton, Chairman of the Boys' Week Committee, and his assistants deserve hearty congratulations.

The effort should prove to be of distinct value.

It has shown the boys of Peterborough that groups of successful business men are interested in their welfare; it has given them an insight into the industrial and municipal life of the community; it has provided them with an unusual opportunity to see for themselves the operations carried on in Peterborough's factories, and it has called general attention to the splendid asset the city possesses in the thousands of keen youngsters who live here.

WE'RE GLAD TO HAVE THEM.

In voting $500 to the local branch of the Canadian Legion to help entertain the delegates who will attend the Provincial convention of the Legion during the first three days of next month, the City Council will be supported by public opinion.

These five hundred men, representative of the returned soldiers of Ontario, are visitors whom Peterborough should delight in welcoming.

Such well-known soldiers as General Sir Richard Turner, V.C., and General Sir Percy Lake will be here for the convention, which will be the largest gathering of ex-service men this city has the honour of entertaining.

In assisting the local veterans to entertain their comrades the Council is paying a tribute not only to the Peterborough men who fought but to all Ontario's heroes of the Great War.

This city, which boasts of as high a recruiting record in proportion to population as any centre in the Dominion, is glad of the opportunity to act as host to 500 representative war veterans, and anxious to feel that the delegates to this important convention will enjoy every minute of their stay in Peterborough.

ELECTRIC BEACONS.

The National Committee in charge of the Diamond Jubilee celebration has very ingeniously solved the problem of linking up the various centres in Canada by means of a modern substitute for the old-time beacon fires.

The idea first mooted of a string of 10,000 bonfires across the country on the night of July 1st appeared to the imagination of many people as a spectacular and impressive jubilee feature.

But opposition soon arose.

Fire chiefs in particular looked upon the proposal very doubtfully, and the beacon fire plan had been dropped by the Peterborough Jubilee Committee and by many other organizations throughout Canada.

Now, however, the National Committee comes to the rescue with the suggestion that electric searchlights shall take the place of the fires, that each community where such a feature is possible should install searchlights upon a high tower and thus create across the Dominion a band of illumination, carrying with it the idea of Canadian unity and pride of country.

Doubtless Peterborough, the Electric City, will be able to carry out this plan very successful as one of the features of the mammoth local celebration of Dominion Day.

WHAT THE DOMINION DOES.

In previous articles The Examiner has been discussing what services are obtained by the taxpayer in return for his municipal and Provincial taxes.

To complete the investigation of this angle of taxation it is necessary to study the services the citizens pay for through the Dominion Government.

These are numerous, but the most important of them, as listed by the Citizens' Research Institute, are the following:

(1) The Dominion regulates trade and commerce.

(2) It has provided for inter-Provincial railway transportation, directly or indirectly, and regulates railway rates.

(3) It regulates telephone rates.

(4) It rounds out the system of administration of justice, and in the extra-Provincial districts directly administers all law.

(5) It controls external relations and keeps in touch with the British Government and the Governments of all other British Dominions.

(6) It protects against civil disorders and provides for national defence.

(7) It controls immigration and examines prospective residents.

(8) It provides for the safety of navigation, and increases facilities for navigation by constructing canals, harbours, etc.

(9) It promotes intercourse within the country and with foreign countries through the post-office.

(10) It maintains national parks and game sanctuaries.

(11) It supervises banking and issues or controls the issue of money.

(12) It maintains employment bureaus and collects labour information.

(13) It controls Indian affairs.

(14) It fosters agriculture, fisheries, mining, etc.

(15) It promotes invention and authorship through issuing patents and copyrights, and fosters manufacturing and commerce by the registration of trade marks, etc.

(16) It maintains various scientific services and fosters scientific research.

A NEWSPAPER AND ITS PUBLIC.

The following editorial clipped from an American exchange sets forth some striking truths which are just as applicable to Kingston as they are to New York.

We take the liberty of borrowing, for our present purposes, the following striking excerpt from a recent advertisement of the New York News, printed in Editor and Publisher:

"The unkiddable public! Barnum thought otherwise. He may have been right—one day a year. A circus can get away with murder because it move on. But a newspaper stays put—in one place, doing business with the same people day after day. It can't kid its customers often or long; or there aren't any customers after awhile—and it dies. Remember all the newspapers started by men who had axes to grind or fences to build? Flops, every one of them! Neither money nor ambition nor effort can make or save a paper that isn't right, isn't read, isn't wanted. Like having a liar in the family—the family soon finds out. The public soons finds out about a newspaper."

A newspaper, as a permanent institution, supported and sustained by a public which depends upon the newspaper for information, guidance and council, has unavoidable duties to that public. The sincere newspaper will not seek to avoid these duties, at whatever cost, under whatever circumstances; the newspaper which, insincere, actuated only by the immediate selfish interest, does seek to avoid them, may reap some temporary advantage, but, in the end, must fail, because it must lose the trust and confidence of its public, without which newspaper success or influence is impossible.

As the ad-writer above quoted says, a newspaper "can't kid its customers often or long; or they aren't customers after awhile—and it dies." The "kidding" of "customers" in a newspaper sense must be taken to mean the deception of readers and of advertisers, trying to make readers believe something that isn't so, parading "news" under false colors, promising advertisers results that can not be obtained, circulation that does not exist, reader interest which the paper cannot command. Such "kidding" may please, for a time, those whose selfish interests its serves; but, as a newspaper policy, it is suicide. Aside from its effect upon the fortunes of the newspaper itself, it is rank treason to the community, which has the right to expect thats its newspaper is honest and giving honest news, honest advertising, honest editorial opinion, just as the customer expects that his grocer or his clothier is honest and is selling him honest goods.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

ALWAYS MOTHER'S DAY IN CHINA.

(From The New York Telegram.)

Sunday was Mother's Day.

American sons and daughters either remembered or were reminded that they had a mother and sent her flowers, a postcard or something.

We may forget all the rest of the year that somewhere we have an old mother sitting, waiting in vain for the mail man while we got rollicking on.

But on one particular day we'll remember her and drop her a line—then feel proud of ourselves for the rest of the day.

We ought to be ashamed.

In our superior way we laugh at the Chinese and their funny customs. We think they're terribly uncivilized—an awful bunch of heathens.

But they do not have to have a special day set aside to remind them once a year of mother. Every day is Mother's Day with them.

In China the family is everything. The home is the Chinaman's centre of the world. It is his castle, and in it the old folks are kings and queens.

The older they grow the more they are venerated by the children, the more they are listened to, the better they are obeyed. And while women in general may not stand as high in China as they do in America, mother is the goddess of the home.

And as she grows old and feeble and her mind begins to wander a little and her eyes take on that far-away look, the Chinese pay mother additional reverence. They know she is already more of the spirit world than of this which we mortals call our own. And when she speaks she is listened to with the respect due one whose ears are already turned to catch the rustle of an angel's wings.

The Chinese need no other proof that theirs is an ancient civilization than the way they treat their old. Perhaps when ours is as old as theirs, in another 4,000 years, say, we'll know how to treat our aged, too.

TRY WHOLE-WHEAT "PASTES"

Macaroni, spaghetti and vermicelli are generally considered as typically of Italian origin; yet history credits their invention to the Chinese and Germans. It is said that the latter taught the Italians the art of making these foods which are now so plentifully used in Italy and France. The Japanese claim priority in its use by hundreds of years, but their product is made of rice flour instead of from wheat as is ours.

In all countries the "Semolina," or meal from which these "pastes" are made is always prepared from very hard, glutenous grain. The meal is moistened with the smallest possible quantity of boiling water and thoroughly mixed by machinery, and then kneaded by a powerful machine. The dough is then put into the cylinder of a press and forced out through small openings.

The size of the openings determines the shape of the product. For macaroni, there is in each hole a steel pin which gives the "pipes" their tubular form; with smaller holes, the machine presses out solic spaghetti and similar types. Flat, noodle-like varieties are made by pressing the dough through flat openings. The short sizes, as with vermicelli, are made by rotary knives slicing off the paste as it comes out of the machine!

It is then completely dried and sorted—then packed for shipment.

Any of these pastes should be cooked only in boiling water. Cold water will spoil even the best grades. The boiling should be continued for from twenty to thirty minutes. When thoroughly done, drain well and season to suit the individual taste.

All pure white flour products are, of course, devitalized and are unfit for food. Many manufacturers now make macaroni, spaghetti and vermicelli out of real whole-wheat flour, and these products are wholesome if used with the proper food combinations.

Whenever you have a hankering for any of these pastes it is best to use one of them at a time, in combination with the cooked and raw non-starchy vegetables, such as, spinach, asparagus, carrots, lettuce, celery, cucumbers, etc. No acid food should be used at the same meal.

It is worthy of note that the Italians and French use these combinations and do not use wine at the same meal. All wines are acid in nature and do not combine harmoniously with starches. The Europeans who drink so much wine with meals use it only with the meat meals, and not with the starchy foods.

The next time you use macaroni or spaghetti try the simple combinations I have suggested, and you will not experience the usual digestive troubles you have had when these "pastes" have been used improperly.

A REAL CLEAN-UP IDEA.

Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir.— We take pride in our modern plants for filtration and sewage disposal and to the new-comer they are an incentive to settle in a city wherein such great care is taken to prevent contagion.

However, there are some parts of this city which do not enjoy the benefits of such precautions against disease, and I would like to call attention to a section of East City, east of Burnham street, and south of Sophia. Most residences have water connections, although some only recently after repeated demands over a period of ten years.

We are told that our property lies beneath the sewage level and therefore cannot enjoy this service. We readily admit our position, but the difficulty can be easily removed by a pumping station such as has been installed on Engleburn avenue. There are enough residences in the above mentioned district to warrant a pumping station.

In a city the size of Peterborough, it should not be the part of the citizens to demand sewage service, but the city should make it compulsory for every residence within its limits. Yet the city does not seem to recognize our needs very readily. Must we wait another ten years?

I deem this a matter not only of interest to us who are personally concerned, but to the city as a whole. Thus we can further remove the possibility of an epidemic and rid our yards at the same time of unsightly outbuildings and help "clean house" for our July celebration.

CHINESE JUNK

There's war in China over the foreign concessions. The Chinese are a patient people, but when the British introduced those wide pants there was bound to be trouble. . . . In China they do everything backward. That's why they're so good at reversing the English. . . . Anyhow we hope the trouble ends before any more generals get into it. We've learned about the names we can stand. . . . The Jewish people should quit going back to Palestine and settle in China instead. They ought to do well where there are so many old Chinese junks.

WORKMAN KILLED.

Hamilton Man Drawn Into a Wire Ceiling Machine.

HAMILTON, May 14.— Ivor Johnson, aged 35, who lived at 490 Wentworth street north, met almost instant death last night at the Wellington street plant of the Steel Company of Canada, when he was caught in a wire-coiling machine. His left arm was pulled from his body and he suffered other severe internal injuries before the machine could be stopped and his body released. It is believed that his clothing caught on the machine and he was drawn into it.

Announcement!

THE Management takes great pleasure in announcing the coming, to the Regent Theatre, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday next, of the spectacular success of the season, the famous Jules Verne melodrama —"MICHAEL STROGOFF." "CHILDREN OF DIVORCE," NEW DRAMA, CO-STARS CLARA BOW, ESTHER RALSTON

Serious as it is, divorce can actually be made quite amusing. At least, that's what Frank Lloyds current Paramount production "Children of Divorce" purports to be.

Clara Bow, Esther Ralston (both of whom are starred) and Gary Cooper enact the title roles. All are children of parents who have separated and gone their own ways. They reach young man and womanhood not as do most people but virtually as jazz orphans.

Homes aren't for them. As a place to gather it's obsolete; as a temporary dressing room where one comes to change clothes before continuing a round of pleasures—that's home! Day and night are reversed. One gets to bed at eight each morning and arise long after the sun has set. Father? Mother? Persons who rise out of a dim past. Money? Quite necessary; where can we get some more? High hat? The thing to be and also something to wear.

Education? No three "rs;" three "js"—jazz, "jin" and joy! Their favorite song—"Hail, hail, the gang's all here; what the h.....do we care?" Sometimes this is varied with —"Where do we go from here?"

Living and loving as do no others! Here today gone tomorrow—so why worry? And they don't! Cares? Responsibilities? Not for them! If were on the road to ruin; what do we care? Just step on the gas; we'll get their sooner and see what the place looks like.

Those who've seen "Children of Divorce" claim that it entertains on a par with any picture Frank Lloyd has ever made. When one remembers that Mr. Lloyd directed "The Sea Hawk" and "Winds of Chance", that's mighty high praise! The film arrives at the Capitol Theatre Monday. Elinar Hanson and Norman Trevor are co-featured with Cooper.

AT THE REGENT.

SHE JUST CAN'T KEEP OUT OF WAR.

Renee Adoree, of Famous "Big Parade" Film, Has Another War Role in New Film.

She is now going through the titanic struggle for the third time, and hopes it will be her last.

Miss Adoree was in Belgium at the time of the outbreak of the war, and by an almost miraculous escape, got across the border into England with the company with whom she was appearing on the stage in Brussels.

Now she has been cast for the part of Renee, a young circus rider, in Phil Rosen's new production" Heaven on Earth," which comes to the Regent Theatre Monday. While not primarily a war picture, the story concerns France between the years of 1914-19, with a spectacular war sequence.

The men that play the parts of French soldiers in this new picture went through a definite routine of getting their uniforms dirty and muddy.

"I recently saw a war play in which the soldiers who were supposed to have spent several days in the trenches emerged as clean and unruffled as they would from their morning bath," said Phil Rosen, the director, 'and anyone that knows anything about trences knhows that a man cannot step into one without its leaving a trace."

So before the garments were put on the soldiers, they were placed under a hose, and all the stiffness was taken out of them. Then after they were on the men, most of them roled in the mud and dirt, till they looked more like a soldier than a soldier does.

AT THE GRAND

GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS

Another edition of George White's Scandals at the Grand last night gave Peterborough playgoers a chance to see how successfully revue producers are meeting the opposition offered by the street costumes of today. They have to go a long way to outstrip the modern styles but last night's production showed that it could be done.

This was the seventh edition of the Scandals and there can't be many more for there would be nothing left for the chorus to take off. There hasn't been as much anatomy exposed publicly in Peterborough since the days before the police put a censorship on the old swimming hole, and Kipling's description of the dame whose dress consisted of "nothing much in front and something less than half of that behind" took on a new meaning.

In this nudity and in all its other features the production was a typical American revue of the present day, elaborately staged and featured by wise-cracking comedians, "blackouts" borrowed from the realms of burlesque, a rash of all forms of the modern dance and a musical score lively enough in tempo to keep the scantily draped performers from contracting pneumonia.

From an artistic viewpoint the chief honours were carried off by the Albertina Rasch dancing troupe, a bevy of clever girl dancers whose routine was most effectively presented. These girls did much to make the performance worthwhile, both in their ensemble numbers and through the solo work of members of the troupe.

The comedy was supplied chiefly by Sammy Howard, brother of the more famous Willie and Gene of that ilk. Howard got his stuff over effectively, sang very acceptably and his imitation of Al Jolson singing "It All Depends on You" was a feature. John Getz was an able assistant in the fun-making. This comic knows his spring vegetables and was funny in everything he tried.

Sonia De Calva, Lillian Norwood and Stanley Cable carried most of the vocal burden and did nicely. Doris Sites scored by the "cuteness" of her style in announcing some of the numbers and other memebrs of the company who stood out were Lewis and King by reason of their clever dancing and LaGizzi and LaGizzi for a very impressive presentation of "The Adagio Waltz."

The "blackouts" the chief punch of which of course was to be found in the stag line were not all new but most of them got a laugh and that was all they were aimed at.

In lighting and scenic effects the production left nothing to be desired and the musical numbers notably "I Want an Loveable Baby," "What a World This Would Be," and "Room Enough for Me" were well received.

But the seventh edition of the Scandals will be remembered here chiefly because of the amount of clothes its girls did not consider necessary to wear.

NORHAM NEWS

NORHAM CIRCUIT.

NORHAM, May 9.—Mothers' Day was duly observed in the different churches on Norham circuit on Sunday. The churches were prettily decorated with house-plants, carnations and daffodils. The official program was followed throughout. At Meyersburg the choir sang "When Mother Prayed." At Bethany the following special numbers were given: "A Song that Mother Sang," by the choir; a reading, "The Meaning of Go-to-Sunday-School Day," by Mrs. Samuel McCall; a reading, "No Room for Mother," by Mrs. John Dinner; solo, Florence Vanblaricom, "A Boy's Best Friend is His Mother"; recitation, "I Love You, Mother," by Lulu Hazelwood. At Norham in the morning Mrs. Marcius Massey sang "She Only Touched the Hem of His Garment." There was a choir of fifteen mothers. P. S. Ewing, superintendent of St. Paul's Sunday school, Warkworth, gave an address.

The evening service at Norham was well attended. A mixed choir rendered two special selections of music. The pastor spoke from Exodus, 2 and 9.

Pigeons From Royal Lofts To Be Sold In Aid of Charity

OTTAWA, May 13 (Canadian Press)—Some public charity or hospital in Ottawa will reap a certain benefit through the Worlds Poultry Congress, to be held in the Capital from July 27 to August 4, as a result of a gracious act of his Majesty the King.

Several pairs of racing homers, both adult and young (bred 1927), which will comprise the Royal exhibit from the lofts at Sandringham, will be sold on the last day of the congress exhibition to the highest bidder, and the proceeds will be turned over to a charity or hospital to be selected by congress executive.

As many of the leading pigeon fanciers of Britain, the Continent, United States and Canada, will be in Ottawa for the congress, it is anticipated the competition for the honor of securing the Royal pigeons will be keen.

DRUGGIST DEMANDS RETURN OF ALCOHOL

Timmins Man Says His Property Was Illegally Seized.

TIMMINS, Ont., May 14 — E. J. Meyers, a local druggist, whose premises were destroyed by fire on March 2nd, has demanded the return of eight cans, each containing five gallons of wood alcohol, which he alleges were illegally seized by the police the following day of the fire. In a letter to the Timmins Town Council, Mr. Meyers demands a thorough investigation of the seizure and an apology, together with the return of his property.

Police Chief McLauchlan informed the council that he had removed the eight cans because he believed plans were being made to steal the goods, and his action was prompted by a desire to prevent crime. He also claimed that he had informed the fire adjusters upon their arrival and before entering the burned-out premises he had endeavored to locate Mr. Meyers. Mr. Meyers contends that the premises were boarded up when the police visited the premises and that as a search warrant was not produced the goods were illegally removed.

Viscount Craigavon First Dominion Premier in Peerage

BELFAST, May 12 (Canadian Press).—When Viscount Craigavon, Premier of Ulster, is sworn in as a member of the British House of Lords next Wednesday, it will be the first time in history that a Premier of Parliament other than that of Britain will take a seat in the Upper House of Westminster. The Premier probably will be sponsored on the occasion by another Ulster peer.

FARMER HELD FOR SPITE FIRE

Charged With Trying To Burn Neighbor's House During Party.

ORANGEVILLE, May 14.—Charged with arson, Thomas Horner, a well-known farmer of Mond Township, was arrested yesterday by Provincial Constable Joseph Nelson.

On Friday evening last a party was being held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Chapman Mond Centre. Horner did not receive an invitation, but went anyway, carrying, lice charge Horner placed the bags it is alleged, five bags of straw, said to have been saturated with coal oil. When the party was at its height, around the residence and set them afire.

The blaze was discovered by the guests and extinguished.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE CLXXX—Why the First Automobiles Failed. by MAX HAHN

LOOKING BACK AT THE FIRST AUTOMOBILES WE CAN UNDERSTAND WHY THE WORLD DISDAINED THEM. THE VERY FIRST MACHINE, BUILT IN 1769 TO HAUL FRENCH CANNON, RAN ONLY THREE MILES AN HOUR AND COULDN'T BE STEERED. IS IT ANY WONDER THAT THE IDEA WAS UNPOPULAR?

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

ONE OF THE NEXT SELF-PROPELLING MACHINES WAS MADE BY RICHARD TREVITHICK, FAMOUS BRITON. TREVITHICK'S ROAD LOCOMOTIVE WAS MUCH BETTER THAN ITS FRENCH PREDECESSOR, BUT IT TERRIFIED PEOPLE AT NIGHT AND CAUSED HORSES TO RUN AWAY. MECHANICAL DEFECTS KEPT IT FROM GAINING GENERAL FAVOR.

THESE FIRST MACHINES WERE HANDICAPPED ALSO BY POOR ROADS AND ANTAGONISTIC FARMERS. THE FARMERS, FEARING THAT STEAM COACHES WOULD DESTROY THEIR MARKET FOR HORSES, PELTED THE COACHES WITH ROCKS UNTIL TRAVELERS BECAME AFRAID TO RISK THEIR LIVES.

LAWS GENERALLY ARE DESIGNED TO AID CIVILIZATION, BUT THE ENGLISH PARLIAMENT'S FAMOUS ROAD LOCOMOTIVE ACT OF 1836 DID JUST THE OPPOSITE. IT PROHIBITED AUTOMOBILES FROM USING THE HIGHWAYS UNLESS PRECEDED BY A MAN ON FOOT CARRYING A DANGER FLAG. THIS DISCOURAGED ENGLISH INVENTORS WHO HAD IDEAS FOR IMPROVING THE EARLY AUTOMOBILES.

LAKEFIELD WILL RAISE BOY'S FARE

Objective Set in Canvas for Armenian Relief Work.

LAKEFIELD, May 14.—A meeting was held in the Memorial Hall on Monday, May 9th, in the interests of the Armenian Relief Association of Canada, with Rev. William Spencer in the chair. The attendance was fairly good, but was far from being a representative meeting.

The meeting was opened by singing "Work for the Night is Coming," Miss Nelson presiding at the piano.

Rev. W. J. Creighton read a Bible lesson after which Rev. S. A. Kemp led in prayer.

Mr. Spencer spoke briefly of the good work done by the Armenian Relief Association of Canada. The government takes an interest in the work by allowing these boys to be brought in and made into Canadian citizens.

The Armenians rejoice over the British rule in Palestine which has lessened Turkeys power in the Near East. The Jews are also receiving just treatment from the British. One hundred boys have been placed by the Association and the government is allowing them to bring in another hundred. The best way to further this work is by prayer and offerings of money and it is time and effort well spent to aid this great cause.

Rev. Mr. Edwards, the Baptist minister at Brighton, was for a time at the Georgetown Farm assisting, and he is very enthusiastic over the work.

Rev. Ira W. Pierce, Secretary of the Armenian Relief Association of Canada, gave an address which was illustrated by lantern slides, which added to the interest and made a profound impression on the children who occupied the front seats.

This is the third visit Mr. Pierce has paid to Lakefield and he congratulated the community on the sustained interest in the work, which he feels is due to real study and to observation of the point behind the work. The speaker finds his personal knowledge of the Armenian situation a great aid in presenting the cause of these hapless people to the Christion people of Canada. These is no difficulty in winning the sympathy of the Canadian children for the Armenian children; it is the older people who are inclined to stand back and philosophize.

Mr. Pierce told two anecdotes relating to child life in Armenia under the Turk which made every child realize the blessings of British rule. One anecdote related the story of an eight-year-old Armenian boy, who with three younger sisters saw their parents slaughtered before their eyes. The children wandered about, homeless orphans, and the two older girls finally died by the wayside of starvation and when the youngest of all, who was just four years of age, began to totter by the way the eight-year-old brother carried her on his back till he reached a city where there was an orphanage and there he placed his sister. The boy later was sent to Canada and is now on a farm near Galt, and last fall he approached Mr. Pierce to have his sister brought out to join him, and Mr. Pierce secured the consent of the government and the brother paid the passage money, $175, and lately the brother and sister met in Toronto after a separation of years. The Armenians are not beggars as many people think, but are really a most liberal people. A picture of the brother and sister was taken and was thrown on the screen, showing how happy they are, these two survivors of what was once a happy family.

Euphrates College and Schools were shown, closed now and untenanted. The diplomatic triumph of the Turk in the Near East has made mission work terribly hard.

Pictures were also shown of the Georgetown farm, the buildings, the gardens, the low-lying seven and a half-acrefield which was drained by the boys and made productive for the first time. The farm has a herd of pure-bred Holstein cattle and a picture of the barn showing the cows being milked was very interesting. Several groups of boys were shown on parade, at work and at play. The boys are fond of water sports and have built for themselves a boat, which, while not a "Lakefield" model is a source of great delight to them. Several pictures were shown of children and young girls who were victims of the "unspeakable Turk," some of whom will bear the marks of the cruel inhuman treatment to their graves. Armenia is the oldest Christian country in the world, and yet the race has been almost exterminated by the Moslem Turks in spite of boasted Western Christian civilization.

The government at Ottawa has given permission to bring in another hundred children, girls this time as well as boys, and it will cost $150 each to pay their fare from Beirut to Toronto. If they were British boys and girls they could have been brought for nothing, which shows one of the privileges of being born British.

Mr. Kenneth Kemp kindly took charge of the lantern and slides. After the meeting an organization meeting was held and the following officers were elected:

President—Mr. T. C. Young.
Vice-President—Mr. S. Harrison.
Secretary—Miss Graham.
Treasurer—Mr. G. G. Connell.

A canvas will be made by sixteen young girls in a few days and it was decided to fix the objective at $150, the price of the child's ticket to Canada.

A resolution was passed acknowledging the kindness of the Council in giving the use of the hall; and an expression of appreciation was given Mr. Pierce for his splendid address which presented the case in a way which appealed to every heart.

PIANO RECITAL.

Pupils of Mrs. L. H. Winslow Assisted By Harry Wagner.

MOUNT PLEASANT, May 14—A large audience was present in the Parish Hall at Ida on Wednesday evening, May 11th, at the first piano recital given by the pupils of Mrs. L. H. Winslow. Mr. Harry Wagner, Toronto, assisted in the programme accompanied in some of the numbers by five of his Millbrook and Cavan pupils. Mr. Wagner's personal contributions to the programme, particularly his guitar solos, were also popular and encores were demanded. Miss Staples and Miss Matchett also assisted with recitations which were well received.

The audience was intensely appreciative of the fine music rendered by the pupils giving rousing encores for their final numbers, thus showing appreciation of their efforts.

Just before the closing number Juan Shield on behalf of the Mount Pleasant pupils presented Mrs. Winslow with a beautiful bouquet of roses. Mrs. Winslow expressed her thanks in a few well chosen words afterwards giving every one present a hearty invitation to partake of refreshments which were served in the basement of the hall.

The programme included the following numbers:

Duet, "Frolic of the Demons," Kathleen Sisson and Helen McLean; encore, "Japanese Fan Dance." Piano Solo, "Fairy Dance," Mary Tinney. Duet, "Song of the Sea Shells," Grace Best and Juan Shield. Guitar solo, Mr. Wagner. Duet, "Waltz," Audrey Nill and Dorothy Cobley. Piano solo, "Evening story," Dora Sharpe. Recitation, Miss Staples. Duet, "Laughing Waters," Kathleen Sisson and Emma Fee. Piano solo, "Italian Waltz," Allen Winslow. Recitation, Miss Matchett. Selection by Mr. Wagner and five of his pupils. Duet, Helen Swain and Mildred Smith. Duet, "Dance," Annie Graham, Dorothy Morden; encore, "Bobolink." Piano solo, "Country Dance," Doris Tinney. Piano solo, "Narcissus," Juan Shield. Duet, ukulele and mouthorgan, Mr. Wagner and pupil. Duet, Mary and Doris Tinney. Piano solo "Dance of the Sunbeams," Grace Best. Recitation, Miss Staples. Duet, "Moonlight Revels," Ruth Tully and Grace Best. Piano solo, Kathleen Sisson. Duet, "Robin's Lullaby," Emma Fee and Grace Best. Recitation, Miss Matchett. Guitar duet, Mr. Wagner and pupil. Piano solo, Jessie Armstrong. Duet, "Hungarian Dance," Vera Morton and Eleanor Sharpe. Piano solo, Miss Matchett. Selection, "Farewell to Thee," by Mr. Wagner and group. Duet, "March," Kathleen Sisson and Mabel Eggleston. Duet, "Grand Valse Caprice," Kathleen Sisson and Helen McLean.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Winslow by Mr. James Paul in a neat speech on behalf of the audience who expressed their approval in the hearty applause which followed.

MISTAKES MOTHERS MAKE IN CARE OF LITTLE ONES

Many mothers give their children solid foods at too early an age and say proudly that their babies "eat everything that grown-up people do." Such a course is almost certain to bring on indigestion and lay the foundation of much ill-health for the little one.

Other mothers administer harsh, nauseating purgatives which in reality irritate and injure the delicate stomach and bowels and at the same time cause the children to dread all medicine.

Absolutely no meat should be given to a child until it reaches the age of 18 months, and then only if approved by the doctor. For medicine, all strong, disagreeable oils and powders should be abandoned and Baby's Own Tablets given instead.

Baby's Own Tablets are especially made for little ones. They are pleasant to take and can be given with absolute safety to even the new-born babe. They quickly banish constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers and make the cutting of teeth easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WESTWOOD NEWS.

CAMPBELLFORD W. I. ELECTS OFFICERS

Mrs. Thomas Dunham Chosen President For Ensuing Year.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 14.—The regular meeting of the Seymour West Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Dunham, with an attendance of 22. The usual exercises and business of the meeting were disposed of, after which Mrs. Douglas Rutherford, the secretary, gave the annual report of the last year's work. The society decided to send flowers to any who were sick, also to have the July meeting take the form of a picnic. The secretary was instructed to ask the teachers of the four schools of the district to have a boy and girl from each school prepare oral essays on "Confederation," suitable prizes to be awarded to the winners. It was also decided that a fixed menu be formed for the lunches at the meetings, also a committee of the following ladies, Mrs. Roy Fleming, Mrs. Marshall Longmuir, Mrs. Reg. McCulloch and Mrs. D. Rutherford, were appointed to purchase dishes for use at these meetings.

Mrs. Charles Macoun then took the chair and the election of the following year's officers were taken by ballot. Mrs. Roy Fleming acting as Secretary:

President—Mrs. Thomas Dunham.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. Reg. McCulloch.
2nd Vice-President — Mrs. Roy Fleming.
3rd Vice-President—Mrs. George Van Volkenburg.
Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. Douglas Rutherford.
Directors—Mrs. Charles McArthur and Mrs. William McKee.
District Director.—Mrs. Reg. McCulloch.
District Representatives — Mrs. Thomas Dunham, Mrs. Charles McArthur, Mrs. Reg. McCulloch, and Mrs. Roy Fleming.
Assistant Secretary—Mrs. Archie McCulloch.
Home and School Committee—Mrs. Gordon Shearer, Mrs. John Locke, Mrs. Roy Fleming.
Auditors — Mrs. Cecil McCulloch and Miss Jessie Brown.

A dainty lunch was served at the close of the meeting. The Institute will have two meetings in June, the regular meeting on June 16th, and on June the 2nd, a special meeting in Bethel Church, the speaker for the day being Miss McGee of Chesterville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lord will tour the Continent for two months before returning to their home in Red Deer.

Mr. A. A. Burke of Denver, Col., visited his brother, J. A. Burke during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bell and daughter of Bradford; Miss Kathleen McLean of Toronto, and Miss Margaret Ireland of Owen Sound were week-end visitors of Mrs. C. L. Owen.

CHRYSLERS SCORE AGAIN IN AUSTRALIAN CONTEST

Capture First, Second, Third and Sixth Places in Official Test of Economy in Gasoline Use.

Cabled advices just received by the Chrysler Corporation at Windsor bring word of still another remarkable feat performed in Australia by this companys' cars. In a general petrol test held at Sydney, Australia, Chrysler cars captured first, second, third and sixth places. Challenged by the Royal Automobile Club as to the possiblity of any automobile making the remarkable mileage per gallon accomplished by the winning Chrysler "60", the same car went over the course again and exceeded its original record.

This gasoline economy performance is the latest in a series of signal triumphs in Australia. Within recent months these cars have won liberal praise all over the Australian continent by hanging up a new record for the famous Maroubra speedway in Sydney, where a stock Chysler "70" made the phenomenal speed of 1,000 miles in 955 minutes and covered 1468 miles in 24 hours driving, and also taking first place in the official ten day reliability contest at Coolangarta, which is regarded as Australia's biggest motoring event.

The combination of speed, economy and endurance credited to Chryslers have resulted in these cars becoming very popular with the sport loving people of Australia, according to officials of the Chrysler Corporation, who cite it as one of the reasons for the heavy gains their export business has been showing the last year.

FORTUNE TELLER FREED.

Advised By Judge Not To Tell Any More Lest People Believed Them.

EDMONTON, Alta., May 14 (CP).—In a recent case a woman, charged with fortune telling was found not guilty. A certain husband, whose wife came home "raving" after a visit to the fortune teller, laid the charge. The latter, in her own behalf, denied any psychic powers, and did not expect people to believe what she said, although "told in fun they sometimes come true." Asked if her callers paid she answered, "Some don't." Her daughter, a witness, said, "When folks leave money it is not thrown into the street after them." The judge trying the case admonished her in this wise: "Don't tell fortunes lest people believe you."

The investigations made by General Sternberg, former Surgeon General of the United States Army, have also demonstrated that a temperature from 140 to 145 degrees for 30 minutes will destroy all disease-producing germs and 99 per cent. of all other bacteria, and does not affect the taste or in any way interfere with the nutritive value or digestibility of the milk. This has been repeatedly confirmed by the most skilled investigators, both in Europe and America.

Much of the difficulty experienced in securing the adoption of universal pasteurization of all milk is due to the deeply seated misconception of what efficient or scientific pasteurization really means. This is the result of the various commercial methods, or so-called flash methods, that have been used for years. They have no scientific value and oft-times accord a false security—the only object being to prolong the keeping properties of the milk. These methods are now illegal, only the holding method, or scientific pasteurization, now being permitted.

Bulletin No. 166 of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, 1913, prepared by Dr. Rupp, demonstrates very conclusively that pasteurization does not produce any chemical change in milk. Consequently the nutritive value of milk is not diminished, as demonstrated by the following:

1st.—Milk pasteurized by the holding process at (145) degrees F. for 30 minutes does not undergo any appreciable chemical change.

2nd.—The soluble phosphates of lime and magnesia do not become insoluble at 155 degrees F. The quality of phosphoric acid, lime and magnesia in the serum of both raw and pasteurized milk is practically the same.

SPLENDID LECTURE GIVEN AT OMEMEE

Rev. Archer Wallace Talks On People I Have Met in Churches."

OMEMEE, May 14.—On Monday evening, the Rev. Archer Wallace, of Toronto, was greeted by a fair but appreciative audience in the auditorium of Trinity United church when he appeared under the auspices of the Wide Awake Mission band to give his famous lecture, "People I Have Met in Churches." As the subject denotes, and with a knowledge of Mr. Wallace's jovial disposition from his recent visit last summer, those who attended expected anything but a dry lecture, and no one was disappointed. For upwards of an hour and a quarter he entertained his audience, leaving many good thoughts for his hearers to ponder over, with more than an equal amount of humor interspersed. Some of the people spoken of during the course of his lecture were Mr. and Mrs. Faithful, Mr. and Mrs. Cheerful, Mr. and Mrs. Thin Skin, Mr. and Mrs. Longfaced, Mr. and Mrs. Grumbler, and, lastly, the hypocrite. Although the critic calls him such, Mr. Wallace has as yet failed to find anyone whom he would place in that class.

Rev. E. W. Rowland acted as chairman and the following short programme was given before the address: Pipe-organ selection, Miss Eva Race; male quartette by the Harrison brothers and Mr. Harry Jackson, of Bethel; a reading by Mr. Rowland, and a vocal duet by Misses Mary and Katie Weir.

On behalf of the band, a vote of thanks was extended by the pastor to Mr. Wallace for his splendid lecture.

THIS GREAT TONIC RENEWS STRENGTH

Simply Because It Enriches and Builds Up the Blood.

In no trouble is delay or neglect more dangerous than in anaemia, which means poverty of the blood. It is very common in young girls and in persons who are overworked or confined within doors. It makes its approach in so stealthy a manner that is often well developed before its presence is recognized. But taken in time there is a tonic that so enriches and purifies the blood that good health and strength soon comes to the former weak, anaemic sufferer. This tonic is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which for years have been the most successful blood-builder known, and have credit for restoring to good health thousands and thousands of people who have suffered from some of the many ailments that come through weak, watery blood.

The correction of anaemic conditions by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is as certain as anything can be. As proof of this Miss Margaret A. Smith, Burgoyne, Ont., says:—"After having a severe attack of jaundice I was left in a very weak and run-down condition. I was pale and my nerves on edge. I could not sleep at night and would toss and turn four hours at a time. I finally decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and soon began to feel better, and after taking a few more boxes of the pills I felt as strong as ever, and could thoroughly enjoy my rest at night. Now, I always recommend these pills to any friends who may be ailing.'

Better sleep, steady nerves, improved appetite, increased vigor—all these can be yours by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Begin them today. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co Brockville, Ont.

BARONESS HELD CANADIAN TITLE

Was Widow of Eighth Baron de Longueil of Quebec.

BATH, Eng., May 14 (CP).—The Baroness de Longueil who died recently here, was the widow of the holder of a Canadian title dating back to the time of the French settlement, and the only hereditary territorial dignity in Canada. She was Kate Isobel Constance, daughter of John Church, of Carfin, Lanark, and widow of William H. Burrows of Philadelphia. She was married in 1891 to Reginald D'Iberville Charles Grant, who succeeded his half-brother in 1893 as the eighth baron de Longueil in the province of Quebec.

COUNCIL FINISHES REVISION OF ROLL

Several Changes Made on Havelock Lists—May Celebrate Jubilee.

HAVELOCK, May 14.—A special meeting of the town council was held on Monday evening in the council chamber with all members present.

Court of Revision.

A motion in the minutes of last meeting to add an assessment of $650 to roll for livery barn owned by A. Aboud was cancelled as the entry was overlooked, it being assessed to Ray Scott; tenant, and A. Aboud, owner.

An entry for assessment of $1,000.00 for double house and blacksmith shop, owned by F. D. Barton on Ontario street, was also found on the roll, and on motion of Councillors Spencer and Haig, this assessment was lowered to $800.00.

On motion of Councillors Spencer and Haig, the assessment of Miss M. McWilliams was cancelled as it appears under Mrs. L. Clark.

The income tax assessment was revised in accordance with the new amendment to the income tax assessment cat.

Moved by Councillors Spencer and Haig, that the following be exempted from income tax assessment as not being liable under the new amendment: A. Gibb, Dr. J. Holdcroft, L. Plunkett, P. Yuill, Edward Williams, W. Hitchins, J. Hoffman, W. Hartry, Miss M. Lehane, H. W. Roche. Carried.

On motion by Councillors Leeson and Gordon, the following revised income assessments were entered on the roll: John Watson, 9.61; Ray Bailey, .41; A. Macdonald, 1.40; J. Simmons, .46; W. Hildred, 5.00.

Court of Revision adjourned.

A communication was received from the general secretary of the Jubilee committee of Peterborough, asking if Havelock intended to celebrate, and if not, the Peterborough committee intended to advertise here.

Moved by Councillors Leeson and Gordon, that the reeve call a public meeting in the town hall at eight o'clock on Thursday night for the purpose of finding out the attitude of the public re holding a Jubilee Confederation celebration and making plans for same, invitations to be sent to park board, school board, church societies, Havelock Athletic association, clubs, lodges, and all organizations, and a reply to be sent to the Peterborough committee after the meeting.

T. P. Lancaster suggested that the town should mark Confederation year by planting maple-trees on the streets.

J. W. Holcombe, agent for Canada Ingot Iron Co., Ltd., of Guelph, was given an order for a No. 2 road-grader, at $130.00; weight, 1,150 pounds.

Moved by Councillors Haig and Gordon, that Assessor Holcombe be paid a bonus of $25.00 for assessment work. Carried.

With reference to work on main drain, on motion by Councillors Spencer and Gordon, the clerk was instructed to engage Engineer W. Perks, of Peterboro', to take levels, measurements, and make a plan for tile drain.

A communication was received from the calcium chloride firm re sale of a car of calcium chloride for use on streets. The clerk was instructed to reply, saying that the council had made no decision in the matter as yet.

The reeve and council intend making a tour of the west section of the village on Thursday for the purpose of inspecting the sidewalks and streets with a view to making the necessary repairs.

CONCERT AND DANCE AT DOWNEYVILLE

C. W. L. in Charge of Pleasant Social—Downeyville News.

DOWNEYVILLE, May 16.—A very enjoyable social and concert was held here in the hall Monday night under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League. A musical programme was followed by the drawing for the shamrock quilt made by the members of the C.W.L. which was won by Mr. Thomas Lucas.

A lunch was served afterwards by the ladies and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. The dinner orchestra from Lindsay supplied the music.

Over two hundred friends and neighbors of Mr. Dennis Duffy gathered at his home on Tuesday evening for a house-warming party and to welcome him and his bride formerly Miss Mary O'Connor, of Peterborough, who were married in Peterborough that morning.

A lunch was served and a very enjoyable time spent by all. Their many friends join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Duffy many years of happy wedded life.

Mrs. Peter Murtha and daughter, Mrs. Joseph Costello, of Lindsay, spent Friday the guests of the former's mother and sister, Mrs. Ellen Carroll and Mrs. Ed. Herlihey, in the village.

Mrs. Carroll, although 91 years of age, is hale and hearty and able to be around and is a wonder for one so old. She resides with her daughter, Mrs. Ed. Herlihey.

Miss Lillian Garvey has returned to Buffalo, N.Y., after a pleasant visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Garvey here.

Miss Rita Scully has returned to St. Joseph's Academy, Lindsay, to resume her studies.

Mr. William Harrington has returned to the Peterborough Normal School, after spending the holidays with his father, Michael H. Harrington.

Mr. Ronald Galvin, of Chicago, Ill., is at present the guest of his brother, Rev. Father Galvin.

Mr. John C. Lucas and sons were the first to finish with the spring crop here. They finished Thursday, April 28th before a large number had started.

CHINESE WOMEN MOST PROMISING

Brightest Spot in National Life, Says Oxford Professor.

LONDON, Eng., May 14 (CP).—Prof. Soothill, professor of Chinese at Oxford, says: It is the Chinese woman who is the brightest spot on the landscape, the most promising spot in the national life. Twenty years ago almost the only girls with any education and with natural feet were the product of certain mission schools. Then nearly half the population of the country, some 200 millions of women and girls, had crippled feet. The effect on carriage, happiness and character of women, is being evolved. If a sign can be sought of progress in China, perhaps the most felicitous is the signboard of the Woman's Boot Store. Twenty years ago it did not exist, but now it is found in every city. There every woman made her "three-inch golden lilies" to cover what remained of her maimed feet. Today, the boot store supplies her with beautifully made shoes to wear over her flesh-colored silk stockings.

Lawn billiards, played in England, calls for balls weighing 9 pounds each. The cues are long poles with iron rings at the end.

HOW TO SEND YOUR ANSWER

Copy your answer in ink on a plain piece of paper as neatly as you can, because neatness, and appearance will count if more than one answer is correct. Put your name, address and age in upper right hand corner of paper. If you have anything else to write put it on a separate sheet of paper.

Contest closes Friday, Sept. 30, 1927. Answers should be sent at once. Only boys and girls under 17 years of age are allowed to enter.

CODE "LUCKY PRIZE"

Thousands of people were watching the newspaper bulletin boards one day for results of the World Championship Baseball Game between the Giants and Tigers, but the boys who posted the scores, innings by innings, did a mean thing. Instead of putting down the runs in figures, they put letters as you see in the puzzle above, and told every one to work the score out if they could. They knew the score but no one else did.

When the game was over, they put a strange code on the bulletin board the words "LUCKY PRIZE," and told the crowds if they were smart they would find the score in the code words.

HOW WILLIE FOUND THE SCORE

Willie Willis was the only one of all the crowds who discovered how to do it; but he wouldn't tell a soul the score. "Work it out for yourselves," he told them. Here's the way.—Number the letters of the code words, LUCKY PRIZE. L is 1, U is 2, C is 3, K 4, and so on. The last letter E is 0. Change the letters of the score into their equivalent numbers, add them up for each team and you'll have the score. The first inning, for instance was 1 to 0 in favor of Tigers. It was a real slugging bee and high score. How many runs did each team make?

SEND ANSWER TO-DAY. WIN FIRST PRIZE.

If you can find the correct score you can win first prize. The Chummy Roadster, Boys' and Girl's real gasoline auto.—the wonder car. Send your answer to-day. You don't have to buy or sell anything to win first prize. This is purely a publicity contest. When we receive your solution we will write you at once if correct, tell you how many points you have won toward first prize, and about a simple condition any boy or girl can fulfill in one minute.

Mother's Day is Observed

MADOC UNITED CHURCH

MADOC, May 14.—Mother's Day was particularly well observed in the United Church at the morning service on Sunday last, when a pageant, "Crowning Mother the Queen of Love" was presented in a beautiful and touching manner. The part of the Mother was taken by Mrs. F. Dafoe, who was crowned Queen, with a wreath of carnations by Albert Caskey, who took the part of the Son. Other characters represented were the Daughter, taken by Laura Ross; the Father, Mr. R. Welland; the Oldest Boy, Roswald Dafoe; the First Girl, Hazel Ross; the Second Girl, Kathleen Ludbrook; the Spirit of Love, Lucy Foster; the Herald, Douglas Haugh. Music was provided by a Senior chorus of boys and girls, and also by a Junior chorus. The children in the Junior chorus carried baskets of flowers, which were scattered around the Mother during the pageant.

A recitation, entitled, "Mother Is The Dearest One on Earth" was given by Lorna Roberts and Ruth Walker recited "I Love That Mother."

Rev. Mr. Foster gave an appropriate address on the origin of Mother's Day. A solo was sung by Mrs. Foster.

In the evening the music was conducted by a mothers' choir and addresses suitable to Mother's Day were given by four young men of the church.

MINSTREL SHOW HELD AT DOURO

Under Auspices of Boys' Canuck Club of Peterborough.

DOURO, May 14.—Harmony hall was packed on Tuesday evening when the Boys' Canuck club of Sacred Heart parish, Peterborough, put on a minstrel show. Rev. Father Maloney accompanied the boys and asked the audience to remember this was the first performance the boys had staged, except in their own hall. Rev. J. McGuire, curate, extended a welcome to Father Maloney and his boy actors and hoped it would not be their last appearance in Douro.

The first part of the programme was a sketch, "Gimme Them Peanuts," put on by five boys. Lawrence Gordon, Henry Jones, Tony Stante, Edward Woodhouse and Keith Foley.

The ten boys who put on the minstrel show were: Herbert Masterson, Joseph Collins, Joseph O'Toole, Fred. Meagher, Joseph O'Connell, Albert Guerin, Roy Bacon, John Cairns, Emmett McGrath, Leo Jones, Arthur Lazure.

Herb Masterson sang "The Red, Red Robin," with the whole cast joining in the chorus. Joseph O'Toole sang "Alabama Lullaby", Joseph O'Connell, "Take in the Sun, Hang Out the Morn." John Cairns sang "Tie Me to Your Apron Strings Again." The accompanist was Harold Armstrong.

The orchestra, Bruce Hall (violin), Roque Gordon (piano), and Joseph Miniccla (traps), supplied snappy music throughout the evening.

Among Peterborough people who accompanied the boys were: Roy Deanard, James Goselin, Ed. LaPlante, Clarence Bacon, Thomas Gordon, Michael Murray, Jr., Vincent Fitzgerald, Miss Marie Courneyea, Mrs. Edward O'Toole and Mrs. T. Bacon.

HOT WATER the minute you want it!

Here is the most economical and efficient hot water heater ever invented. By adjusting it to your present boiler you will have hot water when you want it—without a minute's delay or inconvenience.

The efficiency of McClary's A&F Electric Water Heater is not affected by lime or sediment. It fits snugly on the outside of the boiler—giving a continuous supply of hot water at minimum cost. Suitable for either flat rate or meter.

McClary's A&F Heater and Fibreform Cover are the most satisfactory water heating equipment on the market. The cover, attached to your present boiler, prevents 80% of heat loss—saving within a year or less enough to pay for the entire cost of the equipment.

Mrs. Bishop, of Cochrane, is in town for a few days.

Rev. Arthur Strother, who has been rector of St. John's Anglican church for the past three years, has accepted the offer of the parish of Adolphustown with its beautiful U. E. L. Memorial church. Mr. and Mrs. Strother will leave for their new home the first of June.

Mrs. A. Strother is attending the W. A. meetings in Kingston this week.

MARMORA NEWS.

MARMORA, May 14.—The annual Free distribution in connection with Picton Sunday school took place on Tuesday afternoon before the usual good attendance. Awards, such as Bibles, testaments, prayer-books and hymnals, were presented to those scholars whose attendance, conduct and memorising had been good. Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Blake, who have superintended this work for a number of years, report that the scholars show great interest in their studies and that competition is keener each year.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lummiss visited relatives in Glanmire on Sunday.

Mrs. William Kerr visited in Toronto for a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Almond Boyd and family visited relatives in West Huntingden on Sunday.

LITERARY EVENING AT Y.P.S. MEETING

WARKWORTH, May 14.—The young people of the Presbyterian church held an interesting literary meeting on Monday evening in the basement of the church, with an attendance of over forty.

Mrs. Carlaw had charge of the business part, and it was decided to close meetings for the summer months, and the last meeting will be held on May 16th.

The young people have organized a tennis club and Mr. Fowler was authorized to get the necessary equipment.

Mrs. Armstrong had charge of the following program.

An interesting paper on the Presbyterian church west of the Great Lakes was given by Miss Allie Mowat.

The Life and Works of Pauline Johnson, an Indian poetess was given by Cleora Cockburn. Miss Beatrice Merrille, dressed as an Indian Maid, recited one of Pauline Johnson's beautiful poems, "The Cattle Thief," which was much enjoyed. Recitation, "As Red Men Die" Edith Richards; Reading, "Sea Serpent," Ester Wright; Reading, "The Song My Paddle Sings," Pearl Boyce; Recitation, "Canadian-born," Mrs. Neil. Reading, "The Envoy Extraordinary," Mrs. Carlaw. Several hymns were sung and a pleasant evening brought to a close by repeating the Mizpah benediction.

W. I. MEETING.

Special Meeting of Percy Women's Institute Held at Warkworth.

WARKWORTH, May 14.—A special meeting of the Percy Woman's Institute was held recently at the home of Mrs. Joseph Greenly, with an attendance of one hundred and two.

The president, Mrs. Harry Kelly, in her opening remarks, explained the purpose of the special meeting. The work of the first- and second-year courses of the Girls' Garment-making Club had been complete and Miss Hopkins had been sent by the Department to judge the work and award certificates to the girls who had successfully completed the courses.

The programme was given entirely by the thirteen girls in the classes, and consisted of choruses, a recitation by Marguerite Nelson, reading by Lulu Nelson, and a piano solo by Ina Bowen.

The essays, written by the girls, describing their courses, were then read.

At the close of the programme, Mrs. Jennie Parks, instructress of the first-year work, was presented with a silk scarf from the girls of her class, and Mrs. George B. Bowen, instructress of the second-year course, was presented with a pyrex pie-plate from the three girls of her course. Both ladies very feelingly thanked the girls for their kindness and considered it a pleasure to have been able to conduct the courses.

Miss Hopkins was then called on to give a few remarks. She praised the work of the girls very highly, stating she really believed that some of the ladies present would not be able to do the work as well as some of the little girls had done. She considered the institute could do no greater work than to educate and entertain the young people of the community and urged them to put forth still greater efforts along this line. At the close of her remarks, she announced the names of those who were entitled to receive a certificate.

Personals.

Mrs. William Merriam, of Ogema, Sask., former resident of this village, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. P. J. Moran.

Rev. James Beckell, of Castleton, was in town on Friday.

What do you get for the price you pay?

VALUE is not a matter of price alone. It is simply what you get for the price you pay. Chevrolet is low in price—but not at the expense of quality. It is economical—because it is not cheaply built. It is supreme in value because it gives more of the things you want for the price you pay.

First and always, quality counts with Chevrolet. There is quality in the distinctive Fisher bodies; in the long, low lines; in the rich, lustrous Duco colors; in the smooth, powerful valve-in-head engine; in the scores of refinements, such as air cleaner, oil filter, gas strainer; in the luxury of its appointments and upholstery; in the long, resilient springs; in the easy, three-speed transmission.

The Most Beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet History is now selling at new and lower prices—the lowest for which Chevrolet has ever been sold in Canada.

Road Budgets go farther Motoring Costs Less

Road Budget . . . so much. For new mileage . . . so much. For MAINTENANCE . . . so much. There is the rub. Too big a proportion for upkeep. Too little for the crying need, NEW MILEAGE. Yet to increase the Budget would be burdensome.

It can, however, be kept within due limits and made more productive of NEW MILEAGE by standardizing on permanent concrete highways that need no costly upkeep. Follow this plan through successive seasons and the maintenance item which now bulks so large, becomes merely incidental.

Permanent concrete highways save money for the motorist, too. Gas, tire and repair bills shrink at least twenty-five per cent on their safe, even surface and driving becomes a pleasure.

From every angle therefore — as taxpayer or motorist or both—it pays you to advocate permanent concrete highways.

"It's the little they cost to maintain that makes Concrete Highways economical."

MADOC INSTITUTE PLANS FOR DANCE

Discussion Centres on Holidays For Busy Housewives.

MADOC, May 14.—The April meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Friday last at the home of Mrs. A. H. Watson. The president, Mrs. T. Tumelty, was in the chair and a good attendance was recorded. The roll-call was answered by "Cheer-up Ideas" many of which caused much fun and laughter.

A large part of the time was taken up with discussion of the dance which the Institute is holding on May 23rd, and for which Walters' orchestra of Napanee has been engaged. So much time was taken with the arrangements for this social evening that the music for the afternoon was crowded out. An interesting discussion on "How the Busy Housewife can Take a Holiday" was led by Mrs. F. Harrison.

The usual social hour over the teacups was enjoyed. The hostesses for the day were Mrs. A. H. Watson, Mrs. J. Watson, Mrs. Marcellus, and Mrs. B. Tanner.

TRENT RIVER NEWS.

TRENT RIVER, May 14.—Mr. E. H. Fairbrother returned to Toronto on Monday, accompanied by Messrs. Long and MacTavish, after spending over Sunday at the Fairbrother cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Waters and Mr. and Mrs. Storie, Napanee, were Sunday visitors with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Waters. Mr. Storie is a brother of Mrs. John Waters.

Rain fell continuously on Monday, making the farmers rejoice, as everything is growing fine and prospects are good.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Parker, Norwood, were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Inkster, Sunday.

Navigation opened on the canal on Tuesday morning when a tug passed through, towing a large scow of supplies en route down the canal.

Mr. Frank Pollock is having the interior of the post-office and store repainted.

HASTINGS CALLS FOR TENDERS FOR 15,000 YDS. OF PAVEMENT

Two Peterborough Contractors Seek Detailed Information.

ON COUNTY ROAD.

Hastings Defeats Warkworth 6-4 in Ball Game.

HASTINGS, May 14—The council on Wednesday decided to advertise for tenders for the construction of 15,000 square yards of street pavement, and already two Peterboro contractors have been here obtaining full information of the project. Specifications call for a concrete basis with surface of asphalt or other similar material, tile drainage, concrete curbs, macadam consolidation and earth excavation.

The letting of the contract requires the assent of the Counties Council, and Reeve Hess will again submit the Hastings petition as one of the major agenda of the June sessions. Tenders will be received up to May 25 and will afford definite facts to anticipate and answer the expected enquiries by Councillors as to the probable cost of the pavement. Reeve Hess told The Examiner that the approval of the Ontario Department of Highways had already been signified and that it would be conveyed personally to the Counties Council by a representative of the Department. The Reeve himself will present Hastings Council's claim, and it is believed that a favorable decision will be forthcoming.

The proposed pavement will not be the full width of the street, but a central strip twenty feet wide on the streets connecting the county roads systems of Peterboro and Northumberland.

Won Exhibition Game

Hastings defeated Warkworth on Wednesday afternoon by the score of 6-4 in an exhibition hard ball game. The batteries were Zufelt and Drewry for Warkworth and Stevenson, Lloyd Scriver and L. Lemoire for Hastings. It was smart game and provided a foretaste of the class of ball the Northumberland League should produce this summer. Charlie Davidson of Campbellford is president of the League the championship of which, with the Sam Clarke cup, was won by Hastings in 1925. Last year the league suspended operations.

C. P. Doughty is president of the Hastings team, Neil McDonald vice-president, W. R. Learmonth, secretary-treasurer and Dr. Hess, manager.

"And we're going to try to keep this up," said the manager yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fowlds are in Toronto for a few days.

Mr. F. J. Hickey of the Sun Life Insurance Company was in town on business yesterday.

He Admitted His Wife Came First

HE wanted to clear the mortgage on his $7000 house before he bought life insurance. His salary was $3000. He insured his house for $5000.

I put the case to him like this:

"Five thousand dollars at six per cent. would give you a revenue of $300 per year. Your death, however, would mean a loss of $3,000 per year."

That startled him.

"As it stands now," I continued, "If the house burns down, you get $5,000. If you go under, your wife gets nothing. And she is far more likely to lose you than you are to lose the house."

He admitted it was not reasonable and signed an application for a $50 Monthly Income Policy in favor of his wife.

HUDSON-ESEX SELLS 18,700 CARS IN 14 DAYS

Favored by a combination of favorable weather and the public demand for its cars, the Hudson Motor Car Co. saw more of its cars sold at retail in the first two weeks of April than in any other two weeks' period of its history, it is announced. In that period buyers purchased 18,700 Hudson and Essex.

This record, it is declared, is merely the latest development in a rising tide of Hudson-Essex popularity which set in at the opening of the year with the announcement of the new Hudson and Essex super-sixes. Every two weeks' period since that time has shown an increase of business. With the opening of spring weather, buying naturally has taken a sharp upturn.

"The significance of this record," said Mr. Brewer, Hudson-Essex distributor, when he received the figures, "is that it was made despite decided shortage in Hudson and Essex cars. In our own territory we could well deliver to buyers many more cars than the factory is able to supply us.

"The Hudson-Essex factories are working at their capacity of 1,500 cars daily, and we ourselves are turning every effort to have cars ready for our buyers. We consider it a definite cause of regret not to be able to deliver a car at the very time the purchaser wants it, and so arrange our business that this condition seldom arises even at a time like the present. With the immense volume the Hudson-Essex plants are producing we have a large number of cars coming to us steadily. When we have the buyer's co-operation in ordering a little in advance we are able to serve him all the more satisfactorily.

"In manufacturing between 35,000 and 40,000 6-cylinder cars a month, the Hudson-Essex organization is establishing a mark never before approached in the motor car industry. Half this number of cars always has been considered an immense volume for a six-cylinder manufacturer. Such widespread popularity as this is certainly a convincing proof of outstanding value and quality.

"The popularity of Hudson-Essex is now world-wide. Nearly 5,000 cars a month are going overseas.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, May 14—Export buyers are still "out of line," and so long as the domestic demand keeps prices up to present high levels there is little prospect of any export business.

Local demand for choice butcher steers and heifers has been very keen all this week, and prices in this class well above last week's best. Fancy lots have sold up to $9.65, top price for the season.

All other classes of butcher killers steady to firm.

Not much doing in stockers and feeders at present high prices.

Choice handyweight butcher steers and heifers firmer at $8.25 to $9.25; fair to good butcher, $7.25 to $8.25.

Cows, good to choice, $6.25 to $7.50; medium, $5.50 to $6.50.

Bulls steady, $5.50 to $7.

Calves a shade firmer at $11 to $12 tops.

Sheep and lambs—Choice yearling lambs, with wool, 14c to 14½c; clipped, 12c; choice sheep, $7 to $8; spring lambs, $12 to $14 per head.

Hogs — Sold this week at $10.75 weighed off cars for selects. Thick smooth hogs, $1 per head discount; heavy hogs, $3 per head discount; shop hogs, $2 per head discount; extra heavy hogs, 2c per pound less than selects; No. 1 sows, 3c per pound less than selects; No. 2 sows, 4c per pound less than selects; and stags 6c per pound less than selects. Rough hogs sold according to quality. Hogs from off the trucks, $10.50 for selects.

Receipts.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 14 (Canadian Press).—There was no improvement in the demand from foreign buyers for grain here yesterday and the market was very quiet.

Outside of a little demand from local exporters for No. 1 Northern wheat on spot and sales of a few loads at $1.66 per bushel, c.i.f. Montreal and some purchases of scalping oats at 41½c per bushel, c.i.f. Bay Ports, the domestic cash grain market was quiet. The feeling in American corn was stronger and prices were marked up 1 cent per bushel. Car lots of No. 3 Yellow were quoted at 98½c per bushel, No. 4 Yellow at 93c, and Sample Corn at 90c per bushel.

Prices for all grades of Spring and Winter wheat flour were well maintained under a quiet demand.

A moderate amount of business was worked in all lines of millfeed and prices were unchanged. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was firm, but the volume of business was small.

The egg market was fairly active and firm. The receipts were 1,716 cases.

The undertone to the potato market was firm and the demand continued good. Car lots of Quebec varieties were quoted at $1.65 to $1.70 per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, ex-track.

Owing to the unexpected marked increase in the receipts of butter here and the prospects of offerings from the West in the near future combined with a falling off in the demand from all sources, a weaker feeling developed in the market and prices scored a decline of ½c to ¾c per pound. The receipts were 2,671 packages.

Trade in cheese was quiet but prices were unchanged. The receipts were 1,041 boxes.

What Mrs. G. A. Moir Says of Dodd's Kidney Pills

"I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills for over five years. My home is hardly ever without them," writes Mrs. G. A. Moir of Hawkshaw, N.B. "My husband has been laid up with a lame back and rheumatism. I got him one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and he was able to return at once to work. I can't praise them enough."

Kidney trouble, unless given prompt attention, frequently develops into much more serious forms, such as rheumatism, dropsy, lumbago, diabetes, heart disease and urinary troubles.

To be assured of good health keep the kidneys healthy—take Dodd's Kidney Pills.

CHEESE MAKER SUES COMPANY

Wishes To Recover Money Withheld For Faulty Cheese.

BLAMES EQUIPMENT.

HAVELOCK, May 14.—His Honor Judge Huycke presided at the May sittings of the Fifth Division Court of the County of Peterborough in the Town Hall here on the afternoon of May 12, when the following case came up for trial:

Harry McMillan, versus the Victoria Cheese and Butter Co. Amount of claim, $100.00.

Mr. McMillan, who is the cheesemaker at the Victoria Factory, had an agreement with the company, whereby he was to bear the loss for any inferior cheese. The sum of one hundred dollars had been charged to him to overcome the loss on the output of second and third-grade cheese from the factory last summer. Mr. McMillan entered suit for this amount and testified that the conditions of the factory were such as to handicap him in making first-class cheese. The temperature of the cooling room was not cool enough, leaking vats and too ripe milk were the conditions he said he had to contend with.

Mr. Baker, cheesemaker from South Dummer, and Mr. Wheatley, cheesemaker from Rush Point, were witnesses for Mr. McMillan.

G. B. Sanders, president of the company, testified that up until July of last year that Mr. McMillan had made good cheese, and he maintained that the inferior cheese was the result of the cheesemaker not attending to his duties and leaving the work in charge of his helper, a sixteen-year-old boy.

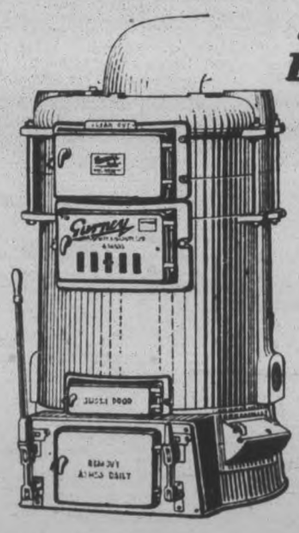
Grant Dafoe, secretary of the company, Wellyn Dafoe, one of the directors, and Mr. Bailey, Provincial dairy instructor, also testified for the defendants.

Mr. Bailey's evidence showed that the milk, the vats, and the cooling room were faulty.

The Judge reserved his decision.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff, and J. A. O'Brien for the defendants.

A Revolution in HOME HEATING



The NEW Gurney "100 Series" has set up a new standard of efficiency, economy and convenience

For the first time in years a definite improvement has been made in the construction of hot water boilers.

It is embodied in the new Gurney "100 Series" which positively makes combustion of coal more perfect and the utilization of the hot gases more complete.

If home boilers were used in industry where costs and results are known, most of those now in use would be scrapped as wasteful, inefficient and out-of-date in comparison with the new Gurney "100 Series."

Read the particulars of the Gurney "100 Series." Then ask your architect or steam fitter and he will tell you that every new feature is one which heating engineers have striven to achieve. Only Gurney engineers have succeeded.

Houses fitted with this newest, most perfect boiler will give more comfort to their owners or bring a higher price to their builders. Yet the Gurney "100 Series" costs no more than an old-fashioned boiler.

The NEW Gurney "100 Series" The 100% Boiler

Fire pot and combustion chamber 40% higher—more perfect combustion of fuel. Longer periods between firing. Burns any kind of coal. Burns to ash—few clinkers.

Staggered flue openings through water sections—thus mixing the gases thoroughly—every part of the sections subject to the heat of the gases, thus exhausting their heat before they enter the smoke flue.

Flue spaces 33⅓% larger—a greater body of hot gases around the sections through which the water flows. Flues kept clean more easily through convenient flue door.

Grates may be set for a "shake" or a "dump"—and are worked by a long sturdy handle. Not necessary to stoop or bend.

Specially adapted to oil, and gives the same superior results with oil as with coal.

For automatic control, if desired, dampers in boiler and smoke flue at side and accurately balanced.

Your architect or steamfitter will tell you that every feature mentioned above contributes to more heat, less fuel cost, more convenience in operating.

A New Frock With Plaited Tiers

The straight-line silhouette is smartly treated in this simple frock with its frills finely plaited in the Paris manner. Note, also, the unusual treatment of the tie collar, the ends of which are crossed over forming a becoming V, and fastened to the front with buttons. The short sleeves are finished with a plaited frill, and the pattern provides long, dart-fitted sleeves should they be desired. NO. 1393 is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 yards 39-inch plain material, and 2⅜ yards 36-inch contrasting for plaited frills; long sleeves ½ yard additional 39-inch material. 20 cents.

The secret of distinctive dress lies in good taste rather than a lavish expenditure of money. Every woman should want to make her own clothes, and the home dressmaker will find the designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book to be practical and simple, yet maintaining the spirit of the mode of the moment. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

But Faith did not go to court the next day. Churchill himself came to forbid her appearance that day, arrived before nine, while Faith was weakly resisting Aunt Hattie's efforts to keep her in bed.

And so, fuming and fretful, Faith stayed in bed another day, while Aunt Hattie cooked and swept and brewed hot lemonade and rubbed the protesting girl's chest with villainous mixtures of kerosene, turpentine and lard, and gave short, peppery interviews to the indefatigable reporters.

"Reckon she aint' gonna die, though the Lord knows this picking on an innocent child and hauling her into court and trying her for murder when she's never hurt a fly in her life is enough to kill us all," Aunt Hattie snapped at the reporters. "Now, clear out, all of you! I got my work to do and an invalid on my hands."

"You know, Bob," Faith told her sweetheart when he came that evening, "the most terrible thing about it is the fact that we're all getting used to it—to first page notoriety, to our pictures all over the papers, seeing Cherry's name in headlines. I would have sworn that the disgrace would have killed us all, but we're all alive, except poor mother, and Dad is even a little bit proud, though it would break his heart if he heard me say so. Now tell me about today. Dad's paper didn't have any very exciting headlines."

"Just small stuff," Bob told her, as he drew his chair close to the bed and reached for her hands. "Old Preston, the insurance man that Cherry worked for before she went into Uncle Ralph's office, testified that Cherry was a nice girl, that she didn't try to gold-dig him, and that she quit of her own accord. Pretty decent of him, considering the fact that she quit after she had slapped his face for trying to kiss her."

"Oh, it was sweet of him!" Faith cried, her eyes misting with tears. "Who else testified?"

"A couple of detectives told of seeing automobile tire tracks in the fresh snow, in the alley, when they were searching for the murderer. One set of tracks, they swore, turned west, just beyond the end of the drive way and headed back up the alley—west, you know, the way the car had come. That corroborates Sanders' testimony about the taxicab. Then your fiance, Mr Robert Hathaway, got in his full and complete story of the mysterious footprints."

"Oh, Bob! And I missed it!" Faith mourned, laying his hand against he cheek.

"Glad you did," Bob chuckled. "Old Banning got my goat on cross-examination and we almost came to blows. But Churchill managed to get my measurements of the funny footprints before the jury as exhibit B for the defense."

"What did you and Banning row about?" Faith laughed.

"Oh, he tried to insinuate that I might have killed Uncle Ralph myself—jealousy motive, you know, because I'd once been engaged to Cherry. Pretty raw, but I suppose all's fair in our so-called courts of justice. Churchill got my version of the Saturday night party at the Marlboro Country Club, to offset Aunt Alice's damaging testimony against Cherry. And—I lied, Faith. That's why I said I'm glad you weren't there."

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR SUNDAY, MAY 15, 1927

Astrologers read this as an unimportant day in planetary direction when it is wise to rest and to make the most of opportunity for reflection.

Churches should benefit under this sky, which encourages meditation and serious planning for the future.

This is an auspicious sway for outdoor recreations and should be beneficial to aged persons.

Under this rule of the stars there should be a disposition to be kindly and tolerant. It is promising for domestic harmony.

Farmers and gardeners should benefit. Both flowers and fruit should be abundant this year in which there will be unusual rainfall.

Again extremes will be apparent in social relations and the prospect of military training will be a leveling possibility, the seers declare.

Many calls for aid from all who are charitably inclined will be made in the coming months when there will be much distress in many far corners of the earth.

The clergy again are subject to influences making for their services in governmental or military capacities, astrologers prophesy.

Educators should benefit, for there is to be a great demand for all who have trained minds and are able to impart knowledge.

A bad season and possibly a plague may contribute to the many problems that India presents.

Astrologers prophesy that a new problem involving a phase of Asiatic immigration is to be presented to the United States.

New York and Washington are to receive many foreign visitors in the next few weeks.

Secret diplomacy is strongly presaged by the stars, which are read as foreshadowing difficult questions to be settled by the President.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year in which they perform all duties with special care and win as a reward many pieces of good fortune.

Children born on this day probably will be extremely industrious and able to succeed by means of hard work.

DOCTORS ADVICE TO THE SICK

Wash Away All Poisons in Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels Before Breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, no more headaches, indigestion, gas on stomach, bilious attacks, rheumatism, kidney pains, bad breath, you must bathe your self inside. Start today by taking one Tanol Calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime, then next morning drink a glass or two of hot water to wash from the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels all the previous day's waste, poison and toxins before more food is taken in. Get a few Tanol tablets from F. C. Weber, Charlotte street, Peterborough. They are harmless to take, do not nauseate, no bad after effects, no salts or seidlitz next morning, like ordinary calomel. Then you can eat better, sleep better, work better, think better and look better.

DRESS

Above is shown the much discussed collarless neckline as it appears on a spring jacket, which is edged about with material of contrasting color. The collarless neckline, as used for afternoon or evening, is shown below.

You may recently have possessed one or two because you thought that they were rather smart and up-to-date—and gave you a look of distinction among the majority of women who still wear bare necks. But when all is said and done there is very little that anyone can say to recommend a return of this fashion. It isn't even healthy to swaddle our necks especially if we wear low-necked frocks in the evening. And not one woman in a hundred really looks better in a high collar than a low one. Realizing the preference that most women still have for the comfortable neckline the dressmakers this spring have actually stressed a new collarless neckline. Collars appear on the blouses or shirt blouses sometimes worn with the two-piece suit, though frequently a sweater shirt with no collar is chosen instead.

Rather new is the collarless neckline on jackets, some of which look as if they had been left unfinished by the tailor just before he had come to put on the regulation notched collar. The effect is not noticed if a fox or silk scarf is worn around the neck, but without this accessory the outline seems at first a little bare. There are tailored jackets of this sort and some of the spring coats following the latest Paris models are also finished with a V-neck sans any sort of collar finish.

The all-black ensemble has become quite as smart here as it is in Paris and in its crisp freshness there really is nothing doleful about it. In this country at least that is the difficulty about an all-black ensemble—some one always assumes that you are in mourning. The Parisienne who wears the all-black ensemble goes so far as to wear a black shoulder flower as well. Even her gloves may be black, though she may choose those of a soft flesh color to match her stockings.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By ROBERT F. FOSTER.

(Copyright, 1927, by Robert F. Foster)

REBIDDING THE HAND.

At auction, the dealer starts with as cheap a bid as possible that will convey to the partner a correct idea of his holding. If he bids one in suit, his normal holding is five cards, and he wants his partner to deny the suit if short in it. If the dealer starts with a bid of two in a major suit, he intimates that he does not care if he finds only one or two small trumps in his dummy, as he has trumps enough for both hands.

There is no such thing as a free bid of two in a minor suit, clubs or diamonds, among good players, as it serves only to embarrass the partner and at the same time tells the adversaries that there is not another sure trick in the hand, or the bid would be no-trumps, as we shall see presently. There is nothing the partner would not do in response to a bid of two clubs or diamonds, that he could not equally do if the bid were one only.

At auction, this distinction between a bid of one in a major suit and then advancing the bid later, or bidding one or two at the start and saying no more, shows the outside holding. Take these examples:

H., A K 10 x x; C., x x x; D., x x x; S., x x. One heart bid, and nothing more to say.

H., A K 10 x x; C., A x x; D.; x x x; S., x x. One heart, and if overcalled or assisted by partner two hearts, showing a sure trick outside hearts.

H., A K 10 x x; C., A K x; D.; x x; S., x x. One heart and rebid the suit twice, showing two extra tricks.

H., A K 10 x x; C., A K x; D.; A x x; S., x x. One heart, advancing the bid three times if necessary.

This is auction bidding, in which the dealer may not be called upon to rebid the hand at all, or perhaps only once, and if he wins tricks enough to go home, he will score game.

At contract he can not do this, but must bid game if he wants to score game, and games are very valuable on account of the bonus of 100 points that goes with the first game of the rubber, and 300 for winning the second game.

For this reason many players consider that the auction method of rebidding hands should be abandoned and the full value named at once. This also abandons the advantage of first showing the partner that assistance in trumps is wanted, and of showing outside tricks when that normal assistance has been assured.

It should be obvious that if the partner has only two or three tricks, which is not enough for an assist, you can not go game unless you have seven or eight yourself, and may fail even then if you find a number of trumps against you in one hand. If you are long enough in trumps to disregard this possibility you can bid game on eight tricks.

In contract you have this safeguard which does not exist at auction. If your partner has an assist four tricks he will assist even if second hand passes simply to reopen the bidding. You can then rebid your hands to the limit. If he jumps the bid you have the same opportunity.

For this reason most players prefer to be on the safe side and bid only one on five-card major suits as a starter. Then, if the adversaries just overcall, to rebid the hand, as the partner may have normal assistance in trumps, but not enough sure tricks outside trumps to make an assist. This gives us this table for partner.

Do not assist a bid of one with less than four tricks. If dealer rebids, you can assist with three tricks. After a second rebid, you can assist with two tricks. After a third rebid, you can assist with one trick.

As an example of a cautious approach to the safety limit in bidding, taking this distribution:

A's hand—H., Q J; C., 10 9 8; D., 9 5 4; S., A K 9 5 3.

Y's hand—H., 9 5 3; C., A Q J 3 2; D., 8 7; S., 10 4 2.

B's hand—H., 8 7 2; C., K 6; D., K Q J 6 3; S., J 8 6.

Z's hand—H., A K 10 6 4; C., 7 5 4; D., A 10 2; S., Q 7.

Z deals and bids one heart. A one spade. With normal trump assistance, four tricks in clubs and no ability to ruff, Y can assist once, but no more, so Y bids two hearts. B holds four tricks in diamonds, normal trump assistance and what might be a trick with the club king, as clubs must be the assisting suit on his right, but unless A has more than four tricks, which would be a rebid they can not go game, so B just assists once, bidding two spades.

Z now rebids, three hearts, showing his outside trick, just to keep A and B from getting the contract too cheaply, although he knows that if his partner could not bid more than two hearts game is improbable. A passes, having no rebid, but B will go to three spades, for the same reason that Z went to three hearts.

Neither side can make more than three odd, but Y or Z might deliberately overbid at the risk of being set, just to keep A and B from playing the hand, the honor score is worth nothing in contract, so a set is a dead loss, but the partial score might be valuable to A and B.

A's hand—H., 10 5; C., 9 6; D., 10 5 3 2; S., A K 10 6 3.

Y's hand—H., Q J 7 2; C., A J 7 5; D., A 9 6 4; S., 4.

B's hand—H., 9 3; C., K Q 8 2; D., K J 8; S., Q J 5 2.

Z's hand—H., A K 8 6 4; C., 10 4 3; D., Q 7; S., 9 8 7.

Z deals and bids one heart. He has no rebid. A bids one spade, also having no rebid. Y now counts his hand for two tricks each in clubs and diamonds and one trick for the extra trump length, and one more for the ability to ruff spades. With these six tricks he jumps the bid to four hearts, adding his six to the dealer's four, which is ten.

Unless A has a rebid, B can not bid game. He has two tricks in clubs, one in diamonds, and the two for his extra trumps, but he can not ruff anything until the third round, which is too remote to bid upon it. Add his five to his partner's four and it is nine only, and nine tricks is all they can make in play, with spades trumps. But in spite of that, B should bid four spades, just to keep Y and Z from going game. At auction, the score for four honors, 40 points, would be worth something, but at contract they have no value. Y would consider four spades a "free double," as it wins the game if made, whether doubled or not.

Thousands never knew such sleeping comfort ever existed

Ask any Marshall owner what he or she thinks of the Marshall Spring Mattress. You'll probably be surprised at the heartiness with which this wonderful mattress is praised. But confirm their enthusiasm by asking others, and soon you'll believe there must be something unusual about a mattress which brings forth such enthusiastic replies as:

"I never thought a mattress could make such a difference."

"I wouldn't sell mine for five times what I paid for it if I couldn't get another."

The Marshall Spring Mattress is as different from the ordinary stuffed mattress as the old-fashioned broom is from the vacuum cleaner. The inner spring construction of the Marshall properly supports the body in its true and natural position.

The actual photograph above reveals the secret. Notice how the inner spring construction of the Marshall Mattress conforms to every curve of the figure. The body is not distorted, cramped or sagging as when sleeping on the ordinary hard, unyielding mattress—or unhealthfully smothered as in too soft a mattress.

You'll always be proud of the smart, neat appearance the Marshall gives to your bed. It will not sag, spread or pack, but always supports the covers evenly and smoothly.

A mattress that will give many years of extra service, produce better and more healthful sleeping comfort through a definite scientific construction is naturally worth a few extra dollars. When others are replacing their ordinary mattresses your Marshall will still be as good as new.

Present Marshall owners know that though their mattresses cost a little more at first—it is actually the cheaper mattress over a period of years, and the soundest investment they ever made in really restful and healthful sleeping comfort.

Examine this greatest of all mattresses today at your furniture store. Made in five grades from $25.00 up—all Marshall Spring Mattresses are guaranteed for FIVE YEARS.

LONE WHITE FIGHTS EPIDEMIC.

While the Swedish steamer Boren was passing through the Solomon Islands on its present journey, it was stopped by a canoe which contained natives and the sole white occupant of Stuart Island, who asked for medicine to fight an epidemic that was raging on the island. The man said that he was stationed on the tiny islet in the archipelago by a trading company, and that he had charge of 100 natives. The only communication that he had with the outside world was the visit every four or six months of a boat with provisions from Tugali, principal town of the Solomons. To connect with the Boren he had had to take the risk of venturing in the canoe several miles into the open sea. The Boren supplied the medicine and notified Tulagi of the epidemic.

THIS GREAT HEALING OIL MUST BANISH ECZEMA AND SKIN TROUBLES

Or Your Money Back. That's the Plan on Which Emerald Oil Is Sold By Bond's Drug Store and All Good Druggists.

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well.

You've probably been, like a lot of other people, convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good) but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores and the condition primarily remains the same.

Go to Bond's Drug Store or any other good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

Don't expect a single bottle to do it all at once but one bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered one way to restore your skin to perfect health.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

CHICKEN THEFT CASE DISMISSED

Pearse and William Nicholson Are Immediately Re-arrested. WANTED IN BELLEVILLE.

The case against Pearse Nicholson, in which he was charged with stealing chickens from Roland Dickson, of Otonabee was dismissed by Magistrate O. A. Langley in police court yesterday afternoon. The Crown withdrew the charge against his brother William and the two men were immediately re-arrested by Provincial Constable Maker, and will be held for the Belleville authorities, where they are charged with stealing chickens between Belleville and Madoc.

Magistrate Langley in dismissing the case said he had a strong suspicion that the accused committeed the crime but the Crown had failed to produce evidence showing that these men were either seen with the chickens or that they disposed of them.

W. F. Huycke acted for the accused, and Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C. appeared for the Crown.

Roland Dickson, the first witness on the night of April 18. The next day he followed a man's tracks across a ploughed field from his hen house to the road.

Thomas Heffernan, a neighbor of Dickson's, said he was returning home from Keene early in the morning of April 19, and he saw a car parked in front of the Dickson farm. He identified the accused as one of the men who were with the car. James Heffernan, brother of the former witness, also corroborated the story of his brother, but he was unable to identify the accused as the man standing beside the car.

Constable N. F. Maker, who was asked to look into the case by Roland Dickson, after investigating had Provincial Constable P. McCoy, of Madoc arrest Pearse Nicholson, whose home is near Madoc, and when he went after the accused he told him that he was in Peterborough about 5.30 on the morning of April 19. He said he saw the tracks in the field and followed them to the road near where the car had been parked. County Constable Frank Pratt corroborated the story of Constable Maker.

Teresa Nicholson, wife of the accused, was the first witness called for the defence. She said her husband was with her on the night of the 18th and that they were at the home of her mother until early in the morning, when they left to go to their own home. They slept in the next morning, and at no time was her husband away. Mrs. Parcels the second and final witness for the defence said that the Nicholsons spent part of the night with her and did not leave her home until after midnight. She said it would take six hours to come from her home to Peterborough, which is about 43 miles. The Crown thought that it would be very slow motoring if it took that long.

Mr. Huycke, in summing up the case, said there was a lot of suspicious evidence and the only direct evidence against the accused was that of Thomas Heffernan, which he considered was not satisfactory. There was no evidence connecting the accused with the offence and hence he thought the case ought to be dismissed.

Mr. Hatton in submitting his case said that the fowl were stolen and that Nicholson was the only man seen around there, and that the evidence of Heffernan and Maker should be accepted.

Magistrate Langley in dismissing the case, said he was not satisfied with the evidence of the defence, and he would not hesitate in no believing it, but that here was no direct evidence to how that Nicholson took the chickens. "It is a case full of strong suspicion, but the accused must have the benefit of the doubt. I am inclined to think that there is another link that the Crown might have brought out, whereby it would be shown what this man did with the chickens."

ST. JOHN'S W. A.

Regular Monthly Business and Devotional Meeting Held.

The regular monthly devotional and business meeting of St. John's W.A. was held on Tuesday, May 10, with the President, Mrs. A. W. Turner, in the chair. There were over forty members present.

Prayers and Litanies were conducted by the President, owing to the absence of the Vicar, Dr. R. C. Blagrave, and Bible reading by the Educational Secretary, Mrs. Cameron. Reports from the annual conference in Toronto were read by the three delegates, Mrs. Deyman, Mrs. Ross, and Mrs. Bridge, and were all very inspiring.

At the close of the meeting, tea was served by Mrs. Lemmings' committee.

At a certain hospital near Winchester, England, anyone who cares to make application at the wicket gate is served with a slice of bread and a horn cup of beer. The custom dates back to Norman times.

YOUNG ORATORS IN COMPETITION

Stirling High School Pupils Speak on Canadian Topics.

STIRLING NEWS.

STIRLING, May 14.—The first function to be held here in connection with the recognizing of 1927, a the Jubilee year of the Confederation of the provinces of the Dominion of Canada, was the High School Oratorical Contest, held in the town hall on Friday night last. The six contestants and their subjects were as follows:—Clinton McGee, Sir John A. MacDonald; Mabel McCarthy, Sir Wilfred Laurier; Kingsley Joblin, Sir Wm. Vanhorne, Harry Faulkner, Royal North West Mounted Police; John Danford, Sir Adam Beck; Patrica Shea, Principal George M. Grant.

The speakers all showed marked ability in the preparation, and subject matter of the speeches. The audience gave them strict attention, and the judges, Public School Inspector McGuire, of Tweed and Messrs. H. C. Martin and Gerald Clute made the following awards, which was no easy task to perform: 1st prize, $5.00, and medal, Clinton McGee; 2nd prize, $5.00, Patrica Shea; 3rd prize, $3.00, Mabel McCarthy.

Women's Institute Meets.

The annual meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday night in the agricultural office, with a good attendance. The secretary gave a report of the year's work, which was quite satisfactory. A wreath of flowers will be purchased and used at the unveiling of the Soldier's Memorial on May 22nd. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year—President, Mrs. R. W. Meiklejohn; 1st vice-president, Mrs. M. W. Sine; 2nd vice-president, Miss Eliza Donnan; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Clinton McGee; district director, Mrs. A. F. MacDonnel; directors, Mesdames Matthews, Baker, Spry and Belshaw; representatives to district convention, Mesdames Meiklejohn, McGee and MacDonnel; Auditors, Mesdames Belshaw and Lagrow. The convention will be held in the pavilion at Oak Lake early in June.

St. Andrew's W.M.S.

A largely attended meeting of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jane McGee on Gore street, Mrs. A. B. Fargey, the president, presiding.

The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. I. J. McGee; the review of the "Glad Tidings," was looked after by Mrs. A. Hammond; the roll call answer was Mercy; the topic was in charge of Mrs. M. W. Sine, assisted by Mesdames J. Reid, S. MacIntosh, L. Rodgers and Miss Gena Spry. The various committees reported progress in the work being done in connection with the meeting of the Presbyterial here on June 1st.

Mothers' Day Observed.

The Mothers' Day services in the various churches was fittingly carried out on Sunday morning as provided for in the programs prepared for the occasion. Good congregations were present of both children and grown-ups. At the morning service in St. Paul's United church, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rodgers was baptised by Rev. H. T. Crossley, the name given the child was Arthur Meighen Rodgers.

Messrs. Crossley and Leonard are continuing their meetings at the United Church with increasing interest each night.

Rebekahs Meet.

An interesting meeting of Laurel Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F. was held on Tuesday night after the regular business had been transacted. Mr. O'Connor one of the advertising agents of the Canadian National Railways, gave a series of moving pictures, featuring views along their lines throughout the Dominion. The members of the District Committee of Madoc District No. 45, I.O.O.F., who had just concluded a district meeting, were present, and as they had just planned an excursion on June 3rd to Rochester by way of Cobourg, one reel of pictures which features this route proved very interesting.

On Wednesday night, at the regular meeting of Stirling Lodge No. 239, I.O.O.F., the degree team of Springbrook Lodge, No. 429 were present, and exemplified the Initiatory degree. After the business of the lodge was finished, Mr. O'Connor gave another exhibition of his pictures shown the night before, as well as others of an equally interesting nature, as those shown on Tuesday night. The music for the occasion was furnished by members of the Stirling orchestra, composed of Duncan Marshall, violin; Ned Potts, cornet; Maurice Bell, banjo; S. A. Murphy, piano. After this the lunch committee invited those present to the dining hall, where the wants of the inner man were satisfied.

Man Knocked Down.

A serious accident happened to Norman Ray on Monday night, when he was knocked down by a runaway car at Mr. Hiram Acker's garage; the result being a cut in one of his legs which required surgical attention to the extent of nine stitches to bring the parts together. Mr. Ray is confined to his bed, but no serious results are anticipated.

The accident was caused by a car being left standing on the street by two boys. It is supposed the brake was not applied when they left the car, and it suddenly began to run backwards and, turning to one side, crossed the street, striking Mr. Ray.

The District Medical Officer of Health, Dr. Sutton, of Peterborough, is in the village making an official inspection of the stables and surroundings of those who sell or furnish milk for sale in the village. The By-law regulating the production and sale of milk here is about to be enforced, and with this end in view the council has appointed C. W. Thompson as an inspector to enforce the regulations required by the by-law. As Mr. Thompson had many years experience as a cheesemaker and then as a successful farmer, he is competent to carry out the duties of the office.

Teams were engaged this week in drawing loam to improve the bowling green at the park on Gore street.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Matthews, of Consecon spent the week end with their parents here.

Mr. Harry Ingram, of the Royal Bank, Picton, was a Sunday visitor here.

Now* an Even Greater Car Scoring an even Greater Success

YOU know how all the resources of General Motors were used to make the original Pontiac Six the finest car ever introduced into the field of low-priced sixes. You know the wildfire success that resulted.

But do you know that the present day Pontiac—at its new low prices, is a new and finer six—an even greater car that is scoring an even greater success?

It offers the added appeal of new Fisher bodies—longer, lower, roomier and finished in new and striking combinations of enduring Duco.

It embodies important mechanical refinements—tilting-beam headlights with foot control, new transmission and brake levers, oil-tight universal joints and a clutch even smoother in action.

It provides in full measure those basic Pontiac qualities that took all America by storm—those qualities of stamina, economy and long life which were developed by over three years' testing on the great General Motors Proving Ground!

Small wonder that the tide of public preference is turning to the Pontiac Six—as never before to another six in the low-priced field! PF-2620

Drive the car that established 10 world records—

5000 miles in less than 5000 minutes!

The* COMMANDER

A STUDEBAKER BIG SIX

Only by owning a Commander can you avoid taking Commander dust on hills and highways

FROM one Coast to the other, The Commander is smashing records of speed, records of hill climbing, and records of sales!

5000 Miles in Less Than 5000 Minutes

In a recent sensational test at Culver City, California, under the auspices of the American Automobile Association, Harry Hartz and three other noted pilots drove The Commander—a strictly stock, fully-equipped enclosed car—5000 miles in 4909 minutes, total elapsed time, establishing ten new world records!

This is better than mile-a-minute speed for 81 consecutive hours and 49 minutes—the fastest speed for the farthest distance ever attained by any stock car!

The Commander Out-Climbs All Other Cars

In Toronto, on April 26th, a Commander carried seven passengers up Pellatt's Hill in 30 seconds! Up a 10% grade, over wet, rough road surface, this powerful Big Six motor carried 1219 pounds one-tenth of a mile to the top in high gear! Then from a standing start in high gear, The Commander carried two passengers over the crest in 26.7 seconds!

As an additional test, seven men were carried up the hill at slow speed in high gear. Starting at the bottom at a speed of only 10 miles per hour, going over the top at 9 miles per hour!

Tests were made with a strictly stock Studebaker under the observation and timing of W. B. Hastings, Manager of Tests and Contests, Ontario Motor League and Canadian Automobile Association.

In Montreal, Too

In Montreal, on April 19th, a Commander climbed the mile-long Mount Plesant Avenue and Belvedere Road in 2 minutes, 58½ seconds! The car carried two passengers, weighing 358 pounds, up an elevation of 433 feet!

Another Montreal test was on a 17% grade up Clarke Avenue, Westmount. The Commander started in high and climbed to the top at a speed of 15 miles per hour. T. C. Kirby, General Manager Montreal Motorists League, timed and observed these tests. Performance on hills demonstrates the power built into every Studebaker by Canadian craftsmen.

What These Records Mean to You

You probably will never need mile-a-minute speed for 5000 miles—you may never want to enter a hill-climbing contest. But these remarkable records are further proof of what we have demonstrated time and again on Studebaker's 800-acre Proving Ground—that The Commander in every phase of every-day driving will out-perform and out-live any other car, six or eight, selling for less than $3500.

Harry Hartz wired after setting 10 new world records in The Commander:

"Based on my experience driving my personal Studebaker Commander and in making the recent record run at Culver City Speedway with a Studebaker Commander strictly stock model, it is my opinion that it will maintain any given speed, up to 65 miles per hour, longer, more smoothly, and at less expense per hour traveled, for gasoline, oil and repairs, than any other stock automobile now being built."

The best evidence for you of the thrilling performance of The Commander is what the car will do in your own hands. Get behind the wheel of a Commander as our guest—without strings or obligation. Learn for yourself why the Studebaker Big Six now far out-sells the combined totals of all other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower. 'Phone us now and take command of The Commander today!

Commander Sedan, $2350; Commander Victoria, $2440; (broadcloth upholstery, $2440) Commander Coupe, $2285 (with rumble seat, $2440)—Other Studebaker and Erskine models range in price from $1355 to $3295. All prices, delivered in Peterborough, completely equipped and tax paid.

CLOSE GAMES AT HOBBY SHOW

Finals of the Three Sections Will Be Played To-night.

MANY BOYS ENTER.

The ping-pong tournament started off with a bang at the Hobby Show on Thursday night. Elimination contests were carried on all evening in the three classes. The skill exhibited by some of the contests was splendid and attracted a great deal of attention, and the crowd of spectators remained until the last game of the evening.

The following boys reached the finals:

Class A—Zernel Levine and Clifford Horne.

Class B—E. Haley.

Class C—R. Sturgeon.

The final games will be played to-night in the lobby of the Y.M.C.A.

Chess Tournament.

Close contests resulted in the chess tournament. The results were as follows:

Class A—Clarence Barnes and T. Nasimok. These two players won one game each, and will play a deciding game to-day.

Class B — N. Julian and Gordon Roper. After a hard game N. Julian won the first game. These players will also play to-day as the championship is decided by the best two out of three games.

Checkers.

Conducted by the Rev. W. S. Edgar. The checker contest drew many entries.

Class A—First Round.

William Barry vs. J. Spellman. Winner—W. Barry.

W. Curtis vs. G. Carrol. Winner—G. Carrol.

M. Glover vs. A. Ward. Winner—A. Ward.

L. Spellman vs. B. Ross. Winner—B. Ross.

E. Peters vs. J. Couper. Winner—E. Peters.

G. Mattice vs. L. McBain. Winner—L. McBain.

Byes—J. Pearson, R. Herrick, and Woods.

In the second round the results were as follows:

W. Barry vs. G. Carrol. Winner—G. Carrol.

E. Peters vs. L. McBain. Winner—L. McBain.

A. Ward vs. R. Herrick. Winner—A. Ward.

B. Ross vs. Woods. Winner—B. Ross.

J. Pearson, a bye.

In the third round, G. Carrol played against B. Ross, in which B. Ross won, and L. McBain played against J. Pearson, in which Pearson won.

The finals, which will be played in the Y.M.C.A. to-night at 6 o'clock, J. Pearson will play A. Ward, and the winner will meet B. Ross for the Class A championship of the city.

Class B—First Round.

A. McFarlane vs. C. Brien. Winner—C. Brien.

F. Herrick vs. A. Goheen. Winner—A. Goheen.

J. Shaw vs. H. MacDonald. Winner—J. Shaw.

H. Richardson vs. D. Williams. Winner—D. Williams.

In the second round, A. Goheen played against C. Brien and lost, while J. Shaw played against D. Williams and won.

J. Shaw will meet C. Brien to-night for the intermediate championship of the city.

Class C.

There were only four entries in Class C:

J. Rogow vs. G. Young. Winner—G. Young.

R. Sturgeon vs. J. McCannan. Winner—R. Sturgeon.

To-night G. Young will meet R. Sturgeon for the senior championship of the city.

Rev. W. S. Edgar, director of the checker tourney, will meet the three champions in simultaneous play to-night.

RE-STOCK FRASER WITH 'SOCKEYES'

The Once Famous Spawning Grounds May Again Abound With Fish as Result.

MONTREAL, May 14—Announcement that the upper waters of the Fraser River in British Columbia are being re-stocked with sockeye salmon, brings to light an interesting feature in the habits of the fish. For years the Fraser, which has its headquarters in Jasper National Park, was famous for its big salmon runs, but in 1913 a rock slide at Hell's Gate Canyon which prevented the fish seeking spawning grounds, from ascending the river at that point, changed this condition. It is claimed that in its life "cycle" the salmon, after four years spent at sea, returns to the spawning bed where it was hatched, to deposit its own spawn and afterward dies. Therefore the rock slide at Hell's Gate, occurring during the year of a big run, prevented the re-populating of the upper waters of the Fraser with salmon from that time.

Now the announcement is made that fifteen million sockeye eggs, in the "eyed" stage were transferred from the Pemberton hatchery below Hell's Gate Canyon to the spawning grounds at Stuart Lake, Francois Lake, Bowron Lake, and the Quesnel Lakes, all famous spawning grounds in earlier years. Previous to 1913 these spawning grounds were visited annually by great numbers of sockeyes. Records for over 100 years show that one year in every four brought exceptionally large runs.

In 1913 a big run occurred, but a rock slide in Hell's Gate Canyon prevented all but a very few fish from escending the river. Notwithstanding the early removal of the debris from the stream bed, the damage was evident in the subsequent barrenness of the Upper Fraser areas during succeeding "cycle" years.

For sixteen years the runs remained small and it was not until artificial planting had been resorted to that any appreciable improvement in the situation was noticed. Because no sockeyes were getting above Hells Gate, the hatchery at Stuart Lake was closed for a number of years. In 1920 it was re-opened and an experimental distribution of eggs and fry was made the next year. At the end of the four year cycle one of the best runs in history was reported.

Last year the big shipment of 15,000,000 sockeye eggs was made in specially constructed crates by officers of the Fish Culture Service of the Federal Department of Marine and Fisheries and it is confidentially expected that a continuation of these methods will result in re-establishing the Upper Fraser as a great sockeye spawning area.

CANADA IS A NATION.

Canada is a nation, some day in the near future she will be a great nation, and it is within the range of possibilities that she will be the greatest unit of the British Empire. It is a wonderful country, a country, of unlimited resources and magnificent possibilities. As a nation she celebrates her sixtieth anniversary this year. What better way for you to celebrate it then by taking a trip "Across Canada and Back", and seeing for yourself the reason for this optimism about the future. Prof. Laird of Macdonald College, Que., has arranged with the Canadian Pacific Railway for a special train of sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 25th, cross the continent and get back to Toronto on August 15th, and in that space of 21 days to see all the principal cities, and the noted beauty spots of the West. After Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and the principal cities of the prairies, there is the magnificence of the Rockies, and those famous beauty spots, Banff, Lake Louise, Emerald Lake and Yoho Valley. Then there are two wonderful motor drives, from Banff to Windermere 104 miles, and from Field to Lake Louise 40 miles. The Kootenay district of which Nelson is the capital, and Okanagan Valley fruit country in which is located Penticton will be visited, and Vancouver and Victoria, those rapidly growing Pacific Coast cities, will delight everyone.

An illustrated booklet descriptive of the tour is now ready, and can be had on application to W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, or to Prof. Sinclair Laird, Macdonald College P.O., Que.

PRUDENTIAL STAFF HOLDS CONFERENCE

Promotions Announced at a Meeting of Agents of This District.

A staff meeting was held in the Prudential Insurance Company office, Peterborough, to view the progress which has been made so far this year. When the results were made known, it was very interesting to note that they exceeded anything the district has ever accomplished. Plans were also laid to carry out the work of the company for the remainder of 1927.

Assistant Superintendent E. Jeffery, Cobourg; Agent J. N. Trenouth, Port Hope; Agent J. L. Coffey, Cobourg, H. C. Harris, Bowmanville, F. F. Cockburn, Cobourg; Assistant Superintendent F. E. White, Oshawa; A. Durie, J. Gillespie, W. O. Bennett, Oshawa; A. E. Sturgess, Whitby; D. Morris and M. C. Storms, Oshawa; Assistant Superintendent J. R. H. Allan, Orillia; H. Eaton, Barrie; B. A. Harvie, H. J. Rolland and A. St. Cyr, Orillia; R. A. Grigg, Midland; Assistant Superintendent Sedgwick, A. W. Wray, A. Moffatt, T. E. Ross, R. Ross, L. E. Ferguson and W. McLaren, Peterborough also G. E. West, Campbellford; Assistant Superintendent T. J. Best, D. Donoghue, W. H. Fair, M. O. Parrington, J. A. Holden, W. E. Wright, and A. S. Horslen, Lindsay.

A few of the pleasing events of the meeting were the announcement of the promotion of Assistant Superintendent E. E. White, who was formerly in charge of the Cobourg office to take charge of the Oshawa office; also of the promotion of Agent E. Jeffery, Peterborough, to take charge of the Cobourg office. Another pleasing event was the celebrating of eighteen years of service of Assistant Superintendent R. F. Sedgwick, who first started with the company in April, 1909, and the presentation of a Fifteen-Year Old Guard Badge and Certificate to Agent A. W. Wray, one of the company's most efficient representatives in the Peterborough office.

The meeting was conducted by Superintendent Allen, who is one of the pioneer superintendents in the Canadian Division.

and lasting success could be built. Forgetting self, forgetting gain and wealth, a man by his efforts to serve his fellow-man would ultimately see the good in all things and the harm in nothing. "Charity is simply service," he declared, "and if we have the faith that sees good in our fellow-man, we have a faith that will remove mountains. If a man wills, he can; if we say we can, we will. If you cast your bread upon the waters—give of the best of your talents—it will return to you many, many times.

"In conclusion," said Mr. Marshall, "put your shoulders to the wheel and push in the certain knowledge that by your efforts a great and glorious country will be yours."

The thanks of the members was conveyed to the speaker by R. F. Sedgwick and C. S. McLean.

LABORER HURT VILLAGE PAYS

Hastings Man Was Injured in Gravel Pit Accident.

BARN WAS RAISED.

HASTINGS, May 14 (Special). — Failure to avail the municipality of the protection afforded by the Workmen's Compensation Act has left the Council liable for the relief claimed by Ben Hicks, who was injured by a slide of earth while working in the town gravel pit. The accident occurred last fall. Mr. Hicks, who is said to be about 65 years old, was an occasional employee of the Council.

While he was laid up the Council offered to pay his doctor's bill and to remit his taxes. This assistance was accepted, but later Mr. Hicks learned of the Provincial Compensation Bureau, and when he expressed his satisfaction with a lump sum settlement volunteered by the Council, the Workmen's Board refused to sanction it. They instructed Mr. Hicks, whose leg had not properly knit, to go to Toronto for medical examination, and the Council was notified that a weekly indemnity would have to be paid Mr. Hicks. He has already received $126 in cash, and previous arrangements have been cancelled.

At Barn-Raising.

About seventy-five farmers helped in the barn-raising at Harry Lamey's farm on the Cobourg Road on Thursday. Not only did the immediate neighbors attend, but also other friends from Seymour, Percy and Asphodel Townships.

The friends of Mrs. Fred Watters of Trent Bridge will regret to learn that she is seriously ill with pneumonia.

MODERN EQUIPMENT.

PORT CREDIT, May 14.—With 23 White Leghorn hens and a small plot of land obtained under the Soldiers' Settlement Scheme, T. W. Morse began his poultry farm here shortly after his return from France. Today the Oakridge Poultry Farm, as Mr. Morse calls his place, is recognized as one of the largest in Canada. It covers some 70 acres of land, and the most modern accommodation is provided for his 23,000 hens.

In July his phenomenal success will be recognized by poultry experts from all over the world, because in that month the World Poultry Congress opens in Ottawa, and the delegates will pay a visit of inspection to Oakridge Farm.

Mr. Morse is now at work extending his chicken ranch, and by the time the delegates arrive he will have completed accommodation for 15,000 more hens.

LEGION NOTES

On Wednesday evening next a special meeting is being held to discuss plans for the convention which will be held on June 1st, 2nd and 3rd. Delegates will also be appointed at this meeting. The Provincial secretary, Alex. Shields, will be present to address the meeting. Every member of the branch should make a special effort to attend this meeting to ensure that adequate and efficient delegates are selected to represent the branch in one of the most important conventions that has yet been held under the Provincial regime.

The increase of membership is steady, and if every present member will do his share, and ensure that through his efforts a new member may be brought to the fold, the cost of membership will be lessened and the protection which the Canadian Legion affords, can be brought to the door of every veteran.

The Legion will never be a success if men only join for what they can get out it. Every veteran should join in the spirit of the movement, and all should take as their motto: "Help comes to those who help themselves."

Preparations are under way for the Convention. A full program will be announced later. In conversation with the Provincial Secretary it was learned that the proceedings would be of vital interest, and that the Province would in all probability be represented 100 per cent.

Their are a large number of members who have not yet received their badges. It would be appreciated if those who have not got them would kindly call at the office during the coming week and receive them.

Per capita stamps are also available for those who have not yet received them in full.

The New Favorite!

Belflex for silence

Now! ANOTHER EXCLUSIVE FEATURE

The silent Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine plus a Belflex silenced Chassis now make a completely silent car.

From the first turn of its sleeve-valve engine, the most powerful, most highly efficient and quietest in operation of all cars of its type or class—the Willys-Knight Six—to a mileage point still undetermined—gains in power, gains in efficiency, gains in smoothness and silence with every mile.

And now—Belflex Shackles—still another new and exclusive Willys-Knight feature—a tremendous engineering advance over the unsatisfactory and noisy metal shackle of other cars. Belflex guards against all chassis rattles and squeaks. It deadens road vibration, eliminates all need for shackle lubrication.

Belflex provides that the sprung parts of the car are insulated from the unsprung parts with a noiseless flexible fabric—shock-absorbing rubberized—thereby affording, permanent chassis silence and diminishing wear at every point of the car.

Examine the new "70" Willys-Knight Six or the Great Six, yourself. Willys-Overland Engineering Leadership was never more definitely emphasized than in the extraordinary beauty, luxury and performance ability of these fine cars.

Willys-Knight Great Six prices from $2575 to $3050. The new "70" Willys-Knight Six, companion car to the Willys-Knight Great Six, from $1625 to $1945. Prices f.o.b. factory. Taxes extra.

NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

Advanced Six Sedan $2175 delivered

Prominent and very popular in the public life of CANADA

C. W. NASH has never built a more popular model of Nash than this Advanced Six Sedan.

You see it everywhere, and the reason is: it offers charming style, Nash performance and luxurious comfort for five passengers at a very moderate price.

This Nash—every Nash—is in a value class all its own. The car is designed and built with care high above the average, yet it is priced no higher than the average car.

For exceptional power-smoothness and proper bearing support Nash has 7 big bearings in the Nash six-cylinder motor.

To provide extra chassis strength without excess weight, C. W. Nash tubular-trusses the frame. Nash tubular cross members actually furnish 5 times more resistance to road strain than plain cross members.

Even the 4-wheel brakes in this popular Nash are of special Nash design—with Two-Way action for permanent, care-free efficiency.

Come in and see this car. Let us show and explain to you its many other, equally important, features of extra value.

(26 different Nash models priced from $1,275 to $3,150, delivered in Peterborough.)

THE MAKING OF THE DOMINION

The Dominion of Canada came into being on July 1st, 1867, but the site of the present city of Montreal was first visited by a white man, Jacques Cartier, on October 2nd, 1535.

The story of the intervening three hundred years is one of the most fascinating stories in the world's history, the story of New France and Acadia, the glory and romance of old Quebec, the thrilling tales of the coureurs du bois and the Indians, the courage and hardships of the early settlers, the brave deeds and stubborn fights in defence of hardly-won possessions, the constant struggle for control of this new land, culminating in the glorious victory of Wolfe on the Plains of Abraham, when the new empire finally passed for all time into British hands.

Many of the scenes of this wonderful story, in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, will be visited by the Kerr-Bryson Eastern Tour, which is to leave Toronto via Canadian National Railways on July 15th, 1927, a tour which will be replete with scenic, romantic and historic interest. Descriptive leaflet will be promptly furnished on request to any Agent of the Canadian National Railways, or to Martin Kerr, B.A., 4 Beulah Ave., Hamilton, or A. E. Bryson, 44 Silverthorn Ave., Toronto.

POLICE FINISH BREAKING OPEN SOVIET SAFES

Have Moved Seven Tons of Documents From Arcos House.

REGARDED AS SERIOUS.

Moscow Government Considers Raid More Important Than Peking Seizure.

LONDON, May 14 (Canadian Press) —After working through the night with pneumatic drills and oxy-acetylene torches, the police this morning completed the task of breaking open the safes in Soviet House, supposed to contain something sought by the authorities, the nature of which has not been disclosed.

The search of the offices of Arcos, Limited, Soviet commercial agency in London, and the Russian Trade Delegation, located in the building, was begun on Thursday. It continued the greater part of yesterday, large quantities of documents being examined.

The newspapers have ceased to feature the discovery of arms in the Arcos office, the Soviet explanation that the guns were samples of hunting rifles being generally accepted.

Seven tons of documents, printed matter, and correspondence have already been carted away from Soviet House to Scotland Yard, it was estimated this morning by Soviet officials who charged that the police were still acting in "an absolutely arbitrary manner."

Raid of Consequence.

MOSCOW, May 14 (Canadian Press).—The raid on Soviet House in London is considered here as of far greater consequence than the raid carried out some weeks ago by Northern Chinese agents on the Soviet Embassy compound in Peking. There is no mistaking the feeling in Soviet quarters that because of the standing of the British Government as compared with that of Marshal Chang Tso Lin, Northern Chinese leader, the latest raid is a much more serious affair.

Official quarters are represented as looking upon the London incident as reflecting a policy, attributed to Britain, of seeking to place Soviet Russia in a false position by alleging that compromising documents have been found.

Fulfilment of Threat.

MOSCOW, May 14 (United Press). —In a sarcastic editorial commenting on the police raid on Arcos House, London, the official newspaper Isvestia to-day expressed the opinion that the raid marked the beginning of the fulfilment of the threat to break Anglo-Russian relations. This threat was contained, the paper continued, in the latest note sent Russia by Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary.

Search For Document?

LONDON, May 14 (Canadian Press) —It was generally reported to-day that the raid on Soviet House in London, headquarters of the Russian Trade Delegation, and Arcos, Limited, Soviet commercial organizations, was made to discover whether a certain document of importance to the State, which has been missing for several months, was to be found there.

OUTLAWS DEFEAT TEAM FROM MILL

Ragged Fielding in Game in the Campbelford League.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 14.—The Outlaws defeated the Mill in a scheduled association softball game at the Agricultural Grounds last night. The score was 21 to 13, and the game was very ragged in spots, both teams making many errors.

The Mill, with four of last year's good team missing, presented a number of weak spots. They have Bennett and Montgomery available, and with these two in the line-up will be tougher opposition. The Outlaws have some high-class players, and some not so good.

The line-up:

Umpires—Plate, F. Decarroll; bases, P. Saunders.

Thursday, May 19—Outlaws vs. St. Andrew's. Umpires, C. Johnston, plate; bases, H. Beatty.

BASEBALL GOSSIP.

The Canucks' Bantams were beaten in a very snappy game of ball last night at the Sacred Heart grounds by Bill Murphy's Inter-shop team of the Lock Works.

Morrocco and Murray, batteries for the Lock Works, worked together very well, and Cuthbertson helped with his home run.

The teams were as follows:

Lock works: Pitcher, R. Murray; catcher, A. Morrocco; 1st base, G. Cuthbertson; 2nd base, T. Burke; short stop, J. Wilshaw; 3rd base, Bill Murphy; lef field, N. Calladine, centre field, P. Johnston; right field, Heffernan.

LASH PROPOSED FOR MANY CASES

Hamilton Jury Would Have It Applied To Motor Car Thefts.

HAMILTON, May 14.—In support of the opinion of Judge Evans that much present crime was due to the misuse of automobiles, the Grand Jury at the sittings of the County Court and General Sessions of the Peace recommended in its presentment that the lash, as well as jail sentences, be imposed on all offenders convicted of stealing autos, assault or robbery under arms.

The jury also felt that in some cases juvenile offenders, who are beyond the control of parents, should be lashed, but not sent to reformatories, when convicted of stealing automobiles. The ease with which firearms can be procured was deplored, and it was urged that the regulations governing the sale of these be made more stringent. Exemplary penalties were recommended for persons found to possess firearms illegally.

Judge Evans remarked that some officials were opposed to the lash as they believed it to be too drastic a form of punishment. He mentioned former Attorney-General Nickle as one who was opposed to the lash. His Honor, however, agreed with the remainder of the presentment.

Husband Wouldn't Talk Wife Charges Cruelty

BOSTON, Mass., May 14. — (United Press). — Seeking a divorce on the grounds of cruelty, Mrs. Edna W. Bentley told in East Cambridge Probate Court on Friday of "silence strikes" frequently resorted to by her husband as a means of punishment. During these periods, she said, her husband would not exchange a single word with her for several days at a time. The husband, John M. Bentley, has a counter action for desertion pending.

REPORTS TO CITY COUNCIL

Legal and Reception.

The Legal and Reception Committee reported as follows:

Your committee held a meeting and arranged the tentative programme for the reception and entertainment of His Excellency the Governor-General, on June 20th, which will later be completed and submitted to His Excellency.

Board of Works Report.

The Board of Works reported as follows:

That in view of the fact that Charlotte street west of Park street will be paved by the Government, we recommend that the City Engineer be directed to construct a sewer at once on that street from the Monaghan road to Albertus avenue.

The following tenders were received for paving George street from Charlotte street to the Canadian Pacific Railway, Aylmer street from Charlotte street to Hunter street, and Water street from Hunter street to Brock street on the old concrete base:

Warren Bituminous Paving Co. of Ontario, asphalt, $1.65 per sq. yard.

Warren Bituminous Paving Co. of Ontario, Warrenite bitulithic, $1.85 per sq. yard.

Ontario Amiesite, Ltd., amiesite, $1.63 per sq. yard.

Dufferin Construction Co., asphalt, $1.75 per sq. yard.

We recommend that the tender of the Warren Bituminous Paving Company of Ontario for asphalt paving at $1.65 per sq. yard be accepted.

Mastodon Teeth Found On Farm At St. Thomas

ST. THOMAS, May 14.—Huge teeth, each as large as a child's head, and a portion of a massive tusk of a prehistoric mastodon, one of the huge animals that roamed this continent many thousands of years ago, were discovered a few feet below the surface of the earth by Arthur Martin, a farmer living about five miles south-west of the village of Delhi, Norfolk County, while engaged in draining a section of boggy land on his farm.

Remains of the other parts of the skeleton were easily traced by Mr. Martin, showing the mastodon to have been more than 35 feet in length.

The teeth are in a fair state of preservation and will probably be donated to some university museum. They resemble the molars of the skeleton of a 50-foot mastodon unearthed on a farm near Tempo, about ten miles north-west of this city, about four years ago. As in the case of the discovery at Delhi, those remains were found in a bog that the owner of the land was tilling. The molars found there were given to the University of Western Ontario. At present the tusk and teeth unearthed by Mr. Martin are on exhibition in Tillsonburg.

HIGHWAYS BETTER THAN EVER BEFORE

Frost Came Out of the Roads Early—Local Road Fair.

TORONTO, May 14.—Owing to the exceptionally early season, the highway system of Ontario is in much better condition now than is usually expected at this time of the year. The frost is out of the ground; the gravel roads are shaping up rapidly, and are now all passable. Heavy construction has not yet commenced, and the "detour nuisance" is very little in evidence. The next two weeks will, therefore, be a very enjoyable time for touring in Ontario.

Detours on highways Nos. 2, 3, 6, 8:

Highway 12A: Port Hope to Peterboro and Kawartha Lakes (29.1 miles) —Fair throughout. Port Hope to Bailieboro gravel road. Bailieboro to Peterboro surface-treated road in fair condition. Gravel section between Port Hope and Bewdley has broken up in a few places. Motorists are advised to drive carefully and observe warning signs on this portion. Macadam road between Springville and Peterboro has broken up in places. Motorists drive carefully. Bridge twenty miles north of Port Hope under repair; all traffic must come to a full stop before crossing it. Watchmen directing traffic over bridge night and day.

Lady Weighing 635 Pounds Gets Husband Weighing 130

WICHITA, Kans., May 14. — (United Press).—With more than a ton of relatives present, Mrs. Gertrude Stringer—weight 636 pounds — was married here to William B. Tabor — ringside weight 130 pounds.

Mrs. Tabor was "the fat lady" of the Morris and Castle Shows, and claims to be a member of the world's fattest family. She said the combined weight of her family is about 2,675 pounds.

"A wonderful girl," Tabor said of his bride.

FEMALE DRIVERS BARRED IN FUTURE

Cannot Drive Cars in Races Under International Association.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 14.—Femal race drivers may drive exhibition events or special match races at American fairs in 1927, but they will not be allowed in open competition, International Motor Contest Association officials have just ruled. The application of Joan La Costa, noted American girl driver, for a pilot's license which would permit her to compete in any race under I.M.C.A. sanction has been denied. The ruling was considered necessary in order not to establish a precedent and not because Miss La Costa does not lack ability, Secretary A. R. Corey of the Sanction Board announced.

NO INVITATION TO CONFERENCE

Further Discussions On Immigration Rules Not Yet Arranged.

DECISION AWAITED.

WASHINGTON, May 14 (Canadian Press)—Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister, has received no invitation to resume the conference with United States officials on the new border immigration ruling. Further discussions were expected before the week-end. Canada's position was fully and strongly stated on Thursday and Mr. Massey now awaits the decision of Frank B. Kellogg, secretary of state.

GERMAN STOCK BOOM BREAKS

Great Financial Crash on the Bourse Blamed on Dr. Schacht.

PREVENTED LOANS.

BERLIN, May 14. — The stock market boom which has swept on from last summer to carry German securities to unheard of heights, burst on the Bourse here yesterday like an overblown balloon. Shares generally fell thirty, forty or fifty points, and in isolated cases they avalanched eighty and 140 points.

The crash will go down in German financial history as that nation's "Black Friday"—and the thirteenth at that. It was the blackest day in the memory of the financial district. Not even the outbreak of the Balkan War nor of the World War produced such an indescribable panic as reigned yesterday.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, is getting the blame. Last night he was beyond doubt the most unpopular person in Berlin, as far as the speculating public and some banks are concerned. While the blame for the panic is not all placed at his desk, he is getting most of it.

On Thursday he called in the heads of the big Berlin banks and insisted that they drastically restrict credit which they had been extending for speculative purposes, failing which, he threatened legislative measures would be taken against them. He further indicated that the credit of recalcitrant banks would be restricted by the Reichsbank. Dr. Schacht had the Government's backing.

It is known that Dr. Schacht and the Government have been alarmed for some time at the stock market boom. First they considered it had an undesirable effect abroad. It appeared to them that the foreign public was getting a false idea of German's prosperity on account of the high price of stocks and the large amounts of money spent in speculation.

Second, it is said that Dr. Schacht found the Reichsbank faced with too great a drain on its resources when demands came from other banks for currency to be used in their customers' speculations. These demands, imposed on the drains of the foreign currency reserve on account of the transfer of Dawes reparations payments, undoubtedly were heavy.

Business men and industrialists here have been deprecating the market boom for two reasons. First, they believed it was not based on real financial resources of the country, but was largely the result of foreign loans poured into Germany during the last year.

Third, they believed extensive speculation on the market kept investments away from German industrial and business enterprises.

SEEKING CHURCH.

TORONTO, Ont., May 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Mrs. George K. Smith, convenor of the committee on Anglo-Canadian work in the dominion branch of the Protestant Women's Federation recently announced the organization of the successful translation of the Anglican prayer book into the Ukrainian language. This book is now on sale in Toronto and bears upon its fly leaf the name of Mrs. A. E. Gooderham who originated the idea of the translation and financed the project. Mrs. Smith also appealed for the use of some unoccupied church in Toronto in which the Ukrainians might hold their own services.

Reports Of Hessian Fly Sends Wheat Prices Up

CHICAGD, May 14 (Canadian Press) — Increasing reports of Hessian fly danger in Kansas and of unfavorable crop prospects in Canada gave wheat an early upward slant to-day. The strength of corn was also a bullish factor, July and September corn reaching the highest prices yet this season. Opening unchanged to 3-8 cent higher, wheat later showed gains all around. Corn started 1-8 cent off to 1-4 cent up and then made a sharp general advance, September rising to well above 90 cents, with otts and provisions firmer.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 142 1-8, July 136 1-8. Corn, May 83, July 87 1-2 . Oats, May 49 1-2, July 50 1-8.

Big Gain By Noranda Features Mining Market

TORONTO, May 14 (Canadian Press) — A gain of one dollar to $24.50 by Noranada was the feature on the Standard Mining Exchange here to-day. No reason is given for the unexpected strength developed by the issue. The market as a whole, however, was inclined to be stronger and gains were general. Area was up 1 1-2 at 27, Atlas gained 1-4 at 5 3-4, and Barry Hollinger gained one at 32 1-2. Corona was 3-8 higher at 15 and Kirkland Hunton was up 1 1-4 at 23 3-4. Kirkland Lake joined the higher issues, being up two at 144. Potter Doal declined three at 31 and Vipond Consolidated was two lower at 115. Central Manitoba Mines on the unlisted market was down nine at 190 while McDougall gained one at 40.

Unlisted Shares Active On Toronto Stock Market

TORONTO, May 14 (Canadian Press)—The unlisted side of the Toronto Stock Exchange was by far the most active to-day and during the short session thousands of shares changed hands. Noranda was easily the feature, the issue gaining 65 to 24.05, a new high, with thirty-two thousand shares sold. Wright Hargreaves was up ten at 12.50. Hiram Walkers was the most active issue on the market with more than six thousand shares sold, the issue gaining 1 1-8 at 51 1-2. Gooderham and Worts was up 1-8 at 57 7-8. Brazilian gained 1-4 at 140 1-2, Burt Common was up 1-2 at 63 1-4, Christie Brown advanced 1 3-4 at 59, and Industrial Alcohol was up 1-2 at 29 1-2. Davies 'A' was up 5-8 at 41 5-3 and International Nickel gained 3-8 at 57 3-8. Seagram was also stronger gaining ⅛ at 26⅞. Dominion Stores one of the few weak issues, dropped 3-4 at 80.

Uncertain Trend To-day In New York Exchange

NEW YORK, May 14 (Canadian Press).—After an early exhibition of strength, in which various groups showed sharp advances, particularly railroad equipment, food, oil, and the Van Sweringen transportation issues, todays brief session of the stock market developed numerous cross currents. Selling conducted elsewhere under cover of the rise in the leaders, eventually slowed up the general advance and caused substantial realizing.

Distribution of large railroad orders and squeezing of short interests in Baldwin Locomotive, which went up to 206, a new peak, were the outstanding causes of their early good showing. Rumors of favorable developments in the packing industry were believed responsible for spirited buying of Wilson and Co. Confusion in the market vanished toward the close when high priced stocks, particularly the railway equipments, were given another vigorous whirl upward. United States, Cast Iron Pipe went up 9 points, Wilson Packing Preferred 6, and Wilson Co. "A" 4. The closing was steady. Total sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

Boy Swallows Pin Given By Safety League

SIMCOE, Ont., May 13.—Stanley Brockington, aged six, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brockington, of Simcoe, swallowed a Safety League pin while at play with some other boys, about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening. He was rushed to the hospital, where the X-ray located the pin. He was operated on at 10.40 p.m. and the pin successfully removed. The boy is progressing favorably this morning.

The pin, which is in the form of a button with a stick-pin at the back, bore the inscription, "Safety first; avoid accidents," and was one of the pins recently distributed at the schools by Mr. Hudson, agent of the Ontario Safety League, who lectured to the school children here recently on avoiding accidents in the streets.

While playing with some other boys, Stanley had his pin in his mouth. In jumping from a box he struck his chin, and in opening his mouth to shout, swallowed the pin.

The performance capacity of the Hudson Super-Six is not a theoretical phantom of dynamometer tests and speedway proofs, but a combination of outstanding superiorities that are practical and usable as owners everywhere demonstrate.

They tell us that they travel faster in city traffic, because of flashing getaway, swift, smooth acceleration and instantaneous control that easy steering and four wheel braking give.

And 'cross country, they have new ranges of high speed, easily sustained and safely employed with indifference to road conditions because of the positive road-hugging action provided in the low center of gravity and Hudson's patented and exclusive spring suspension.

A thrill, never to be forgotten, and a zest that familiarity cannot dull, are in store for you when you take your first ride in the new Hudson Super-Six.

Yanks Win Fourth Straight Victory from Browns

TAKE SERIES FROM BROWNS

Though Outhit, Hoyt Effective in Pinches For 3-1 Victory.

INDIANS LOSE 7-0.

NEW YORK, May 14 (Canadian Press).—The Browns outhit the New York Yankees at St. Louis yesterday but Hoyt was effective in the pinches and the Yankees won, 3 to 1, for their fourth straight victory and a clean sweep of the series. Sacrifices helped the visitors. Babe Ruth in five times up received three bases on balls, struck out and flied out. Ty Cobb hit safely in his seventeenth successive game as the Athletics took the closing game of the series from the Tigers at Detroit by the score of 10 to 3. The former Detroit manager kept his record intact by beating out a bunt in the fourth, while Wells was in the box. In winning the final game and thereby making it three out of four for the series, the Athletics hit three pitchers hard. Ehmke, on the other hand, held the Tiger attack well in check.

Boston made it two straight from the Indians, winning 7 to 0, at Cleveland. Lundgren, who won his first start at Detroit last week held the Indians to three hits with the help of Flagstead's spectacular work in centre. Lundgren also played a leading role in the attack on the Cleveland pitchers, contributing a three-base hit.

Washington-Chicago game postponed on account of rain.

CLEAN-UP MEETING OF HOCKEY LEAGUE

Decide Whether the National League Will Remain Ten-Club Loop.

MONTREAL, Quebec, May 14. — Canadian Press. — The annual clean up meeting of the National Hockey League will be held here Saturday. The meeting is usually to straighten out matters following the conclusion of the winter season but this year, as last, it promises to develop into an important conference, with decision of a far-reaching nature to be made by the league directors.

The question of whether the league will remain a ten club loop or be augmented by the addition of teams to represent such cities as Philadelphia and other United States centres will be decided.

Changes in the rules will be discussed and a committe probably selected to formulate any new clauses which might be introduced.

Ratification or rejection of the penalties inflicted by President Calder following the final championship play-off game between Boston and Ottawa will be one of the items. The League president expelled Bill Coutu of Boston; suspended Hooley Smith of Ottawa; fined several players of both teams and referred the case of others connected with unseemly incidents following the game, when the referees were attacked, to the Board of Diretcors of the League.

SIXTEEN CENTURIES IN CRICKET MATCH

Results of the County Cricket Games Played in Old Country.

LONDON, May 14 (Canadian Press Cable).—Sixteen centuries were driven out in the county cricket games which ended yesterday and Thursday, and for a second time this week a double century was rung up when Shepherd of Surrey registered 277 not out against Gloucester. The first performer was Duleepsinhji of Cambridge University, playing Middlesex at the beginning of the week. He had 254 not out.

Leonard Wooley of Kent and Dipper of Gloucester came within 13 and 14 respectively of the double century, while Titchmarsh of the M.C.C. fell 29 short in the second game of the New Zealanders' tour. Hammond of Gloucester was a star performer against Surrey, when he duplicated the feat already recorded of Bates (Glamorgan), Hobbs (Surrey), and Newman (Hampshire) in earlier games this week. These players all rang up a century in both their turns at the bat. Hammond's scores were 108 and 128.

The score board:

Shepherd (Surrey), against Gloucester, 277 not out.

Wooley (Kent), against Derby, 187.

Dipper (Gloucester), against Surrey 186

Titchmarch (M.C.C.), against New Zealand, 171.

Hallows (Lancashire), against Somerset, 164.

Ducat (Surrey), against Gloucester, 142.

Brown (Hampshire), against Leicester, 132.

Dawson (Cambridge), against Sussex 118.

Tate (Sussex), against Cambridge, 113.

Lyon (M.C.C.), against New Zealand, 110.

Hammond (Gloucester), against Surrey, 108 and 128.

Holmes (Yorkshire), against Glamorgan, 107.

Dacre (New Zealand), against the M.C.C., 107.

Lowry (New Zealand), against the M.C.C., 106.

Allen (M.C.C.), against New Zealand, 104 not out.

Astil (Leicester), against Hampshire, 101 not out.

GOOD FIELD FOR KENTUCKY DERBY

Unsettled Weather Conditions May Hinder Racers at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14 (Canadian Press).—Promise of fair weather and a fast track for the tens of thousands of spectators and the 18 racers in the fifty-third Kentucky Derby today was marred late yesterday by a heavy rain.

Weather Bureau experts had scanned their maps and said there would be some showers yesterday in this part of Kentucky, but that it would be "generally fair" today. Those who remembered the deluge of two years ago—just as the weather bureau had forecast that year—said that the outlook was all that was needed to make today perfect.

Then came the "afternoon showers" preceded by a darkened sky and accompanied by rather high winds and rain. Prior to the rain the track had been declared fast.

Should the rain make the track muddy today, chances for one of the western horses to win the Derby would be considerably improved. Royal Julian is a superior mudder, while Hydromel, Rolled Stocking and Fred Jr. have a liking for heavy going.

Riley, of the eastern horses, seems to crave a muddy track as on his two outs this spring here has not shown any real class on a fast track. Bostonian, of the Whitney stables, and Scapa Flow are the other "eastern mudders." The Derby at a mile and a quarter will be worth $52,525 net to the winner, if all eighteen start. The second horse will win $6,000, the third $3,000, and the fourth $1,000. The winner also will take down a $5,000 gold cup.

Oemond, J. E. Widener's ante-post favorite, has been the topic of discussion on all sides since his two races at the Spring meet here. He was beaten in the stretch by Rolled Stocking in his first start last Saturday and won by a nose from Jock in his last race Wednesday.

The big gelding has been termed a sprinter It has been said that he could not last the Derby route, but Earl Sande, America's premier jockey, is to be in the saddle and many pick him to win. It is a matter of Derby history that both the Derbys won by Sande was with "sprinters which could not go the mile and a quarter." Zev, last in the Preakness a week before, ran off with the Derby in 1923, and two years ago Sande shoved Flying Ebony past the winning post ahead of Captain Hal, one of the best handicap horses in the country.

Ten eastern and eight western colts were named, giving the two sections fairly even representation in the traditional clash. The west has triumphed in the last three Derbys and has hopes of adding another.

The Whitney entry, Whiskery and Bostonian, probably will be installed the favorite, although Rolled Stocking doubtless will receive heavy backing from Kentuckians.

You'd Be SURPRISED!

BY BILLY EVANS

Jack Bentley, who is back again with the New York Giants after passing a year with the tail-end Phillies, has won as much fame in baseball with his big black bat as his trusty left arm.

While Jack has pitched many a brilliant game and broken up many a tight contest with a home run, he tells me he got his greatest thrill of baseball in a free-hitting game against the Rochester club of the International League. In those days Jack was the big noise with the Baltimore Orioles.

Bentley's big moment was a batting feat rather than a par excellence pitching performance. It is a performance that Jack insists is a world's record and I can find nothing to disprove it.

Late in the season of 1921 Bentley made two hits in the third inning of a game with Rochester. Most players are more than satisfied with a hit an inning. Getting two in the same session is always very gratifying, for the athletes like their base hits.

Going into the eighth inning of the same game, Bentley hit safely in his first appearance. The Baltimore club staged a rally that batted around, bringing Bentley up for the second time and once again he got the ball safe.

Getting two hits in two different innings of the same ball game is decidedly unusual and it is only natural that Bentley should recall it as the big thrill of his career. A careful persusal of the records in my possession fail to reveal a similar performance in the leagues of a higher classification.

Inside Sporting Dope

By A Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

They still ain't much in the line of local sport to talk about this week, cept the softballers was due to begin their season Sat. and the hardball guys expect to pry off the lid next week with a Toronto 9 as their guests. It looks like as if the lads will have to depend upon exhibition set-toos to keep their selfs in shape the early part of the season ready to get in the big doings later on. Anyway, they is in the senior serious, and for a while it looked like they was going to be outa the big parade altogether.

By the way, Mac, Sun. is the dead-line for hockey players. Birds which ain't migrated by this time will hafta stay put, and mebbe some of them that has moved may find their selfs outa luck. I'm glad to tell the customers the Peterborough prospects for next season is good. The Petes hope to be in there fightin' for the silverware, even if they ain't no trip to Europe at the end of next year's trail.

Anyway, if we won't have no hockey representatives at the next Olympic Games there is a possible chance Peterborough might have a runner or 2 over there. This young Mister Bates shows promise. He's got a nice style and all kinds of interior fittings, and if he gets his mind set on trying for the long distance stuff he might step in there at Hamilton next fall and cop a place. And believe me, Mac, this fellow Smoke ain't through yet if he's game enough to fight to come back. He ain't nearly as old as Mister Clarence Demar by any means. He's a natural at the long range stuff, and if he's willing to train faithfully, get in shape and stay there, he's got a chance to cross the pond again. I ain't saying he'll do it, but I do believe he kin do it, if you know what I mean. It's all up to Mister Smoke his self.

I heard a guy talking about this boys' week stunt, Mac. He seemed kinda sore cause they was nothing like that when he was a kid. "We got none of them privileges," was the way he put it. Well, I dunno. They was a lota things in our days as kids that they don't have nowadays. 1st place, we could pull off a ball game in the street without getting crashed by a motor car. When we went swimmin' they was no overhead in the shape of a wool bathing suit. We just pulled off the old shirt and the pants and we was dressed according to the Hoyle of them days for a dip. They was only 3 or 4 cops to worry about, hockey matches was cheap, the picture show cost only a nickel, and when you got a little older and entertained the girl friend, she couldn't pull no 35c sundaes on you. Nobody wore black bottoms or thought of softball, and if you wanted excitement, all you hadda do was to walk across the old Hunter street bridge with a Ashburnham girl and the bombardment started. Many a record was broke by some bird running west over the bridge with the air round his bean filled with flying stones. And on Hallow eve you could take the town to piece and hang the parts up on a telephone pole.

Sure, kids nowadays has it soft, but they was plenty of kick to be got outa life when you and I was young, Mac.

Well, the customers don't care about that, so I'll quit dipping in the dim past and just say reservoir.

Sportfully yours,

A. WISE CRACKER.

"Doc" has two big jobs on his hands this year, apart from battling down at Oshawa for his quota of General Motors "buses"; one is to persuade the Counties Council to "pay their shot" toward the street pavement in Hastings, and the other is to retain the Sam Clarke cup won by the Hastings team in 1925 with the Northumberland League honors. BOY PITCHER HOLDS ORIOLES

Baltimore Unable To Get Past Joe Zubris at Newark.

NEW YORK, May 14. Canadian Press. — Joe Zubris, youthful pitcher on the Bears hurled one of the greatest games of his career at Newark, when he held the Baltimore Orioles to four hits, two infield rollers that the runners just beat to first. The Newark club won easily by the score of 8 to 0. Quellich in the ninth was the only Baltimore player to get as far as third bag. Zubris fanned nine men.

Into third Place.

The Stars climbed into a tie for tnird place with Baltimore by sinking Buffalo 6 to 4 under a barrage of 16 hits at Syracuse. Haid's homer in the second and Hurst's four bagger in the fifth accounted for all Syracuse's runs.

Reading lost its seventeenth consecutive game yesterday when Jersey City trounced the Keys 9 to 1 in the first of a four game series at Reading.

CARDINALS GAIN LEAD IN FIRST

Four Giant Pitchers Unable To Stop Onrush of Cards.

SHERDEL HOLDS.

NEW YORK, May 14. Canadian Press. — The St. Louis Cardinals turned on the Giants yesterday at the Polo grounds and batted out an 11 to 1 victory starting off with a seven run splurge in the initial inning. The cards hammered Fitzsimmons out of the box before a man was out. The first four batters hit safely. Clarkson who succeeded Fitzsimmons was little improvement, but Songer, recently purchased from Pittsburgh pitched well through four and two-thirds innings, when he gave way to Cheeves. New York could do little with Willie Sherdel, Cardinal southpaw.

At Philadelphia, three home run drives, the first by Cy Williams, and the others by Leach and Jimmy Wilson, gave Philadelphia a 4 to 1 victory over Chicago. Bub Pruett missed a shut-out victory when Tony Kaufmann, the rival hurler, hit for the circuit in the fifth inning. Pruett only allowed three hits and struck out 10 Chicago batters.

The Robins swept the three game series with Cincinnati by coming out in front in yesterday's fray at Brooklyn by 5 to 4. After being held in complete subjection by Carl Mays for seven innings Brooklyn turned a barrage of base hits upon the veteran underhand pitcher in the eighth, forcing him to retire. Jakie May was rushed to the rescue.

United States and Belgium in First of Intermediate Matches.

BRUSSELS, May 14 (Canadian Press).—United States and Belgium broke even yesterday in the first of the international matches in which Big Bill Tilden and Francis T. Hunter of the United States met Belgian opponents.

Tilden easily swept through M. Eubank, a substitute opponent, 6-0, 6-3, 6-3, while Hunter lost to J. Washer, the Belgian star, 3-6, 8-10, 7-5, 7-5, 6-1.

CENTURIES MADE.

New English Record Established in Cricket Match at New England.

LONDON, May 14. Canadian Press. —Five "centuries" were made in a cricket match yesterday between M. C.C. and New Zealand at Lord's establishing a new English record. Two were made by Englishmen, Hammond of Gloucestershire, scoring 129, and Tate of Sussex 113.

The best previous English record for individual hundreds was four made on several occasions. The only previous five centuries on record were made in a match at Sydney N. S.W., in 1901, in a match between New South Wales and South Australia.

Not in a PRICE Class but in a VALUE Class

McLAUGHLIN-BUICK stands alone—not in its price, which it shares with others — but in its VALUE, which it shares with none.

Today in Canada — in the United States—in practically every civilized country of the world—McLaughlin-Buick is accepted as the Standard of Comparison among fine cars of every price.

During the past nine years the public of this continent has invested more of its automobile dollars in McLaughlin-Buick than in any other make of gear-shift car.

And McLaughlin-Buick, true to its purpose and promise, has constantly striven to improve its quality—to better its value. The economies effected through McLaughlin-Buick's volume of sales have been utilized to enrich still further the quality of the car—by such improvements as the Sealed Chassis, the Torque Tube Drive, Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes, an Engine Vibrationless Beyond Belief and the increased luxury and refinement of McLaughlin-Buick Fisher Bodies.

McLaughlin-Buick leadership is founded upon value — and value upon progress. Hence McLaughlin-Buick constantly advances, constantly searches for better things, constantly improves its quality and increases its value.

McLaughlin-Buick is today, as always the ONLY car in its value-class.

MORE NORMAL WOMEN.

Suffrage Speaker Says Greater Proportion Than of Men.

MONTREAL, Que., May 14.—(Canadian Press.)— "Sir Wilfrid Laurier once told me that he wanted the vote for all women in Canada," said Prof. Carrie Derick in addressing a suffrage meeting.

The argument that women were mentally inferior to men Prof. Derick answered from her vast biological knowledge. She showed that while there had been more men geniuses than women geniuses, there was the same preponderance of men who were insane and feeble-minded over mentally unsound women. Since genius was an abnormality, this meant that there was a greater proportion of women with the normal qualities needed in the every-day work of running a country.

PATROL BOAT RAMS LAUNCH KILLING TWO

Detroit Man and Daughter Drowned When Boat Sinks.

PATROL KEEPS ON.

Harbor Master Trying To Find Identity of Patrol Officers.

DETROIT, Mich., May 14. — Cutting through the water at nearly 40 miles an hour, a Federal prohibition patrol boat ran down a motor launch off Lycaste Avenue shortly before six o'clock yesterday evening, killing James Lee and his 12-year-old daughter Mildred. William Lawrence a passenger in the motor boat, escaped injury.

The Federal boat failed to stop, following the accident, according to the police of the Harbor Master's office.

Lee's boat was 200 yards off shore when the Federal boat bore down on him. He attempted to turn out of the path of the on-coming craft, but his launch responded slowly, and was struck amidships, being practically cut in two, crushing Lee and his daughter to death. Lawrence was thrown into the water. He started swimming to shore, and was later picked up by a rescue boat from the Harbor Master's office.

The prohibition cruiser kept on its course, witnesses say. Members of the Harbor Master's crew are trying to learn its identity. There were two or three officers in it.

Lee's boat had but recently been launched. He was taking it out for a trial trip, according to Lawrence.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

Rev. R. W. Dickie, D.D., Will Occupy Pulpit Both Morning and Evening.

On Sunday May 15th, the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, celebrate their 94th anniversary.

The special preacher for this occasion will be the Rev. R. W. Dickie, D.D., minister of Knox Crescent Church, Montreal.

He is one of the most honored servants of the church he having served in many important capacities.

Dr. Dickie is one of the most outstanding preachers of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, a scholar of marked ability, and a man of striking personality.

He is a recognized authority on Presbyterian history. In this connection he has written much that is of value, and has lectured to the students of Montreal College on this important subject.

Mr. Alfred Heather, the eminent tenor soloist, will be the special singer for this occasion.

ACTRESS CLAIMS TO BE LEGAL WIFE

Florence B. Raymond Says Slain Actor Never Divorced Her.

NEW YORK, May 14 (Canadian Press)—The New York American today quotes Florence Bain Raymond, New York actress, as saying she is the wife of Ray Raymond, slain actor, and that he and Dorothy Mackaye, who claims to be his widow, were never legally married.

Florence Bain Raymond, The American says, claims she was married to the actor in Newark, N.J., January 8, 1909, and was never divorced. Miss Mackaye, a well known actress, has been known as the wife of Raymond, for whose death Paul Kelly, film artist, now is on trial in Los Angeles. Miss Mackaye testified in the Kelly trial that she and Raymond were married in "Gretna Green," Maryland, August 1, 1921. However, there is no town so named in Maryland. The New York actress expressed willingness to testify at Kelly's trial and also at that of Miss Mackaye, who is accused of concealing facts concerning the killing.

CHANNEL SWIMMERS.

Eleven Canadians Asked To Enter Race at C. N. E.

TORONTO, May 14 (Canadian Press).—Toronto's $50,000 swimming marathon, to be staged in the waters of Lake Ontario on August 31, in connection with the Canadian National Exhibition, has aroused international interest. To date, fifty natatorial exponents have asked for details and intimated they are considering entering the contest. In addition to George Young, Canadian swimming ace, who conquered the Catalina Channel and annexed the $25,000 prize on January 16 last, swimmers from all parts of the world are expected to make the plunge here. Ishak Helmy, Egypt; Giovanne Sahner, Milan, Italy; A. Nawahi, Honolulu; T. H. Nils Johansson, Lingho, Sweden; Fritjaf Anderson, Stockholm, Sweden; George Michael, Paris, France; Lav Farstad, Trondjheim, Norway; Edwin Vierkotter, Berlin, Germany; Otto Kemmerich, Hamburg, Germany; Jane Sion, Brussels, Belgium; and Mrs. E. Dinorie, London, England, are included in the list of those making inquiries.

Up to the present, entry forms have been sent to eleven Canadians, headed by the redoubtable George Young, and this country's chances of annexing the money seem very bright. The list of Canadians is as follows:

George Young, Toronto; H. Pierce Kelly, Quebec, Que; Rosaire Delorme, Montreal, Que.; Robert Larocheile, Quebec, Que.; M. Kreynes, Sydney N.S.; Helene Garland, Ottawa, Ont.; Stanley Hodkinson, Toronto; G. J. R. Cooksey, Tilbury, Ont.; Alexander Quinn, Toronto; Fred Bailey, Toronto and Michael Hambourg, Toronto.

The United States has easily the largest number of "probables." Twenty-two swimmers from across the border have already shown interest in the coming event, although of this number none of the better-known swimmers are included.

The course will be over a triangle, seven miles to each of the three sides, starting and finishing at the Exhibition Grounds.

Mme. Sion Arrives.

QUEBEC, Que., May 14 (Special to The Examiner).—The first European invader for the Toronto Exhibition marathon swim on Labor Day reached Canada yesterday afternoon in the person of Mme. Jane Sion of Brussels, European swimming champion. Mme. Sion, who was one of the passengers on the Montnairn of the Canadian Pacific St. Lawrence fleet, stated upon her arrival: "I do not say that I will win, but I hope to do my best in the event and to prove a worthy representative of Europe."

The European champion, who has won fame as the result of excellent efforts in swimming races over various distances during a period of over four years, is scheduled to participate in numerous races on the North American Continent, for she will plough through the waters in the United States as well as in Canada.

PAVING ROAD NEAR GRAFTON

Provincial Highway Will Be Completed East To Trenton.

WORK ON LOCAL ROAD.

COBOURG, May 14. — Paving companies are starting work on the roads in this section, and it is expected that all construction and repair work will be rushed to a speedy completion. A construction company is completing the contract from a point west of the village of Grafton on the Provincial Highway, to Fairview, a distance of two miles. The completion of this small contract will link up the pavement on the Provincial Highway from Toronto to Trenton and Belleville.

Another company has a number of men at work between Fraserville and Peterborough, and this also is being hurried along. There will be no detour on the latter road, it is stated, but motorists will be compelled to detour on the Grafton highway.

Lindbergh Besieged With Requests For His Name

GARDEN CITY, N.Y., May 14 (United Press). — Sunburned young Charles Lindergh, his old flannel shirt open at the collar found himself beseiged in the manner of Red Grange when he crawled out from working on his Ryan trans-Atlantic monoplane Friday. Certified cheques ranging from $500 to $2,500 were waved in his face by competing agents who wanted his name for articles for use on helmets, for trade-marking aviation goods.

Lindbergh waved them all away. "Im not going to accept anything until I become a success," he said.

"And I shall not consider myself a success until I reach Le Bourget flying field in Paris."

BAYOU TECHE PEOPLE LEAVE FLOOD'S PATH

Torrent From Breaches Miles To North Will Sweep Area.

GARDEN OF FLOWERS.

People Are Descandants of Acadians Who Settled There Years Ago.

NEW ORLEANS, May 14. — Canadian Press. — The Land of Evangeline, where the Arcadians found a haven a century and a half ago, is menaced, and their descendants are going into exile again.

The picturesque country along the Bayou Teche is in the path of the raging flood waters pouring through the Bayou des Glaises crevasses, and the Mississippi is driving their descendants from St. Landry, St. Martin and St. Mary parishes.

Their exile, however, is only temporary. Where the fields are green with growing crops of sugar cane, cotton, rice and corn to-day, in a few days a muddy torrent will course its way to the gulf, wrecking crops and spreading devastation upon the land, which Longfellow describes as:

"A garden of flowers, and the bluest of heavens,
Bending above and resting its dome on the walls of the forest,
Those who dwell there have named it the Eden of Louisiana."

The waters from the Bayou des Glaises, 150 miles northwest of here, on the west side of the Atchafalayas River, will increase the agricultural loss of the state by $10,000,000, and increase the total of the state's homeless to nearly 200,000.

When the Bayou des Glaises waters reach the Gulf of Mexico, more than 1,000,000 acres of Louisiana will be submerged in a vast lake, 225 miles long, and ranging from 50 to 100 miles in width.

Earache

is a painful affliction which affects people of all ages, but is especially common with children. It may be associated with almost any illness of childhood, or may come on after vigorous exertion or after exposure to cold or dampness. It results from inflammation or irritation of the nerves of the ear. This irritation may be chemical or mechanical. A mechanical irritation is caused by pressure upon a nerve by bony or cartilaginous tissue. The ears are supplied by fibres from both spinal and cranial nerves.

SPINAL NERVE FIBRES

controlled by the upper four cervical vertebrae, send branches to the carotid and cavernous plexuses from which fibres go to the ears. If one of these neck vertebrae gets slightly displaced and causes pressure upon one or more nerve fibres supplying the ear, you will suffer with some abnormal sound or sensation in the affected ear. Many earaches are produced in this way, and they can be corrected by

POLICE HOLD SOVIET HOUSE PAPERS FOUND

Daily Mail Asserts Documents of Gravest Importance Been Located.

RUSSIA INDIGNANT.

Furnish Remarkable Evidence of Communist Activities in Great Britain.

LONDON, May 17 (A.P.). — The Daily Mail asserts that documents which the members of the British Cabinet regard as of the gravest importance have been found in the Soviet House. They establish, The Mail says, the long-suspected association between the operations of Arcos, the company controlling Russian exports and imports, and the political activities of the Soviet government, and furnish new and remarkable evidence of Communist propaganda in Great Britain.

Describes Raid

LONDON, May 16 (A.P.).—Soviet House, raided several days ago by police, is still completely in their hands. The secretary of the Soviet trade delegation yesterday issued a long statement denying knowledge of any such Stat document as has been alleged the police are seeking, declaring that no such document was ever in the files or the safes of the Soviet House. He gives minute details of how the police conducted the raid, how the room of M. Khinchuk, head of the delegation, his safes, ciphers and papers were ransacked in defiance of all protests and of diplomatic immunity conferred by the trade agreement.

He accuses the police of brutally treating officials who tried to protect this immunity and adds that even M. Khinchuk's bank passbook and private papers were removed. Finally, he says, that in refusing to yield the keys of the safe in the offices occupied by M. Khinchuk, the officials were guided exclusively by the fact that the head of the delegation and his offices enjoy all the privileges of diplomatic immunity.

Cabinet in Dilemma

The Sunday Observer's diplomatic correspondent believes that the Arcos raid has placed the Cabinet in a dilemma and may force the old controversy within the Cabinet to a crisis. He says:

It is recognized in serious quarters that the action of Scotland Yard and the Home Office has forced the hand of the Foreign Office to declare its policy toward Russia at a moment when the Foreign Office had special reason for letting sleeping dogs lie. The complete and absolute silence adopted by all official British quarters this week-end is the measure of the dilemma into which the British Government has been thrown by its lack of co-ordination."

Hold Demonstrations.

MOSCOW, May 16.—(A.P.)— The wave of indignation is gathering force in Russia as news of the British raid on Soviet House in London spreads throughout the Union and is finding expression in street demonstrations, editorial tirades and contributed articles taxing the resources of the most vitriolic writers and cartoonists.

The newspapers are filled with resolutions of protest from scores of workers unions, army units and organized bodies of every conceivable sort denouncing Britain, demanding a commercial boycott and emphasizing the necessity of Russia being prepared to resist by all means British aggression.

Meanwhile the government is laboring on its note setting forth its proposed action and the note, it is announced, will soon be handed to the British representative here.

A great demonstration in Moscow yesterday lasting well into the night developed minor scrimmages with the guards when a mass of students and workers tried to rush the police lines in the neighborhood of the British mission.

Reinforcements and troops restored order at the expense of a few minor injuries to the demonstrators.

For some unexplained reason the Polish mission came in for the attention of the marchers, who were crying out against the Poles as well as the British.

FOXES ESCAPE; TWO AT LARGE

Law Requires Those Finding Them To Advertise For Two Weeks.

OWNED BY J. PATTE.

On Friday night four foxes escaped from the Patte and Wolff fox ranch on the Chemong Road. Two were recaptured on Saturday, and the other two are still at large. The law requires anyone finding foxes to advertise them in the paper which is printed in the county in which they are found for not less than two weeks.

Mr. Patte would be greatly obliged if anyone seeing these foxes would immediately phone the fox farm, 990 ring 2, and report the same.

Iridium Hardest Metal Tests In Britain Show

LONDON, May 16.—Iridium, a metallic element in the same chemical group as platinum, and often used as the tip for fountain pens, is the hardest pure metal, according to tests recently made by A. Mallock, and announced in the English scientific magazine Nature.

Molybdenum is the next hardest, with tungsten third. Nickel is the hardest of the common metals as it ranks fifth, the rare metal rhodium coming fourth. These refer only to pure metallic elements, for some alloys, such as steel, with a high percentage of carbon, rank higher than any.

The softest of the metals tested proved to be thallium, as it ranked No. 24, lead being 23 and tin 22. Gold is 18, silver 15, palladium, which is in the same group as platinum and iridium, 14, aluminum 12, copper 11 and iron 10.

PILLAR MARK FOR SURVEYS

Exact Elevation Above Sea Level of Brass Plate Determined.

CENTRE FOR DISTRICT.

The concrete pillar recently erected in Central Park, is a fundamental bench mark pier of the Geodetic Survey of Canada. The exact elevation above mean sea level of the bronze tablet in top of the pier is determined by instrumental measurement and it is intended to serve as an initial for future survey or engineering work in this district.

Near the pier and seven feet underground is another tablet set in a massive concrete base which can be referred to in case time should destroy the visible mark.

This is a part of the system of precise levelling and triangulation which is being extended over the whole Dominion by the Geodetic Survey. The purpose is to establish accurately determined points for the control and co-ordination of the various surveys made in the past as well as to provide a common dependable foundation for future surveys. By this means all Dominion Provincial, municipal and private surveys will eventually be joined together into one great system based on a single datum.

Permission was granted by Mayor Holloway to place the monument in Central Park where it will be safe from disturbance or destruction.

Beam Service to be Opened Between Canada and Australia.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 16.—(Canadian Press).—The management of the company operating the beam wireless service recently inaugurated between Great Britain and Australia have announced that within about eight weeks a similar beam service will be opened between Canada and Australia. The service between Great Britain and Australia is the longest direct telegraph service in the world. It was started on April 8. The Canadian plans are announced in a brief item appearing in this week's Commercial Intelligence Journal issued by the department of trade and commerce.

CUSTOMS MEN WORK 12 HOURS ALONG BORDER

Officials At Niagara Bridges Work Too Long, Says Collector.

MORE MEN NEEDED.

Little Commercial Smuggling on Bridges—Seized Goods Obsolete.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 16 (Canadian Press)—Customs officers on duty at the International bridges here work twelve hours at a stretch. Once every week, when the men change over from day to night work, the hours lengthen out to 24. Overtime is allowed when the officers have worked ten hours.

These were a few of the outstanding facts presented to the Royal Customs Commission when it opened its sitting here this morning. Collector J. J. Flynn gave it as his opinion that "it is fair, neither to the men nor to the work" that the officers should be required to put in such long hours. He said he would require at least twenty more men if he was to put in ten hour day on the bridges.

Of commercial smuggling there was very little, Collector Flynn told the commission. He limited this to the bridges, because he said, there was no patrol on the Niagara river and there might be commercial smuggling by boats.

William S. Byers, appraiser at Niagara Falls, said he believed there was smuggling at this point. Women's dresses, silk or mercerized, radio parts, shoes, were among the articles which he said were brought in by individuals. He said he did not think that the bringing in of silk dresses came into the class of petty smuggling.

It developed, during the testimony, that a number of seized articles which have accumulated here over the years, are becoming obsolete, but according to testimony, cannot be sold without instructions from Ottawa. For fifteen years a bicycle has been in customs custody. Six watches have been held since 1918 and thirty-eight cases of liquor have been on hand for three years. A radio outfit, seized in 1925, was another of the prizes.

JUDGE HUYCKE GIVES ADDRESS

Will Preside at Annual Meeting of County and District Judges.

LOOK FOR INCREASE.

TORONTO, May 16.—Next Friday at the Queen's Hotel the County and District Judges Association of Ontario will hold their annual meeting. The programme as drawn up consists of an address by the President, Judge E. C. S. Huycke, of Peterborough, folowed by an address by Judge Wallace on the work of the Statutes Commission. There will also be a discussion on how matters stand at Ottawa in connection with expected salary increases. The new County Judges appointed last week may be introduced at this meeting.

Say New Loud Speaker Gives "Natural" Tones; "Exponental Horn" Broadcasts Without "Push"

PITTSBURG, May 16—A new invention called the "exponential horn," which is said to broadcast the natural human voice or tones of musical instruments without distortion for the greater part of a mile, received its first public test yesterday at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company's Research laboratories in Turtle Creek. Engineers, music critics and newspaper representatives stationed on a knoll near the Greensburg Pike, three-quarters of a mile from the Westinghouse Building, heard the test.

The music of famous bands, orchestras, singers and choirs was broadcast through the new horn by means of a phonograph from the Westinghouse Building. The distant listeners heard floating over the valley the lowest tones of the organ and bass horns and the shrillest notes of the piccolo, in perfect harmony and clearness. The new horn is invention of Clinton R. Hanna and Dr. Joseph Slepian, both of Pittsburgh. They have obtained a patent on the new horn and expect to have it put on a commercial basis.

The secret of the horn's volume lies in a mathematically precise enlargement of the tone chamber so as to allow the tone sounds to "get a grip on the air."

The volume and clarity are due to the construction of a tone chamber four feet deep and a foot wide. The inner nature is the secret of Dr. Slepian and Mr. Hanna. However, other engineers said that the tonal chamber was constructed possibly with shafts, so that there was little need of amplification or "push" to put the sound waves on the air. When amplification or electrical energy is employed there always is distortion, engineers said.

England Welcomes President Doumergue On Arrival at Dover For Visit of State

LONDON, May 16 (Canadian Press).—President Doumergue of France and his party including Foreign Minister Briand, arrived in London at three oclock this afternoon from Dover accompanied by the Prince of Wales. They were received at the station by King George, Prince Henry, the Duke of Connaught, Premier Baldwin, Foreign Secretary Sir Austen Chamberlain, and others. President Doumergue drove with the King to Buckingham Palace, where he was received by Queen Mary.

The President's steamer was met in mid-Channel by a British flotilla of destroyers and escorted into Dover while a squadron of British aeroplanes sailed overhead. Dover Castle saluted as the steamer entered the harbor.

Imposing guards of honor, military and naval, were massed at the landing where the Prince of Wales, who had journeyed from London for the occasion, boarded the Presidential vessel and welcomed the French chief executive in the name of the King.

After responding cordially to the good wishes expressed by the Prince and representatives of the Dover municipality, M. Doumergue boarded the Royal train, which left for London.

PLAN SCHOOL IN SOUTH END

Suburban Trustees Have Option on Site on King George Street.

RATEPAYERS TO MEET.

Owing to the overcrowding of pupils at May's School, and the increased rates for rural children coming to school in the city, a new school for smaller children has been proposed by the school board of S.S. 2, North Monaghan. The board is at the present time trying to locate a site suitable for the school, and now holds on option on a site on King George Street.

Although a meeting was held the other night nothing definite was decided on, and another meeting was called for the twenty-fifth of this month, when all plans will be completed. The school is to be a four-roomed structure and to be run in connection with the present May's School.

In all probability there will be three teachers, and one room will be left vacant. The pupils will be principally smaller children, and Mr. Stacey at May's will teach the older classes; but this is all to be considered at the meeting on the twenty-fifth.

CRISIS NEARS FLOOD BATTLE

Reign of Destruction Ended if the Remaining Levees Stand Up.

DAMAGES HEAVY.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 16. — Through at last with the feeble resistance of man-made levees, the flood waters of the Mississippi spread leisurely to-day over a homestretch to the Gulf of Mexico. Over a whole countryside in South Central Louisiana the river has had its way, from Cairo to Cottonport.

From Cottonport to the Gulf is a matter of ten days' disaster, in half a dozen rich and fertile parishes, comprising a tillable area of 4,200,000 acres. Within this area reside 258,917 persons.

There are more refugees to-day—almost 4,000 at Marksville alone, 1500 at Bunkie, thousands more scattered along the high grounds west of the new swath marked for inundation of the crumbling of the Bayou Des Glaises levees.

State relief headquarters were organized to care for 100,000 more flood exiles within a fortnight. They hope but do not venture the unqualified assertion that this will be the end.

Rains Increase Peril.

Torrential rains in the lower valley, during the last two days have forced the engineers to revise their estimates of maximum high waters between Baton Rouge and New Orleans, and three danger points along the levees south of the old river, the last tributary, hold the dike patrols to their wearying labors. If the danger points hold the greatest flood of United States history has wrought its last dramatic destruction.

If the old river levee at Torras Caves, the residents of Pointe Coupe Parish, who stand to-day in the most northerly part of unflooded west bank Louisiana, another parish of 600 square miles and 25,000 population will go under.

That surely say the engineers, should be the end.

Or, it may be, that the Morgansea sector of the Mississippi levee on the west bank, thirty five miles north of Baton Rouge or at Angola, on the east bank, sixty miles north of Baton Rouge. Everything depends upon how much water is yet to roll down the main channel from the confluence of the old Red and Mississippi to the Gulf.

DONATIONS TO FUND

The Examiner is pleased to acknowledge further donations to the fund for Big Sisterhood work in a special case, as follows: Mrs D. Kennedy, $1; James Dutton, $5; J. Long, $2; from various Friends, $6.50.

VANDALS RUIN FINE FLOWERS

Tulips, Hyacinths and Daffodils Scattered Around Lawn and Street.

POLICE SEEK OFFENDERS.

One of the most disastrous and thoughtless acts that children could accomplish was performed last night on the grounds of R. T. Hounsell, 232 Edinburgh street, when the contents of a bed of flowers, tulips, numbering about one hundred, hyacinths, and daffodils, were broken and littered on the streets or merely crushed and left on the grass near the beds.

Mr. Hounsell told the Examiner this morning that his tulips were of different varieties and of twenty-five colors, which would cause favourable comment from every passer-by, and to have them destroyed over night was almost unbearable. The flowers were all intact last night, and it is Mr. Hounsel's opinion that the deed was done against him for spite. The police have been notified, and though they have been on the lookout have located no clue as yet, but Mr. Hounsell stated that as soon as the boys were found, he would do all in his power to get them into serious trouble.

Baltimore Newspaper Man Flies 20,000 Miles In Europe

LONDON, May 16 (United Press) —Venlear Black, publisher of Baltimore, has flown 20,000 miles in Europe since February in his Fokker airplane and plans soon to fly from London to Copenhagen with his daughter, he told the United Press to-day.

Black denied reports that he planned to fly from London to the United States. He said he had no intention of attempting such a flight in the "present state of air craft development.

FINDS SOLACE IN RELIGION

Chaplain Says Mrs. Snyder Displaying Deep Repentance For Crime.

GO TO DEATH HOUSE.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Like Henry Judd Gray, convicted with her for the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, Mrs. Ruth Snyder has turned to religion for solace and has become "profoundly penitent."

Father George Murphy, chaplain of Queen's County Jail, said Saturday that the woman, whom he has visited daily, has displayed a sincere repentance for her crime.

Immediately after the verdict, Mrs. Snyder declined to see a Salvation Army Girl who sent word she wished to join Mrs. Snyder in prayer. Gray, however, prayed with the Salvation Army worker.

Reads Religious Sheets

Though her literature during the greater part of her stay in the cell has consisted entirely of motion picture magazines, Mrs. Snyder has become in the last few days a reader of religious periodicals. Gray continues to pour for hours over the Bible.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Logan, of East Orange, brother-in-law and sister of Gray, Saturday visited him for half an hour and left an old suit in which he will go to Sing Sing. They took away the suits he had worn at the trial.

Gray asked about a gold watch taken from him by the police when he was arrested. He was informed Saturday it had been given to his mother, Mrs. Margaret Gray.

Neither his mother nor his wife was at the jail.

Death House Today

The condemned couple were taken to the death house in separate closed automobiles this morning. The start was made shortly after ten o'clock.

A police escort was provided, consisting of three motorcycles with sidecars, manned by six policemen. At the city line they were relieved by State troopers on motorcycles. The river road was followed to Ossining.

The escort kept other automobiles at a distance.

HOPEFUL FOR A DECISION IN BORDER RULING

Secretary of State Kellogg States Department Actively Studying Problem.

WOULD AVOID CLASH.

Expected That Conference Will Be Resumed Aearly This Week.

WASHINGTON, May 16 (Canadian Press).—Hopes are entertained by Canadians here for a speedy decision on the border ruling of the United States immigration authorities, following statements made by Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg to the press on Saturday. Mr. Kellogg said that the Department was actively studying the problem and hoped for an amicable settlement. He has declined to make a definite announcement on any point of the controversy because the conference with Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister, is to be resumed early this week.

It is known that Mr. Massey has asked for a decision at the earliest possible date to put an end to the uncertainty as to the fate of non-native Canadians affected by the recent rulings seeking to compel them to conform to the quota laws. The regulations which would grant six months' grace to naturalized Canadians born in Great Britain or Europe would not enable them to obtain places in the quota this year.

Mr. Massey urged that six months' grace would be useless to those affected and consequently six or seven thousand Canadian citizens were plunged into uncertainty as to whether they will continue to have employment or must abandon their homes and take their families elsewhere.

Seek Suspension of Date.

While the Canadian Legation is seeking suspension of the regulations in their entirety and so far as they affect Canadians anywhere, Mr. Massey is understood to have urged the case of those affected by the quota regulations first and sought suspension of the effective date of the regulations until reasonable time can be given for them to be given places under their respective quotas.

It is an open secret among the newspaper correspondents that Mr. Kellogg would give Canadians of all classes the widest latitude to avoid a clash with Canadian public opinion, but the Labor Department, which controls the Immigration Department, is reluctant to recede from its ruling in any detail and fears the resentment of organized labor at whose behest, newspapers here openly say, the regulations were issued.

The conference between Mr. Massey and the United States delegation begun on Thursday, and lasting five hours has not been resumed since because of pressure of other business at the State and Labor Departments.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis left town on Friday night and will not return for another week. A. L. Jolliffe, Canadian Commissioner of immigration, returned to Ottawa on Saturday.

Five Delegates.

When the conference is resumed Mr. Massey and Hume Wrong, first secretary of the Canadian Legation, will represent Canada and probably Mr. Kellogg, his assistant, W. J. Carr, and Assistant Secretary of Labor R. C. White, will be the representatives of the United States. It is understood Davis left White full powers to negotiate for the Labor Department.

Harry Hull, Commissioner General of Immigration for the United States, is out of Washington. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, is still away and his office declined to discuss the matter with the Canadian Press. Several weeks ago when the affair first came up President Green was similarly reticent.

All parties to the conference have so far refused to talk with newspapermen except informally, as Mr. Kellogg did on Saturday. Mr. Massey said, however, "there is no danger of the matter being dropped. We intend to press for an immediate decision.

Balloonist Rises 41,000 Feet for Record; Rapid Fall Forces Descent In a Parachute

SCOTT FIELD, Belleville, Ill., May 16 (UP)—Captain Hawthorne C. Gray, who ascended in an effort to break the world's altitude record for free balloons, alighted at Golden Gate, Ill., and said his instruments indicated his balloon reached a height of 41,000 feet. The previous record was 35,433 feet, made by a German aeronaut.

Captain Gray said he descended to 8,000 feet and found the balloon falling so rapidly that he took to his parachute to effect a landing. He landed gently and was apparently uninjured. One or two military planes which followed him brought Gray back to Scott Field, where he underwent examination at the field hospital.

The balloon which ascended at 1:33 p.m., landed approximately 100 miles from its starting point at 4 p.m. Captain Gray said he felt well after exploring a region nearly eight miles above the earth. It was the aeronaut's second attempt, the first, made in March, having resulted in his becoming unconscious at a height of 28,000 feet, due to faulty oxygen apparatus. An oxygen mixing can, combined with an electrical heater was used today, and Captain Gray said he had no trouble in obtaining sufficient air even at his greatest height.

Captain Gray expected to be in the air three hours. He carried 4,250 pounds of sand ballast and 750 pounds of equipment, including a seven-tube radio set, all of which he intended to throw over in his climb for a record. He wore a heavy fur-lined leather costume in expectation of 50 degrees below zero or lower above 30,000 feet.

Webs Of Common Spider An Aid To One Industry

TOLEDO, May 16.—The common grayback spider is a valuable asset to George Hannes, spider expert and manufacturer of surveyors' transits and similar precise-measuring instruments here, who has been depending for several years on the tiny cables of gossamer spun by some 200 of these eight-legged, many-eyed furtive creatures to make his industry a success.

They supply a brand of cross-hairs that stand the strains of frigid or equatorial temperatures and humidity, and last for years.

Mr. Hannes has found that an ordinary web will bear the weight of a good-sized pebble. When stretched across an aperture he has placed web under a stream of water from a hydrant and it has withstood 40-pound pressure of water.

FLOODS MOVE TOWARDS GULF

Water From Ten Crevasses Converges on Evangeline Country.

WEST OF MISSISSIPPI.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 16 (Canadian Press).—Rolling relentlessly down the fertile west side of the Atchafalaya basin, flood water from ten major crevasses in the Bayou des Glaises levees today drew closer to St. Mary and St. Martin parishes, spreading devastation on its way to the Gulf of Mexico. The threatened section is in the centre of the "Evangeline" country made famous by Longfellow.

The Bayou des Glaises crevasses are approximately 150 miles northwest of New Orleans on the west side of the Atchafalya River.

Avoyelles and St. Landry parishes, with their green crops of corn and sugar cane, already have been submerged by the torrents tearing through the Bayou Des Glaises levees and thousands of persons have been driven from their homes. Other thousands are preparing to seek safety. Work on the protection levee between Port Barre and Butte La Rose in St. Martin Parish was abandoned last night when it became apparent that the flood moving down the basin through the Bayou Des Glaises levees would be from two to three feet higher than the dyke.

THREE KILLED IN C.P.R. WRECK

Washout Causes Derailment of Passenger Train East of Nipigon.

MANY INJURED.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., May 16 (Canadian Press).—Three trainmen were killed and twenty-two persons injured when Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train No. 2, eastbound, was derailed three miles east of Nipigon, Ont., early yesterday. A washout caused the derailment.

The dead are: John Hogg, engineer, Fort William; Harry Sly, fireman, Schreiber, Ont., and Lorne Kirkpatrick mail man Fort William.

The injured include: Bill Lyki, Montreal; George Hamilton, North Bay, Ont.; Robert John Elliott, Hamilton, Ont.; J. Whitman, news agent, Montreal; E. C. Potter, Montreal; Paul Newton, North Bay, and Robert R. McKerracher, Elkhorn, Man.

One Russian, nine Chinese and five Slovak passengers were injured.

It is reported that the engineer and firemen were buried under the engine.

CONFIRMATION SERVICES HELD BY ANGLICANS

Rt. Rev. J. F. Sweeney, Lord Bishop of Toronto, Visits Three Churches.

MANY CANDIDATES

More Than One Hundred Young People Presented by Clergy on Sunday.

More than one hundred young people of the Church of England entered the full communion of the church yesterday when the Lord Bishop of Toronto, the Rt. Rev. J. F. Sweeney, conducted confirmation services at St. John's, St. Luke's, and All Saints' churches. A large class was presented at each church, most of the candidates being girls and boys in their teens, while a few were men and women. The ladies all wore white dresses and veils, while the men had white flowers in their buttonholes. Inspiring sermons were preached by His Lordship at all three services.

St. John's Church.

"Alive unto God," a phrase from the eleventh verse of the sixth chapter of the Epistle of Paul to the Romans was the text chosen by the Bishop for his sermon at St. John's church. The vicar, the Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D.D., presented a class of fifty-one at the morning service, while a large congregation attended.

Alive unto God, said the speaker, means first alive to the fact that He exists. There is a sharp contrast between those who are alive unto God and the fool who says there is no God, the atheist who says he gets along without God, and the infidel. Belief in His existence is expressed in the first words of the creeds.

Alive unto God also means, the Bishop continued, alive to the things of God, visible and invisible, temporal and eternal, material and spiritual. Knowing that everything belongs to God, such a person will give Him his rights of worship and glory, saying with the Psalmist, "The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof." He will be alive to the concerns of the Kingdom of God, and will be judged by his concern for the things of the Kingdom. The speaker referred to the troubles in Russia and Mexico, where attempts are being made to stamp out organized religion. This is the concern of people here because they too belong to the mystic body of God's Kingdom. In China there is unrest and hostility against missionaries. This may be part of God's plan to give them a church of their own, with their own clergy and laity, but it is a concern of the Christians of this country.

The whole essence of the confirmation service, said the Bishop, is one of consecration, which means more than the consecration of inanimate gifts as those being confirmed come forward voluntarily and offer themselves to God. Alive unto God means a life given to God. He urged the candidates to heed the cry, "Come," and place themselves emphatically on the Lord's side.

"Joyfully enlisting,
By Thy grace divine,
We are on the Lord's side,
Saviour, we are Thine."

Prayer, reading the Scripture, worship, and, above all, regular attendance at the Holy Communion were urged upon the young people by the Bishop, who warned them against forgetting that they had given themselves to God.

SAY THEY SAW PLANE OVER HARBOR GRACE

Two Witnesses Tell of Seeing Plane on Monday Morning.

MOTOR IN TROUBLE

Authorities Suggest French Steamer Angease Should Search Fortune Bay.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 16 (Canadian Press).—Depositions made by James Peddle and Annie Kelly to the effect that they had been eye-witnesses of the flight of an aeroplane over Harbor Grace between the hours of nine and ten on Monday morning, May 9, are being forwarded to the Minister of Justice by this morning's train.

Instructions have been sent to St. Pierre by the authorities suggesting that a search for the Nungesser aeroplane by the French steamer Angesse might be more likely to be successful if undertaken in Fortune Bay and the waters to the westward, rather than in Placentia Bay. If after passing over Harbor Grace on the course described by the eye-witnesses the plane continued in a westerly direction it would have encountered the Middle Ridge about twelve hundred feet high running across the country from the south-west to the north-east. If the plane followed the ridge southward, it would bring the airmen out to the Fortune Bay coast. The only information from that locality is the message from Magistrate Parsons of Harbor Breton, that the two men on Monday morning heard a strange sound, as of an aeroplane, and if any credence can be placed on this report it would seem that Nungesser, having gone seawards, came to grief between the Newfoundland coast and Cape Breton. The land over which they would pass, is practically never visited, and if they were forced down in that part of the country, there is little chance of their being found unless a search was made by aeroplanes.

Engine Back-Firing.

The message to the inspector-general said:

"This morning I proceeded to Riverhead and interviewed William Parsons, who sent us word last night that he had heard the aeroplane on Monday. Parsons operates a sawmill at Ocean Pond, four miles south of Whitbourne.

"On Monday afternoon about five o'clock while he and his five workmen were in their lodging house having a meal, they heard a loud explosion. Thereupon the fireman exclaimed: 'The boiler has gone.' They all ran out to see what had happened but found the boiler intact.

"They then heard a noise above them as of an aeroplane in trouble with engines sometime going ahead and other times back-firing, and after a while it passed away. It was very foggy all over the country and they could see nothing.

"Parsons had not heard anything about the French aeroplane until he returned home last night to spend Sunday, and when he heard the news he sent word to me of hearing the machine."

Dwyer's trip to Riverhead was undertaken on order of the inspector-General after Parsons' message had been transmitted to him Saturday night. The distance of Ocean Pond from the coast, it was pointed out, removes the possibility that the explosions described by Parsons were made by a motor boat or other vessel.

Offers Reward.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 16 (Canadian Press).—Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Commissioner in Paris, yesterday cabled the Department of External Affairs that he has received a cheque for 50,000 francs ($2,000) from the journal "Le Sport," to be paid to any person who will discover the missing French airmen, Nungesser and Coli, alive, on Canadian territory before June 30.

KEENE NEWS.

KEENE, May 11.—Mrs. Gillespie of Keene, celebrated her eightieth birthday on Monday. Mrs. Gillespie is quite hale and hearty.

Mr. Percy Skinner, of Toronto, spent the week-end with his mother at Keene.

Mothers' day was observed in the churches at Keene on Sunday. In the United church, at the Sunday school session, the pageant, "The Coronation of Motherhood," was displayed by the younger members of the Sunday school.

A capacity house greeted the Cold-springs Dramatic club on Wednesday evening last when they presented their play, "Bashful Mr. Bobbs."

Miss Hazel Brown, of Peterboro', spent Sunday at the home of her mother.

Rev. John Archibald exchanged pulpits on Sunday with the Rev. Mr. Terrill of Pontypool. A large congregation greeted Mr. Terrill here.

OLD MASTERS

We meet neath the sounding rafter.
And the walls around are bare;
As they shout back our peals of laughter
It seems that the dead are there.
Then stand to your glasses, steady!
We drink in our comrade's eyes.
One cup to the dead already—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

Not here are the goblets glowing,
Not here is the vintage sweet;
'Tis cold, as our hearts are growing,
And dark as the doom we meet.
But stand to your glasses, steady!
And soon shall our pulses rise
A cup to the dead already—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

There's a mist on the glass congealing,
'Tis the hurricane's sultry breath;
And thus does the warmth of feeling
Turn ice in the grasp of death.
But stand to your glasses, steady!
For a moment the vapor flies:
Quaff a cup to the dead already—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

Parrot's Cries Of "Help" Bring Rescue From Hawk

LITTLE ROCK Ark. May 16.—Passing through a stretch of timber near St. Joseph, John McElroy was startled by cries of "Help! Murder!" coming from the thicket just off the road. He rushed in and discovered a parrot struggling to escape the clutches of a chicken hawk. The hawk flew away at the arrival of McElroy who picked up the wounded parrot and took the bird home with him. It was so badly lacerated that it died within a few hours but while it was alive it shook its head continually and muttered, "Bad, bad."

BUSINESS SECTION DESTROYED BY FIRE

Hundreds Left Homeless When Blaze Sweeps Town of Castries.

ST. LUCIA, B.W.I., May 16 (By Canadian Press, via Halifax and Bermuda Cable Company).—Fire that broke out shortly before midnight destroyed almost the entire business section of Castries, the principal town of St. Lucia, leaving only Barclays Bank and two drug stores intact and rendering hundreds homeless. Owing to a moderate east-northeasterly breeze, the flames spread with great rapidity. Very little salvage work was possible owing to the rapid spread of the fire and the sufferers lost all they possessed. There were no casualties.

SAYS HUSKY IS BEST MEDICINE HE EVER TRIED

Man Makes This Statement As Indigestion, Headaches and Constipation Are Relieved.

A man who is enthusiastic about the fine results he has obtained through the use of Husky, the herb preparation, now distributed by local drug stores is Mr. T. B. Jacques, 758 St. Urbain St., Montreal, who tells of his experience with this medicine as follows:

"Indigestion and constipation gave me much trouble for approximately four years. I was always bilious food soured on my stomach after meals and I would suffer from the formation of gas. I suffered frequently from severe headaches. I was obliged to take strong laxatives that were very weakening on my system.

T. B. JACQUES

"Since I began taking Husky my bowels have been as regular as clock work. I have no more sour stomach or distress after meals. I am feeling greatly relieved and my health is being built up in general. I have gained several pounds in weight since I began taking this medicine. I never felt better than I do today. Husky is the best preparation that I ever tried and I am glad to tell others of its merit."

At Good Drug Stores

Every person in this city suffering in any way Husky is recommended to relieve owes it to himself or to herself to give the Husky treatment a trial. Husky can be obtained at good drug stores everywhere and when taken regularly and over a reasonable length of time it will help you just as it is helping thousands of others.

JAPANESE BIRD FAD COSTLY

Wealthy residents of Japan have adopted the budgerigar, a bird slightly larger than the canary and resembling it, as the bird of fashion in that country. The vogue followed the introduction of one of the birds of rare color by a Japanese prince. Once a pair of budgerigars could be bought in England for about 65 cents, but recently in Japan as much as $500 was paid for a pair. The birds were taken from Australia to England at great expense many years ago. They are prized more for their color than their singing, some being of cobalt blue and others of jade green, grey or white.

TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIERS AWAIT CLEARING OF STORMY WEATHER

Reports Indicate Will Be No Take-off For Paris Before Tuesday.

TRY TEST FLIGHTS.

Three-Cornered Race Across the Sea Now Seems Assured.

NEW YORK, May 16 (Canadian Press).—Intensive preparations for three trans-Atlantic flights continued apace yesterday, although weather reports indicated that there would be no take-off for Paris before Tuesday.

Charles Lindbergh, the youthful "flying fool" from the west, was the idol of thousands of Sunday sightseers who flocked to Curtiss Field. The "bashful boy," as the ladies called him, flushed deeply when, as he leaped into the cockpit of his plane yesterday morning there was a tumult of cheers and clapping from a throng of 10,000 person straining at the ropes which kept them from the plane.

Commander Richard E. Byrd's huge monoplane, the America, was the first in the air, when at 10 o'clock it took off with Bert Acosta at the controls to fly over the Hudson on a farewell visit to the United States fleet, leaving today for manoeuvres.

While there were still no announcements from the American trans-Oceanic Company as to when the plane would be ready for the flight, preparations were going forward with all despatch, and aviators at Curtiss and Roosevelt Fields felt that a three-cornered race to Paris seemed practically assured, as there seemed little doubt that all three planes could be ready to take off by the time the present widespread storm area clears from the North Atlantic.

Will Take Pigeons

The Bellanca monoplane, with which Clarence D. Chamberlin and Lloyd W. Bertaud have been ready to set out as soon as weather conditions permit since Thursday, in addition to its radio, will take two carrier pigeons. It is planeed to release one pigeon when 500 miles out. The second pigeon will not be released unless the plane meets with difficulty. The pigeons are from the loft of William Dengler, of Brooklyn. When the first pigeon turns up, Mr. Dengler will announce that the fliers are safely off at a distance of 500 miles and if the second pigeon turns up Mr. Dengler will warn that they are in trouble.

Fogs Over Atlantic

Meteorologist James H. Kimball, of the United States Weather Bureau, declared yesterday afternoon that reports show heavy fogs and winds over the greater portion of the mid-Atlantic, extending from the great circle down over the steamship lanes. Any flight within the next twenty-four hours would be very unwise, he said, and although he preferred to make no prediction as to how long the unfavorable conditions would persist, he said there was no indication of a clearing.

All three expeditions have announced that they will not set out until weather conditions are favorable. Lindbergh, who is making the flight alone, scoffed at the rumor that he would trail one of the other planes. "I will not trail anybody in any way, shape or form," he asserted.

PEDESTRIAN DIES AFTER ACCIDENT

HAMILTON, Ont., May 16.—Enoch Vandusen, Stoney Creek, aged 53 years, was killed on the Niagara Highway on Saturday night and his sister-in-law, Miss Emma Peterson, Stoney Creek, was injured when they were struck by the auto of Eric Horning, 40 Saratoga Avenue, Buffalo. Horning was arrested on a charge of criminal negligence.

Vandusen and Miss Peterson were walking on the highway just west of Stoney Creek at the outer edge of the road. Vandusen was thrown a considerable distance and died a few minutes after being admitted to the General Hospital. Miss Peterson sustained lacerations and was shaken up considerably, but her condition is not serious. John Legett, Smithville, brother-in-law of Horning, a passenger in the auto, was thrown out on the highway and his face was cut. After treatment at the General Hospital he was able to proceed to his home.

It is charged that when Horning swerved to avoid striking the pedestrians, the sway of the car was sufficient to throw Legett, one of the occupants, clear of the machine. It was this information which resulted in the arrest of the driver.

Horning, with Legett, and Harry Ferguson, Smithville, and Harry Fenson, Fulton, was driving east.

"Le Sport," French Paper, Sends Cheque For Person Finding Aviators.

OTTAWA, May 16. — Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Commisioner in Paris, yesterday cabled the Department of External Affairs that he had received a cheque for 50,0000 francs, ($2000) from the journal Le Sport, to be paid to any person who will discover the missing French airmen, Nungesser and Coli, alive on Canadian territory, before June 30th.

GANG ATTACKS OFFICER WHO HALTS FIGHT

Three "Ward" Thugs Seized After Kicking and Beating Officer.

QUICK COUNTER-ATTACK.

Hangers-on of Liquor Dives Are Blamed By Police For Assault.

TORONTO, May 16.—When he attempted to stop a fight on Centre Avenue last night, Constable Albert Falconer (436) of Dundas Street West Division was set upon and beaten by a gang of foreigners, said by police to be "hangers-on of liquor dives in the Ward." Police hurriedly rushed to the scene, arrested Steve Rocco, 41 Henderson Avenue; Tony De Falco, 216 Chestnut Street, and George Bustall, 218 Chestnut Street.

Taken to Hospital

Constable Falconer was kicked in the face and stomach. He was removed to the General Hospital. Later on in the evening an ambulance conveyed him to his home, 48 Robbins Avenue. On returning to duty from church parade, Falconer was assigned to patrol the beat on Centre Avenue. North of Dundas Street, he saw two men fighting. He stepped in to arrest them, when suddenly, he claims, they both turned on him. He was kicked in the stomach and fell to the ground. This was followed by a kick in the face.

The plucky constable managed to get up on his fet and was clinging to one of the men when other gangsters set upon him. They were pounding him when Sergeant Parrish, Patrol Sergeant Bettington and several uniformed men came to his aid.

Rocco and De Falco are held on charges of assaulting the police and being disorderly. They are said to be the two who were fighting. Bustall is alleged to have been the man who took the prisoner from Falconer.

Second Fight Alleged

As the three prisoners were being placed in a police van to be taken to No. 2 Station, it is charged they attempted to battle the escorts, but were soon overpowered. Three others, who were loitering about the scene of the assault, were arrested on charges of being drunk. Fearing that a further outbreak might occur among other members of the gang, Sergeant Parrish increased the number of patrolmen in the district for the remainder of the night.

FIFTY ARE INJURED WHEN SEATS FALL

One Man Killed as Grand Stand Section Falls at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, May 16. — Of the 50 or more baseball fans injured yesterday in the collapse of a 30-foot section of the grand stand at the Philadelphia National League Park, only two remained in hospital last night.

Injuries of the others consisted chiefly of cuts and bruises received in the wild scramble to extricate themselves from the human mass when the stand fell under the weight of thousands who had rushed to cover from the bleachers when rain started to fall. Many were treated on the grounds and those taken to the hospitals were able to go to their homes later.

One man lost his life in the accident, which occurred in the seventh inning of a game between the Phillies and St. Louis Cardinals. His death, however, was attributed by the physicians to heart disease, an examination having revealed no injuries.

Rumors of Fliers' Safety Widely Circulated in City

TORONTO, May 16.—Rumors that Nungesser and Coli, the French airmen, had been picked up at sea were widely circulated about Toronto yesterday. The most popular of all stories was that French Government officials here had been advised to the effect that the intrepic birdmen had been located. But confirmation of this report was entirely lacking last night. Public interest in the fate of the two war pilots was never more pronounced than last night. Between the hours of 7 and 11 o'clock The Globe switchboard operator was kept busy answering the calls of people whose hopes had been raised by the rumors.

RUMANIA LOSES IN TENNIS TESTS

Lose Both Doubles and Singles in Davis Cup Eliminations.

Paris, May 16.—(Canadian Press.)—The French tennis players who hope to lift the Davis Cup this summer eliminated Rumania from their path yesterday when Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon defeated Poulieff and Mishu in the doubles match. The score was 6-4, 6-1, 8-6.

Yesterday the Rumanians lost two single matches, Borotra beating Poulieff and Rene Lacoste vanquishing Mishu.

CAVAN PERSONALS.

Mr. J. Wilson, Ida, was also a visitor at their home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Paul visited Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nurse, South Monaghan, on Sunday.

SPLENDID TALK ON MISSIONARY

Life and Works of Mary Moffatt Recounted By Pastor.

A REAL HOME MAKER.

HIAWATHA, May 14. — "Mary Moffatt, Homemaker," was the subject of Rev. Rufus Garratt at the regular prayer- and Bible-study meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Madden Howard, Sr., on Wednesday evening.

Before commencing his address, the speaker said that he regretted that so few of the young women were present. During the theme, he gave several of his own personal experiences in South America and the Southern States, which were similar to those which were felt by Mary Moffatt and her husband, Robert Moffatt, at Kuruman, in Bechuanaland, South Africa, during the years 1816–1856.

The Scripture lesson was found in Romans xii, 9-21. These verses were a guide often to the missionaries in that far-off land with its savage customs and strange beliefs in those early days.

Mary Smith was the daughter of a market gardener near Manchester, England, who became engaged to one of her father's helpers, Robert Moffatt, who was tall and strong, with dark, piercing eyes, and a great purpose in life. God had called him as a missionary in South Africa. He studied hard for that work and longed to take Mary with him as his bride. She wished to go but her parents objected. She was very precious to them: not strong, fair and with blue eyes. She could not go to live with savages. So Robert Moffatt went alone.

Life was grey and dreary for Mary when he was gone. Letters took months to go and come. She knew little of "Africa's burning sands," but she longed to go to Moffatt and assist him with his work.

Then at last a letter came from Robert saying that he was quite alone among black faces; he was carpenter, smith, tailor, shoemaker, miller, baker, and housekeeper. He longed for white companionship. Mary's father and mother read this letter and bravely consented to let her go to be the wife of the lonely missionary.

After a trip lasting three months, she reached Mr. Moffatt, whom she found almost worn out with lonely work.

Not long after their wedding, these two started a mission to the Bechuana people, who had not been taught before. They regarded the missionaries as the latest show and came from long distances to stare at them and their goods.

Now began her troubles in making a home. She soon found out that it was of no use for her, like most brides, to take a pride in her furniture and in all the treasures she had brought from home. The natives, as many as liked, would visit her hut, crowding every corner of it. They had to welcome them, but it was a difficult situation to deal with.

Sometimes, if Mary gently asked them to go, they would threaten to throw a brick at her. They were daubed with grease and red ochre, and thus everything they touched became adorned in the same way. Much discomfort was felt.

The problem of food was hard to solve. She saw that they must be strong and fit for the duties ahead of them. They were miles from any shops. Often mutton was the only food for weeks. They made flour and she baked English bread.

Land was dry and sandy. There was no pump and no tap, but water came several miles in a deep ditch from the nearest river.

Things were not very promising, yet Mary made a home. She and Robert planted flowering trees—flowers always make a place like home. Then there were babies about. Besides her own children, she had two African babies in the house, whose mother had died.

Robert Moffatt built a church, but natives could not understand what it meant. There they would laugh, talk, snore, or work, as it took their fancy.

At last a crisis came. As no rain fell, starvation was rife and they were blamed. The church-bell had frightened the clouds away. The missionaries were ordered away or they would suffer for it. Robert Moffatt answered: "If you are resolved to get rid of us you must resort to stronger measures, because our hearts are with you. You may shed blood or burn us out." They were then left in peace.

Mary's home became a haven for the distressed. She was called Ma-Mary by the natives.

The Bechuana, who seemed such hopeless material at first, gradually grew to realize Mary Moffatt's motherliness.

Everybody who came to Kuruman had some mothering from her. Sometimes it was a trader or lion-hunter, or a fellow-missionary.

David Livingstone was often there. He said afterwards that he would not have kept his health if Ma-Mary had not sent him fruit from her own trees when he could get nothing but meat to eat. People came to Mary most when they wanted nursing. There was a French missionary whom she nursed through smallpox. Then her husband, grinding their flour, cut his arm badly.

David Livingstone's little children arrived, white and pinched. She fed them till they looked like roses.

It was a great deal for a delicate woman to get through, but perhaps she was doing more for Africa than she guessed.

Mary Moffatt's home showed Africans what a real home was like. Gradually, African homes sprang up around it. They were only thatched huts, but they were different from the heathen ones. Each had its garden. Some grander ones had home-made chairs and tables copied from Ma-Mary's.

Now, Robert Moffatt had printed Bibles and hymns for the Christians, and they wished to use the evenings for reading instead of sitting around the embers of a dying camp-fire. They came to Mrs. Moffatt who showed them how to make candles. Soon, bundles of candles were seen hanging from the walls.

For more than forty years Mr. and Mrs. Moffatt made their home among the Bechuana. They saw many changes and were welcomed everywhere by young and old.

Mary was an old woman. It was time to go home to England and rest at last. She and her husband left the work in charge of their son.

In 1913, a traveller was at Kuruman at Christmas time and stayed in Mary's home. He went in to church and saw the great crowd of Christians, who numbered fifteen hundred.

Mary Moffatt's home was still the centre to which they turned for help and worship.

GO TO MOVIES BY TRUCK

COLUMBUS, Ind., May 16 — Joseph Springer, proprietor of a movie theater at Elizabethtown, has established, motor truck lines to Azalia and Grammer, nearby towns, by which he hauls patrons of his theater to and from the towns free.

JUST GROG.

The long since dead ancients said,
The sheep, monkey, lion and hog,
Their blood offered up,
And distilled the first cup
Of mixture that's now called Grog.

Men's actions show the old claim so—
For the first drink makes them feel cheap—
They call for one more,
And use the rear door
And show forth the blood of the sheep.

Another will follow, with gulp and swallow—
The man in his spirits feels hunky—
His leering red eye,
And brain close by
Are ruled by the blood of the monkey.

With soul on fire, and vengeance dire,
He starts with loads of rye on—
Forgets what is right—
And murder and fight,
Reflect the fierce blood of the lion.

Then in the gutter, his lips a-mutter,
He lay like the proverbial log;
With senses blunt,
And slobbery grunt,
He shows the blood of the hog.

TO RE-DEVELOP OLD 'ADELPHI'

Remnant of Old London Has Precious Literary Associations.

AUCTION NEXT MONTH.

LONDON, May 16 (Canadian Press).—What Sir James Barrie told the sparrows on the Embankment tree-tops when he read that his beloved Adelphi was for sale "for possible re-development" is not to be revealed. And, for once, words failed George Bernard Shaw.

The threat to destroy one of the remnants of Old London, with all its literary associations, is likely to cause grave concern to more than those two famous dwellers in this Upper Bohemia, which was the haunt of such as David Garrick, Joshua Reynolds, Samuel Johnson and Oliver Goldsmith.

The two acres of commanding site overlooking the river—the view of the Thames from Adelphi is held by many people to be the finest in London—is to be offered for sale by auction on June 21. It includes all Adelphi Terrace, Nos. 1 to 14 John Street; Nos. 1 to 6 Robert Street, and the Little Theatre—a cloistered recess in the heart of London. It is anticipated Adelphi will fetch £750,000.

The present leases expire in 1931 and the site will then be "available for re-development." "Re-development" applied to Adelphi will probably mean skyscrapers, and skyscrapers would kill all the romance now to be found in London's "catacombs" as the Adelphi arches are called. These are the massive foundations upon which the Terrace, John Street, Robert Street, and Adam Street are built.

When the Scottish brothers Adam brought their army of workmen from Scotland to build Adelphi—to the strains of the bagpipes, which were intended to spur them on to greater effort—there was nothing but a "noisome mud-flat" at the edge of the Thames, where Durham House had once stood. They built upon piles of solid masonry and raised the Terrace to the level of the Strand.

From the Strand runs a labyrinth of passages. The dark wine-cellars which Dickens knew remain, and there are still David Copperfields washing bottles. If the "re-development" takes place, Mr. Shaw, Sir James Barrie, Edmund Gwenn, Lord Weir, L. J. Maxse, Dr. Haden Guest, Messrs. Fisher Unwin (the publishers), the British Drama League, the Savage Club, the Amazonian Society, and other institutions, will have to go.

When Mr. Shaw was asked what he thought about the prospect of eviction, he replied that he had nothing to say except that he had no intention of buying the site.

The thermometer was invented in 1592 by the Italian scientist Galileo, who also is credited with invention of the microscope.

An iceberg was found recently 300 degrees north of the equator. Only once before, in 1907, has ice been found floating as far south as Bermuda.

It has been a long cruel winter, with spring stubbornly refusing to bring the first tulip or crocus or yellow daffodil. But inevitably, Mother Nature will assert herself, and then the homes up and down your street will tell their individual stories of personal pride.

Lawns will be green, flowers will glow in window boxes, hedges will be neatly trimmed. It is this season of the year that you will require garden implements in adequate number to do each job well—you will want to patch up fences and trellises and repaint them, that your home may be "the prettiest of all."

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

(Copyright 1927 McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE LITTLE STORE

Such a tiny store it was! Uncle Wiggily almost stumbled over it one day when he was hopping through the woods looking for something to happen to him which he called an adventure.

"And this may be one for all I know" chuckled the rabbit gentleman to himself when he saw the little store. "I must have a look!"

Across two small stumps had been laid a strip of bark. This was the counter of the store. On one end of the counter was a piece of shingle balanced on a stone.

"That must be the scales" laughed Mr. Longears as he took his place behind the counter of the little play store. "Some of the animal children must have been having fun here until it was time to go to school."

Looking farther along the bark counter Uncle Wiggily saw some clam shell and periwinkle shells filled with different things. A large clam shell held white sand and this was marked "sugar." In another shell were small brown stones and these were marked "raisins." In a third shell were small sticks with lumps of dried mud on their ends. And what do you suppose these were called in the play store? Why of course "lollypops!"

"Ha! Ha!" chuckled the rabbit. "With white sand for sugar little brown stones for raisins and lumps of mud on sticks for lollypops. The little people playing this was their store had to make believe very hard indeed."

But his own little bunny boys and girls had no trouble in pretending and making believe Mr. Longears knew and as he looked closer at the little store he saw a ribbon from Jingle's dress and a button from Jangle's shoe so he knew who had been having fun at the bark counter.

"Ha! Ha!" chuckled the rabbit.

"I'm going to hide here and wait until they come back to play, so I can see what they do and hear what they say," thought Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I may get an adventure out of it. But I will also give them a jolly surprise."

Quickly he hopped to the store and when he came back he carried three paper bags. In one bag was some real sugar, in another some real sweet raisins and in the third some real lollypops on sticks.

Emptying the white sand from the clam shell, Uncle Wiggily put the real sugar in its place. He did the same with the brown stones and the make believe lollypops, putting real things in their places. Then the rabbit gentleman hid himself in the bushes and waited. Soon he heard voices coming nearer and nearer.

"Now it's my turn to keep store," Jingle was saying, "and you must come and buy some sugar and raisins to make a cake."

"Yes," agreed Jangle, "and you must ask me if I don't want some nice fresh lollypops for my little girl."

"Yes, and you must buy some but you mustn't eat 'em," warned Jingle, "'cause they're only lumps of mud on sticks, you know."

"Oh, I wouldn't eat them!" agreed Jangle, "any more than I would eat the sand which is sugar or the stones which are raisins."

The two little rabbit girls soon reached the play store and began to have fun at the bark counter. Uncle Wiggily had to hold his paw over his mouth to keep from laughing at the funny things his little rabbit girls said.

Jangle bought some sugar and raisins and then, when Store Keeper Jingle took out the lollypops, and saw that they were real ones, instead of being pretend ones of sticks and mud, why those little rabbit girls were so surprised as never was.

"It's real sugar, too!" cried Jingle, tasting what she had thought was white sand.

"And the stone raisins have turned into real ones!" cried her sister, biting into a large, sweet one. "Oh some fairy must have been here to change the things in our little store! Let's run home!"

"Oh yes, let's!" cried Jingle. "Maybe the fairy might turn us into rubber dolls!" The bunny girls would have hopped home, but just then Uncle Wiggily couldn't keep from laughing any longer.

"Ha! Ha!" he burst out, leaping from the bushes. "I am the fairy, my dears! I changed the things in your little store!" Then Jingle and Jangle laughed and were happy and they played with the real sugar raisins and lollypops until there was nothing left for they ate everything all up with the help of their Daddicums.

W.M.A. DISCUSSES MUCH BUSINESS

Presbyterian Ladies Appoint Delegates to Presbyterial Meeting.

MILLBROOK, May 16.—The Women's Missionary Auxiliary of Grace Presbyterian church, held its May meeting in the Sunday school room on Wednesday, at 3 p.m., the President, Mrs. W. T. A. Deyell, in the chair, and a fair number in attendance.

Following the usual devotional period, Mrs. Doak and Mrs. J. N. McGill took up the chapters in the study book, "The Moslem World;" other papers had been prepared by Mrs. J. R. Eakins and Mrs. T. H. Ingram, but owing to the time required for the discussion of business items these had to be held over until the June meeting.

Mrs. (Rev.) J. Riddell and Mrs. W. T. A. Deyell were appointed delegates to the Presbyterial meeting to be held in Peterborough on June 7 and 8, and Mrs. Eakins, who is Supply Secretary for the Presbytery, will also attend.

Mrs. S. E. Eakins having resigned her office as finance secretary, Mrs. McGill was appointed in her place. The bale for which the Auxiliary is annually responsible will be sent as usual in September, and the supply secretary, Miss Eagleson, was given opportunity to make such arrangements as were necessary for the work to be ready in time. The list which the individual auxiliaries must furnish is sent from headquarters in Toronto, and each member has a share in making up the clothing, quilts, etc., for the local quota. Sales from some churches in the Presbyterial this year were valued at over 200, and some at over 100; the supplies were all sent to Mrs. Eakins, and repacked at her home, her office involving an amount of work that made it far from being a sinecure.

The ladies of Grace church are serving the meals at the Fair grounds on May 24, and details in connection with this were canvassed as thoroughly as possible.

The Sunday School has recently purchased a new piano, and at last Sunday's special service an offering of about 80.00 was realized toward this expense fund. The "apron social" to be held on May 17 is also being planned with the idea of still further reducing the debt involved. The latter was among the items discussed at the Auxiliary meeting, the members either personally attending the school, or having children in its classes, and all the church organizations are assisting with the piano fund.

The annual series of public meetings, under the auspices of the East Durham Women's Institute, will be held as follows: Cavan, Community Hall, May 17, at 2.30 p.m.; Mount Pleasant, Temperance Hall, May 17, 8 p.m.; Millbrook, Town Hall, May 18, 8 p.m. Bailieboro, I.O.F. Hall, May 19, 2.30 p.m.; Bethany, Town Hall, May 20, 8 p.m.; Garden Hill, W. I. Hall, May 25, 8 p.m.; Elizabethville, S.S. Hall, May 26, 8 p.m., Charlecote, Morrish S.S. Hall, May 27, 2.30 p.m.

Mrs. M. E. Lowe, R.N., of Toronto, is the speaker. The public is cordially invited to attend these gatherings.

THE HOME GARDEN

Marigolds.

Marigolds in richer reds, browns and mahoganies, more glowing orange and purer yellows and lemons, have come into the garden during the last few seasons and given it new gorgeousness during the hot summer months, when these annuals are at their best, finishing with a burst of brilliance as the first frosts approach. The most noticeable development is a recognition of the value of the tall French types, both for garden decoration and for cutting. This is the smaller-flowered type, which contains the red shades.

For many years the dwarf French marigolds were the only ones offered brilliant with their velvety buttons spangling the compact little plants. Now the tall type, equalling the African variety in height, but making up in number of bloom what it lacks in size, is coming into its own. These have longer stems than the dwarfs and have become one of the most popular of summer cut flowers. The single type has become popular, rivalling the full doubles which had the call only a few seasons ago.

These marigolds should not be planted in the open until danger of frost is over, which will be quite time enough, as they start blooming when only a few inches high. They do not need too rich soil, as they make an enormous leaf growth when too well fed, and their blooming season is delayed. They thrive on poor fare, and give a wonderful display of color.

Support for Climbers.

It is not advisable to use wire for supporting climbing roses, sweet peas and other vines, if something else can be procured. On hot days the metal absorbs heat and may burn the tender plants tied to it. If you are screening a fence and must train something to it, tie your tape first to the wire and then make a loop and put this around the vine. A wooden trellis is best for roses and other climbers while the old fashioned brush fence made by pushing bushy trimmings from fruit trees into the ground is one of the best affairs upon which to train sweet peas.

Transplanting Advisable.

Most of the plants started indoors such as tomatoes, cabbage, cosmos, zinnias, nicotines, and a score of others should be transplanted at once before being placed in their permanent position in the garden. Transplanting, when done carefully, strengthens the root growth, and makes a stronger, stockier plant. When plants are taken from the original flat in which the seed is grown and set directly out in the garden, they are inclined to be spindly, and tender. Just after setting out in the garden sprinkle a little nitrate of soda around—dissolving this quick-acting fertilizer in water and applying in liquid form is the best way, and your plants will shoot ahead.

More beautiful and durable than any Shingle Stain

"Save the surface and you save all"

PROTECTO

A superior preservative paint, for shingles, fences, barns, all rough wooden surfaces & composition roofings

That roof of your home needs safeguarding against the constant attacks of wind and weather. The garage roof, too, is important. And those shingle sidings, and garden fences. They need PROTECTO to ward off the elements and shield them against costly depreciation. PROTECTO is a revelation in beauty and will add real charm and joy to your home.

PROTECTO is the newest triumph of paint manufacturing, the preservative paint that has definitely replaced shingle stain as a preserver and beautifier of all unfinished outside wooden surfaces.

PROTECTO protects the surface as shingle stain never could. Made of Creosote and Pure Linseed Oil, it seals up the pores of the wood with a waterproof film that sheds water like a duck's back. It makes shingles warp proof and curl proof. And it beautifies them with brighter and more lasting beauty than the finest shingle stain ever made.

You'll like PROTECTO because of that matchless beauty. And you'll like it, too, for the money it will save you. It has double the covering capacity, double the life and double the protective value of old style shingle stains.

The Witch Doctor

TO the awed and superstitious members of his primitive tribe he was the Old Man—the Wise One—holding the secrets of life and death, potent in magic, working spells upon his enemies by mysterious and awful rites.

With weird chants and loathsome potions he cured the sick of all their ailments. Usually the remedy was more to be dreaded than the disease, and many were the luckless victims who died of the Witch Doctor's "cures."

Ages have come and gone. Civilization has spread its enlightening influence over the world—but the ghosts of old superstitions still persist in our minds.

Thousands of people in Canada are seeking to rectify health disorders by methods as absurd and superstitious as the incantations of the Witch Doctor.

A great proportion of the disease which takes toll of our health, happiness, even life itself, is unnecessary. In its earliest stages it might have been eradicated easily. But doubt or fear or superstition deters us from consulting an authority. We neglect nature's warnings, take refuge in old wives' tales or fall prey to the quack and charlatan.

To keep well and to regain lost health are matters of knowledge and enlightenment. Follow Nature's Laws. Consult modern books which contain information regarding healthful living, correct diet, exercise, care of children, hints for the middle-aged, care of the teeth, skin, eyes, etc.

Sick or well—make it a rule to have a thorough medical examination at least once a year.

"THE CANADIAN PRESS."

The Canadian Press has been perhaps the biggest single factor in recent years in bringing about a better spirit of national unity throughout the Dominion by its complete interchange of news. We ask any reader to hunt up Canadian newspapers of even 25 years ago; he or she will be astounded at the paucity of news in regard to the distant parts of Canada. What is more, The Canadian Press, by its non-political and absolutely fair reports of Canadian Parliament and of Canadian politics, has done much to break down the spirit of bitter partisanship which years ago was the outstanding feature of Canadian newspapers and Canadian public life. If the newspapers have dropped their old abusive style of political discussion, if the public generally are more independent in their views of political questions and public men, and if political opponents are treated with fairness in the newspapers today, The Canadian Press can claim much of the credit.—London (Ont.) Free Press, May 2, 1927.

THE QUEBEC ELECTION.

There is no reason for believing that Quebec, which has had a Liberal Provincial administration for thirty years, will as a result of today's general election find itself with a Government of another political shade at the helm.

The Taschereau Government started off with a lead of twelve seats as a result of acclamations, and nothing in the reports from the Province indicate any sign of a change.

At the last election the Conservative opposition made unexpected gains, winning 21 seats, of which 13 were on the Island of Montreal, only two of the constituencies on that island going to the Government.

The chief fight today is for the island seats, the Government being very anxious to make good its losses of 1923, while the opposition is hopeful not only of holding these ridings but of making gains throughout the Province.

It seems certain, however, that the Taschereau Government will be returned by a substantial majority, judging from the tone of the press in the Province.

THE SERVICES WE PAY FOR.

From bulletins prepared by the Citizens' Research Institute The Examiner, during the last three issues, has listed some of the services received by taxpayers from the taxes they pay directly or indirectly to the municipal, Provincial and Federal Governments.

The object of these articles was to show that when people pay taxes they are really making contributions to meet the cost of governmental operations of great importance.

How many Canadians would like to live permanently in and bring up their families some place where there would be no taxes and none of the services which taxes provide?

On the other hand, should citizens take it for granted that they always get full value for their money from governmental services?

Must they take the attitude that nothing can be done to improve public service?

Need they assume the attitude that what cannot be cured must be cheerfully endured?

Or should they say to themselves that we must have governmental services, that we are determined that these services shall be efficient and economical, and that we intend to devote time and energy to that end?

PUBLIC LIBRARIES.

Peterborough is so well served by its Public Library that it will be somewhat of a surprise for local citizens to learn that throughout the whole of Canada there are but 570 public libraries with a total of 3,000,000 books.

That figures out at the rate of but one book for every three people in Canada.

In fact, last year but 11,000,000 books were issued, about one and one-third per capita.

While most of those Canadians who are without library service live on farms, nevertheless there are half a million people living in towns and cities in the Dominion who have no public libraries, and the per capita expenditure on libraries throughout Canada each year is but 20c.

The extension of library accommodation to sections not served might provide some of our politicians with a useful field of public service.

The statistics quoted above are somewhat dismaying when the value of a good public library as a factor in education is considered.

We are lucky in Peterborough to have available a well-stocked library, which naturally brings forward the question, "Are our citizens taking full advantage of the services provided?"

PETERBOROUGH IS INTERESTED.

Peterborough is very much interested in the request of the Canadian woollen industries to the Tariff Advisory Board for a revision of the woollen tariff, to enable domestic producers to meet foreign competition on a fair basis.

It is said that Canadians are the greatest wool users of any people in the world.

The last estimate of the home consumption of products manufactured wholly or in part from wool is $71,000,000 a year, of which only $37,900,000 worth was manufactured in Canada, the balance being made up of imports, chiefly from Great Britain.

To meet this competition the Canadian woollen firms are not seeking the abolition of the British preference, but an adjustment of the tariff so that the industry in this country will be able to secure a larger share of the home market.

While other industries in this country are flourishing, the woollen mills for the most part are handicapped by what they claim to be unfair competition.

The Financial Post tells of one Ontario town of some 5,000 population where 29 out of 30 industries are running full time and are in a prosperous condition; the thirtieth is the woollen mill, which is merely struggling along in the hope of a favouring turn in existing conditions.

A readjustment of this tariff means a great deal to many workers in this city.

WISE AVOID SUNDAY MOTORING.

(From The Sarnia Canadian Observer.)

Sunday, once the day of rest, is now fast becoming known as the day of eternal rest. For more people now go to an untimely death on that day than any other day of the week. Mad motoring is responsible for this ghastly change.

The Sabbath was made for men, to be sure, but not for the exercise of his uttermost folly. Yet as surely as Monday rolls around we have the gruesome front page news of the dead, the dying and the injured who have apparently gone mad over Sunday and have paid the price.

This is not the full extent of the bad uses to which we are putting the Sabbath day, although they are the most spectacular. Add to this list the jangled nerves of many a good wife, the tired body of many a husband, the unnatural stimulation of many children of the families that rise early and start out on a quest of distance.

Fast and furious driving is likely to mark such a trip with many near accidents. The mind, body and soul undergoes almost every experience and emotion except those of rest and repose and recreation. Then the homeward journey and the sleep of exhaustion, or, what is more likely, the sleeplessness of exhausted nerves.

The pendulum swings from extreme to extreme. The death-like silence and stupor of the Sabbath of the past is gone and probably gone forever. But the deathly clamor of our twentieth century Sabbath is equally impossible. Wise motorists avoid Sunday travel as much as possible, or seek byways and unfrequented places. Or, what is best of all, use the car to take them a relatively short distance to a spot where they may make the most of the day in the rest and recreation of body and spirit which alone justifies the Sabbath.

HITTING THE SOVIET HARD.

Whatever may have been the immediate reason for the raid by the Scotland Yard authorities upon Soviet House in London, the invasion of this headquarters of communism can scarcely be regarded in any other light than as a declaration that the Government of Great Britain has reached the limit of its patience with Bolshevist conspiracies and Moscow's bad faith. The raid was carried out with the express sanction of the Home Office. It would not have been made without the knowledge and consent of the head of the Ministry, and without the approval of the Secretary of Foreign Affairs, against whom the first clamor of protest would be directed. That it was, therefore, an attack officially sanctioned upon the private premises of a foreign Government cannot be denied.

It is altogether doubtful if the organizations whose offices were thus invaded, enjoyed any immunity from search. Trade associations are not accorded the privileges of diplomatic missions. But, whether any such understanding existed, it will be conceded that foreign corporations cannot be permitted to carry on in the heart of a country a campaign of conspiracy against the country's peace and the stability of its government, as the Communists in Britain who make Soviet House their headquarters have been doing for years now.

It is not to be assumed that any discoveries made in the raid upon Moscow's headquarters at Pekin were responsible for the attack upon Soviet House. But the Chinese authorities, it is now known, unearthed a conspiracy which would have exposed the Northern Capital of that country to the greatest dangers, and it is not unlikely that disclosures of an equally grave character against Britain's security may be found in the documents captured in London.

That this action of the British Government may lead to a breach with the Soviet Government is possible; in fact, it is difficult to see how Moscow can refrain from severing diplomatic relations. There is much reason for the conviction, however, that, should Russia take that course, Britain would in every way be the gainer. It would mean that British hands, which have been tied, would be free, and that the war which has been one-sided and waged by Russia in secret would be carried on openly. In such a conflict Britain would have an advantage that she is now bound to forego.

It is altogether unlikely, however, that the Soviet will seek to make the London raid a cause of international trouble. It will probably pursue the same policy it has toward the Pekin Government over the invasion of its premises in that city. Moscow's star is on the decline. Its weakness is becoming more and more manifest. It will likely swallow the London insult and blow to its prestige as it has those it suffered in Pekin.—The Globe.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, May 16. Canadian Press. — There was no improvement in the foreign demand for grain in the Montreal market Saturday. In the domestic market sales of odd loads of No. 3 Canadian western oats were made to local exporters at six cents per bushel over the Winnipeg May option, c.i.f., Montreal but apart from this the trade was quiet.

In sympathy with the continued strength in the Chicago future market for corn spot prices for the cash article were marked up another 2c per bushel. Car lots of No. 3 yellow were quoted at $1.00½; No. 4 yellow at 95c and sample corn at 92c per bushel ex-store.

The demand for spring and winter wheat grades of flour continued of a very limited character but prices were unchanged.

A fair amount of business was done in all lines of millfeed and values were firm. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet but steady.

The egg market continued active, and the undertone was steady. The receipts were 1845 cases.

The undertone to the butter market was easy with a small trade passing. The receipts were 2123 packages.

Extreme dullness marked the local and export trade in cheese. The receipts were 231 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 16. — Canadian Press. — Corn took the centre of the stage Saturday and jumped to the topmost point reached yet this season but for July and September contracts. Decreasing stocks of corn here together with adverse weather conditions, an unusual lateness of planting, gave incentive for speculative buying.

Corn closed strong 1¼c to 2c higher, wheat unchanged to 1-8c up; oats showing 1-8c to 3-8c advance, and provisions the same as yesterday's finish to a rise of 35c.

Wheat trade failed to show snap to-day, traders flocking to the corn crowd. Advances too in wheat were checked by predictions of generally fair weather in the northwest next week, making the outlook more favorable for the completion of the spring seeding. On the other hand, Kansas reports to-day said indications are that this will be the worst Hessian fly year since 1915.

Provisions were responsive to corn strength and to firmness of the hog market.

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

THE PERSONAL ELEMENT IN WRITING.

The French were the first of the moderns to require the writers of special articles to sign their names. We can easily understand this rule when the writers were such men as Hugo, Dumas, Flaubert and Anatole France. It is not so easy to understand it, however, in the case of lesser lights. But the French, who are keen readers of human nature, knew that when we bear a bit of news, even if it be only gossip, we want first to know "Who said so?"

It is a well-known cause of embarrassment that many people, pleasant and kindly though they be, must know "who said so?" if they are to take any further interest in the statement. Hence the French required all correspondents, especially when paid, to put their correct names at the bottom of their contributions. It is not only, however, on that account that writers are asked to subscribe their names. Readers and thinkers want to know if the writer is one worth paying attention to and sometimes also it is desirable to reply to them, and manifestly it would be wholly impossible for a newspaper or magazine to conduct a discussion of any value to the public from behind closed doors. To have "one who knows" writing against the assertions of "pro bono publico," or "spectator," would be to have a discussion in which the reputation of the writers would not be at stake but in which the reputation of the newspaper or magazine would. Moreover, it has long been considered only fair and decent that a writer writing concerning other people or the ideas and practices of other people should come out into the open. The ethics of this form of authorship has therefore gradually grown to be that a writer, even of a letter to the editor, should sign his own name.

English and Scots magazines and newspapers followed the French lead in this particular and it soon became manifest that writers who had a bone to pick with somebody else hesitated before picking it when they had to sign their names. In the United States this custom has become the universal practice and Canada is fast falling into line, although there are people yet who do not appreciate the ethics of authorship in this particular, especially if they are so intimate with the author as to regard his writing with a certain degree of patronizing criticism amounting, sometimes, to hostility. This feeling, however, does not affect those readers who like to know the credibility and integrity of the author, as well as of the information contained in his writings. It will immediately occur to the reader that editors still lurk behind the ponderous editorial "we" in order to give the public to understand no doubt that the whole directorate of the newspaper or other publication is behind the editorial. But even the editorial "we" is fast becoming a thing of the past and many of the great newspapers and magazines require, as in the case of "The Illustrated London News," for example, that editorial pages and comments in it shall have the name of the editor and writer printed in a conspicuous place on the page.

At first, it was supposed that there would be some disadvantage in this method, to the newspaper, because readers are very apt to look to see who wrote the article or story before going on with the reading of it. This objection, however, was got over, but only at increased expense, since when names were given better writers and better-known writers had to be employed. This extra expense, however, was made up in the increased interest of the readers and in the greater circulation until, at the present time, very large rewards are offered by great magazines and newspapers for articles, novels, and information of value, and even in the case of new and unknown writers, the names are carefully appended in order that the next contribution may be said to be "By Mary Alice Winehart, the authoress of 'Hidden Treasures'," or "George Augustus MacDonald, the author of 'If Autumn Comes'."

In a word, if the writer's reputation and, therefore, name are an asset, then the name should appear, and if not, then the present-day reader promptly asks, "Why was the, story, biography, sketch, or comment given at all if the writer's name is no guarantee of its value or interest?"

The result has been, no doubt, in many cases, to cause intending writers to hesitate before plunging into the sea of publicity. Of course, it does not always follow, even when the name is published, that the contribution is "any good," but in such a case the failure is soon identified and his name and writings quietly dropped, a fate that may befall anybody at any time, which gives the reading world the change it demands and which it can promptly claim without delay and consequent vexation where the name is known but not when it is not published.

A good example of the value of a name is that of Miss de la Roche, the Toronto girl, whose recent success with "Jabla," has enabled her publishers to re-issue her other previous writings with great profit to themselves. We must all follow the rule laid down, even if it makes some of look as ridiculous as the fat woman in bobbed hair and shorts.

—J. H. Burnham.

Pains in the Back are Thing of the Past

William Sullivan praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

"I had pains in my back and would often have to get up two or three times a night to urinate," writes Mr. W. Sullivan, a resident of Grey Rapids, N.B. "I got two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and after I had finished taking them I was all right. That was two years ago and I have not felt any sore back since."

People all over Canada have tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and found them excellent. They have been used by thousands of people suffering from various forms of kidney trouble, such as rheumatism, dropsy, sore back and weakness.

SUN SPOTS

By Dr. Frank Crane.

Some scientist has at last discovered what is making all the trouble.

We had wondered why we couldn't make both ends meet or even one of them. We have always been troubled with housemaid's knee and dandruff, to say nothing of lesser ills.

Our friend hasn't paid us back what he owes us and the income tax collector gives evidence of a new attack of insanity.

Crops also are not terribly good and one or two screws are loose.

We had been assured by various persons that the Republican party was to blame for all this. The Republican party and the high tariff.

Others asserted that it was the extravagantly short dresses worn by the flappers.

A new kind of gas has been introduced to the town and the blame has been laid on it.

I am just in receipt of a letter that claims that all human ills are due to the fact that there is no suitable tax on land, and a very vehement friend of mine asserts that the whole difficulty is with the currency.

The doctor tells me that my thingamajigger that connects the duodenum with the esophagus has got tangled up with the pancreas, and that consequently my right toe is giving trouble.

I am also assured that it is the absence of vitamins in my food that is putting things on the blink.

But now all these various theories are swept aside. No more can the Ku Klux Klan and the Free Masons be blamed for causing all the trouble in the world.

Because the whole thing is attributable to sun spots.

When we have one kind of spots something happens and when we have another kind of spots something else can happen.

That's all there is to it.

All we need to do is to regulate the spots in the sun, which is a very simple matter for a professional regulator, and all our troubles are over.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

FROM EARACHE TO MASTOIDITIS

The Mastoid Process is a collection of hollow cells located in the bone behind each ear. It is in close proximity to the ear and any inflammation in the inner ear may easily extent over into the Mastoid Process.

If an earache develops with either a child or an adult, it is a safe plan to stop all food for a day or two, until you are sure that the inner ear has emptied itself of any catarrhal mucus which may have accumulated. If everyone would do this at the first sign of ear trouble, there would be few cases of mastoiditis.

Physicians always fear that an earache may lead to mastoiditis and operate upon their patients many times before nature has a chance to cure the trouble in the inner ear.

A few weeks ago I received a long distance call from a mother whose child had just had her ear drum lanced to let out the pus. All arrangements had been made for an operation to be performed on the child's mastoid the next morning. The mother chanced that afternoon to read an article which I had written, telling about the cure of mastoiditis. She was so cheered in the hope that her child could avoid an operation that she called me long distance for some advice.

I told her that all that she needed to do was to begin fasting the child at once, using at the same time hot applications on the outside of the ear and on the side of the neck. This she proceeded to do. She telephoned me next day that the pain had entirely disappeared.

In a day or two more, the ear had stopped discharging and the child had apparently completely recovered. The mother was delighted, but surprised at such a rapid cure and took her child back to the ear specialist, who pronounced the case entirely cured.

She now has her other children on the same kind of a diet regime which I recommended after the fast.

This case is cited to show how easily a child responds to the proper treatment, even in such a serious trouble as mastoiditis, which may of course, be very dangerous if improperly treated.

If your child has a persistent pain in the ear, or in any other part of the body, it is a wise thing to play safe by starting it on a fast at once; at the same time using all other eliminative measures you know of, such as enemas, hot packs and plenty of skin bathing to keep up elimination through the pores of the skin.

Keep studying these daily articles and learn how easy it is to control all of the common disorders. At the same time, you will learn how to take care of yourself and the rest of the family, so as to avoid sickness in the future.

AT THE REGENT.

MUCH COMEDY AND MANY LAUGHS ARE IN THIS PICTURE

"Heaven on Earth" Hasn't a Slow-moving Minute in Its Entirety—Trench Episodes Real — Renee Adoree and Conrad Nagel Do Great Work in This New M-G-M Film.

"Heaven on Earth," which opens to-night at the Regent Theatre, is one of the most unusual and interesting pictures seen in Peterborough in a long titme. It was directed by Phil Rosen, and boasts of Renee Adoree and Conard Nagel in the leading roles.

An unusual amount of thought is expressed on the screen in this production, but is told with the aid of action rather than in titles. In this particular instance, Rosen has achieved a result that few directors have been able to attain. His story is never slow-moving, and there are no long "close-ups" of an actor thinking, yet each thought put across is unmistakable.

Rosen has directed the picture with extreme finesse, handling each scene with delicacy and restraint. His love scenes are touching in the extreme, while the trench episodes have much the same realism and flavor as those in "The Big Parade."

Plot Absorbing.

The story tells of the revolt of Edmond Durand, played by Conrad Nagel. He has been reared by a too doting aunt, his entire career mapped out for him, even to his love affairs, and he has reached a point where he would either degenerate into a tool of convention and his relatives, or chuck the whole thing and strike out for himself. A passing band of gypsies brings to him the realization of the futility of his life, and he chooses the latter course.

There follows an extremely entertaining tale of his love for the beautiful gypsy fugitive, Marcella, played by Renee Adoree, and their subsequent adventures.

CONFIRMATION SERVICES HELD

The essence of confirmation is strength--spiritual strength from the Holy Ghost, which increases, faith, hope, and love, and gives determination to fight for God's House, His Day, and His Kingdom. They were to go forward, walking to please God, so that they might be numbered among the blessed company of the saints to whom He will say, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

The anthem sung by the choir was "God is a Spirit." Appropriate hymns were sung, including "Come, Gracious Spirit, Heavenly Dove," sung kneeling.

Those confirmed were:

George McCulloch, Robert Childerhose, J. W. Sharman, E. S. Horte-Maxwell, F. T. Shurety, E. Freeman, W. H. Wilson, J. H. Wilson, C. Stuart, Gordon Hall, Fred Ford, Bruce Baker, Kenneth Hutchinson, Whitley Thornbeck, Clifford Horn, Bob McClellan, Charlie Butcher, Karl Dorrington, Charlie Barton, Arthur Legon, Keith Wightman, Leslie Welsh, Max Sauer.

Jessie Gregory, Lillian Gregory, Nellie Hewitt, Nellie Shurety, Florence M. Crowe, Dorothy Lobban, Elsie M. Bennett, Jean Conway, Mrs. Hayter, Lily Burfield, Ellen E. aBtchelor, Hazel Hetherington, Helen A. Hetherington, Dorothy Paterson, Sadie Miles, Patricia McClellan, Lillian McClellan, Areigh Comstock, Beatrice Denston, Jean Lush, Freda Smith, Marjorie Perks, Dorothy Perks, Lilian Wesley, Margaret Rogers, Hazel Maynard, Mary Wood, Florence Hetherington.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

Services in St. Luke's church was conducted yesterday afternoon by Bishop Sweeney, who congratulated the church, both for the number who were being confirmed and the congregation gathered for the service.

The Bishop chose as his address the 119th psalm, tenth verse, "With my whole heart I have sought Thee; O let me not wander from Thy commandments."

"The psalm has many peculiarities," said the Bishop, "for it is divided up into many portions and each portion is assigned to a letter of Hebrew alphabet." He then told how Jesus knocked at the door and waited on the outside to be let in. "This simply means that Jesus knocks at your hearts," remarked the Bishop," and the sad part of it is that you do not let Him in for which everyone should be ashamed."

He then pleaded that all present would open the door of their hearts and let God Enter, and said that all spiritual ideas are made up of things like that, and "if we do not follow God we can not possibly become His disciples."

In explaining the meaning of "confirmation," the Bishop stated that it was formerly called "the sealing of the spirit of God" with the one confirmed, for in this rite God is stamping everyone for His own and then all should worship God with all their hearts.

"Then," said the Bishop, 'life shall be Thy service, Lord and death the gate of Heaven.

The Rev. G. J. Bousfield presented the candidates from St. Luke's, while the Rev. J .L. Hughes presented one from St. George's. The rite was administered privately this morning to two invalids, one from each church. The candidates were:

George James Bishop, Hector George Collingwood Bousfield, Gerald Edmund Wheeler Bousfield, William George Brady, Edward Shewen Brown, Edmund Frederic Burgess, Archibald Maxwell Hamilton, Willard John Lee, George Merritt, Stamford Joseph Reid, Albert McKenzie Starr, Sidney Stamford Storey, Keith Pratley Wills, Clarence Jackson, Nellie Gertrude Aldous, Eleanor Winnifred Bothwell, Isabel Chillis Brown, Olga Madoline Butcher, Minnie Ebbs, Jean Henrietta Isabel Fairweather, Cora May Finlay, Nora Gilvor Gemmell, Doris Mary Hawkes, Grace Nellie Nora Hawkes, Hilda Annie Joyes, Constance Secret Frances Mason, Hazel Seymour, Lillian Ivy Starr, Henrietta Ethel Thompson, Margaret Dorothy Thompson, Mrs. Close, senior.

All Saints' Church.

The Rev. J. Douglas Paterson, rector of All Saints', presented thirty-two candidates at the service last night, which was attended by a very large congregation. "Some Secrets of Peace" was the subject announced by Bishop Sweeney, who based his sermon on the text, "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths." This was taken from the third chapter of Proverbs, verses five and six, and was characterized by the speaker as splendid advice for young men and women, setting forth anew on a Christian career with a consecrated life.

Many people, said His Lordship, pretend to reveal secrets, but only the Word of God gives a true revelation of such secrets as God in His loving-kindness and mercy wants His people to understand. Life is a very complex thing, full of mystery, and people are tempted to formulate their own philosophies of life. In fact, everybody that thinks will, consciously or unconsciously, form and live out his own philosophy.

It is safe for all people to take the philosophy of life set forth by the Master when He said, "Take no thought for the morrow." Day and night come so that life can be lived piecemeal. Morning by morning those who believe are to go forth in the power of the Lord, seeking and using the strength He gives for that day. They pray only for that day's needs. This is the true secret of living life without care and sense of being overburdened.

The secret of holiness, too, is found in God's Word. It is not something that can be attained alone because all are born in sin, but the Bible says to magnify the body, remembering that it is the temple of the Holy Ghost, bought with a price, and the whosoever defiles the temple of God, him will God destroy.

The lists of casualties and tragedies which are printed so often in the newspapers, continued the speaker, would be apt to give the idea that the world is a sorrowful place, but it is the will of God that His people should be joyous. Religion does not make it necessary to have a long face. "Rejoice in the Lord always, and again I say, rejoice." There may be many sorrows, but one can take them to Christ and have a joyous heart.

There are many wrecks along the road of life, because people have not had courage to persevere and fight on. They have given up instead of continuing to press forward as did the saints of old and the Christian soldiers of all times. The martyrs went forward strong, in peace, as seeing Him that is invisible, who said, "I will not leave thee or forsake thee."

In conclusion, the speaker said that the candidates had sought and received the gift of the Holy Spirit. Out of that gift would come love, joy, and peace. "May God give you, as a result of this confirmation," he continued, "the added grace of love, the added grace of joy, and the added grace of peace, above all peace." He urged them to associate the hymn "Peace, Perfect Peace" with their confirmation and to hold fast to that peace which passeth all understanding and which the world can not take.

The anthem sung was the Gloria from Mozart's Twelfth Mass.

Surveyors kept in fine trim by simple first-aid measure

A member of a survey party, sent out by the government of British Columbia to do subdivision work three hundred miles from civilization reports that the men were kept in fine trim throughout the trip by a simple first-aid measure.

"The chief brought along as a part of our first-aid supply a bottle of Sloan's Liniment," he writes. "And through weeks of exposure and hardship we found it our best help for sprains, bruises, stiff muscles and rheumatism."

Sloan's gives real relief because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It helps your body to throw off the cause.

Just a little Sloan's patted on lightly—and a healing tide of fresh, new blood is sent right to the place that hurts. The aching and stiffness are helped right away. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

Warden Releases Moose Held For Soo Menagerie

SALT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 16. — Hopes of adding a baby moose to the Soo's menagerie at Bellevue Park, were shattered on Saturday, with the announcement by Game Warden Garnet Magill that he had given freedom to the captured animal, which had been held in Albert Hasselbring's stable at Trout Lake, awaiting transportation here. Mayor Thomas J. Irwin, and Chairman Lou Chapman of the Parks Board, had just completed making extensive arrangements for properly housing the moose in the park when word was received of its release.

When Will You Stop Working?

SOME day you will stop working—and earning! You do not know just when this will be. No man does. The future holds this secret.

You do know, however, that there are only three emergencies that can render you incapable of earning money.

(1) Old Age. When you become old you won't be able to work.

(2) Disability. Sickness or accident might make it impossible for you to work.

(3) Death.

It is a simple matter to protect yourself and your family against all three of these emergencies.

Our booklet "The Problem of Tomorrow" has been specially prepared to show you how you can best do this. It discusses your particular problem and gives its solution. It is a safe insurance reference which will guide you in selecting the best and most satisfactory plan for safeguarding your own and your family's financial future.

We sincerely recommend this booklet, believing that it will be of great personal benefit to you. Send the attached coupon today.

SEEDING DELAYED BY WET WEATHER

Brandrams Began Making Paint in London in That Year.

WARSAW, May 16—Seeding is still further delayed. Those whose land was in condition to be tilled early have grain up. Those who have low-lying land to seed and had hoped to have it done early last week are generally still held back, and the explanation of having all the spring crop in by the middle of May is not at all likely to be realized.

There are some splendid looking fields of fall wheat in the country and hay is coming on finely too. There is abundance of grass in the pastures.

Wild flowers are in abundance, and plum trees are coming out in blossom.

It is not often that many orioles are seen together, but quite a flock in which there were at least seven of the beautiful male birds were seen near Warsaw.

The dangerous piece of narrow crooked road west from the Sixth Line corner on the Dummer Road has been widened, and straightened and the brush cut away. It is not nearly so picturesque, but it is safer.

Mr. Way, Editor of the Tweed Advocate, was in Warsaw for the week end. He stayed with Mr. and Mrs. John Sargent.

Milford Payne and Hilliard Hamblin left on Sunday to motor t Manitoba.

Miss Helen and Laura Bowen were home for the week end. Miss Helen brought a little patient up with her, whom she left with her mother for a fortnight, as the doctor thought she might gain more strength out of the hospital.

Miss Helen Bowen has put in her three years in training and is now writing her examinations.

Miss Evelyn Gray is also writing but her time will not be in until later. The cousins will graduate at the same time.

Mr. Aitken has moved into the house lately occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Sneider.

CANADIAN GIRLS WIN NOVEL PRIZES

Take Two of Four in MacLean's Magazine Contest, Toronto.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 16. Canadian Press. — The Journal says editorially —"Following as it does a Toronto girl's capture of the Atlantic Monthly's $10,00 for the best novel submitted in its recent prize competion, it is an interesting circumstance that MacLean's Magazine has given first prize to a woman in a national short story competition. Furthermore, two of the four prize winners are women, and the only competitor outside of the four who is awarded special mention is a woman. We should not like to suggest that the future of Canadian literature lies with women more than with male writers, but certainly they have been conspicuously in the forefront of literary activity of late."

On the same subject the Manitoba Free Press says:

"Miss de la Roche is a native-born Canadian and her prize winning novel Jalna, has a Canadian setting. Jalna is her fourth novel, so that in one sense success has not come to her as a flash in the night. Her ancestry is typical of what is going into the Canadian race. She is of French, Irish and English origin, and it is to be hoped that when the next census is taken in this country she will be permitted to list herself as a Canadian."

The city of Toronto honored the distinguished author by the presentation of silver plate at a banquet given by the Authors' Association on May 7th.

Mr. Brewer left immediately for Toronto to attend the funeral.

COMMISSION URGES INDIAN SANDHURST

Publicity Recommended as the Method of Attracting Indian Boy To Army.

LONDON, May 16 (Canadian Press).—The creation of an Indian Army is hinted at in a foreword to the report issued for publication in London and Bombay, of the Indian Sandhurst Committee, which was set up in June, 1925, to examine ways and means of attracting the best Indian youths to a military career.

Signed by the Secretary to the Government of India, Army Department, the foreword points out that the "Government, when called on to deal with any scheme of increasing Indianization extending over a number of years, must leave themselves free to consider whether the basis of that scheme offers the surest line of advance towards the creation of a Dominion army, or whether alternative methods, which did not fall within the committee's terms of reference, might not more profitably be explored."

The committee, in its report, decides in favor of the establishment in India in the near future of a military college on the lines of Sandhurst and suggests 1933 for this innovation.

It is felt that by then various improvements recommended in matters of subsidiary importance connected with the securing of suitable candidates for the Army will have had time to take effect. As a means of attracting the Indian boy to the army the committee, which carried out its investigations under the chairmanship of the Chief of the General Staff in India, Lieut.-General Sir Andrew Skeen, recommends a widespread use of publicity. The widespread ignorance existing in India with regard to an army career the committee believes to be due in part to lack of publicity.

Caste restrictions, the committee feels, do not represent a serious or widespread difficulty—the cause of the present failure to attract the best Indian to the service is, in the opinion of the committee, the past policy of government in India.

"The root cause is plain to see. It consists in the fact that until eight years ago Indians were wholly excluded from positions of high responsibility in the army, all military appointments carry the King's commission being held by Europeans alone."

Pending the establishment of the Indian Sandhurst, the committee recommend in their scheme of Indianization the immediate doubling of the number of vacancies for Indians at Sandhurst and a progressive increase thereafter until 1933.

PARIS, May 16.—On the occasion of the recent 25th anniversary of the admission of women to the bar in France it was disclosed that there are now 137 women advocates enrolled at the Paris bar. Fewer than 20 are practicing barristers in the courts, however, the others being salaried employes in law offices where they prepare briefs, interview clients, etc.

ROYAL FLIERS START TO-DAY

British Officers Will Fly From England To Calcutta. TO MAKE RECORD.

LONDON, May 16 — The Air Ministry announced yesterday that the 4,000-mile non-stop flight from England to Calcutta, the start of which was scheduled for Sunday, has been postponed until Monday morning, in order to give the engines and navigation instruments a final test.

Lieutenants Carr and Gillman of the Royal Air Force, who have been assigned to pilot a Hawker-Horsley bombing plane in this flight, plan to try to break the non-stop record of 341.5 miles now held by the French.

The Meteorological Office reports that weather conditions are ideal for the attempted flight, favorable winds prevailing along the entire route.

Gather at Home of Mrs. Bedford And Play Five Hundred.

HAVELOCK, May 16.—The regular meeting of the Companion Court Princess of Wales I.O.F., was held on Wednesday evening, May 11th at the home of Mrs. Jay Bedford.

After the business of the evening was disposed of the members present were entertained at progressive five hundred, when prizes were won by Mrs. R. Jones and Miss Marie Bedford. A dainty lunch was served at twelve, after which all departed for home, having voted the meeting a huge success.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. Peters on June 15th.

YORKS' NEW HOME READY FOR RETURN

Duke and Duchess Will Move in Immediately On

LONDON, May 14.—(Canadian Press).—Directly upon their return to London the Duke and Duchess of York will move into their new home at 145 Piccadilly. The Duchess' boudoir—once a conservatory—has a novel scheme of lighting; a domed roof with inner and outer glass domes has given the electricians the opportunity of placing the lights between the domes, and the whole of the room is beautified by a suffused rose-pink glow. The room has been decorated in soft olive green with touches of grey. The Duchess's bedroom is a study in the most delicate of pale-rose pinks. The nursery is blue and ivory, all the woodwork and furniture being in ory.

GREAT WARSHIP READY IN JUNE

H. M. S. Nelson Largest and Most Modern in the World.

4½ YEARS TO BUILD.

LONDON, May 16 (Canadian Press) —H.M.S. Nelson, largest and most modern battleship in the world, is due for completion in June. Captain J. S. Meyrick will take command of the Nelson on July 1.

The vessel was laid down in December, 1922, and will thus have been 4½ years under construction. She has a length of 660 feet, beam of 106 feet, and draught of 30 feet, her standard displacement being 35,000 tons. Her propelling machinery geared turbines of 45,000 h.p., should give her a maximum speed of 23 knots. Nine 16-inch guns constitute her main armament, disposed in three triple turrets in the fore part of the vessel; the secondary battery of 12.6-inch guns being twin-mounted in the after part. There are also six 4.7-in. anti-aircraft guns and 28 smaller guns, as well as two torpedo tubes. The Rodney, sister-ship to the Nelson, is due for completion on the Mersey in August.

Thousands Of Tourists Visit Blossom County

GRIMSBY, May 16—Despite the unfavorable weather conditions Sunday, many thousands came to Niagara Peninsula to see the blossoms. Traffic was terrific, the count of cars in one hour exceeding 1,200. The blossoms, however, were not up to expectations owing to the cold weather of the week-end. They should be at their best by next week, when the late peaches and apples will be in full bloom.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

Speaking at the nine o'clock Mass at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, Rev. K. Corkery took his text from Samuel 49, 5: "Call upon Me in the day of trouble and I will deliver thee and thou wilt glorify Me."

Continuing the discourses on the various ramifications of the Ten Commandments, which are now being considered at the Cathedral, Father Corkery spoke of the solemn nature of a vow, when made as a deliberate promise to Almighty God, the keeping of which binds under pain of mortal sin. If force or fear or restraint is used on the person making it, it becomes invalid, but a vow taken deliberately, after reflection, is a solemn obligation.

Pope Gregory the Great made a vow to God that a procession in honor of the saint would be made on the feast of St. Mark; in 1248, St. Louis of France, when ill, promised that, if he recovered, he would make a Crusade to the Holy Land, and in 1633, the peasants of Oberammergau, stricken by a plague, promised that the Passion of Our Lord would be repeated by them as a play every ten years, a vow that has never been broken in the intervening years.

It is said that God listens to the prayers of those who make a special vow and gives them more speedy answer to their petitions. They also advance in perfection and are enabled to make progress in their quest of eternal salvation. Of those in religion who have consecrated their lives to God in vows, St. Francis de Sales says that as we give the fruit of the tree to God in prayer, they give the whole tree.

Father Corkery announced a special sermon on Catholic extension work to be given next Sunday by one of the fathers from St. Michael's College.

ST. ANDREW'S.

The special service in St. Andrew's church in connection with the Boys' Week was well attended by the boys and their fathers and by others interested. Mr. Fred McNeely, boys' secretary at Y.M.C.A., and a member of St. Andrew's church, conducted the service and Mr. Wm. Fanjoy, leader of the Sunday school orchestra, with Grant Breckenridge, played "Home Sweet Home" as a violin duet, accompanied at the piano by Ashton Fife. Mrs. Ford Turner sang a most beautiful and appropriate solo, entitled "Oh Life Is a Fine Thing." The offering was received by six boys. It was a real boys' service. The pastor of the church, Rev. J. W. Gordon, delivered an appropriate address, entitled, "What may be reasonably expected of a boy." Following is the text of Mrs. Turner's solo:

"Oh life is a fine thing, sonny
And that's what you think to-day
As you fight a pretended battle
And are crowned, in your childish play
There are stirring adventures waiting
There are wonderful things to do,
Oh lad keep the heart of a fighter
Whatever's in store for you.

Of life is a fine thing, sonny
And when you are grown a man,
The sword and the crown await you
As now, in your childish plan
But the battle will last your lifetime
Wherever your feet may plod,
And the crown that I covet, for you lad
Is the crown that shall come from God,
The crown that I covet, for you lad,
Is the crown, that shall come, from God.

OVERCROWDING TROUBLESOME

England and Wales the Most Crowded Countries in World.

SHORTAGE OF HOUSES.

LONDON, May 16 (Canadian Press).—Smaller families but a greater density of population is one of the peculiarities revealed by the general report on the census of England and Wales, 1921, just published.

The population, it is stated, numbered rather more than 3-¾ millions, 649 to each square mile on the average or about an acre per head, a density greater than that of any country in the world. The adverse effect of the war must be accounted responsible for the unprecedented fall in the birthrate. It compares favorably in this respect, however, with other European belligerents, whose populations generally advanced much slower.

The rural population is still flocking to the town, for the report says: Nearly 80 per cent of the population were enumerated as living in urban areas. Of these practically half were found in comparatively dense aggregates represented by the 46 towns which contain more than 100,000 persons.

In the section dealing with housing attention is called to the fact that notwithstanding the house shortage the total number of rooms available for habitation is greater in relation to the population than it was in 1911.

"At the same time," the report states, "families are, on the whole, smaller than they were ten years ago, and since small families are able to command a higher standard of housing than the larger they have absorbed a greater share of the available house-room than they had in 1911. It is largely to this change and to the uneven distribution of accommodation throughout the country that the present situation is due. Overcrowding has increased.

In the matter of sex distribution the war has been responsible for a greatly increased disparity in numbers, the surplus of women now exceeding 1,700,000 as compared with fewer than 1,200,000 in 1911. Between the ages of 30 and 35 there are 1,470 unmarried women for every 1,000 unmarried men.

A large reduction in the number of aliens in this country is noted. Belgians and Americans, however, are exceptions to this rule. Immigrants from Belgium more than doubled in the period under review, and the increment from the U.S.A. rose from 13,637 to 19,171 in the same decade. More than half the foreigners were enumerated in the County of London, and nearly one-third of these were found in the Metropolitan Borough of Stepney.

The report notes the decline of the Welsh language. There are still it is stated, more than 150,000 persons in Wales who are able to converse only in Welsh, but they are 18 per cent fewer than they were ten years ago; while those able to speak English only, numbering nearly 50 per cent. of the Welsh population, have increased by more than 21 per cent. in the same period.

TORONTO COUNCIL DISCUSSES RULING

Will Pass Resolution Favoring Conference on Border Laws.

TORONTO, May 16. Canadian Press. — The Toronto city council, at the request of Windsor, will take up the immigration question here today.

It is proposed to pass a resolution asking the Dominion government to present a formal request to the United States for an International conference with a view to entering into an agreement providing for reciprocal arrangements being established so that residents upon either side may enjoy similar privileges and be subject to the same restrictions.

THIRD "VIMY" PETERBOROUGH TROOP

The Third was completely reorganized last Friday night. We had four patrols, but none of them were complete, so the number of patrols was cut to two, one of six members and the other of seven. The patrols now are the Hounds and Hawks. These two patrols ran a very close race in the last competition and now will go at it again. The first night finds the Hounds in the lead by 6 points. They have 126 and the Hawks 120.

There was a poor attendance, only seven Scouts turning out, but this was largely accounted for by the fact that several of the Scouts had to be at the Hobby Show to take part in the different events. Next week we hope to have a complete attendance of both patrols. Weather permitting, the meeting will be held out-of doors. A number of new games have been unearthed and a fine time is assured.

Owing to the unequal strength of the patrols, teams had to be picked and no points could be awarded in the patrol competition, excepting those earned for attendance and inspection.

Immediately after Flag Break, a new game was played called "There and Back," in which the Souts were formed into two lines. They had to pass eight coins from hand to hand, and the last man make a pile of them, then start back again. This proved a good race and the same team won each time.

In Patrol Corners, the Hounds worked on semaphore signalling for a few minutes, then the whole troops was divided into teams again, for Kim's Game by patrols. This proved a good test for memories. Twenty-four articles were shown to the Troop for one minute. Teams returned to corners, and A.S.M. asked each in turn to name one article. Any Scout could tell his leader any object, but only the leader could answer the A.S.M. This continued until all articles were named. In case a team could not name an article before ten was counted, they lost one point, or if they named something which had been called before, they had one more chance to call again. This gets quite exciting when everything has been called but two or three articles, and is a good new way of teaching Kim's Game.

At 30 the Scouts were dismissed, so as to allow them to visit the Hobby Show.

Tests passed since last meeting are Second Class First Aid by Jack Clayton, and Kim's Game (4th time) by Doug. Fraser.

BOATS REPORT NOTHING FOUND

Canadian Patrols Cover Area Between the Two Dominions.

RADIO FRUITLESS.

OTTAWA, May 16. — Canadian Press. — "No trace or information re trans-Atlantic flyers," reads a wireless report received by the Dominion Department of Marine and Fisheries this morning from Captain Hearn, of the Government patrol boat "Mikula," searching the waters between Canada and Newfoundland for the missing French airmen, Nungesser and Coli.

The government ice patrol boat "Montcalm," engaged in a similar quest in the same area, also reports that it has obtained no trace of the fliers. Government radio stations along the Atlantic coast have likewise been unable to obtain any information.

Belief is expressed here that if the French airmen landed in Newfoundland their whereabout would likely have been discovered as they are now a week overdue in their Paris-New York jaunt. If it is stated, the flyers landed in Labrador, they could hardly be located for a period of three weeks at least, as no mail or other steamer is due to leave Canada or Newfoundland before June 1st, or thereabouts.

HYDROPLANE SENT.

QUEBEC, May 16. — (Canadian Press.)—A hydroplane has been sent by the government of the province of Quebec to conduct a rigorous search in Labrador and on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river and Gulf for the missing French fliers, Captains Nungesser nad Coli. Premier Taschereau made this announcement today.

JUNIOR GIRLS SWIM IN POOL

Enjoyable Swimming Party at the Y.W.C.A. on Saturday.

PRIZES PRESENTED.

The Junior members of the Y.W.C.A. Gymnasium Classes enjoyed a very jolly swimming party at the "Y" pool on Saturday morning, about 150 children, from 4 to 12 years of age arrived early Saturday morning with their swimming caps, suits, and towels and the pool was soon a scene of much splashing and happy laughter, while from the galleries, parents and friends also enjoyed the fun.

A program of races and stunts was run off under the direction of Miss Littlefield, swimming instructor. Prizes were awarded to the following for swimming under water: Mary Dunlop, Emily Hemphill.

After the swim the children enjoyed a romp in the Gym, after which refreshments of cocoa, sandwiches, cake and candy were served in the dormestic science room.

Mrs. Reg. Turner presented the prizes which had been won in the Pageant ticket selling contest and complimented the girls on having done so well:

1st prize, Margaret Patoine; 2nd June Best. 1st prizes, Babies, Thelma McNeeley; 2nd, Evelyn Hill.

Senior prize, Helen Bell.

Dodgers announcing Swimming Classes were given to the children, who are looking forward to happy times in the pool this summer.

The swimming pool already has a large number of pupils registered for the various classes and more are joining each day. This is a splendid opportunity for every child to learn to swim at reasonable prices and in a warm building, in clean filtered heated water.

YOU POOR KID, WHY ARE YOU SO SKINNY

Don't your Mother know that Cod Liver Extract will put pounds o good healthy flesh on your bones in just a few weeks?

Tell her every druggist has it in sugar-coated tablet form now so that in just a few weeks she can help you get back your appetite—make your body stronger—your feet nimble and your mind keener.

Tell her if they don't help greatly in 30 days she can get her money back.

Tell her that McCoy's Cod Liver Extract tablets are chock-full of vitalizing vitamines and are the greatest flesh producers and health builders she can find.

One sickly thin kid age 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

She must ask McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store, McDermid Drug Co., or any good druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents—as pleasant to take as candy.

MEN MISSING FROM ORILLIA

Feared That They Have Been Drowned in Georgian Bay.

THEIR BOAT FOUND.

ORILLIA, Ont., May 16.—S. P. Cane, agent for Confederation Life, and Keble Breckon, card sign writer, who had offices adjoining in Cooke's Chambers, have disappeared and it is feared they have been drowned in Georgian Bay.

They left Orillia for Midland on Tuesday, intending to work there and return to Orillia Friday. Wednesday evening they hired a boat to go fishing. The boat was found floating near Port McNichol on Saturday, together with Cane's overcoat.

Both men took nearly all their belongings from their room in a hotel at Midland, and nothing was found but the overcoat.

Wheat Prices Lower After Irregular Start

CHICAGO, May 16 (Canadian Press).—Wheat underwent a setback today after an irregular start. More favorable crop reports from Kansas acted as a bearish influence despite unexpected higher Liverpool quotations associated with drought in Argentine and seeding delay in Canada. Opening ¼c off to ⅜c up wheat later declined all around. Corn and oats were easy, corn starting at ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent advance and subsequently showing a general sag. Provisions tended up grade.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 142¼, July 135⅝. Corn, May 84⅛, July 89¼. Oats, May 49½, July 46⅝.

Business Drags To-day On Standard Mine Market

TORONTO, May 16 (Canadian Press).—Business was draggy on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day, and little was transacted. Total sales amounted to only 340,317 shares, compared with 408,993 at Saturday's short session. Noranda featured the Mining Exchange, as it did the local Stock Exchange to-day. It dropped fifty cents to 24 after opening at a new high of 25. Argonaut Consolidated was up 1¾ at 49¼, while Area gained 2 at 29. Duprat was ¾ up at 8¾, and Kirkland Lake gained one at 145. Potterdoal declined four at 27, and Amulet, on the unlisted market, gained ten at 135.

Speculators Continue To Work For Increase

NEW YORK, May 16 (Canadian Press). — Frequent selling squalls swept through today's stock market, giving it a ruffled appearance, but operators for the rise continued to bid up stocks in various sections of the list, lifting several of them to new peak prices. Goodyear Preferred and prior Preferred advanced to new peaks on the settlement of the litigation involving that company. Packing shares continued to respond to the settlement of the South American trade war. Federal Mining and Smelting jumped nearly five points to a new high in anticipation of favorable judicial decision in the dividend case now pending. The demand for the Van Sweringen Rails mirrored the hope of speculators that the Inter-State Commerce Commission would approve the revised merger plan.

Rails were in the forefront of the advance by early afternoon, with New York Central, Reading, and the Western Maryland issues making the best showing. Strength also developed in a number of specialties, particularly A. M. Byers and National Lead. The heaviness of United States Steel Common reflected the recent decline in the production and consumption of metal and several of the other popular industrials also appeared to be in supply on the rallies.

Noranda Secures Control Of Waite and Alderson

Noranda Mines Limited has acquired the majority ownership of the Waite-Montgomery and Alderson-MacKay properties from N. A. Timmins, Inc., on satisfactory terms, giving Noranda shares in payment. An official announcement was made yesterday by J. Y. Murdoch, President of Noranda, after his return from New York, via Montreal. Mr. Timmins becomes the largest individual shareholder of Noranda and the Canadian ownership has increased to the point where only a minority is held outside this country.

The news was not altogether unexpected. Negotiations have been proceeding for several months.

Mr. Timmins was offered cash for the properties but preferred to take Noranda shares. Through this double transaction the Timmins interests in the Quebec field are concentrated in the Noranda enterprise and three mines are placed under one management.

Large Aggregate Ore Reserves.

The ore reserves of the Horne property were conservatively estimated at $25,1-0,000 by Ernest Hibbert, General Manager of Horne Copper Corporation, in his annual report. Waite-Montgomery ore reserves are estimated at $11,000,000, and those of Alderson-MacKay at about $3,000,000. The latter estimate does not mean a great deal, since Towagmac Exploration which has been in charge of Alderson-MacKay operations, had merely to put down a single diamond drill hole recently to show 90 feet of feet of massive chalcopyrite. On the conservative figures given above, the reserves of Noranda properties are increased by nearly 60 per cent, and stand at $39,100,000.

Incorporating Alderson-MacKay Co.

The Alderson-MacKay Company will be incorporated almost immediately. The Waite-Montgomery will be incorporated in due time but nothing is being done in this direction at the present. N. A. Timmins Inc. owned an 81 per cent. interest in Alderson-MacKay. Under the terms of the agreement by which the latter property was acquired by the Timmins interests additional stock was to be acquired as money was spent in development work. Thus Noranda secures an interest of approximately 70 per cent. in the Alderson, and this will be increased to about 75 per cent. as further money is spent on the property.

Official Statement is Issued.

When the Globe communicated with Mr. Murdoch yesterday regarding the development in the Noranda situation he gave an official statement as follows:

"It is announced that an arrangement has been reached by Noranda Mines Limited, and N. A. Timmins, whereby Noranda acquires Mr. Timmins's interests in the Waite-Montgomery and Alderson-MacKay properties. By this transaction Noranda secures an 81 per cent. interest in the Waite-Montgomery and approximately 70 per cent in the Alderson-MacKay. Mr. Timmins completes the respective option payments on each property and receives for his interest treasury shares of Noranda Mines Limited."

Largest Deal on Record.

The Waite-Montgomery Alderson-MacKay deal is the largest that has been negotiated in Canadian mining history involving, as it does two proved mines which have considerable possibilities. The ores of the two properties become available for the Horne smelter as they are required. This is a superior arrangement since ore can be taken as and when the Noranda management considers advisable. Railway facilities will be available to take care of the shipment of Alderson-MacKay ore by November, when it is expected, the Horne smelter will be in operation.

Treasury Stock given in Payment.

According to the last Noranda report there were 1,797,000 shares of a total of 2,000,000 shares issue. At that time no stock had been issued to Hollinger under the terms of the bond financing arrangement. By the time $3,000,000 has been advanced, Hollinger will receive 30,000 shares of Noranda in addition to the bonds. It is understood there is ample stock in the Noranda treasury to take care of the payments of stock to N. A. Timmins Inc., for the two properties. The strong point in connection with the deal from a Noranda standpoint is that no new financing is required to acquire the Timmins interests.

It is understood the quotations on Waite-Montgomery units to-day run from $600.00 to $650.00.

CHICAGO ITALIANS WELCOME PINEDO

Aviator Postponed Start For Montreal To Receive Tribute.

CHICAGO, May 16 (Canadian Press).—A modern Columbus and a modern Santa Maria were acclaimed here when Chicago become host to Commander Francesco De Pinedo, Italian aviator, carrying the message of Fascism to four continents.

De Pinedo arrived on Sunday afternoon from St. Louis, Mo., in his Fraschino plane, Santa Maria, on his four continent tour, and the enthusiasm of his brother Fascists here was so great that he tentatively agreed to delay his departure for Montreal this morning for two hours so that they could pay him full tribute they desired. In a short address at last night's banquet in his honor, the aviator recited the advantages of the rule of the second Duce, and asked Italians in North America to live true to the Fatherland's traditions.

PINEDO DELAYED.

Engine Trouble Holds Up Italian Aviator's Journey.

PressPress. — Engine trouble in the forward motor of his plane today caused a postponement until tomorrow of Commander Francesco de Pinedo's flight to Montreal.

SHIP SEARCHES IN FORTUNE BAY

Report Received That Plane With Engine Trouble Passed Near There.

WILL CALL AT VILLAGES.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld, May 16. — Canadian Press. — Fortune Bay, a stocky finger of water poking into the south shore of Newfoundland, was the hope of the authorities to-day in their tireless search for the "White Bird" and Captains Nungesser and Coli, the missing French fliers.

A reort from Ocean Pond, less than 10 miles east of the bay, that a plane apparently experiencing motor trouble, had passed over that town last Monday, led the authorities to ask the French steamer Angease, at St. Pierre-Miquelon, to go to the bay and make a thorough search.

Should this mission prove futile the Angease will then cruise west along the south shore where there are a number of small fishing settlements one of which may hold the secret of the French aviators.

VOTING TO-DAY IN OLD QUEBEC

Both Parties Express Confidence of Success. at Polls.

73 TO BE ELECTED.

MONTREAL, May 16 (Canadian Press) — Voting is taking place today in seventy-three of Quebec's constituencies in a provincial general election. The remaining twelve of the eighty-five seats are able to look on as the members were elected by acclamation at nominations.

Yesterday saw politial meetings being held in all tidings with the leaders of both sides in action. Sunday brought to a close a week of intense activity which followed the rather quiet period following dissolution about a month ago.

At the headquarters of the Liberal and the Conservative parties here to-day confidence was expressed in the outcome of the balloting. Weather conditions throughout the province were reported dull and the roads heavy.

MADISON, Wis., May 16.—Prof. L. R. Ingersoll, University of Wisconsin physicist, has produced a sample of nickel which is non-magnetic.

START TO-DAY FOR KARACHI

British Aviators Will Try To Make Non-Stop Flight.

SEVEN-TON PLANE.

LONDON, May 16.—With 1,100 gallons of gasoline, a Hawker-Rolls-Royce airplane was to leave Cranwell at dawn today on what is intended to be a non-stop 4,000-mile flight to Karachi, India. If the flight is successful it will break the world's record for time duration and distance.

The gasoline, which comprises the biggest part of the weight of the seven-ton machine, will be carried in seven aluminum tanks. If anything goes wrong in the air during the first part of the flight, when the tanks are practically full, the two aviators will leap in parachutes rather than try to land their craft with its dangerous cargo. The two fliers are Lieutenants Charles M. Carr and Leonard Giffman.

The machine is equipped with a device which flashes lights to show the pilot when it is tipping up or down, and when it deviates from its course. This will be used for fog and night flying.

The airmen hope to reach India early Wednesday afternoon, leaving several hours of daylight for continuing the flight to Calcutta if sufficient fuel remains. The machine rose easily this morning, but was not fully loaded.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

"Oh, Faith, darling, thank you! You were wonderful! I—I love you so, honey. I'll never be selfish and mean to you again!" Cherry sobbed, after Faith had retold on the stand the same story she previously had related as a witness for the State.

"The court will recess for lunch," Judge Grimshaw announced, as Churchill rose to call his next witness.

"You were magnificent, Miss Faith, magnificent!" Churchill boomed at the trembling, overwrought girl.

"I'd rather die than go through an ordeal like that again," Faith quavered, her eyes imploring Bob to rescue her. "Banning is terrible! He made me feel as if I were the defendant, as if I had committed some frightful crime and he was punishing me before all these people. But if I helped Cherry——"

"You did, darling- The jury loved you! Even the red-headed foreman who has been scowling and biting his nails most of the time wiped tears out of his eyes. But come along now and get some luncheon, or you'll be sick abed again. Coming, Mr. Lane?" Bob turned to Faith's father, who was hanging back humbly, his meek brown eyes filled with tears of sympathy for his favorite daughter.

"Reckon not," Jim Lane refused apologetically. "I promised Junior and Fay that I'd have a snack with them at the cafeteria across the street. Take care of yourself, daughter. Don't let her catch cold, Bob."

Bob guided Faith out of the courthouse and across the street to the parking place, his arm across her nervously twitching shoulders. When the car was out of the traffic jam about Courthouse Square Faith suddenly collapsed, her body sagging against Bob's shoulder, the tears falling thick and fast down her pale cheeks.

Bob did not urge her not to cry. Instead he carefully avoided looking at her, and began to talk cheerfully.

"Thanks, Bob!" Faith's voice quivered, but her tears had almost ceased to flow and her tired eyelids opened. "Oh, there's Lincoln Park, just ahead. Drive past Kelly's newsstand, dear. There's just a chance that our phantom cripple will be out begging today and we'll get a look at him at last. I feel that we're going to find him, Bob."

Bob immediately followed her directions, while Faith leaned out of the car, straining her eyes to catch a glimpse of the much-sought old man whose footprints so strangely matched those which Bob had found under his uncle's bedroom window the night of the murder.

"By George! There he is!" Bob exclaimed. "Wonder why old Kelly did not get word to me that Phil was at his old stand today? He promised. I'm going to park the car here and we can decide what to do."

Faith shuddered as her eager eyes studied the twisted, stooping, dirty, gray-haired old cripple, who peered through smoked glasses at the crowds which streamed past his outstretched box of lead pencils and chewing gum. He was leaning against the lamp post at one of the four entrances to the park, his body so contorted that it was impossible even for Bob Hathaway, hardened as he was to the sordid sights of the city, to repress a shiver of pity.

ABOUT CORSAGES

By HEDDA HOYT

(United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK, May 16.—(United Press).—Perhaps no gown ornamentation has met with such approval as the flower corsage! Each frock it seems has it's own individual shoulder flower, each street suit it's buttoniere. Prettiest of all are the huge flowing corsages worn at evening time on the shoulders of evening gowns. These are particularly attractive at Summer time as the dainty chiffon petals add a featheriness to the gown which is most effective.

As you perhaps know, these larger chiffon flowers are usually quite expensive in the shops. Also one rarely can find a flower of the exact shade of one's evening gown. For these reasons dressmakers are making up flowers to match frocks at a nominal cost. Many women who are artistically inclined prefer to make their own. In an afternoon one can easily make two corsages of the huge crysanthemum type.

The chiffon is cut in bias strips of the width of a petal. Then, the long strips are cut into short pieces, of various lengths as evenness of the length of the petals spoils the effect of the flower. Having cut the strips one carefully rounds or points the ends which are to be the outer part of the petals. With the head of a glass hatpin one then performs the act of curling the petals. The end of the strip which is to attached at the center is held firmly in the left hand, and the knob of the hatpin held in the right hand drawn down the center of the strip so as to stretch the center of the strip. If this is done correctly you'll find that the natural curve of a petal is achieved. This should be tried with crinkly tissue paper until one becomes acquainted with the idea. Many of you have perhaps made crysanthemum paper flowers in this same way. The curled petals are then attached to a tiny round medallion of buckram or some stiff materal which is covered with chiffon. All that is needed now is the flower center and one can purchase a cheap flower using its center for this purpose. The center may be tinted to match the petals of left as it is since there is no necessity for its matching the flower.

Particularly attractive and even easier to make are floral flowers of printed chiffon or silk material. These printed flowers look so smart on the printed frock or on the plain frock with printed trimming. In this case no curling of the petals is necessary as the corsage is just a huge cluster of straight petals.

WHY CANDY SOMETIMES EXPLODES.

Now and then confectioners find whole shelves of chocolate creams that have burst open. The cause, scientists of the U. S. Bureau of Standards explain in "Popular Science Monthly," is yeast in the sugar filling. Ordinarily yeast, like that used for making bread, will not grow in sugar; but there is a special yeast that finds the sweet creamy mixture ideal. Its fermentation produces gas that bursts the candy.

Women's Modern Hygiene

More absorbent—Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

FEW women today cling to the old-time "sanitary pad"—risky and uncertain—because of a new way called KOTEX.

✔ It ends the embarrassment of laundry and disposal. You discard Kotex as easily as tissue.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads. Thus you wear sheer gowns and gay frocks under the most trying conditions.

Also deodorizes, and thus ends all fear of offending. 80% better class women now use it. Doctors widely urge it. Most hospitals employ it.

Costs only a few cents for a package of 12 at any drug or department store. Be sure you get the genuine KOTEX, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR MONDAY, MAY 16, 1927.

According to astrology this is a threatening day in which the planetary aspects are distinctly adverse.

Early in the morning there is a rule held to be stimulating and invigorating where should be an inclination toward constructive work.

This is an auspicious time for engineers and builders and there will be extraordinary activity in road construction in the coming months.

The stars still encourage the dissemination of radical propaganda and its effects will be widely felt.

For many months the seers have warned against indifference to the circulation of wrong ideas regarding government and now they declare that this country will make startling discoveries.

Much "distorted philosophy" is to be taught, it is foretold, and the public mind will be easily deceived under this sway.

It is not a lucky direction of the stars for love affairs which may be exceedingly disappointing, for there may be a tendency toward evasiveness regarding marriage.

Contracts signed today may be unlucky for there is a planetary influence making toward deceit and even misrepresentation.

In all parts of the country there may be a disposition to tear down popular idols of every sort. Politicians and office-holders may suffer discredit.

Women may find this a day in which their work appears to be thwarted or hampered. They should delay pressing matters even, if they are very important, astrologers declare.

Texas again appears to be subject to influences that will put the state much into public notice. Nature is likely to cause serious disturbances.

Again a great wave of crime is foretold and eastern cities will suffer more than those of the west, if the stars are rightly read.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have many business affairs to settle in the coming year.

Children born on this day are likely to win success, but they may often suffer from periods in which they are unsettled.

Tuesday, May 17, 1927.

(Copyright, 1927, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Except in the early morning, this is likely to be an unfortunate day, according to astrology.

There is a promising aspect for banks and financiers, who will find their influence extending in foreign lands.

Again Europe and Asia will ask aid of America, the seers declare, and they prophesy a return of famine conditions in certain places.

Food stuffs are to increase in price in the United States and the cost of clothing also will rise, if there is any truth in the manner of reading the stars.

Farmers are to continue to suffer many anxieties and to be subject to serious unrest, but they will benefit later in the year, it is forecast.

Late to-day, relief or aid may be obtained from persons in authority, for there is an aspect making for helpfulness on the part of those wielding any sort of power.

Neptune is in a position in the horoscope of President Coolidge which is read as presaging stubborn resistance against movements affecting the Constitution.

A royal betrothal is to be announced before the end of the year, it is foretold, and it will have a wide political influence.

Storms and seismic shocks predicted early in the year will continue to mark the changing seasons.

Secret organizations are to gain in numbers and influence under theaspects read for the coming summer.

Hidden forces are to be potent in public affairs and to affect religious organizations, the seers prophesy.

The Alps is subject to a direction of the stars presaging unusual weather conditions in the coming summer.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year in which they obtain many favors.

Children born on this day will be serious in their outlook on life and inclined to study. Antiquarians are born under this sway.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The woman sketched here must turn her back to show the trimming of the frock. Made of black georgette, it is trimmed at the back with gold braid to give a bolero effect and long gold tassels hang at the back of the skirt.

Once women were dressed like paper dolls whose paper dresses covered only the front. A slight exaggeration perhaps—for of course both sides of real ladies had to be covered. But it really was the fact that all the trimming and elaboration and careful attention to detail was spent on the front of a frock.

So it was with hats. To put an ornament on the back of a hat was rank extravagance. Pendants, brooches, all jeweled ornaments were worn precisely in the front. Even actresses were more unerring in their efforts to face the audience at all times in those days. Now save when it is necessary to face the audience in order to make her lines audible an actress may turn as she pleases—and she is a poorly dressed actress who does not know that the back view is as important as the front.

There are some women still who somehow feel that they must always show the backs as little as possible. If they must stand at a reception they sidle up to a wall as if they really were paper dolls—not expected to be seen save from the front. They seem painfully conscious of the fact that the hair at the back of their neck has been cut too short or has grown too long.

One or two of the prominent French dressmakers have made frocks quite innocent of trimming save at the back. They seem to realize that there is something charmingly sophisticated about the woman who takes as great pains with the back view as with the front. These back-trimmed frocks are of course more appropriate for dancing than anything else. It would be foolish to wear a frock of this sort when you expected to sit playing bridge all the evening.

Waterloo's Oldest Landmark Is Now Being Torn Down

WATERLOO, May 16. — The Snider mill, probably the oldest and best known landmark in the county, is being torn down as the property on which it stands has been bought by an insurance company for building purposes. The mill which was built by A. Erb on King street, the main street of the town, was erected in 1816, and is thus 111 years old. At one time the mill power plant supplied the power for the eight street lights in Waterloo. It has been in the possession of the Snider family since before Confederation, 1862 to be exact. A new mill is being built on a site within a stone's throw of the old one.

Y.W.C.A. LEADERS VISITING CANADA

Founders Of Immigration Movement on Way To Convention.

QUEBEC, Que., May 16 (Special).—One of the founders of the Y. W. C. A. immigration movement into Canada which started some fifteen years ago, is now on her way to the Queen City, there to take part in the Triennial Convention of the Y. W. C. A. which will be held in Toronto from May 28th to June 3rd.

This person is Miss Saunders, former National Society of the Y. W. C. A. in Canada from 1912 to 1920. At present she is one of the outstanding people connected with Y.W.C.A. work in England.

Two other people who are prominently connected with Y.W.C.A. work are also on their way to the convention. They are Mrs. Roxon and Miss Rowell, both of whom are members of the World's Committee of the Association. Mrs. Roxon is the wife of the Agent-General for Ontario in London, and is on her first visit to Canada for three years.

All three Y.W.C.A. workers travelled to Canada on the Canadian Pacific liner Montclare, which arrived in Quebec on Saturday on her first trip of the season from Liverpool with a heavy list of passengers.

A number of Canadians who made the Mediterranean cruise on board the Empress of France were passengers aboard the Montclare, while included in the notables who travelled on the liner were Sir James and Lady Owen of Exeter. Sir James is the proprietor and managing editor of the Western Times Company, Limited, and is on an extensive tour of the Dominion and the United States, which will last three months, and will include his visiting some hundred cities and towns. His itinerary covers from Charlottetown, P.E.I., to Vancouver, B.C., in this country, and appearances in various towns from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

Prince's Horse Runs Away As Royal Rider Mounts

LONDON, May. 16. (United Press.) — The Prince of Wales narrowly escaped injury when a horse he was mounting, broke loose just as His Highness was about to swing his leg over the saddle, it was learned to-day. The mishap occurred on Saturday at Melton Mowbray and the prince was forced into a most undignified jump. The Prince dropped the reins and jumped clear as the horse bolted through the lodge gates to a public highway, with the Prince and several grooms in pursuit. The horse won the race, but stopped of his own accord a mile away.

The factories where sealing-wax is made are declared to be natural "beauty parlors." Resin, the medical qualities of which have been recognized for ages, forms one of the chief constituents of sealing-wax, and the girls employed in the sealing-wax factories soon become plump, clear-skinned, and pretty. Employment in chocolate factories also is said to improve the complexion. Just why this is so has not been explained, but the fact remains that the chocolate factory girls are usually among the rosiest and clearest-skinned to be found anywhere.

Whitney's Whiskery Wins $50,000 Kentucky Derby

WHISKERY LEADS THE FIELD IN FIFTY-THIRD KENTUCKY DERBY

Beats Osmand and Jock in Sensational Drive Down Stretch.

STANDS CROWDED

Time Three Seconds Less Than Old Rosebud's at 2.06.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—(Associated Press).—Whiskery, Harry Payne Whitney's chestnut son of Whiskbroom 2nd-Prudery, won the fifty-third Kentucky Derby Saturday. He won just as he had been expected to win by beating Osmand and Jock in a sensational drive down the stretch.

His time for the mile and a quarter was 2.06, two and three-fifths seconds slower than Old Rosebud's record of 2.03 2-5.

The pari-mutuels in which the Whitney entry of Whiskery and Bostonian was the favorite, showed the surprisingly good odds of $6.80 on each $2 straight ticket. The entry paid $3.80 to place and $3.40 to show. Osmand paid $6.40 and $5.80, while Jock paid $14.20 to show.

The largest crowd that ever witnessed a turf event on American soil filled every available inch of the stands, the brick terrace in front of the grandstand and the greensward between the clubhouse and the track and packed the rail in the infield.

So much for the cold facts.

Falters in Stretch.

It was a typical derby day crowd that began with a yell as the bugle called the fifteen starters to the post. Jock, which was destined to set the pace and then falter in the stretch, pranced upon the track in front. Then came the others, each being accorded an ovation by those who were pulling for him to win.

Jock, from the rail position, proved a "gun at the barrier" and was on top in ten jumps. Down the stretch the fifteen horses charged, each pursuing the flying leader and making for the rail. Past the quarter pole they fled, Jock increasing his lead with every jump. Earl Sande, on Osmand, was about his business in a hurry and moved into second position, with Scapa Flow third.

Around the first turn Jock was in front and apparently going away. Behind Osmand and Scapa Flow the others were making their bids, but there wasn't a chance for any except one.

Linus McAtee, wearing the light blue and white sashed blouse of the Whitney stable, his mount, Whiskery, moved to one side and bettered his position. Sande timed his move with the first faltering step by Jock and on the back stretch began his drive.

Osmand, the sprinter, they called him, was sprinting, sprinting as he never had before. Around the last turn and into the head of the stretch they came, their stout hearts willing but their bursting muscles weakening. All save one—Whiskery.

On the outside, while Jock and Osmand were settling for the present the question of supremacy, Whiskery came fast to finish a head in front of Osmand. Jock was third, two lengths back.

Trailing in for an eighth of a mile down the track came Hydromel, Bostonian, winner of the Preakness last Monday; Buddy Bauer, Royal Julian, Fred Jr., Scapa Flow, Black Panther, Kiev, Rolled Stocking, Rip Rap, Bewithus and War Eagle, in the order named. Saxon, My Son and Mr. Kirkwood were scratched.

It was a decisive victory for the east, each of the first three horses being owned by eastern sportsmen. H. P. Whitney, of New York, received $51,025 as his colt's share of the purse, and a $5,000 gold service. Osmand, owned by J. E. Widener, of Philadelphia, won $6,000; Jock, $3,000 and Hydromel, $1,000.

STARS TAKE 7TH STRAIGHT

Make It Three Games in Row Over Buffalo by Score of 9-5.

CRASHED 14 HITS

NEW YORK, May 16.—(Canadian Press).—The Stars clubbed out their seventh straight victory at Syracuse, making it three in a row over Buffalo by a score of 9 to 5. Bill Hallahan, the league's strikeout leader, added nine more victims to his list, bringing his total to 46. Hallahan fanned Carter, Buffalo centre fielder, four times. The Stars crashed out 14 hits off three Bison hurlers and gave Hallahan splendid support.

The Baltimore Orioles closed their four-game series with the Bears at Newark yesterday with a doubleheader, winning the first game by a score of 14 to 9, and the second by 5 to 1. They split even on the series.

The first game was a long drawn out affair, stopped twice by rain. Wildness on the part of Newark pitchers gave Baltimore the game. Twelve men received bases on balls. Zubris tried to pitch the second game with one day's rest, but was taken out in the third frame.

Jersey City pounded Freddy Carts for twenty hits, while Ellis was holding the Keys to four blows, and the Skeeters took the second game of the series at Reading, 9 to 1. It was the eighteenth consecutive defeat for Reading. The second game of a scheduled doubleheader was postponed on account of rain.

GIANTS MAKE TWO STRAIGHT

Defeat Cincinnati Reds for Second Game by Score of 6-3.

PIRATES WINNERS

NEW YORK, May 16.—(Canadian Press).—Behind the steady pitching of Hughie McQuillan, the New York Giants made it two in a row over Cincinnati by winning at the Polo Grounds yesterday by 6 to 3. Five hits were bunched for four runs in the third off Rixey, who was replaced by Lucas in the following inning. Hornsby got a double and two singles and Terry crashed a circuit drive with one on in the eighth.

At Brooklyn five pitchers failed to stop the Pirates, and Pittsburgh triumphed over the Robins for a second time by 9 to 6. The winning score was made off Ehrhardt in the seventh after the Robins had knocked Lee Meadows out of the box in the previous session to level a six-run lead. Joe Harris hit a homer.

WINDSOR LOSES IN FINAL CONTEST

Defeated in Canadian Junior Basketball Title Game 56 to 45.

OTTAWA, May 16 (Canadian Press).—Glebe Collegiate defeated Windsor Blue Arrows by a score of 34 to 22 in the final game of their two game series at the local Y.M.C.A. to win the Canadian Junior Basketball title by 56 points to 45. Windsor won the first game of the series on Friday evening by a score of 23 to 22. It is the second consecutive win of the junior championship by the locals, as they took the title from St. Catherines last season.

Glebe gave a wonderful display of their defensive system combined with a short passing game which particularly in the closing stages of the game carried the visitors off their feet. The locals' shooting on Saturday night was just as high class as that of the visitors, both teams featuring in the accuracy of their scoring from the court, though their converting of free throws was not up to their class in other departments of play.

The speedy and spectacular dribbling game adopted by Windsor was effectively broken up by the Glebe five-man system of defence and only the game fighting power and the ability to take advantage of the few clear chances they had to score kept the Windsor team in the running during the first half of the game.

Their individual efforts to break through the defensive cordon in front of the locals' basket caused them to tire badly and in the closing stages the Ottawa team were going away, scoring almost at will in the closing five minutes of the game.

Every one of the locals were at their best, and their machine-like team play showed them to be one of the most finished teams that Ottawa basketball has produced. Don Smaill, right forward and Captain of the Glebe, featured with seven floor baskets all of them shot from twenty to forty feet out.

Individually the Windsor players were perhaps better than the winners, but system and team play were lacking. Bill Curtis and Ernie Marchand were the pick of the squad.

The score.—Glebe (Ottawa): Smaill, 15; Church, 9; McGill, 8; Young, 2; Sanford, Ussher, Turner, Miller, Beveridge. Total 34.

Windsor.—Saddy, 3; Curtis, 9; Marchand, 10; Butcher, Taylor, Dawson, Matthews, Craig, Vincent. Total 22.

INDIAN LEADS IN MARATHON

Quanowahu Outfoots Field of 136 Canadian and American Runners.

WYERS FOURTH

LONG BEACH, N. Y., May 16.—(Canadian Press).—Displaying traditional speed and stamina of the aborigine, Chief Quanowahu, 26-year-old Hopi Indian runner from Manuelito, New Mexico, outfooted a field of 136 Canadian and American distance men yesterday to Capture the New York to Long Beach marathon. Percy Wyer, of Toronto, was fourth and Francis Hughes, of Hamilton, Ont., eleventh.

While two of his tribesmen were forced out of the race by blistered feet and a third distanced, the sturdy little Indian fought and won a stirring duel with Albert Michelson, the Stamford, Conn., plumber, after seesawing with Michelson for the leader over the last ten miles. Chief Quanowahu drew away in the final stretch of concrete road to win from Michelson by nearly 150 yards.

The Indian finished strongly and might have lengthened his margin had he sprinted. The time was 2 hours 47 minutes 43 1-5 seconds, for the regulation marathon distance of 26 miles 385 yards.

Summary:

1.—Chief Quanowahu, New Mexico, 2.47.43 1-5.

2.—Albert (Whitey) Michelson, Stamford, Conn., 2.48.09.

3.—Harvey Frick, Millrose A. A., New York, 2.51.45 2-5.

4.—Percy Wyer, Monarch A. C., Toronto, Ont., 2.51.28.

11.—Francis Hughes, Hamilton, Ont., no time given.

THREE HOMERS FOR THE BROWNS

Philadelphia Athletics Suffer Heavy Defeat at St. Louis, 8-6.

WHITE SOX LOSE

NEW YORK, May 16.—(Canadian Press).—Schang's homer in the third with the bases full enabled the Browns to vanquish the Philadelphia Athletics, 8 to 6, at St. Louis yesterday in a game featured by three home runs. "Bing" Miller continued his batting spree started Saturday when he got four safeties, one a homer, by gathering four hits from four times at bat. Cochrane and Collins each got homers.

Boston bunched three of their four hits off Thomas with a sacrifice and Falk's wild throw to the infield to gather two runs, enough to win 2 to 1, in the first game of the series at Chicago. Tony Welzer was hit freely by the White Sox, but tightened up in the pinches and was given sensational support.

BOYS' RACES IN ARMOURIES

Large Crowd Attend Races Held on Saturday Afternoon.

MANY PRIZES

The races in the Armories on Saturday afternoon, carrying out the idea of Boys' Day in Competition were of an unique nature, consisting of horse-back, relay, slow bicycle, wagon and scooter racing. Two Breaks Went Against the Quakers at Start and Finish.

A fair crowd of spectators turned out on Saturday afternoon, in spite of the inclemency of the weather, to view the Thistle win two league points from the Quakers by the two goals to nothing, at King Edward Park on Saturday afternoon.

The two breaks went in favor of the Thistle, who anticipated a defeat before the game because they lacked two of their regular players. Dawson was injured on Thursday when he received a compound fracture of his big toe at business. Then misfortune hit Charlie Griffin, who was injured on Friday when an automobile struck him, when he was returning from his employment. A draw would have been an exact crit rion of the play.

Referee Ward's decision were very satisfactory.

Goal Inside A Minute.

Referee Ward called the game on time amidst a drizzling rain. The captain's toss favoured the Thistle, who faced the west end goal. Mitchell kicked off, which left Scott to get a punt upfield. The Quakers' defence tried to relieve to sudden attack but Miller evaded them all to give the Quaker custodian no chance to save. Encouraged by their success, the winners continued a bombardment that found a stubborn defence when in the vicinity of goal. A rapid succession of flag-kicks terminated in clever defensive methods to offset the penetrating forwards. Scientific football prevailed between the players on both sides, in fact, the half-back line of each team showed an excellent spirit of sportsmanship in tackling, checking and making openings for their forwards.

McLeod's Smart Save.

From a throw-in Mayette gained possession when his opponent miskicked and making headway towards goal he sent in a stinging shot that McLeod found difficult to handle but his clearance was a strategic movement. The players covered a lot of ground while trying to control the ball on a very soft ground that brought forth awards unavoidable. On one occasion Mitchell harassed the Thistle defence to go inside the shooting area but his parting shot went passed the needful side.

Quaker's Halves Good.

Throughout the first half the Thistle forwards were moving with accuracy near goal, when in control of the ball, which brought out the oustanding merits of the Quaker's half-back line in holding them outside the shooting distance. It was noticeable at this point, when Scott aided his forwards in making raids that brought no success. Even Jones, the left back, carrying the sphere right down the wing to miss the upright, just as half-time was announced.

Half-Time.

No respite was given the players, they changed goals and went ahead again to finish a hard-fought battle. The Quakers were the more aggressive in every department as the Thistle forwards lacked the same activity of the previous half, while the Quaker five were more alert on the ball.

Scott Handicd.

They had many chances to score at this stage but fruitless flag-kicks were their allotment. Wade, along with his forwards, concentrated in close tactics inside the goal area and gained a free-kick just outside the penalty line. Scott relieved the predicament by punting across to Lang who transferred the ball to the other end. Then Burgess did likewise until he was robbed of the call close to the goal.

Quakers Dominated the Play.

Both elevens played a clean and fast game in spite of the slippery condition of the playing-pitch. Some of the men were covered with mud from head to foot and as they collected more they laughed unto themselves. During the last fifteen minutes McLeod was the master of the situation when he picked up a smart effort from the foot of Wilson from a Mayette cross. Then a few minutes afterwards was very fortunate in throwing the ball through his legs as he picked it up on the goal-line. Pressure was added by the Quakers to gain no desired success.

Miller the Hero.

Putting all talk aside, Miller was the hero of the day when he broke away on his own from a well-planned move by Burgess, who had the defence upon him. The Thistle centre-forward breasted the ball towards goal as he was chased by the defence. While on the run he slipped the final shot away out of the reach of the goal keeper. With only three minutes to go the Quakers tride hard to gain a tally. Full-time: Thistle 2, Quakers 0.

Goal scorer—Miller, (two.

Quakers—Edgar, goal; Maker and Honor, full backs; Carmichael, Wade and T. Wilson, halves; Mayette, T. Williams, Mitchell, A. Wilson and T. Foster, forwards.

Thistle—McLeod, goal; Cameron and Jones, backs; I. McPhate, Scott and Bromley, halves; Lang, Livingston, Miller, T. McPhate and Burgess, forwards.

Referee—John Ward.

SOFTBALL POPULAR.

Sport Condemned as Fad Few Years Ago Played All Over.

TORONTO, Ont., May 16 (CP) — Women's softball, the game which took Toronto by storm a few years ago, and which at that time was termed a fad and its early abandonment freely prophesied, has grown until today it is one of the most popular of summer pastimes. Governed by an Ontario association, the game in this Province has some 16 leagues and affiliated associations playing under the jurisdiction of a governing body, entirely officered by women. The sport has taken a firm hold upon the public. Local teams, Nationals and Supremes, hold the provincial and dominion championships.

What do baseball players do in winter? Jim Riley, popular first baseman of the Dallas, Texas League, team, is earning several thousand dollars playing professional hockey in Chicago.

CANADIAN MEMORIAL TO BE AT ARLINGTON

Canadian Government Will Erect Monument in Memory of Americans With C.E.F.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 16.—(Canadian Press).—Somewhere on the grassy slopes of the Arlington National Cemetery Canada's memorial to Americans who died in the uniform of the Canadian Expeditionary Force will be erected within the next 12 months. It will take the form of a cross of sacrifice similar to those already put up in France and Flanders. The Canadian Parliament has approved the proposal and authorized the appropriation. President Coolidge two years ago asked his quartermaster-general to grant Canada the necessary plot of ground amid the monuments to America's great men and the graves of thousands of men who lost their lives in several wars. Premier Mackenzie King recently announced in the House of Commons that the order for the memorial would be put in before long. Parliament authorized for the purpose an expenditure of $10,000.

The choice of a site probably will be left to Canada. A number of desirable sports are available in the great cemetery park. In the centre of the park is a little valley at the foot of the bank which is crowned in its great patio of wistaria trees. Beyond the other bank begins the several acres of tiny headstones which mark the resting place of the heroes of the Great War, whose bodies were brought to Arlington after the war. A number of Canadians who served in the American Expeditionary Force are amongst them.

If a site on the higher ground is chosen, it will probably be on the fringe of the peak near the Potomac River, on the other side of which the Lincoln Memorial gleams white through the trees and the gigantic needle of the George Washington obelisk towers over all. Wandering over towards Georgetown, one passes another valley in which are the graves of a foregn legion.

INTOXICATION IS SHOWN BY TEST

CINCINNATI, O., May 16.—Cloves, peppermint or any of the much-advertised breath-sweeteners will not disguise the presence of liquor from vigilant wives who use a chemical test invented by Dr. Emil Bogen, of the University of Cincinnati. Nor can the husband "who carries his liquor like a gentleman" disguise the extent of his intoxication. The test consists of persuading the victim to inflate a toy balloon or football bladder with his own breath, then pass the air through a solution of potassium bichromate, which changes from yellow to green in proportion to the amount of alcohol the breath contains.

FLUNKED, HE SUES.

EMORY, Ga., May 16.—Unprecedented action on the part of a failing student has been taken here by L. T. Poe, 66, who was studying to get a teacher's certificate. Because he was given a failure in English, he is suing the college he attended for recovery of the money paid for matriculation fees. He declares he was unable to hear the instructors distinctly.

Protecting the Mileage You Buy

The purchase of a car represents an investment in so many miles of transportation. Premature wear and costly repair bills caused by overheating naturally cut down this mileage, and you, the owner of the car, stand the losses.

Today, 10,000,000 drivers are protecting their investments in motor transportation with the BOYCE MOTO METER.

The BOYCE MOTO METER is a downright utility as a heat indicator, signalling the dangers of overheating fifteen to twenty minutes in advance. It has saved millions of dollars to car owners, and its beauty adds attractiveness to any make of car.

Over 10,000,000 in use.

FIRST SOFTBALL MATCH TO-NIGHT

Industrial Control and Lock Works Team Meet in Opener.

The Industrial Control softball team of the C.G.E. will meet the Lock Company in Central Park at 6.15 tonight for the opening softball game of the season. These are two new teams in the Softball League, and much has been said about both. Tomorrow night at Central Park the Belmonts will play the Knights of Columbus. Owing to the Firemen and Triple Link withdrawing their teams from the League, the schedule has had to be re-arranged.

Boy Sleeps In Ditch While Friends Search

TILBURY, Ont., May 16.—William Sloan, well-known farmer of Tilbury East, returning to his automobile parked on the South Back Line fifteen minutes after he had left it, found that his three-year-old son "Bobbie" was missing from the car. He instituted a thorough hunt, enlisting the services of all the farmers and hundreds of local citizens.

Four hours after he had been missed the child was found sound asleep in a ditch little the worse for his experience.

Bullock is Defendant, I have seized and taken in execution all the right, title, interest and equity of redemption of the said Defendant, R. J. Bullock in and to the following lands and tenements that is to say: The south half of Lot Number Seven (7) West of Chippewa Avenue, and Lot Number Fifteen (15) East of Chippewa Avenue, and Lot Number seven (7) on the east side of Queen street, all in the Village of Lakefield, in the County of Peterborough.

Upon the portion of the lands described as the south half of Lot Seven (7) West of Chippewa Avenue is erected a small dwelling house, all of which said right, title, interest and equity of redemption of the said Defendant R. J. Bullock in the said lands and tenements I shall offer for sale at my office in the Court House in the City of Peterborough on Wednesday the 8th day of June, A.D. 1927 at the hour of One o'clock in the afternoon.

WATCH THE KIDNEYS

Fatigue and that tired feeling is the result of poison in the blood. When the kidneys fail to remove this poison from the system it leads to backache, rheumatic pains and sometimes to that fatal ailment known as Bright's disease. When this condition exists, don't delay, go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will quickly correct the cause of your trouble.

Mr. Arthur Pinch of Smith Township states that Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills give him more speedy relief than any other preparation that he had tried.

ASKED TO SEE VISITORS ARE MADE WELCOME

Dr. Marcellus Urges Rotarians To Show Hospitality To Delegates.

THE POULTRY CONGRESS.

John R. Corkery Tells Club of Activities of the Building Society.

Peterborough Rotarians at their weekly luncheon to-day heard some interesting facts about two subjects somewhat widely differing in nature, when Dr. Marcellus, professor of Poultry Husbandry at the Ontario College of Agriculture, told the members of the coming World's Poultry Congress, to be held at Ottawa, and John R. Corkery gave a fine address on the activities of the Peterborough Workingmen's Building and Saving Society.

President A. L. Killaly asked the members to express their appreciation of the efforts of Rotarian Tom Dutton in connection with Boys' Week and the chairman of the Boys' Week Committee in acknowledging the applause thanked all those who had co-operated in making the programme a splendid success.

In connection with the Employed Boys' banquet President Killaly informed the members that he had been the victim of a misleading press report in the references to what he had said to the boys. Most emphatically he wanted to declare that he had not advised the boys that they should do only what they were told to do.

Dr. Marcellus who was introduced by Rotarian C. H. Rogers explained the nature and programme of the World's Poultry Congress and pointed out that some 35 or 40 countries would be represented at this unique gathering the third of the kind to be held. The first congress met at The Hague Holland in 1921, and the second in Barcelona, Spain, in 1924. The invitation of the Canadian government to hold the third congress in this country had been accepted and the gathering would bring some 3000 delegates, 500 or 600 from European countries alone, to Ottawa. The programme was so extensive that it had been divided into five sections to run concurrently, while the exhibition side of the congress would involve thousands of birds from all over the world.

The speaker stressed the advisability of making the Canadian representation at the congress sufficiently strong to prevent it from being submerged by the United States delegates and to avoid the impression being created among the foreign delegates that they had really been attending a United States rather than a Canadian congress.

Dr. Marcellus made a special plea to Rotarians to extend courteous hospitality to the delegates to the congress, many of whom had expressed a wish to see something of Ontario, either before or after the Ottawa gathering. He pointed out the value to Canada of creating a favorable impression among these hundreds of visitors.

Encouraging Thrift.

John R. Corkery's resume of the work of the Peterborough Workingmen's Building and Savings Society was followed with close attention.

The speaker, tracing the history of such organizations, pointed out that they had been most successful both in Great Britain and in the United States, but that similar progress could not be reported in Ontario, where, at the present time, there were but three, Niagara Falls and Ottawa being the only other cities in addition to Peterborough where such a society existed.

The local society, Mr. Corkery declared, had since its organization in 1899, been operated without the loss of one dollar of the members' money and without it being found necessary to make a single foreclosure. The overhead was kept down to a minimum, and in the thirty-eight years of the Society's existence, not a director had received a cent for his services. The organization was based on a principle of mutual co-operation and unselfish service. It had not only helped many citizens to build or acquire a home, but had been used as a safe and profitable investment. The membership was divided into two classes: saving members, who paid into the society for the purpose of sharing in the profits, and borrowing members, who desired to obtain credit for the purpose of securing a home for themselves. As regards profits, the average since the society had been 6 per cent., and this was made possible through wise investments of the members' funds and the unselfish service of the directors.

Rotarian W. R. Morris, who is to represent the Peterborough Rotary Club at the International Convention at Ostend, and who leaves on Thursday, informed the meeting that he had also been asked to represent the Belleville Club in Belgium. Rotarian Morris had as his guest to-day Mr. R. Jory of Lakefield, who is also to make the trip to Europe.

President Killaly expressed the best wishes of the Club to the two for a most enjoyable voyage, and also referred to the departure of Rotarian Adjutant Frank Ham for a six weeks' visit to England.

IN POLICE COURT.

Angus Glover pleaded not guilty this morning to being a vagrant. The Crown was not ready to go on with the case, so the boy was told to go and get a job on the farm, and in all probability the case would be withdrawn.

A boy 17 years old pleaded guilty to be intoxicated and was fined $10 and costs. Yesterday he took his first two drinks, which completely knocked him out. He was picked up as dead by the officers and rushed to the hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from a heavy attack of alcoholism.

CHIEF GIMBLETT HERE FIVE YEARS

Brigade Has Responded To 2,049 Alarms in That Period.

To-day marks the fifth anniversary of service to the city by Fire Chief George Gimblett, the man who is greatly aiding to make the Department what it is to-day—one of prompt service and trained men. Recent fires, such as the MacDonald fire could not have been extinguished without the proper equipment which Chief Gimblett insists on having and the trained men that he has so efficiently worked with since he was inaugurated into the Fire Department of Peterborough five years ago, on May 16th, 1922.

The following is the report submitted to The Examiner this morning of the fires and losses sustained from the time that he began service as a chief until the present time:

In 1922 there were one hundred and thirty-nine alarms, and thirty real fires with a loss of $15,836.23. In 1923 four hundred and twenty-seven alarms were responded to, with fifty-three fires and a damage of $159,981.89. Nineteen hundred and twenty-four saw four hundred and thirty-six alarms, fifty fires and a loss of $27,386.33. In 1925 there were three hundred and seventy-five alarms, fifty-one fires and damage of $28,761.82. Last year there were four hundred and sixty-five alarms, fifty-two fires, and a loss of $76,448.20. This year there were two hundred and seven alarms, eighteen fires and a damage of $12,984.01. This makes a total of 2049 alarms, 254 fires, and a loss amounting to $321,388.48, in the five years and an average of $1,269.25 loss per fire.

Mayor Holloway stated this morning that he had nothing but good to say about the work that Chief Gimblett had accomplished during his term. The brigade has been made into a very efficient group, equipped with excellent material to work with, due to the perseverance of Chief Gimblett in making the Fire Department of Peterboro one of the outstanding brigades in the country.

WEDDING BELLS.

GONTHIER—DOHERTY

MONTREAL, May 16 (Canadian Press).—The marriage of Kathleen, daughter of the Right Hon. C. J. Doherty and of Mrs. Doherty, to Georges Gonthier of Ottawa, Auditor General of Canada, took place this morning at ten o'clock at St. Patrick's Church. His Lordship Bishop Deschamps officiated, assisted by the Rev. Gerald McShane, Pastor of St. Patrick's.

Following a reception for the immediate family at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gonthier left for Boston en route for New York, whence they sail on Friday by the Roma to spend several months in Europe.

DOCTORS ADVICE TO THE SICK

Wash Away All Poisons in Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels Before Breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, no more headaches, indigestion, gas on stomach, bilious attacks, rheumatism, kidney pains, bad breath, you must bathe your self inside. Start today by taking one Tanol Calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime, then next morning drink a glass or two of hot water to wash from the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels all the previous day's waste, poison and toxins before more food is taken in. Get a few Tanol tablets from F. C. Weber, Charlotte street, Peterborough. They are harmless to take, do not nauseate, no bad after effects, no salts or seidlitz next morning, like ordinary calomel. Then you can eat better, sleep better, work better, think better and look better. m-t-s.

COMMITTEE WILL DISCUSS PETITION

Elders of Erskine Church Ask For Renewal of Minister.

OTTAWA, May 16 (Canadian Press).—The committee headed by Judge Dowsley of Brockville, appointed by the Presbyterian Synod of Montreal and Ottawa to investigate the situation in Erskine Church arising out of a petition from nine of the elders, will meet here this afternoon. These elders asked the Synod to dissolve the pastoral relations of the Rev. Dr. Wyllie with Erskine Church.

BUSY SEASON FOR WORKMEN ON CITY ROADS

Pavements, Sidewalks and Sewers Being Constructed and Repaired.

OIL READY TO APPLY.

Will Be Put On As Soon as the Weather Permits—Streets Cleaned.

This is the time of year when the city engineer's department is very busy, paving is being laid, streets have to be cleaned and soon oiling put in, sidewalks built, all the streets have to be cleaned and soon oiling operation will start.

This year a little more work than usual is being done on the city streets. A new crusher was bought this spring and was put into operation a few days ago. It is crushing fine material which is being used to patch Aylmer Street and other streets will be fixed just as soon as the men are able to get to them.

About 10,000 gallons of oil are in the city tanks ready to be put on the streets just as soon as the weather becomes warmer. City Engineer Parsons expected to get some of the streets oiled last week, but the sudden change in the weather made oiling operations impossible.

The concrete base is being laid on Rubidge Street between Charlotte and Rink Streets in order that the asphalt top may be put on this summer.

A new sewer is being built on Charlotte Street between Monaghan Road and Albertus Street before the Highway Department resurfaces the road, and a twenty-four-inch tile is being laid on Park Street in front of the C.G.E. in preparation for paving there.

Practically all the streets have been cleaned by removing the leaves and dirt that had gathered during the winter. Sidewalks and small sewers are being laid in many parts of the city.

At present, tenders are being called for the paving of Weller Street from Park Street to Monaghan Road; Water Street, from Antrim to Dublin, and Smith Street from George to Water. It is expected that these streets will be paved this summer.

The property owners on Aylmer Street, from Charlotte to the C.P.R. railroad, on Park from Brock to McDonnel, and on McDonnel from Reid to Park, are being notified that these streets are on the paving programme for next year.

MRS. W. R. MORRIS ADDRESSES SOCIETY

Gives Talk on Europe at Meeting of Home and School Association.

The regular monthly meeting of the Central Home and School Association was held on Friday evening, May 13th, when a very interesting and instructive address was given by Mrs. W. R. Morris, on her recent trip to European countries. This was followed by a programme given by pupils of the school.

Mrs. W. H. Lacey, President of the Association, occupied the chair, and conducted a brief business session.

After the reports of the various officers and committees were received the President announced that at the next regular meeting of the association, arrangements would be made for the annual school picnic, an event that is eagerly looked forward to by the pupils and which has always proved to be a very fitting and happy ending of the summer term.

The business of the meeting having been completed, Mrs. Lacey called on Mrs. W. R. Morris to address the members.

The speaker confined her remarks chiefly to Italy and in an unique and pleasing manner, depicted the customs and home life of the people and the strong bond of affection existing in the family life.

The proceedings were interspersed with two well-rendered vocal solos by Billy Coleman and elson Stanger. An orchestra composed of pupils of the school rendered several selections, which were much appreciated.

At the conclusion of the program the President thanked Mrs. Morris for her very able and interesting talk, also the pupils of the school who in a remarkable manner impressed those present with their splendid talent.

Latest Figures Give Them Majority Of Nearly 60 in Quebec.

ALL LEADERS RETURNED.

Gains of Government On Island of Montreal Principal Feature.

MONTREAL, May 17 (Canadian Press)—The Liberal party under the Premiership of Hon. L. A. Taschereau was swept back into power in the Provincial elections held yesterday. They have been in the saddle in Quebec since 1897, and will continue in office for at least four years more, as the majority given them yesterday was thoroughly sweeping. According to returns compiled from the latest information available the new Quebec Legislature will be:

Liberals, 72; Independent Liberals, 2; Conservatives, 10.

Fourteen Liberal Gains

One election ,that is Gaspe, will be held on May 23, and will possibly add another seat to the Liberal quota. The Independents are expected to vote with the Government on most questions. The Liberals gained fourteen seats from the Conservatives, the Independents gained two from the straight-party Liberals, and the Conservatives gained two from the Liberals.

Features of the results were the better showing made by the Government party in Montreal and the success of a Conservative in Hull, where he was faced with three Liberal opponents. Montreal sent nine Conservatives to Quebec in the last general elections, one Labor and two Liberals. In the next house there will be seven Liberals. Premier Taschereau made it one of his election planks that Montreal should not be content to allow Quebec to be governed by a rural vote.

With Premier Taschereau, who had been elected by acclamation, returned his entire Cabinet. Arthur Sauve, the Opposition Leader, was re-elected for his old constituency of Two Mountains.

Opposition Campaign Fails

The Opposition had expected to carry seats on their arguments that the Administration was deserving of censure because it had not awarded special damages to the parents of the 78 children burned to death in the Laurier Palace moving - picture disaster and because of the industrialization of the Lake Saint John country and the consequent deprivation of certain owners of farms of their property without adequate compensation. They were disappointed in both instances.

The Young Catholic Farmers' Union, a wing of the Opposition, failed to attract the electorate, and its candidates in Richmond and Rouville were easily defeated.

Taschereau Pleased

MONTREAL, May 17 (Canadian Press)—"A striking approbation of a policy of progress, initiative, sane administration, and of union of the best elements of our people," was how Premier Alexandre Taschereau characterized the result of the provincial general election yesterday in which his government, already in powerful majority in the last legislature, was returned with an even greater following. Of the eighty-five seats that constitute the legislative assembly, the Liberal party captured seventy-two outright and had a claim on two more, the candidates in St. Maurice and Charlevoix-Saguenay being elected as independent Liberals. The Conservatives, who had eighteen members in the assembly at dissolution, saw this representation reduced to ten. Of these five were from the island of Montreal, including William Tremblay, who presented himself as a Labor man but was put up at a Conservative convention. The election still remains to be carried out in Gaspe, where the poll was deferred until next Monday.

No statement has yet been given out by Arthur Sauve, Conservative leader, and much interest surrounds his expected declaration. During the campaign Mr. Sauve made it clear that if he were not returned with a majority he would resign the leadership of the party.

COSGRAVE NAMED.

President of Free State is Candidate For the Dail.

DUBLIN, May 17. — (Canadian Press.)—William Cosgrave, president of the Free State cabinet, was yesterday unanimously selected as candidate for the Carlow-Kilkenny constituency in the coming elections for the dail eireann, the second week in June. He has represented this constituency since 1921.

Seven different parties are expected to nominate candidates. The Republicans, led by Eamon de Valera, are running 100 and a lively campaign is expected. The present dail will be dissolved next April.

Live Wire Throws Him 25 Feet; He Will Live

NEW GLASGOW, N.S., May 17. —(Canadian Press.)— Alan Carmichael, telephone lineman, stepped on a wire carrying 2,300 volts of electricity yesterday afternoon and was thrown 25 feet, but apparently suffered no serious injury. Carmichael was thrown clear of the wires and was picked up unconscious with deep burns on hands and feet. At first his condition was thought hopeless, but to-day he was resting comfortably and apparently well except for the burns.

ALFONSO ANXIOUS.

Spanish Ruler Has Long Wished To Visit Two Americas.

MADRID, May 17 (United Press).—The construction of a Spanish armada of peace to escort King Alfonso across the seas on a visit to North and South America, the United Press learned from a high and authoritative source to-day, is being discussed here.

The information became available in connection with the double anniversary of King Alfonso's birth 41 years ago and his formal assumption of the throne twenty-five years ago. Alfonso was proclaimed King on the day of his birth, May 17, 1886, under the regency of his mother, his father having died the previous November.

On May 17, 1902, the regency ended and Alfonso became King in fact as well as in name.

King Alfonso will visit North and South America as soon as it is politically possible for him to do so, it was said here.

Government confirmation added that unless something unforeseen occurs, the King will depart for the new world in 1929, probably accompanied by Premier Primo De Rivera if the latter were still in power.

Material means for the trip have been under discussion for some time. It has been suggested that a sea

LABOR MEMBERS LEAVE HOUSE AS A PROTEST AGAINST ACTION LIMITING TRADES BILL DEBATE

Numerous Demonstrations Against Government Mark Exciting Session in Commons.

RAID DISCUSSED.

Motion Carried By Vote of 259-13—Few Liberals Oppose It.

LONDON, May 17. Canadian Press. —The House of Commons had a short but unusually exciting sitting yesterday. There were numerous demonstrations against the government but these were not serious enough to call for the Speaker's intervention.

The Labor members walked out of the House in protest against the action of the premier in limiting the debate on the government's trades union bill. This was after the Arcos raid had come up for lively discussion. Regarding the raid, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, home secretary declared that he had the authority of the prime minister, and the secretary for foreign affairs behind him and the search of Soviet House was made on information received from the ministry for war.

After the Arcos business had been disposed of Premier Baldwin secured the consent of the House for a nightlong sitting, if necessary, to debate a motion which he then moved applying the "guillotine" to the trades union bill. This, he explained, was necessitated by the extremely slow progress the bill was making in the face of persistent opposition and obstruction.

Slaughter Amendments.

The premier's motion proposed that 12 more days be allotted to the committee stage and four more for all the remaining stages. This would mean wholesale slaughter of the opposition amendments, hundreds of which are on the order paper. A fixed number of amendments will be listed to be disposed of daily and when the "guillotine" or closure falls at 10 30 o'clock at night all amendments not disposed of would be considered lost.

At the conclusion of the prime minister's speech came the surprise of the day. John Robert Clynes, leader of the opposition in the absence of Ramsay MacDonald, voiced the indignation of his party. He declared that Mr. Baldwin's speech

Paid Her Husband As Mere Companion

PARIS, May 17.—(United Press.) —Allegations that Prince Mistislav Galatzine merely was a $250 a month companion to his princess, the former Aimee Crocker, of California, although married to her, were made to-day during the hearing of the princess' suit for divorce. The prince is fighting the suit.

His lawyer explained that the marriage, the former Miss Crocker's fifth, was a mere formality.

The princess, they said, desired a companion and was to pay $250 a month with the understanding that in the event a divorce was obtained the sum would be reduced to $125.

Prince Mistislav is 29, his princess 52. She is the daughter of the late E. B. Crocker, of Sacramento, California. Her former husbands, from whom she was divorced were Porter Ashe, Harry Gillig, Jackson Gouraud and Prince Miskinoff.

U.S. Officials Hope To Agree on Ruling

WASHINGTON, May 17 (Canadian Press)—President Coolidge has been informed that a satisfactory arrangement probably will be worked out with Canada in regard to the recent immigration regulations involving restricted entry of persons from that country into the United States.

Secretaries Kellogg and Davis of the State and Labor Department respectively have also expressed confidence that an arrangement will be fixed which is satisfactory to the people of both Canada and the United States.

LIVING SEPARATE.

TORONTO, May 17 (Canadian Press) — Pleading to be given the custody of her two year old child, Hazel Ketcheson, Belleville, made application to Justice Rose at Osgoode Hall to-day. Mrs. Ketcheson claims that her husband, W. H. F. Ketcheson, clandestinely removed the child from her custody without reasonable cause or excuse, with the assistance of his immediate family and as part of a scheme or plan to take the child from her.

In opposing the application, the father of the child states that he and his wife had not lived happily since January 1, 1926. Differences that rose between them, he states, were due to fact he objected to his wife attending public dance halls and remaining out late at night.

MANY AT EXERCISES.

Trinity Church Crowded When Prizes Are Presented To Various Classes.

The Graduation Exercises of the Nicholls Hospital Training School took place last evening in Trinity Church. This edifice has a seating capacity of eight hundred people, and it was packed to the dors last night, with many people standing at the rear. The choir loft was decorated with a profusion of cut flowers, palms and ferns, in tall vases, bowls and baskets, and the graduates, six in number, gowned in pure white, held large bouquets of deep red roses in their arms. Pupil nurses from the hospital, in uniform, were also present in a body in the front rows of the church.

Mr. E. B. Fowler acted as chairman, and opened the proceedings by referring to the standard maintained during the years by the Nicholls Hospital Training School for Nurses, which has graduated between one hundred and fifty and one hundred and seventy-five nurses since its inception. Speaking of the percentage of illness in Canada recently recorded by Sir George E. Foster, who said that two per cent of the population of the Dominion was ill at all times, Mr. Fowler spoke of the six or seven hundred citizens of Peterborough who would, according to this estimate, constantly require nursing service.

The late Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls established this hospital about forty-eight years ago, and endowed it at her death. The present Board, composed of representatives of the various Protestant churches of the city, the majority of whom were present last evening, includes the following: from St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Mr. W. H. Hill and Dr. J. M. McCulloch; from St. Andrew's United Church, Mr. William Langford and Mr. E. B. Fowler; from George Street United Church, Mr. B. F. Ackerman and Mr. R. J. AFFECTS ALIENS ONLY.

Will Be Useful To Canada By Forcing Immigrants To Stay.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 17. Canadian Press.—The Washington Post, which strongly supports the Coolidge administration, in an editorial to-day, says:

"There is excitement in Canada over the order of the American immigration service that will exclude a few aliens masquerading as Canadians. About 20,000 workers cross the line daily mostly between Windsor and Detroit. All of them are required to pay a head tax, but Canadian citizens will have no difficulty in going and coming. There are in Canada however a few aliens who have found the United States more attractive than Canada, and they have been working on this side. They will be excluded, unless they can obtain quota numbers from the countries of their origin.

"Canada has no basis for finding fault with a rule that excludes aliens who attempt to enter this country in disregard of the law, but Canada may well be concerned with the movement of her citizens to this country. Last year Canada lost 100,000 of these citizens, mostly young and ambitious men. Their emigration greatly offset the influx of fresh

RAID ON ARCOS TO BE SUBJECT OF SENSATION

Rumored That M. Kintchuk Will Not Return To Britain.

WILL BE RECALLED.

Police Completes Search—Russian Commercial Agency Resume Business.

LONDON, May 17. British United Press. — A sensational revelation is likely as a result of the raid on Arcos, Limited, the British United Press learns.

Among the remarkable evidence discovered of Soviet intrigue against Great Britain the raid unearthed a list of Britishers many of whom are related to the Labor members of the House of Commons who were in the pay of Arcos Limited.

It is rumored that M. Kintchuk, head of the Russian trade delegation, will not return to Britain because he does not dare to but that he will be recalled to Moscow to make a report on the raid.

COMPLETE SEARCH.

LONDON May 17. Canadian Press. —The police withdrew from the Soviet House at six o'clock last evening, having been in possession of the building for four days and nights. Arcos Ltd., the Russian commercial agency, will resume its normal functions to-day.

Search of the building and its contents was practically completed at midnight on Sunday, but the police remained yesterday to satisfy themselves that no concealed safes or caches had been overlooked. When all was finished the police paraded in the hall and dismissed the large crowds watching the closing scene of this unusual incident.

Some days will be required to complete the examination of the great mass of documents removed, but the state document, said to be of much importance, which occasioned the raid, has not been found.

M. Soroking, acting chairman of Arcos in a new protest to-day to the home secretary, Sir William Joynson Hicks, demands to be informed as to what were the allegations in which the extraordinary action was based, what had been removed from the building, and what complaints can be made against Arcos on the evidence obtained by the raid.

Action Questioned.

The action of the Home Secretary in forcing the safes in Soviet House and seizing documents aroused an acrimonious discussion by question and answer, in the House of Commons. The Secretary was angrily attacked by the Laborites and challenged to give proof of his allegations that the missing state document had been in the possession of Arcos. He evaded a direct reply to this challenge and also to many other questions for instance, one as to whether, as alleged, an Arcos official had been discovered during the raid, burning documents in a fire grate.

The brief statement of the Home Secretary dwelt upon the high importance of the missing document, which has not been found, and the fact that the Soviet trade delegation did not enjoy diplomatic immunity. He invited the opposition to move a vote of censure on the government's action if they so desired.

Sir William explained to the House that he had the sanction of both Premier Baldwin and Sir Austen Chamberlain the foreign secretary for the action taken and finally agreed to fix Thursday for debate on the question. He promised to give a fuller statement at that time.

OCEAN AVIATORS STILL AWAIT CLEAR WEATHER FOR TAKE-OFF

Test Flights Had To Be Abandoned Owing To Squally Winds.

DEMAND RADIO.

Agreement Reached Between Fliers and Backers of Bellanca Flight.

MINEOLA, N.Y., May 17 (Associated Press).—Brewing storms, both atmospheric and verbal, kept the trans Atlantic planes in their hangars yesterday. Strong, squally winds swept the flying fields all days so that projected local test flights had to be abandoned.

During the morning the crews of all three planes which plan the Paris hop worked around the hangars and an air of peace settled over the camps with the report that dissension between fliers and backers of the Bellanca flight had been smoothed out to the satisfaction of all.

Commander Richard E. Byrd announced that his giant Fokker, America, would go up during the day with a 12,000-pound load, which is 2,000 pounds below the weight to be carried on the hop off. G. Bellanca, designer of the plane in which Clarence Chamberlin and Lloyd Bertaud will fly for France, stated that his monoplane would probably fly to Washington and back during the day to test instruments. He said that both fliers had agreed such a test was necessary.

Test Called Off.

The America test flight was called off because of unfavorable winds. These winds, no doubt, would have prevented the flight of the Chamberlin-Bertaud Columbia too, but it was stopped without consideration to the weather by the fliers themselves.

When told of Bellanca's announcement, they said that they had no intention of flying to Washington and that they had never agreed to such a flight. Their remarks were taken as an indication that the new financial agreement reached had not smoothed out all the differences between the various persons interested in the flight and that harmony was balanced on an exceedingly fine point.

This theory was further strengthened when it was learned that a controversy was under way concerning equipment of the plane with radio Chamberlin and Bertaud have planned all along to carry radio, but yesterday Charles Levine, president of the company backing the flight, suggested doing without it. He was insistent in his contention that the sixty pounds saved by leaving the radio at home would add enough speed to outweight what service the radio might prove to be.

Want Radio on Plane.

Bertaud emphatically stated that he would not make the trip without radio and Chamberlin declined to make any statement, at least publicly, taking no part in the controversy.

While the Byrd party went ahead with plans for test flights which will postpone their hop off at least three days and the Chamberlin-Bertaud camp was split by apparently growing dissension, Charles Lindbergh, the youthful air mail pilot from the middle west, went to New York to see about a passport and his single-seated monoplane Spirit of St. Louis rested in its hangar ready to leave as soon as weather permits.

The four o'clock weather report given the fliers by the weather bureau precluded all reasonable chance of their getting away to-day, and indicated that favorable weather could not be expected for at least two days.

Houseboy Recounts Scenes in Apartment

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 17 (Canadian Press).—Their appetite for sensation whetted by a Japanese house boy's recital of all night visits of Dorothy MacKaye, actress, to the apartment of Paul Kelly, film actor, the crowds in the court room where the husky film man is on trial for the murder of Ray Raymond, actor husband of Miss MacKaye, avidly awaited more details of the love affair today.

"Jungle," the house boy, yesterday afternoon told of meetings of Kelly and the actress and that they had spent several nights together in the accused's apartment. He disclosed that among his duties were those of "gin mixer" for apartment guests.

Clean-up Of Old Fence Caus es Trouble; Carpenter an d Police Sergeant Showered

The charge brought by William Wade against Thomas Moore was dismissed by Magistrate O. A. Langley in police court this morning. Mr. Moore was charged with assault, said to have occurred when the defendant turned the hose on Wade, who had been engaged by Mrs. P. Hansman to remove a fence which separates her property from that of Mr. Moore's. Sergeant Deannard and Inspector Reid were summoned and the former received the full effect of the water also.

No witnesses for the defence were called and the case was dismissed with costs. William Wade, who is a carpenter, told of being engaged by Mrs. Hansman to pull down this fence. He was aware that this fence had caused trouble between the two families before and was warned to look out for more trouble. After Mr. Wade started, he said, Mr. Moore came out and spoke some very harsh words and then applied the water, soaking him thoroughly for five minutes. Witness struck Mr. Moore, but he was not aware of how it happened as the water was coming too fast.

Sergeant Deannard told of going to the scene of the "racket," where he found Mr. Wade pulling down the fence and Mr. Moore showering him with water from the hose. When Inspector Reid got there he found both Deannard and Wade wet and Mr. Moore standing with the hose in his hands. He told them they had better keep the peace and Mr. Moore went into his house and Mr. Wade went on with his work of tearing down the fence.

ADDRESSES LOCAL POULTRYMEN ON COMING WORLD'S CONGRESS

Dr. Marcellus Tells Association More Interest Taken in Exhibits.

PRIZES ARE OFFERED.

Will Have Largest Foreign Representation Any Congress Has Had.

An interesting address was given to the Peterborough Poultry Association last night, by Dr. Marcellus, Professor of Poultry Husbandry at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Dr. Marcellus told of the Poultry Congress that is coming to Ottawa, July 27th to August 4th. This congress is to be world-wide, and delegates from United States, France, Italy, Poland, Russia, Denmark, Germany, Holland, England, Scotland and Ireland.

Dr. Marcellus remarked that he had met other associations similar to the one gathered last night, recently, and that he had found in almost every case that the associations were taking more interest in exhibiting poultry and in reaching out to the rural districts surrounding the city where the association was situated, and giving these people instruction so they could reach the aim that the other were striving for: that of exhibition poultry. "The feeling of the Department in Ottawa will be more generous in my estimation," said the doctor, "to the association that will carry out the scheme of stimulating the interest in the rural districts, and I think efforts are being made to gain that purpose."

Prizes Offered

He then stated that prizes had been set aside for farm boys and girls for the raising of chickens for exhibition by some associations, telling of how the town of Picton had asked the council for a grant of fifty dollars for this purpose, and had received it.

"The coming congress will offer a golden opportunity to the poultry men in the Dominion of Canada," said Professor Marcellus, "and as the foreign representation will be the largest of any congress yet held, it is up to the poultrymen of the Dominion to come in large numbers to show these foreigners that it is a

CONFERENCE DATE TO BE ADVANCED

Middle of September Likely For Meeting of Premiers.

OTTAWA, May 17.— Replies from some of the provinces to the Dominion government's query as to the best date for the interprovincial conference, suggest that it will be the middle of September, although October was tentatively in view. The fact that the Conservative national convention is scheduled for October 11, in Winnipeg and that all Conservative premiers will be there, would interfere with the Ottawa conference unless held at an earlier or later date, and the former now appears to be favored.

The agenda is likely to be extensive, judging by the subjects which are suggested by the provinces. Apart from the question of revision of the subsidies and relative jurisdictions over incorporated companies, there is the subject of return of national resources to the Prairie provinces, Dominion and provincial authority in regard to water powers and other matters arising out of concurrent jurisdiction, or in which federal legislation needs to be supplemented by the provinces.

BOARD PROBES TRANSACTIONS OF ROCCO PERRI

Seek To Ascertain Whether He Brought Beer Under Assumed Name.

NIAGARA SESSION.

Operations of St. Catharines Brewery Under Review During Afternoon.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 17 (Canadian Press).—Alleged transactions of Rocco Perri, at present of parts unknown, found their way into the opening sitting of the Royal Customs Commission here yesterday. Operations of the Taylor and Bate Brewery at St. Catharines, were under review during the afternoon and R. L. Calder, K.C., counsel for the commission, sought to ascertain from witnesses whether Mr. Perri had bought beer from this organization under an assumed name. On this point, he addressed a number of questions to William T. Wetlings of Niagara Falls, N.Y., a former sales-manager for Taylor and Bate, and still "indirectly" associated with their export business to the United States.

"Do you know Rocco Perri?" asked Mr. Calder.

"You bet," was the response.

"Do you know him in the way of business?"

"No."

He had not me Rocco Perri recently, and he did not know whether Perri had dealt with the Taylor and Bate Brewery.

"Didn't he purchase beer under the name of Smith, Perkins and Company?" pressed Mr. Calder.

"I don't know."

"As a matter of fact don't you know that Rocco Perri was a large purchaser of beer from Taylor and Bate?"

Mr. Wetlings replied that he knew nothing of this. He stated that he had seen Mr. Perri in the brewery some years ago. He had also seen Mrs. Perri there on one occasion.

"Isn't it a fact that the records of the brewery show Rocco Perri as a large purchaser of beer?"

Again, Mr. Wetlings did not know.

Secured Orders in States

In answer to questions as to his own occupation, he said that he secured orders for Taylor and Bate in the United States and mailed them over here where they were filled.

ADDRESSES LOCAL POULTRYMEN

Canadian congress and not one made up of United States representatives."

In speaking of the entries, Dr. Marcellus remarked that many people have the idea that only the large breeders may enter birds, but this is not right, for even a single bird can be entered providing it measures up to the regulations of entry. He then told of the history of poultry development when it first originated in London, England. The president of the association was Hon. E. Brown of London, England, and Dr. Housar of New York City. It was felt at that time that the association should be broadened out, and as the main idea then was to develop it was thought it would be a good thing to display the birds, and so poultry congresses of today are divided into two classes: the programme and exhibit.

In 1924 the congress was held in Barcelona, Spain. As a congress is held every three years it is now Canada's turn to have the congress meet here in the City of Ottawa, which is to be the largest ever held in general points and in its foreign representation.

Programme Section

In the programme section there will be five parts going on at the same time, such as poultry breeding in one section and feeding in another, etc. The programme section is to be held in the morning from 9.30 to 12.30 and is only open to the members of the congress, for there will be about a thousand members in each section at the same time and this would hardly leave any room for outsiders.

The exhibits are to be divided into groups and these will be shown from 1.00 p.m. to 10.00 p.m., open to the general public for inspection.

Live Bird Exhibit

An unique feature to this part of the show will be the live bird exhibit from the different countries in the world, showing the kind that is most familiar to the country to which it was raised. In the live bird exhibit there will be no entry fee and no transportation fee is to be charged to any exhibitors.

"To give everyone a fair chance," said Dr. Marcellus, "the exhibition is wide open to all exhibitors and all classes such as ducks, pigeons, geese, chickens, etc." All birds will be inspected by officials before being cooped at Ottawa, so that only the best of breeds may be entered in the exhibition."

He also stated that the coops would be tagged at the show so that there would be no danger of loosing any birds and that the sale of any birds would be permitted at the show. "Entry forms will be distributed at the end of this month," said Dr. Marcellus, "and all entries must be in by the middle of June." In speaking of the production in the different countries he stated that Canada was away ahead of the United States for graded egg production, and that the consumption of eggs was a great deal larger in Canada than in the United States.

"There is to be 200,000 feet of floor space of exhibits, besides some tents placed outside," said the doctor, and three thousand delegates are coming from foreign countries, so therefore, it is up to the members in Canada to make a good showing." Dr. Marcellus then expressed his hope that any visitors coming into Peterborough would be cordially welcomed. He also remarked that application blanks were now ready to be distributed, which also admitted them to all the exhibits at the Congress, for members wishing to join.

Compromise Likely In Border Dispute

WASHINGTON, May 17 (United Press). — The State Department was understood yesterday to favor a compromise settlement with Canada, satisfactory to the latter, in the dispute over a Labor Department ruling curtailing admission of foreign-born Canadians into the United States for employment in border cities. The Labor Department stands by its regulations to which Canada objected, but the State Department, it was suggested, may succeed in overcoming Labor Department insistence thereon. The State Department and Canadian Minister Massey have no immediate appointments, hence it was suggested the controversy would now revert to State and Labor Department conferences for adjustment.

TWEED CONSIDERS SEWER AND WATER

Townspeople at Meeting Express Approval of Proposed System.

TWEED, May 17.—An enthusiastic meeting was held in the Township Hall to consider the installation of waterworks and sewerage. The meeting was well attended in spite of other interests.

Mr. Redfern of Toronto gave a very instructive talk on how waterworks were installed. He said the village could hardly have sewerage without waterworks as the water force would be needed for flushing purposes.

He gave an estimate on waterworks which would amount to about $50,000 and the sewerage would cost about $70,000.

He expressed the opinion that it would lower the insurance rates and would add beauty to the town as every one would have advantage of the water for lawns.

It was moved by W. S. Gordon and seconded by Dr. Dales, that the council take action on the matter in the near future and then a vote be taken on it.

CRASH CHARGES WORRY CABINET

Full Investigation Into Financial Disaster in Germany Ordered.

SCHACHT IS BLAMED.

BERLIN, May 17.—(United Press).—Worried by foreign charges that the Government "stage managed" last week's crash of stock prices on the Bourse, the German Cabinet yesterday planned a thorough investigation of the financial disaster, results of which will be revealed before the Reichstag.

Messages from German diplomatic representatives were understood to have confirmed reports of widespread charges abroad that the sudden slump was arranged to discredit reports of Germany's recovery from the effects of the war and thus pave the way for revision of the Dawes plan.

The consequences of the crash were as yet immeasurable "not because of material losses but because of its political aspects," said George Bernhardt, member of the Supreme Economic Council, writing in the Vossische Zeeitung.

The press placed responsibility for what was termed a national calamity on the shoulders of President Schacht of the Reichstag Bank. The Deutsche Allegeman Zeitung charged him with "yearning for originality." The Frankfurter Zeitung with being animated with a wish to "do something," and the Montagmorgen with being obsessed by a desire for the limelight which caused other bankers to lose confidence in him.

MEASURES A VOLCANO'S HEAT.

New scientific methods are being used to measure the beat of Kilauea, giant volcano of Hawaiia, according to Popular Science Monthly. Under the direction of Dr. T. A. Jaggar, director of the Hawaii Volcano Observatory, boring ten feet deep dot the solid rock at the crater at intervals of a thousand feet. As soon as the temperatures are taken and recorded, the holes are capped with metal rings to preserve them, so that they can be used for future observations.

EXPOSITION MARS SEVILLE.

Artists who have admired picturesque old Seville are protesting that buildings being constructed for the Spanish-South American Exposition are marring the beauty of the old-time section of the city. They had already pointed out that erection of business blocks such as the modern bank building on the plaza of "the Sierpes," one of the most fascinating streets in Spain, spoiled the effect given by the fine old city hall and picturesque old Spanish houses and shops there. The recent destruction of the beautiful garden in the Paso de Tristino and the "Gobierno Militar," one of Seville's prettiest houses from an architectural viewpoint, to make way for buildings for next year's exposition has aroused even greater protest from artists and others who say that beauties that have attracted tourists are being wiped out.

An Ex-Buck Private Goes Back to France

The Glory Dies Not, and the Grief is Past

Dear Mac:

Down at Nine Elms there is only a small cemetery to tell there was once a point so named. A little farther on, however, we see the remains of an old trench line, a series of hummocks and holes with nothing to indicate whether it was the British front line or the German.

We walked out the Lens road today, foot-slogging it along where we'd so often done it before. At the crossroads that lead one way to Neuville St. Vaast and the other to Thelus, we saw the sturdy memorial to the Canadian Corps Artillery. It consists of a small cross on a very massive plinth, on which is inscribed the names of the units of gunners which supported the Canadian corps in its historic dash for the crest of Vimy. Canadian Field and Garrison Artillery were that day supported by Royal Field and Garrison and by the South African Heavies. After wire-cutting for two weeks, the guns fired on the barrage and then tried to advance through the chalk sub-soil and slimy clay; four days after the capture of the ridge they traversed the corduroy road to the ridge above Farbus, then slid down that sunken road into the village to support the attack on Arleux. Two trips a night, with pack horses, was every driver's job; firing in gas mask and without the protection of gun pits was the task of the gunners; the artillery deserves its monument.

A little way beyond Thelus, just as the road dips over the top of the crest, a new road leads over to the "Pimple" and to Hill 145. A chain is drawn across the entrance to this road. Beyond is private property, private in the sense that it belongs to the Canadian Government, and is being laid out as a park. In the centre of the park will be the magnificent memorial to the Canadian corps, who, by their gallantry and sacrifice, secured the northern end of Vimy Ridge—"that great bastion of the Western front," as Lloyd George so fittingly called it. The building of this memorial took away the designer who was to have executed the memorial for Peterborough, and we learned of new trouble at Vimy. The concrete terraces have been built, but there was anxiety about the supply of stone, because it is coming from quarries in a district which has been seriously troubled by earthquakes. It is coming from the town of Serrajevo in Serbia, the town in which was fired that assassin shot which proved to be the starting point of the World War!

The gathering dusk drives us back to Arras. We have spent hours wandering over the chalky plains and hills—gazing out towards Arleux and Fresnoy, and Oppy wood, of hateful memory. We shall return tomorrow to pay Vimy the attention that is due so notable a battlefield.

That Other Night.

As we enter Arras, night has fallen, and we think of that other night we marched in, on another road. It was on March 27-28 that we were thrown into the melee of 1918. One does not readily forget such a period as that. We heard that the Hun had won more than a thousand square miles of territory—that 75 people had been killed in Paris by "Big Bertha." Some of us were ordered to the Cambrai sector, where the break had occurred, and after marching all day to Barly, we were turned east to stop another attack at Arras. It was at 5 o'clock on the 28th that orders reached our line to pull out in a rush. If we were in a frenzy in the line, with a hundred things to do in less than that number of minutes, the condition of things around Les Brebis and Maroc can be dimly imagined. Much treasured kit and many hoarded souvenirs were ditched for all eternity. Someone who picked up a gas mask in Bracquemont that day found in it a 2¾ x 3¼ camera. I know who lost it. But the order was to drop everything and "get"—so we "got."

Like little bears, we had our troubles all before us, and expected them to be big ones. The Imperials who relieved our mob told us about the tidal wave that would probably engulf us about dawn. We prepared for a hot time. We were keyed up to be "last ditchers," to sell our lives dearly, to be a forlorn hope, and all sorts of glamorous things. We spread ourselves abroad on the face of the land from Lens to the other side of the Scarpe, dug in, and held the line. It promised to be a big job, but it fizzled out as a picnic after the first day or two). Why?

Because the Hun declined to push on our front.

It would be invidious, bombastic, swank, and a number of other things unbecoming and abhorrent to the well-known modesty of the Canadian soldier to quote the reason generally given for Brother Bosche's refusal to come over and make mince-meat of the corps. We had—being, as hinted before, modest and unassuming menat-arms—made up our minds that he would certainly try to do so. He shelled us, and gassed us, and sniped us; we raided him and pulled his tail, but he wouldn't come across. At one stage in the game we (the Canadian corps) held 35,000 yards of trench, about a quarter of the entire British line.

It is pleasant to think, as we stroll the streets of Arras, that our Canadian corps was good enough to be given the key of the Western front to hold; that it was kept in reserve for three months for that last desperate effort when all else had failed. As one writer has put it, telling of Arras in 1918: "How grave was the task set aside for us had worse come to worst we do not know certainly. Foch was well aware of our existence. We were under standing orders for three months to move anywhere at an hour's notice. I think myself we were pledged, if need arose, to a forlorn hope, and in our very annihilation would have placed the last and an immortal wreath round the name of Canada-in-arms. Haig said during those dark days: 'We still had the Canadian corps. I knew we could never be beaten until the old corps which had never failed had been put out of the fight.' Can we ask any better guerdon than this?"

Ah, well! The moon is shining on the red-tiled roofs and on the rough pave; the train from Lens crawls into the station (there were no red roofs and no train and no station in 1918). What would have happened if the Hun had attacked, or pressed here or there, who can say? We'd have done our best. C'est la guerre! Tomorrow we visit Vimy. Bon soir!

LAKEFIELD BATHERS ASK FOR FACILITIES

Petition Presented To Council For Dressing Rooms.

LAKEFIELD, May 17.—A petition signed by a representative list of citizens has been handed to the Council asking for proper facilities for bathing in the river. This matter has been on the tapis for years and up to date no action has been taken. Few places are better off than Lakefield with regard to water for boating, bathing and fishing, but for bathing municipal dressing rooms could be arranged at a moderate cost and the present rather humiliating conditions would be unnecessary.

Three Persons Bitten By Mad Dogs At Calgary

CALGARY, Alta., May 17. — (Canadian Press).—Three persons have been bitten by mad dogs in this city, cases of four dogs have been diagnosed as rabies, and it is feared that other dogs in the city have contracted the rabies, which at present is only in the incubation stage.

This was the situation yesterday when Acting Mayor H. Ward took definite action to cope with the situation. He had a meeting with Chief of Police David Ritchie and Dr. Duncan Gow, medical health officer of the city, following which a telegram was despatched to the Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa, urging that action be taken to deal with the outbreak.

COLLECT MONEY DUE TO CANADA

Settlement is Expected With Ex-Enemy Countries in Europe.

GENERAL CLEAN-UP.

OTTAWA, May 17.—An officer of the government will have to go to continental Europe this year to arrange a settlement of war claims that are outstanding. In the case of Hungary, $75,000 is coming to Canada; from Austria, $600,000, and from Bugaria, $500,000. One of the principal items is involved in the award by a mixed tribunal to the Massey-Harris company, from the liquidation of its Austrian plant. The company was paid by the Dominion government, and now Austria is called upon to pay the government. There are more than sufficient securities belonging to Austria and in the custody of Canada to meet this liability if recourse to that method is necessary.

About $750,000 is involved. Another available security is eleven millions' worth of German property now in custody.

It is expected to have all these matters cleaned up this year.

PONTYPOOL I.O.O.F. ATTENDS SERVICE

Rev. A. J. Terrill Delivers Suitable Sermon on Principles of Order.

PONTYPOOL, May 17.—I.O.O.F. No. 296 held its annual church parade on Sunday, May 15, to the United church. Owing to weather conditions a smaller crowd than usual was present. The parade was in charge of Bro. Thomas Hill, P.G., who marshalled it. Rev. A. J. Terril, the pastor, preached an excellent sermon, touching on some of the main principles of Oddfellowship. On their return to their lodge room a vote of thanks was extended to the pastor. It was decided to attend the decoration service held at the cemetery on Sunday, May 22, at 7.00 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Benson and daughter of Peterborough were visitors in the village on Sunday. Mr. Benson is a Past Grand of the local I.O.O.F. and was in the parade on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ferguson and son Sidney, Mrs. D. Ferguson and Miss K. Ferguson, all of Lotus, and Miss Ida Payne of Bowmanville were guests of Mr. Robert Payne on Sunday last.

The Hydro Electric Commission is putting a power line through this locality and surveyors have been here at different intervals making preparations for immediate operations. An official was in town last week settling claims with farmers whose property they are going through. Several of the farmers will have to cut down a width of 150 feet through their bush where the line goes through. There will be towers 1,000 feet apart and about 85 feet high with cross arms about 25 feet wide. The work on these will be commenced in the near future and will give employment to several local men. There will be no substations nearer than Peterborough and no tapping wil be done along the line.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans and their daughter, Mrs. Rowan and family have moved to Lindsay, where they have purchased a residence. Their residence here has been bought by Mr. James Cruickshanks, who is the pastry baker for Richardson Bros.

Several of the farmers have planted their early variety of potatoes and are now preparing for their late corn.

OLD CABARET SINGERS PASS.

With the death recently of Xavier Privas, who sang in the oldest cabaret in Paris, the Noctambules, one of the old-time "chansonniers" passed on. Georges Villard, whose death also occurred recently, was another member of the thinning ranks of the old school that apparently are not being filled by new recruits, and it looks as though the once-popular and picturesque type of singers and composers that made Paris cabarets famous, will disappear. Privas was of the sentimental school, and his popularity in his prime was great. When he first sang in the Noctambules in 1893, Verlain, who was in the audience, launched him into fame at once by jumping up and saying, "Recommence, petit, recommence." Villard also sang his own works, but they were of brighter vein than those of Privas, and he had many followers.

MEETING TO-NIGHT TO DISCUSS JUBILEE

Lakefield Council Accedes To Request of Board of Trade.

LAKEFIELD, May 17.—The regular meeting of the Municipal Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening, May 9th.

There were present Reeve Tanner in the chair and Councillors Tedford, Harrison and Robinson.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and on motion confirmed.

The Rev. A. W. Mackenzie addressed the Council regarding the charge of $50 for fire brigade service at The Grove, stating that, while he may much appreciated the service given, he thought the charge excessive. He wished his gratitude for the prompt response and the good service of the brigade placed on record.

The matter was laid over for consideration.

Mr. Burrows, on behalf of a deputation from the Board of Trade and other bodies, requested the Council to take some action regarding the celebration of Canada's Diamond Jubilee on Dominion Day. It was decided to call a public meeting on May 17th to discuss matters.

Mr. Lillicrap addressed the Council regarding provision of proper bathing facilities. The matter was laid over for consideration.

The Finance Committee presented a report recommending payment of the following accounts:

Frank Pringle	$ 17.00
Bell Telephone Co.	3.50
Bell Telephone Co.	1.15
S. R. Hart & Co.	3.56
North Western Mutual Insurance	62.50
Spence & Sons	2.00
J. J. Turner & Sons	8.51
Pyrene Manufacturing Co.	24.80
W. T. Clifford	8.55
Canada Cement Co.	2.00
N. A. Moore	5.60
John E. Edwards	32.15
Pay roll	151.50
W. H. Stabler	25.36
	$348.18

Mr. John Blakeley addressed the Council asking some arrangement regarding obtaining services of fire brigade should they be necessary in his case, stating his willingness to pay $50.00 for the same.

The inadvisability of setting a fixed charge was pointed out, and the matter was laid over for further action, Mr. Blakeley being assured that any call from him would be answered.

Moved by Councillors Robinson and Tedford, that the Court of Revision be held on May 26th, at 7.30 p.m., and that due notice of the same be published.

400,000 Filipinos Flock To Insane "Emperor" Who Wears a Golden Crown In Thatched Palace

MANILA, May 17 (A.P.).—Followers of Pior Intrencherado, the insane Filipino who has proclaimed himself "Empero of the Philippines," poured into Iloili Province on the Island of Panay recently, asserting their purpose was to defend the "Emperor."

All were armed, most of them with bolos, the heavy sword-like knives used in peace time to cut sugar cane and other crops. They zealously guarded the thatched "palace" of the "Emperor."

Intrencherado made a statement that he was willing to obey the law, but his followers declared they were prepared to die should the authorities attempt to seize him for incarceration in an asylum. He has been declared insane by a court, but a decision to place him in an asylum has not been reached.

Trouble in Iloili Province is expected, as Intrencherado's followers are excited and threatening.

The "Emperor" has eagerly received newspaper men, being avid for publicity. He wears a crown of gold, a rich, imperial robe and diamond rings, all obtained through levies and contributions.

His followers are variously estimated to number up to 400,000.

Living peaceably in his shack at Jaro, a suburb of the City of Iloili, Intrencherado has taken no part in the uprising, although his followers has congregated close to his home.

Seizure of the municipal building at Victorias, on the Island of Negros, and disturbances at Siloy and Lacariota were purely local affairs of which Intrencherado had no knowledge. The Philippine constabularly suppressed them and controlled the situation. In these disturbances one policeman was killed, one was wounded and two Intrencherados were killed and thirteen arrested before they were dispersed.

NO SUCCESSOR.

Commissionership of Highways Is Unlikely To Be Filled.

OTTAWA, May 17. —It is unlikely that the position of commissioner of highways, vacant by death of W. A. Campbell, will be filled. The post was created at the time the Borden government appropriated $20,000,000 for federal aid to highways that was extended a few years ago, but expires next March. The work of the late Mr. Campbell's office was pretty well disposed of, and this, along with the improbability of the aid system being further extended, makes unlikely the filling of the vacant position.

KEEP LOOKOUT FOR NUNGESSER

De Pinedo Says He Will Hunt For Traces on Flight To Azores.

ENROUTE TO COAST.

CHICAGO, May 17 (Canadian Press).—Commander Francisco de Pinedo, the Italian four-continent flier, last night passed what he expected to be his last in the United States on his present flight.

De Pinedo, delayed here yesterday because of a fouled spark plug, hopes to leave for Montreal today. From there he will fly to Newfoundland, his last stop before his jump to the Azores. His route to Montreal will be over Detroit, Niagara, Buffalo, across Lake Ontario and down the St. Lawrence River.

On the flight to the Azores, De Pinedo and his companions will watch for traces of the missing French fliers, Nungesser and Coli, whom he described as "very fine, very courageous airmen."

Visits Around City

The delayed take-off from Chicago enabled the Italian naval flier to carry out part of the programme abandoned Sunday because of his late arrival. Escorted by Anthony Czarnecki, collector of customs, and the Italian consul, De Pinedo placed a wreath on the statue of Garibaldi, the Italian patriot, in Lincoln Park; drove over Chicago's boulevards; visited the downtown district, and stopped in at the Chicago White Sox baseball park. The delay also provided further opportunity for the Fascist brothers of De Pinedo to do him homage.

Delayed Flight

An unexpected swell in Lake Michigan which splashed water into the ignition of his plane delayed De Pinedo's flight yesterday. He had waved goodbye to the thousands gathered to see him take off and was headed into the open lake when a swell splashed over the forward part of his twin engine plane. As it would take hours to dry out the ignition he altered his plans and decided to make another attempt today.

De Pinedo hopes to reach Montreal about 5 p.m. If he encounters heavy head winds he will descend at Buffalo today and take off for Montreal Wednesday morning. He anticipated reaching Rome by May 24, the twelfth anniversary of Italy's entrance into the World War.

Montreal Welcome

MONTREAL, May 17.—Special arrangements are being made for the reception of Col. de Pinedo, the Italian airman, and his confreres, and for an official welcome to Canada. Chevalier Pio Margotti, Italian consul, has been making all arrangements. Plans have been made for an evening reception. On his arrival from Chicago it is expected that he will be met by a delegation aboard the harbor commissioners' yacht Bethalma, on which a buffet lunch will be served. The seaplane's crew will be entertained by the Italian colony between 7 and 10 o'clock in the evening, provided that all goes according to schedule. A banquet is to take place between 7 and 8 o'clock, with a minimum of speech-making. A reception will be held at Stanley Hall between 8 and 10 o'clock for the benefit of the large Italian colony, and a reception by the city may take place afterwards.

Act I.—Living-room in Peter's house Time, morning.
Act II.—The same afternoon.
Act III.—Lawn in front of Peter's house — evening. Place — "Happy Hollow."
Finale—'Good-night, Gentle Folks.'

Every character in the cast took his or her part exceedingly well, and to be congratulated on the result of the effort.

Musical numbers were rendered between acts by Messrs. Ralph Elliott and Charlie Copen on the piano and violin.

The proceeds amounted to about $210.

OBITUARY.

JAMES DRAIN.

In Campbellford, on Tuesday evening, May 10th, after an illness of some months' duration, James Drain died in his home on Victoria Street. The deceased was in his 69th year and during his seven years' residence in Campbellford had made many friends whose regret is deep at having lost so respected a citizen. The late Mr. Drain was born in Haldimand county where he spent his boyhood, later moving to Percy.

The funeral was held on Friday, May 13th, leaving his late home at 8.45 and proceeding to St. Mary's church, Campbellford, where Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. Father Phelan, whose consoling words at the conclusion of Mass offered sympathy to the sorrowing mourners and served to recall the good life of the deceased and the great respect in which he was held by all who knew him. The solemn requiem music was sung by the Campbellford choir, with an appropriate offertory solo by Mrs. Welsh of Campbellford. As the funeral proceeded from the church Mrs. P. G. Murray sang "Nearer My God To Thee."

The remains were interred in the Roman Catholic cemetery, Warkworth, where Rev. Father Ferguson conducted the services at the grave.

The deceased leaves to mourn, his son, his wife, two brothers, John and William, and three sisters, Misses Mary and Ellen Drain and Mrs. John Coveney.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Horace Skinkle, John Conway and John O'Rielly of Dartford; Robert Greenly, Joe Kellegher and Thomas O'Rourke of Campbellford.

The love of his relatives and friends was shown by the many mass cards sent and the large attendance at the funeral.

Out of town friends were: Mr. and Mrs. E. Conroy, Miss J. Conroy, Mrs. P. Doris, Mrs. W. Heffernan, Mrs. McLean and Mr. J. Drain of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Murray of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. M. English Mrs. E. English and Mr. H. English of Norwood and Mr. and Mrs. L. Hopkins of Marlbank.

ADELENE LE VESCONTE

CAMPBELLFORD, May 17. — Friends in Campbellford received word of the sudden death of Miss Adelene Le Vesconte of New York, as the result of an automobile accident. Deceased was a resident of Campbellford for many years, later leaving to reside in New York. Surviving are one sister, Miss Ettie of New York; and two brothers, Col. R. C. Le Vesconte of Toronto, and Philip M. Le Vesconte of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon from the 1.30 train to Christ Church, where service will be held; interment to take place in Christ Church Cemetery.

ELIZABETH LEONARD

MARMORA, May 17. — Early Thursday morning, Elizabeth, wife of James Leonard, passed away at her home in Marmora Township, after a long illness. Deceased was in the fifty-ninth year of her age and had lived all her life in this district. She was highly respected by all who knew her, for her charitable disposition and industrious nature. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, six sons and four daughters. They are as follows: William of Marmora; James of Fort William; Stepheh of Kitchener; John of Watertown, N.Y., and Charles and Bert at home; Mrs. Maggie Flynn of Marmora, Mrs. Jean Robertson of Vancouver; Mrs. Eliza Wigmore of Vancouver, and Sarah at home. The funeral which was largely attended, was held at St. Paul's Church on Sunday afternoon, and was conducted by the Rector. The six sons of the deceased acted as pallbearers and the beautiful floral emblems were borne by seven grandchildren. Interment took place in Marmora Cemetery.

PHILIP REVOY

MARMORA, May 17—Whilst being placed in a car on Saturday afternoon to be taken to the Belleville General Hospital, Philip Revoy, an elderly resident of the town suddenly expired. Death was due to blood poisoning and erysipelas contracted under singular circumstances. About a week ago, deceased was out in the yard adjoining his shack with his young grandson, Thomas Emigh. While the latter was splitting wood, the axe head flew off, striking Mr. Revoy in the back of the head and inflicting a bad gash. He was able to attend to his duties as cow tender until Thursday when he fell over and had to be conveyed home. His condition becoming worse, his son William of Madoc came over on Saturday to take him to Belleville and while assisting him into the car, death occurred as stated. Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons, William of Madoc and Bruce of Calgary, and two daughters, Mrs. E. Adams of Marmora and Mrs. R. Arnold of Madoc. The late Mr. Revoy was of quiet retiring habits and in religion was an Anglican. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon in St. Paul's Church following obsequies of the late Mrs. James Leonard ,the Rev. A. B. Caldwell officiating. Interment took place in Marmora cemetery. The following were pall bearers, D. McGarvey, A. McGarvey, T. Potts, J. Wilkes, S. Moffatt and F. Johnston.

MILLBROOK NEWS.

MILLBROOK, May 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hurd, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Hurd, and two children, motored from Oshawa on Sunday and were guests of Mr. Wilbert Walsh, Mrs. Hurd, Senior, and Miss Lulu Hurd.

There were four generations represented at the family gathering, Mrs. Hurd, her son, Luther, his son, Russell, and the latter's children. Considering that she is considerably past her eightieth birthday Mrs. Hurd, Senior, retains her health to a remarkable degree.

Much sympathy will be felt for Mr. and Mrs. Harry White, whose youngest daughter, Hazel Kathleen, passed away yesterday, after some weeks 'illness, in her sixteenth year. The funeral took place on Thursday, May 12, to the Presbyterian cemetery.

Rev. F. H. and Mrs. Howard motored to Belleville last week end and visited her mother, Mrs. William Johnston.

BOARD PROBES

That he had given instructions to the manager of the brewery to permit no more shipments of beer, to purchasers who came to the brewery, was the statement of Edward Sandell, who recently became president of Taylor and Bate. He had been informed, he said, that automobiles were leaving the brewery loaded with beer and, he understood, one of them had been caught by the Provincial Police. Therefore, as he was anxious to avoid any trouble with the Provincial Government, he had given orders to discontinue all except genuine export shipments which were sure to leave the province.

From John F. Mallon, manager of Taylor and Bate, the commission learned that orders for strong beer were received by mail from the United States and executed at the brewery. When the brewery exported, itself, motor trucks conveyed the beer to Port Lambton, Courtright or other points on the water, where it was loaded into boats. These shipments were always covered by exports entries. Other sales were made at the brewery, however, also for export, and Mr. Mallon said that these shipments were not followed to see that they actually made their way out of the country. Shipments were not all made by motor truck. Taylor and Bate had shipped some car loads of beer, but the truck shipments far outnumbered those by rail. After the goods were delivered, either at the brewery or at the point where they wereloaded into boats, the brewery did not attempt to follow them further.

"You don't know what happened to the beer which left your brewery, other than that which was taken by your own truckers?" asked Chief Commissioner Brown.

Complied With Rules

Mr. Mallon said he did not. The brewery complied with the customs regulations in its methods of sale and shipments of all strong beer.

"But none of your export entries came back," commented Commissioner Wright.

Mr. Mallon thought that some export entries for the sales made to purchasers for export had been received. He said that the brewery had "blanket orders" from one United States purchaser known as "A. Press." There was also an "Allen" of Detroit, and an "O'Brien." At one time orders had been received from a man giving the name of J. Cox. The company manufactured 4.4 and strong beer, and the latter was all sold for export.

When Mr. Wetlings took the stand he was asked whether or not Taylor and Bate had any dealings with Smith, Perkins and Company of Rochester. "I've heard of them," he replied. He had also heard of the Union Sales Company of Toronto.

"Well, wasn't it a fact that the Union Sales Company purchased beer under the name of the Smith, Perkin Company?"

This, Mr. Wetlings did not know.

Prior to the examination of witnesses connected with Taylor and Bate, F. R. Hill, Customs preventive officer, filed a list of seizures which he had made in the course of his work. Most of the smuggling, he believed, was done across the bridges by automobile.

"There seem to be a large number of radio seizures," commented Chief Commissioner Brown, looking over the list.

"Yes," replied Mr. Hill. Radio parts were brought across in autos, he said. He stated that he thought the regulation which permits the importation of settlers' effects was being abused. Automobiles, he said, were being brought into Canada under this regulation, which were not bona fide settlers' goods.

"It has been the custom to clear an automobile and a suitcase containing personal effects on a settlers' entry," he stated in illustrating that the cars were sometimes not part of a large importation of goods brought in by a bona fide settler. Men went over to the United States leaving their families on this side, and succeeded, sometimes, in bringing a car across on a settler's entry when they returned to this country.

Mr. Hill commented on the use of Canadian ports as a parking ground by rum-running United States vessels. Some of these craft bore no name or license and it was, consequently, a very difficult job to identify them.

LABOR MEMBERS

was unequalled for cool audacity—government seemed bent on the destruction of the consitutional usage of parliament, and was grossly abusing the power of its numbers, and reducing the business of the House to mockery.

The Opposition, said Mr. Clynes, refused to be a party to, or sit in the House to countenance such proceedings.

Leave House.

Amid cheers, counter cheers, and ministerial laughter, all the Laborites quitted the house.

Former Premier Lloyd George expressed deep regret at the scene which he thought was no cause for laughter, and said he would vote against Mr. Baldwin's motion.

The motion was then carried by a vote of 259 to 13, only a few Liberals opposing it, and the House, which had expected to sit for many hours, having no further business, adjourned until to-day, when the committee stage will be resumed.

Meanwhile the Labor party met outside and endorsed Mr. Clyne's attitude.

Another meeting will be held this morning to consider further action.

The way of a peppy day!

GLORIOUS days are an every-day story when they begin with the right kind of breakfast. You need crisp, peppy food in the morning! Food like Kellogg's Pep!

Pep adds delightful zest to breakfast. Those golden crunchy flakes of whole wheat. How they taste! Good—and good for you!

Pep is health in a package! The peppiest food you know. Rich in nature's vitamins and strength-building elements. Contains bran—just enough to be mildly laxative. Helps prevent constipation. A great food for kiddies!

Eat Pep and have pep! Serve it often. For breakfast—for lunch or dinner. With milk or cream. And, for variety, add fresh or canned fruits or honey. Your grocer has Pep!

LEARNING TO SWIM.

Efforts that are being made by the local service clubs to promote a more general knowledge of the art of swimming deserve the support of the public.

There were some 300 drownings in Ontario last year; the greater part of the victims were non-swimmers, and thus it is safe to say that ability to swim would have averted the majority of these deaths.

Thanks to the efforts of the Y.W.C.A. and the Y.M.C.A., and to what has been done by the City Council in providing faicilities for bathing here, considerable progress has been made in Peterborough in recent years in increasing the percentage of swimmers, but there still remains much to be done along this line and plenty of scope for a campaign such as is now proposed.

The majority of local people spend their holidays at water resorts; it would be very consoling to think that all who do so know how to swim.

The opportunity to learn is likely to be open to citizens generally during the coming summer, and full advantage should be taken by those who have not yet mastered the art.

THE QUEBEC RESULTS.

The fact that the opposition in Quebec allowed no fewer than a dozen constituencies to go by default justified the assumption that the Liberal Government of Premier Taschereau would be sustained by a large majority in yesterday's election, but the triumph of the administration was even more complete than was estimated.

Quebec, after thirty years of Liberal rule, showed no sign of desiring a change—in fact, the gains made by Mr. Sauve and his party in 1923 disappeared in the avalanche yesterday, and the opposition, which came back after the previous election with 21 seats, now finds itself with considerably less than half that number.

Every member of the Cabinet, including, of course, the Premier, was returned, and the administration is complete master of the situation.

The Taschereau Government has given Quebec progressive and businesslike administration of public affairs, and the complete sweep in yesterday's election is easily understood.

At the same time, for its own sake as well as for the general welfare, the return of a stronger opposition might have been a good thing.

Governments that have the political situation too effectively controlled are very likely to deteriorate; an active opposition is decidedly useful, if only to keep the reigning party on its toes.

"SELLING" CANADA.

The appeal voiced by Dr. Marcellus, Professor of Poultry Husbandry at the Ontario College of Agriculture, to the local Rotary Club yesterday that delegates from foreign countries to the huge World's Poultry Congress in Ottawa this summer should be treated with every courtesy and attention by Canadian citizens, is important.

This gathering of poultry men from all corners of the globe should mean much to Canada, for it will serve to bring this country before hundreds of influential visitors whose impressions of the Dominion on their return from the Congress will be given wide circulation in their home lands.

Many of them are planning to take advantage of their visit to the Congress to study the resources of Canada, to investigate its advantages from the viewpoint of emigration, and to see something of the country generally.

By the way they are received by the people of the Dominion they are likely to judge this country, and it is of vital importance therefore that they should be impressed not only by Canada's material wealth, vast natural resources and scenic beauty, but by the courteous and kindly hospitality of its people.

Every delegate to the Poultry Congress should carry away with him nothing but pleasant memories of a rich and prosperous land peopled by friendly and hospitable citizens.

ONLY ONCE IN A LIFETIME.

"Such celebrations do not come more than once in the lifetime of the individual, and when they do come we should make the most of them if we take any pride at all in the land to which we have taken the oath of citizenship."

Such is the opinion of "The Observer" in The Alberta Farmer in regard to the Diamond Jubilee celebration, and it so exactly expresses the view of The Examiner in this regard that we pass it on to our readers.

We have endeavoured to impress upon the people of this district for some time that this jubilee demonstration is something out of the ordinary, and to urge that on this occasion everything else should be secondary to a proper celebration of the occasion by the whole community.

As Canadians we are citizens of a great country; we should be proud enough of that fact to be anxious to do our part in making the nation-wide celebration of the sixtieth birthday of our Dominion an occasion that will not be forgotten.

In making plans for Dominion Day the duty of our citizens is to co-operate in every way possible with the plans of the national and the programme of the local committee.

This should be the biggest community event in the history of Peterborough, for never has there been a celebration of so much importance.

VAIN GIRLS.

(By R. E. Corder in The London Daily Mail.)

Last week a Yorkshire magistrate lamented that the prevailing craze for dancing was responsible for leading many young girls into theft to gratify their vanity.

That magistrate accurately diagnosed a very real and disconcerting tendency in young working girls, to whom the glamor of a dance means more of a social recognition than an evening's entertainment. Dress, not jazz, is the damnation of many pleasure-seeking girls who have realised that modern feminine fashions enable the poor girl to masquerade as the rich girl. The skimpy frock, the comparatively cheap silk stockings, the shingled hair, combined with an instinctive gift for dancing, have brought more girls to the dock for larceny than any other cause I can recall.

Mr. Clarke Hall, the Old street magistrate, declared the other day that girls liked pretty clothes, and he seemed to suggest that a charming uniform in a reforming institution would beget a charming character. He may be right, for I see no charity in giving the fallen a hard chair to make them sit up; but at the same time I am convinced from daily experience that vanity as revealed in dress is responsible for the large majority of shoplifting cases that are just now giving deep concern to women police court missionaries.

"Again and again I have tried girls who would sell their souls to shine at a dance," said a metropolitan magistrate speaking to me privately. "Put them in a pretty frock and they will cheerfully dance to the devil."

Dancing may be all that is claimed for it as a pleasant recreation and a beneficial exercise, but today the dancing hall is far more dangerous to high-spirited youth than is the drinking saloon.

Most of the girls I see passing through the police court for thieving to gratify their vanity have their brains in their feet. They live only for and at dances, playing at being transfigured Cinderellas with any casual stranger for a Prince Charming.

SAVING CANADA'S FORESTS.

(From Christian Science Monitor.)

The estimate of the Dominion Department of the Interior is that, since the exploitation of Canadian forest resources began, four or five times as much has been burned through forest fires as the amount consumed for industrial purposes. The annual toll taken by destructive fires is being reduced, but it is still serious. There were thousands of forest fires in Canada last year which, according to the report of the Forest Service, burned over a total area of 1,824,015 acres. More effective methods of fire detection and suppression are being adopted, particularly the more extensive use of telephone, radio and aircraft facilities. The widespread education of the public to be more careful of the nation's forest resources is also giving some encouragement to the forces of fire prevention.

Until recent years, rangers were sent out over long beats which might take two weeks to cover. They would work singly, or in pairs, as circumstances dictated. When the patrol discovered a fire too large for one man or two men to handle, it might take a week before headquarters could be communicated with and a force of men brought to the scene. With modern equipment, immense areas of territory can be patrolled in one day. Lookout stations are located on mountain tops or in high towers, with observers constantly on duty during the season of fire hazard. When a fire is sighted the location is telephoned to fire-fighting headquarters; forest-run roads or trails, cut by the rangers in the slack season, make it possible to send in a party at once, by motor truck or on horseback, to fight the fire.

With the advent of the flying machine, forest protection is made still more effective. The regular air patrols are fitted with radio apparatus. When the fire-fighting crew is needed, a message can be signaled back to the aircraft base, where a big suppression machine is kept ready to fly to the scene, fully equipped with motor pumps, hose and other details. The value of the aerial patrol for the prevention of forest fires has been demonstrated in Canada.

The forest areas of the Dominion are so vast ,there is still much valuable territory without adequate protection, but it is being gradually extended. An awakened public opinion is necessary, to give the Government authorities confidence to go ahead with the fire prevention work. The publicity during Canadian Forest Week, annually at the end of April, is helpful. More people are learning of the value of the forest, not only for timber supplies, but for reclaiming waste areas to the service of man, for shelter belts, for conserving the water in lakes and rivers, protecting the fish and game and insuring a steadier stream flow without excessive floods and droughts, and for beautifying the land. Expenditure on the education of public opinion to save the forests would seem to be money well spent.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Unhappily the rumour of the safety of the French fliers was only a rumour.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 17 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market over the week-end was of a very limited character. A feature of the spot market here was the weaker feeling in the top grades of Canadian Western oats and prices were reduced on account of the decline in the spreads. Sales of odd cars of No. 2 Canadian Western were made at 73c, and No. 2 Canadian Western at 68c per bushel.

The demand for Spring and Winter wheat grades of flour continued quiet, but values were unchanged.

A fair amount of business was done in all lines of millfeed and prices were steady. Business in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet but the tone was firm.

A feature of the potato trade was the stronger feeling that developed and prices scored a further advance of 25c to 30c per bag, which was attributed to the increased demand from outside sources. Sales of Quebec B grade potatoes in car lots were made at $1.90 to $2.00 per bag of 90 pounds, ex-track.

The egg market was moderately active and firm. The receipts were 2,371 cases. Sales were made at 35 to 36 for fresh extras, firsts at 33 to 34 and seconds 31 and 32 cents a dozen.

The arrival of 3,400 packages of New Zealand creamery butter from Glasgow was a feature of the butter trade. It sold at 37½c. The local market was quiet yesterday with a decline noted in Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery which sold at 35 to 35½. No. 2 grades were sold at 34 to 34½c.

The cheese market continues quiet but small receipts have been responsible for a marking-up of prices. Sellers are asking 17 to 17¾c for No. 1 Western white and colored.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 17 (Canadian Press). — With weather conditions favorable yesterday both for Spring and Winter crops, wheat tended downgrade despite unusual strength shown at times by corn. July and September deliveries of corn established new high price records for the season, but the gains failed to hold.

Wheat closed weak ¾ to 2⅛c net lower; corn ¾ to 1⅛c off; oats ½ to ¾ and ¾c down, and provisions showing 5 to 40 cents advance.

Warmth and sunshine here together with falling off in demand for cash corn led to free selling of corn future deliveries, but not until July and September corn had overtopped the season's previous high record quotations. Advances were largely due to aggressive purchasing based on reports of delayed planting especially in Northern Illinois. Oats eased down with wheat and corn.

Provisions were responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

RAID PRODUCES GOOD RESULTS

Some of Those Held in Chicago Identified as Hold-up Men.

THREE AS SLAYERS.

CHICAGO, May 17 (Canadian Press).—Fifteen men and three girls, arrested in Saturday and Sunday raids, were lined up yesterday and the victims of recent hold-ups identified some in the group as the perpetrators of crimes which have baffled the police. Among them were "song and dance" robbers who operated in night clubs and cabarets.

George Takis was named as the slayer of Leonard Gregasi during a grocery hold-up, and Edward Brewer and Anthony Nashus were identified as participants of a cigar store robbery in which Edward Keefer was shot to death. Most of those arrested were in their teens.

LABORITES QUIT BRITISH HOUSE

In Protest Against Limiting the Unions Bill Debate.

CLYNES ACTING LEADER.

LONDON, May 16 (Canadian Press)—All the Labor members walked out of the House of Commons this afternoon in protest when Premier Baldwin moved a resolution limiting debate on the Government's Trades Union Bill to sixteen days. The bill would outlaw strikes of a coercive nature.

John Robert Clynes, as spokesman for the Opposition in the absence of Ramsay MacDonald, called the Government's action "contemptuous and disgraceful," and declared that as a protest against the "gag and bullying," the Laborites would leave the House. Ironical cheers and laughter burst from the Government benches as the Laborites filed out.

DON'T FRY EGG PLANT

The egg plant is a fruit vegetable which is steadily growing in popularity in North America. It is a staple article of diet in the tropics and an important article of food. It is even cultivated as far north as the northern states of the United States, but the choicest types are grown in the south, but are shipped to the northern markets.

There are many varieties of different shapes, sizes, and colors. The best known is somewhat egg or pear shaped, and is from three to five inches in diameter and light purple in color.

Many people think that this vegetable does not agree with them, but this is because it is seldom prepared in any manner except frying. If cooked in this way in grease it is not only indigestible but also unpalatable compared to that prepared in other simple ways.

It is delicious if simply boiled in plain water after being cut into cubes or thin slices. If desired, it may then be placed in a pan and browned in the oven by baking, or cooked under the broiler.

Another good method of preparation is to boil the entire egg plant and then cut in two pieces. Remove the soft inside portion and mix with Melba toast crumbs, and refill each half with this dressing. Next, place under the broiler and brown on top. Before serving put a small piece of butter on each piece and allow the butter to melt and give the baked egg plant a good flavor. Such dressing may also be mixed with finely chopped meat or with beaten eggs, and either one of these proteids added to the meal.

The egg plant does not in any manner resemble the hen's egg in food value, but is rich in valuable organic salts, and furnishes a good "filling" vegetable to take the place of the starchy foods which are used too much at the ordinary meal. It is especially rich in potassium and also contains sodium calcium, magnesium, iron, phosphorus, sulphur and chlorine.

But remember, these good minerals are not available if this vegetable is spoiled by the common practice of frying.

Eat more egg plant when you can get it in the market, and give yourself a treat with this food, which, if properly prepared, will give you a really new vegetable to add to your list of the non-starchy vegetables.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

THE EVOLUTION OF RELIGION

By Dr. Frank Crane.

Dr. Robert A. Millikan, world-famous scientist, in an address the other day on the subject of Evolution, declared that religion was one of the most striking examples of evolution. This was not in the way of controversy or heresy, but was merely emphasizing what was already taught in every important theological school of importance in the United States.

Scholars have been pointing out that there was a progression of doctrine in the Bible, the God of the Old Testament not having the ideals presented in the new.

There is no doubt but that religion has advanced greatly from the days of Moses until the days of Christ.

Christ Jesus is said to have come "in the fullness of time;" that is, he came when the development of mankind and its stage of progress warranted him.

Since his day there has been a great progress made. Formerly, religious denominations were cruel. It was common to have fierce fighting among sects, and both Protestants and Catholics were guilty of things of which they would not nowadays be guilty.

The idea of God has undergone considerable variations. God may be the same "yesterday, today and forever," but our understanding and apprehension of Him progress.

We have rejected the old tribal gods, the god of wrath and vengeance, and have substituted the god of Love.

As the process of men's minds has broadened, as their understanding and sympathy have deepened their conception of God has improved, and no one can look at the activities of churches today and compare them with those of yesterday and not see that there has been a great advance.

The missionaries in foreign countries are not so much interested in making converts to their beliefs as they are in doing good to the people.

The recent activities of the churches, such as the Y.M.C.A., and the Y.W.C.A. and the Y.M.H.A., have all been in the line of helping humanity rather than of fighting certain beliefs.

In other words, there has been a definite evolution of religion from merely belief in certain tenets to practical helpfulness of mankind. Religion means nothing more than a devotion to the general good. Whatever there is of God nowadays is a God who inhabits all of the people and whatever makes for the welfare of all mankind is pleasing to Him.

Religion, like everything else, must be tested by its results. Its triumph is not due to its wanting all people to believe in certain things so much as it is in improving our well being.

Please buy a pencil, Miss

"OH BOTHER, there's that tiresome old woman again. Just because I sympathized with her once—"

Then like an arrow came a strange thought.

The office girl's gaze went past the shabby dress, the hopeless coat, and rested on the seamed face with the wistful eyes from which fear looked out—the fear that dwells with the aged poor.

The girl knew her story. Once young of course, and thoughtless, happy with a husband and a home. Then came hard times. Luckless speculations swept away what little they had. The husband died at the wrong time, and left her unprovided for. The widow drifted here and there . . . finally to this . . . selling pencils to people who didn't want them.

So, to the office girl came these drumming questions that would not down—"could this happen to me? Could it? Old, helpless forlorn . . . no money . . . unwanted. What can I do to make sure I will never come to this?"

LOCAL KNIGHTS ATTEND SERVICE

Local knights attend—24 Marathon Lodge Members Go To Lakefield For Annual Service.

On Sunday morning the members of Marathon Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Peterborough, attended divine service at the Baptist Church in Lakefield. Rev. William Spencer, Th.D., the minister of the church, who is a member of the Order, conducted the service and preached to the brethren of the lodge.

The service was of a very interesting and inspiring character. One of the musical features of the service was a solo by a little girl of the congregation, who very sweetly sang "Pass It On." A duet and chorus was very ably rendered by the choir. It was entitled, "Sometime, Somewhere."

The sermon was a helpful message upon the aims and objects of the Order and the principles upon which it is founded. The blessing and power of association were dwelt upon.

"It is to these associations that we appeal in time of trouble and turmoil. We can always find that sympathy which brings us ease and peace," said the speaker.

"One touch of Nature makes the whole world kin. So with our joys—the power which unites like to like. As with Damon and Pythias true joy is found in genuine and ennobling friendships.

So also in Christian worship and service. This is of great importance to us individually. Through our associations there creeps the power of influence, the unconscious influence of goodness of heart."

The speaker told the story of Damon and Pythias, which has come down from 540 years before the Christian Era, and illustrated the principles and spirit underlying Pythianism.

The brethren were given a very cordial welcome. A little time was spent in the Sunday School Hall in fraternal greetings.

The members departed feeling that their Sunday morning had been spent in a very profitable and worthy way.

Y.W.C.A. ANNUAL REPORTS

Secretary's Report.

In accord with Mrs. Kingswood's address to-night on "My Ideal Canadian Girl," I shall try to tell you some of the ways by which the Young Women's Christian Association has tried to help girls reach a higher ideal, and I am sure after hearing her address our ideal has been strengthened and extended, and we shall start a new Association year with an even higher aim for every girl.

King's Daughter
Wouldst thou be all fair,
Without—within—
Peerless and beautiful,
A very queen?

Know then—
Not as men build unto the Silent One,—
With clang and clamour,
Traffic of rude voices,
Clink of steel on stone,
And din of hammer:—
Not so the temple of thy grace is reared.
But in the inmost shrine
Must thou begin,
And build with care
A Holy Place,
A place unseen,
Each stone a prayer.
Then having built,
Thy shrine sweep bare
Of self and sin,
And all that might demean;
And, with endeavour,
Watching ever, praying ever,
Keep it fragrant, sweet and clean.
So, by God's grace, it be fit place,—
His Christ shall enter and shall dwell therein.

Not as in earthly fane—where chase
Of steel on stone may strive to win
Some outward grace,—
Thy temple face is chiselled from within.

The central and most important aim of the Young Women's Christian Association is the developing in girl life of this "Holy Place, a place unseen" without which no life can be "truly fair and altogether beautiful" and so, although the Y.W.C.A. has a fourfold purpose, the aim of the physical, intellectual and social activities is to build a firm foundations so that girls may enjoy the abundant life which Jesus outlined.

Therefore, in our residence, our gymnasium, swimming and educational classes, our clubs, and through what ever means girls come to the Association, we trust the Christian influence surrounds and touches each life, so that "by God's grace, it be a fit place for Christ to enter and dwell therein."

During the winter season, Sunday evening Song Services were held each Sunday, after church, with an aggregate attendance of 450, and once each month a Sunday afternoon Friendly Hour and Tea, with a total of 210, many of whom were away from their own homes. These services consisted of devotional period, helpful talk, fireside song and story hour and tea. The ReligiousWork Committee also, arranged a discussion course on "What is an Adequate Religion for the Youth of To-day?" Rev. J. D. Paterson kindly consented to lead the class, and although small in numbers the twenty-five who attended found real help and a most interested and sympathetic leader in Mr. Paterson. This committee also arranged special services in connection with the Y.W.C.A. Week of Prayer and World Fellowship, so that every member of the Association learned something of a Christian organization which extends around the whole world. Three cents per member, $18.80 was contributed for the work of the World's Committee. For the Foreign Work of the Y.W.C.A. Peterborough members contributed $130, and also gained a greater interest in the girls of China, India and Japan. Under this heading might also come our Girl Leader's Week-end Inspirational Conference, held at Stoney Lake early in October. Here girls representing all departments of the Association met with time to think and plan and discuss together the value of the Y.W.C.A., and how to make it mean most to the girls of Peterborough. And also the Membership Teas, when new members have an opportunity to learn the Christian ideals and purposes of the Young Women's Christian Association.

In our residence, Mrs. E. Morrison, who has served the Association so faithfully for ten years, believes that the biggest and best influence that can come in any person's young life is that of a Christian home. If "Woman holds the destiny of the world in her keeping then it is imperative that our girls should be surrounded by the best possible influences and live among congenial and happy surroundings.

One hundred and fifty girls have lived at the Y.W.C.A. during the year, besides 600 transients and many others who come in for meals. Each evening the girls gather after supper for prayers. The aggregate atten.dance from October to June is 4000. Last June the residence High Tea was held, and then for three weeks it was a rush to be finished with house cleaning and redecorating of rooms before the McGillvary Knowles Art Class arrived on July 17 for 4 weeks. This, with the usual number of transients made a busy and lively summer. During the fall there were several vacant rooms, but our good name was being spread through the city and since New Year's, we have not had a vacant room.

Out of twenty-four Normalites last year there was only one girl who failed to secure her certificate. The aggregate for the year was 22,500 and a total of 72,000 meals served. Between 1600 and 1700 quarts of fruit and pickles were canned for winter use. Six hundred and ninety-one dollars was spent in putting the house in good repair and $270 spent on linens, which all had to be made up; $570 spent on repairs to the heating system has proven a great comfort. Then, too, there is the mending, bookkeeping, purchasing, arranging menus, telephone calls, a sick girl to look after, steps and steps and many unforseen extras which go to make each day a busy one.

The social life of our residence is not overlooked. Mrs. Morrison arranges special Hallowe'en, Christmas, New Year, St. Valentine, St. Patrick and Easter dinners which are much enjoyed by the girls. The total receipts for the year were $15,248.44.

In the Physical Department, under the leadership of Miss Littlefield we find 450 girls, little tots and seniors, in gymnasium classes and 250 in swimming classes and 430 in organized recreation all striving to "guard my health and keep my body fair, that I may stronger be to do and dare" and in the pursuit of health and recreation in our physical activities one finds it easier to keep "my mind unsullied, pure and free, that truth and beauty may abide with me" and in its classes, and at its parties "to be a friend and prove from day to day, sincere and kind at home, at work, at play;" and through Association friendship; a new vision "to follow ever upward life's high quest, and find, through knowing God, my very best."

The outstanding activities during the gymnasium and swimming seasons were:—

October.—Largest Junior Rally in the history of the "Y" when over 300 children attended. Gymnasium seniors gave an exhibition of club swinging and gymnastics during the 3 days of the Kiwanis Fair. Two huge Hallowe'en parties, senior and junior, were held, with an attendance of 650 girls.

November.—Life-saving examinations in connection with the swimming pool were conducted; 15 pupils passed the elementary, proficiency and bronze medallion tests. Two big swimming exhibitions were also held and 3 trophies competed for. The Badminton club was organized, and basketball league, formed with 9 teams represented.

December.—The Junior Christmas Party saw 250 children, including the children of the Shelter and club classes enjoy the huge Christmas tree laden with presents donated by the Seniors. The seniors also had a breaking up party before the holidays.

January.—A big gymnasium campaign was launched for new members, resulting in 76 joining classes.

In February, arrangements were made for the Gymnasium Pageant. Two Valentine parties were also enjoyed.

March was a busy month with extra classes, etc. The final basketball games were played, and an Irish party held for the ladies' class.

April saw the culmination of many months' work in the splendid Gymnasium Pageant which netted the Association $681.

The aggregate attendance for the gymnasium season, October to April, was 15,698.

In the Educational Department there was an enrollment of 406 with aggregate attendance of 2981.

The English Literature Course was the outstanding class in this department with 140 members enrolled. Dr. E. J. Pratt, of Toronto University, conducted the course of 8 lectures, which was a literary treat for all. Tickets were sold at $2.00, and the balance after all expenses netted the Association $149.10.

Other classes in this department were Ukulele Club, Basketry Class, Wood-Carving Class, Home Nursing Course, Junior Cooking Class and Junior Story Hour. Saturday mornings often saw 75 to 100 children gathered around voluntary leaders listening eagerly to most interesting stories, and each Tuesday afternoon 25 or 30 school girls, with caps and aprons eagerly mastering the secrets of successful cooking, and who can estimate the wonderful help in times of illness which members of the Home Nursing Class can now give.

A total of 264 girls are registered in 8 organized clubs which meet once each week, and through their meetings learn to Cherish Health, Seek Knowledge, Know God and Serve Others.

The outstanding activity in the reports of the following clubs may be interesting:

Ever Bright and Sunshine Clubs, juniors 6 to 11 years, entertained their mothers to a delightful party and program of drills, readings, dialogues, songs, etc.

The Pollyanna Club, girls 12 to 14 presented an entertainment which resulted in the club giving $20.00 to the Foreign Work, and sending Valentines to all sick children in the hospitals, and the children at the Shelter.

The T.M.T.M. Club, girls 15 and 16 years became interested in a wee baby, and made a complete layette much to the delight of the baby's mother, who could not afford even the necessary things.

The Girls' Auxiliary entertained the Saturday afternoon clubs to a party, supplied voluntary leaders each Saturday afternoon for the clubs and entertained their mothers at a delightful mother and daughter banquet.

The Wohelo Club of 50 senior girls has been our most enthusiastic club, and have thoroughly enjoyed a full season of worth-while activities which included sending a Christmas box of dolls and toys to the shelter, staging a play, "'Neath the Sceptre of Susen" with proceeds of $35 for Foreign Work and summer conferences, entertaining the folk at the Protestant Home to a happy evening and later sending each one a personal Valentine. Their programs included Health Talks, Handcraft, Cooking and several parties. The Old Country Club, a newly organized group enjoy sewing, games, music and visiting together.

The Outdoor Club meets for weekly hikes and camp fire suppers from May to October.

The Association is interested in more than those who come to the Y.W.C.A., pay their membership, and join its various classes. All new comers from overseas are called on shortly after they arrive, and made to feel that the Association and all that it can offer is theirs. Forty-eight new comers were reached in this way, including 2 families who could not speak English. Several trains have been met in order to assist in special cases. The Association Employment Bureau has served 245 people, and the room registry 50, during the year. Visits to the various factories of the city, are also made to interest the girls in the worthwhile program of the "Y", an aggregate of 2360 being reached in this way.

In the office work, with its numerous calls, Miss Storey, our Assistant Secretary, during the past 4 years has taken a large share of responsibility, has also led and organized several clubs, taken charge of the immigration work and been ready to assist wherever needed.

All these activities require expenditure of time, interest and money. May I here express the sincere appreciation of the Association to all its large staff of voluntary leaders, our President, Board and Committee members who so willingly give of their time and energy to direct and promote and participate in every undertaking, to all who gave instruction through our classes and leadership to our clubs, to our staff, who though often burdened with over-work, willingly take on extra work rather than let an opportunity for service pass, and to our girl member who respond to every call for help, to the staff of "The Peterborough Examiner" for loyal support and publicity, and to the citizens of Peterborough for their interest, financial help and encouraging appreciation of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Theatres

"CHILDREN OF DIVORCE."

"Children of Divorce," the feature picture now running at the Capitol Theatre, is one of those extremely likeable pictures that combines most of the elements of entertainment in its make-up, while contriving at the same time to point an excellent moral. It isn't often that a movie is able to do this, and when it does, it is exceedingly worth while. "Children of Divorce" portrays the inevitable consequences of folly in a logical, but not unpleasant, way.

The cast is splendid. Clara Bow, the erstwhile heroine of "It," once again occupies the centre of the stage, as Kitty Flanders, one of the "children of divorce," and Esther Ralston is the beautiful Jean Waddington, who, unlike the volatile Kittle, chooses always the rigid path and is victorious finally. Gary Cooper has the role of the rather dissipated looking Teddy Larrabee, and Einar Hanson is Prince Vico de Saxe.

Commencing in a French convent, where "children of divorce" are conveniently placed by parents who seek pleasure, rather than duty, and where Jean befriends the little, lonesome Kitty, the tale progresses later to New York, where Kitty, coached by her mother in the obligation of making a wealthy match, refuses Prince Vico, who is an impoverished nobleman and sets her cap for Teddy, engaged to her friend Jean. When Teddy is on a drunken spree, Kitty marries him, and defies everyone, including Jean, to take him from her. Jean goes on a world tour and meets in Paris some years later, her friend Kitty and her husband and child. Prince Vico is in Paris also and proposes to Jean, one of America's richest heiresses, but she is still in love with Teddy and refuses him. Later, Kitty tries to makes Vico consent to marry her, if she secures a divorce from Teddy, but he is unable to do so, on account of his religious persuasion. Then Kitty decided there is only one way out of the tangle in which she has placed herself by her selfishness, and takes it, in a logical ending to the career of a 'child of divorce."

The pictures shows, in fine episodes, the life-long friendship of the two women, unspoiled by Kitty's selfish conduct and the limits to which "flaming youth" will go in striving to secure its desires. Two contrasting types of womanhood have a place in "Children of Divorce."

The comedy is a Hamilton mix-up, with the gravely ludicrous comedian at his best in hilarious adventures.

PICTURESQUE SCENES IN GORGEOUS COLOR MARK FILM SPECTACLE

Quaint Russian Villages, the Barbaric Splendor of the Tartar Camp and the Brilliance of the Czar's Palace Alternate as the Background of Thrilling, Romantic Jules Verne Melodrama.

For picturesqueness of setting and costuming, "Michael Strogoff," which comes to the Regent Theatre on Wednesday next, is said to be unique in film productions. Quaint Russian inns, peopled with dancers, singers, and accordion players apparently just stepped out of the "Chauvre Scuris," wretched peasant hovels unfit for animals to live in, gorgeous state balls staged with the extravagance of an oriental potentate, and lastly, the great camp of Feofar Khan, the leader of the savage Tartars.

This Tartar camp is the most extraordinary sequence ever seen in motion pictures. Brilliantly tinted tents, gaudy banners, thick rich oriental rugs, jewel trimmed costumes, these are all shown in their original colors by the new French stencil process, which is said to be vastly superior to any colored film ever shown before. This process not only brings out every bit of color in a scene, but when one scene shifts to another there is no clash of colors as so often is the case.

The lithe brown dancers dressed in the costumes which only the East could conceive strive to please the great Khan. They dance to the music of a strange band playing on great potato shaped drums, long tubas and strange wind and string instruments. The musicians with their fierce black mustaches, high fur turbans, and barbarically colored robes would frighten less hardy entainers.

The Khan's harem is there, too, while the Khan himself rivals Nero in his splendor. His robes of thick silk are studded with gems.

In startling contrast to these scenes is the brilliant court ball in the Czar's palace. Here, too, the scene is in colors but this time the colors are the soft shades of a highly civilized society. The pinks, whites, pale blues and nile greens of the crinoline gowns are set off by the brave uniforms of the men.

Duke of York To Open Building in Presence of Brilliant Assembly.

By FREDERICK KUH
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, May 14.—(United Press).—Young couples in Germany are marrying more frequently than formerly and thereby causing anxiety to Germans who demand a revision of the Dawes plan. Far-fetched as the connection between German marriages and German reparations may appear, the two are inseparably linked.

When the Dawes scheme was applied it was decided that reparations payments would be exacted from Germany on the basis of a German "prosperity index." A prosperous Germany would naturally be expected to pay more to her ex-enemies than a financially-depressed Germany. Among the factors on which the Dawes experts calculated the prosperity index were German railroad business foreign trade, commerce in luxury articles, coal, food and births, deaths and marriages.

In an article, entitled "Disquieting Desire to Marry," the Deutsche Bergwerks-Zeitung, organ of the big Ruhr coal and iron producers, evinces uneasiness at the growing frequency with which Germans enter wedlock. Official figures disclose that Germany established a world's marriage record in 1920, when 14½ out of every thousand citizens took the matrimonial vow. This high marriage rate was undoubtedly a direct reaction from the wartime marriage slump. During the last six years, including 1926, marriages in Germany have hovered above the pre-war rate.

The Bergwerks-Zeitung fears that this fact will cause the Dawes experts to over-estimate German prosperity and raise their reparations demands accordingly. Hence this newspaper argues that more than half of the marriages in Berlin, for instance, are concluded among the laboring population, and that the German proletariat is enabled to indulge in the luxury of matrimony, if it be a luxury, only because the Government is overzealous in alleviating the social and economic burdens of the working people. This refers to the German system of state insurance for the sick, disabled and unemployed as well as old-age pensions and similar benefactions.

Thus it is argued that the Dawes plan executors are tempted to see German prosperity in a false light and to deduce from the frequency of marriages in this country that the entire population is on the crest of a boom. In reality, according to this journal, there is no boom and, if workers marry more readily than before, it is because the Government makes it easier for them.

This argument encounters vigorous contradiction in socialist newspapers, which reproach the Government with favoring the manufacturers, bankers and landowners at the expense of the working class, especially in taxation.

Observers are inclined to smile at this controversy, knowing that marriage figures will not decisively influence the reparations experts in fixing German payments. Moreover, it is doubted whether young couples, in deliberating whether they should marry, will be guided by the effect of their behavior on Dawes Commission members.

MEETING DATE NOT YET FIXED BY SECRETARY

Kellogg Unable To Say When Conference on Border Laws Will Re-open.

DELAY FAVORABLE ?

Construed as Showing Unwillingness Of Secretary To Accept Ruling.

WASHINGTON, May 16.— (Canadian Press.)—Hon. Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State, could not state today when the border immigration conference will reconvene. The conference stands adjourned at the secretary's call.

The delay is construed by some newspaper men as favorable to Canada, indicating that Secretary Kellogg is unwilling to accept the new regulations as they stand and favors the postponement of the effective date, now fixed at June 1.

Enforcement of the regulations on that date would mean the certain exclusion of non-native Canadians residing in Canada and working in the United States, it is claimed by Canada, because there is no room for them on this year's quota.

The United States Daily, a newspaper which specializes in official government announcements, quotes Secretary Kellogg as saying in an interview that he hoped for a "generous and amicable settlement."

Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian minister, is marking time until the United States re-opens negotiations. Canada's argument and evidence was all submitted on Thursday and added to, since that time by the informal transmittal of subsequent communications from Canada.

When the conference is resumed it may consist only of a formal announcement from Secretary Kellogg. Both the State and Labor Department are being kept fully informed of developments.

Canada's stand is that the whole principle of the regulations is wrong, although they are legally justified, and that if the United States will not withdraw the regulations, they should be at least postponed until all who were working on the United States' side of the border before the regulations were issued have a fair chance to conform to them and ensure their continuance in their present employment.

MILLBROOK GIRL IS PRIZE-WINNER

Flossie McMahon Among Successful in the Essay Competition.

MILLBROOK, May 17.—In the "History of Canada" essay competition, which closed April 16, and which was open to Ontario and Quebec, Flossie McMahon, of the local Continuation School, is listed among the prize winners.

Hundreds of pupils from th High, Continuation, Separate and Public Schools in the two provinces, took part in the contest ,the stipulation being that those competing must not be over 17 years of age.

The special prize, a complete set of "Makers of Canada" in ten volumes, presented to the school having the largest number of scholars as prize winners, was awarded to the public school at Paris, Ontario, (Mr. Moss, Principal), three of its pupils being amount those sending in the best essays.

The first prize, $20.00 in gold, went to Margaret Hobson, Burford High School; the second prize, $15.00 in gold, was won by Bessie Griffin of Fenelon Falls Continuation School; and among the three receiving $5 in gold was Ana Gauthier, of Trenton, St. Peter's School; the local student Flossie McMahon, was among the next ten, $2.00 in cash being the award; the only others who are in this section of the province being William Anderson, Haliburton Continuation School, and Aanna Hunter, Bobcaygeon.

Of the final twenty ($1.00 in cash), two are in this district, Mavis McGuire of Tweed Public School, and Wilfrid Pluard, of the Lakefield High School.

The contest was conducted solely to stimulate interest in their own wonderful country among the girls and boys of today, and it is urged, that, if possible, the prizes be distributed at the Empire Day exercises of the School.

A number of the publishers of the weekly newspapers in the province had the contest under their auspices. Essays were not to exceed 1,000 words and were to be certified by parent, guardian, or teacher, as the sole work of the student competing.

BIRD LECTURE AT MILLBROOK

M. A. Madill, B.A., Addresses Pupils of Continuation School.

Picture Presented.

MILLBROOK, May 17. — The lecture on "The Birds," under the auspices of the Literary Society of the Continuation School, given in the M. C.S. Assembly Hall on Thursday evening by M. A. Madill B.A., Science Master of the Normal School, Peterborough, was an event in which instruction was combined with enjoyment the speaker being evidently thoroughly versed in his subject and having the happy faculty of passing on the information in a most interesting and pleasing manner.

Kenneth Fallis, President of the Literary Society, acted as chairman, and introduced the speaker of the evening in a few well chosen words. An opening chorus, "Canada, my Home," by the Glee Club (14 girls), with Miss Bertha Lang at the piano, preceded Mr. Madill's address.

As practical illustrations of his theme, "Our Feathered Friends," to which of late years popular attention has been strongly attracted Mr. Madill had brought with him a representative collection of bird houses, such as any boy could readily make, birds' eggs and birds' nests, and there were besides colored plates of a variety of birds common to Eastern Canada tacked up where they could be readily inspected.

The speaker evidently shared Jack Miner's opinion of the crow and its destructive propensities and the cow bird ,with its habit of placing its egg in the nest of another bird, the result being that in the end probably the entire brood of the rightful mother is displaced was also put on the "not wanted" list.

Many Slides Shown.

Among the many other birds shown by means of slides thrown on the screen, H. Jordan managing the lantern, were the various kinds of woodpeckers, many specimens of the wild duck family, and the Canada goose, "which Jack Miner says is the wisest of birds," the wood cock, bittern, blue heron, kildeer, sand piper, bobwhite, belted kingfisher, king bird, gulls, several kinds of hawks and owls, blackbirds, orioles, sparrows, including the "Canada White Throat" the most famous songster of the northern woods and now in the limelight as the suggested national bird for the Dominion.

As the pictures were shown, and occasionally their places and manner of nesting, Mr. Madill explained the habits and usefulness of the feathered folk in a manner that held the interest of his listeners throughout.

Between the first and second parts of the lecture the Glee Club sang, "Come out and Go A-Roving with Me," and "The Mosquito," as an encore. There were also two Old English folk dances by troups of girls from the Continuation school and a very interesting event of the evening was the presentation of a fine copy of Abbey's "Sir Galahad" to the school from the Literary Society.

Picture Presented.

Margaret McCarthy, on behalf of the students, made a neat speech in presenting the gift, covering briefly the story of the "White Knight" of King Arthur's Round Table, and G. E Burnham, chairman of the School Board, who received the picture as representative of the trustees, in his reply urged the needs of boosting the Continuation School so there might be an increased number of students, making it possible to engage a third teacher on the staff, and cover the first year of Upper School work.

"The inspector gives us a very fine report of our school its equipment, and staff, and I would ask the ratepayers to have no hesitation in boosting this local institution that is a real asset to our community. On behalf of the school board I would again thank the Literary Society for the beautiful picture commending its usefulness and its suitability as an added adornment to the walls of the assembly room of the school."

A. A. Smith, secretary treasurer of the school board, moved the formal vote of thanks to Mr. Madill for his very interesting and instructive address and J. A. Vance, ex-chairman of the board, seconded the motion.

A final selection, "Poor Old Horse," by the Glee Club, a few words of appreciation from the principal, Miss S. Muir, with the singing of the National Anthem, brought a most enjoyable gathering to a close.

Insects have been on the earth for 50,0000,000 years, while the human race is only 500,000 years old.

EVERY Canadian may well take interest in General Motors' contribution to the growth of Canada's exports. He may do so not only for his natural satisfaction in the national progress, but also for reasons more personal than that.

In the last five years General Motors have exported more than 105,000 automobiles.

This volume has called for such an increase in General Motors production as to permit a tremendous expansion of General Motors facilities and operations.

And today all Canada is deriving substantial, direct benefits from this expansion.

Buying in still greater volume from Canadian producers throughout the Dominion, General Motors is aiding more materially than ever in the development of Canadian resources and the success of Canadian industries.

Employing still more advanced, large-scale factory methods, General Motors is achieving further economies in production costs.

As a result, General Motors can give—and is giving—greater value for less money to every Canadian buyer of its cars.

PLANS PASSED FOR EXTENSION TO COLLEGIATE

Advisory Vocational Committee and Board of Education Accept Them.

FULLY EXPLAINED.

Architect and Heating Engineer Describe Equipment and Layouts.

Plan for the extension to the Collegiate Institute were approved last night, first by the Advisory Vocational Commitee and then by the Board of Education. The plans were fully explained by the Board's architect, Walter R. L. Blackwell, and the consulting engineer on heating, ventilating and lighting, M. F. Thomas. A few minor changes were requested by members of the committee and will be incorporated in the plans, which are now to be submitted to the Ontario Department of Education.

The plans call for heating equipment, etc., in the basement; workshops and gymnasiums on the first floor, with a mezzanine floor over the larger shops for the storage of wood, supervisors office, etc.; classrooms and drafting rooms on the second floor, with the upper parts of the gymnasiums and the principal's office and board room; and auditorium and further classrooms on the fourth floor. The present assembly hall will be used for laboratory purposes, and will be connected with a corridor to the level of the balcony in the auditorium and the commercial rooms.

The heating system of the present building will be coupled to that of the new building. This was recommended by Mr. Thomas who said that the present system requires a great deal more coal than the new one, in proportion to the amount of heat. Most of the new class rooms will be heated and ventilated by the same apparatus, radiation being added in those rooms where there is water, or where meetings might be held when the class rooms would be closed. There will be two boilers but one will be sufficient except in cold weather.

Mr. Thomas also made a report to the board about the ventilation at the King George and Queen Mary schools, which he examined yesterday afternoon. He proposed a separate ventilator for each set of flues, rather than one large one as at present, and said that some of the flues had been bricked up. This was probably done when the schools were built as the rooms were not then needed. The rooms have since been put into service but the flues have not been opened.

FINDS AMPUTATED LEG.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 16.—Evansville was agog recently when a workman found a wooden box, containing a leg, buried on a hilltop just outside the city limits. Visions of murder soon went glimmering when the coroner learned that the leg had been amputated and buried by a surgeon.

NIGHT OFFICER SELECTED FOR CAMPBELLFORD

Charles Duncalfe Begins Duties To-night At Salary of $1,000.

FORMER POLICE CHIEF.

Council Hopes To Keep Tax Rate at 43 Mills For This Year.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 17.—Out of a list of eleven applications, Charles Duncalfe was selected to fill the position of night constable on the local police force. He is to begin his duties to-night at a salary of $1,000 per annum. The agreement to be terminated by either party giving the other one month's notice. Of the eleven applications, five were given consideration. E. J. Johnstone, a sergeant-major in the 40th Northumberland Regiment, was the new constable's nearest rival. He had three supporters to Duncalfe's two on the first vote. They were tied on the second and third vote, and Duncalfe got the decision on the fourth.

The four divisions were as follows:

1st Vote—E. J. Johnstone 3, W. G. Lucy 3, C. Duncalfe 2, W. A. Jones 1.

2nd Vote—Johnstone 3, Duncalfe 3, Lucy 2, Thomas Crawford 1.

3rd Vote—Johnstone 4, Duncalfe 4, Lucy 1.

Final—Duncalfe 5, Johnstone 4.

Duncalfe is a former police chief, and considered an efficient and capable officer. A number of business men of the town, in conversation with The Examiner, expressed themselves as well pleased with the selection.

For two hours the Council combed the figures in the municipal treasurer's book to keep the tax rate down to last year's figure of 43 mills, and while they did not set any definite rate, it is not expected to exceed last year's figure. This is the peak year for debentures, exceeding any previous year by $7,000.00, and if the municipal lords can get by this year without raising the rate they expect to be able to reduce it by another year. Even at the 43-mill rate Campbellford is one of the lowest taxed progressive towns in the district.

The Council endorsed a resolution of the Windsor City Council, to be forwarded to the Dominion representative at Ottawa, protesting against the new legislation proposed by the United States Government affecting Canadian citizens working in the United States and living in Canada.

Permission was granted to Captain Wright of the Salvation Army to hold a tag day on May 24th.

The Council will meet again on Wednesday night at 7.30 to set the tax rate definitely.

Copper Mines Centre Of Attention At Present

The bulk of the mining attention in Northern Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba at present is focused on base metal operations, mostly copper. There is just a tendency because of this to lose sight of the important precious metal possibilities as presented by some of the solid operations of the country. There is always this fact to remember in regard to gold mines, they have no selling proposition, do not suffer from the ups and downs of industry or commerce and always get the top price for their product, namely, $20.67 per ounce. With silvers it is different. There is a serious price problem. Marketing is not serious. They have no trouble finding a market, but the price of silver is controlled in London, and for months past has been severely depressed, so much so that the majority of silver issues, have for the moment lost their attractiveness from a speculative standpoint.

Among the golds a great deal of attention is being focused on McIntyre. It has splendid possibilities that within the present year should commence to be revealed. McIntyre has been delayed in opening up its mine on an extensive scale at depth, while it sank a new 4,000 foot shaft. This has been accomplished and now the management is making plans to open up the mine laterally. It has been conclusively demonstrated that the rich ore of the mine lies below the 1,000 foot level and it is the intention to confine the lateral work around the new shaft from 1,000 foot level down. This will mean that to 4,000 feet there will be 22 new levels, 125 feet apart. McIntyre's rich ore is found in a series of veins which strike north or east through the property, and the new shaft is just outside this vein system on the north. This vein system will be cut from the shaft on each of the levels. It is believed that already considerable dead work has been done on levels down close to 3,000 feet, so that McIntyre is now in a position to put ore reserves in sight very fast. When the new section of the mine is opened sufficient to allow a careful estimate of its possibilities, which may be towards the end of the year, the plans of the company for a new mill can be safely formulated. It is believed that the company will plan to increase milling capacity to either 3,000 or 4,000 tons daily.

It is difficult to understand the recent weakness in Huronia Belt stocks,—one of these issues is Vipond, which along with Keeley, Pioneer, Canadian Lorrian, is controlled by Huronian Belt Co., of London, England. Vipond has been producing for a couple of years and is averaging around $55,000 to $60,000 monthly. When the new shaft has been sunk, the mine will open up more quickly with the additional hoisting capacity. While it was generally conceded that the price of $1.40 was a fair one for the stock, it sold down this week to $1.20. Vipond adjoins Hollinger on the southwest, and recently, exploratory work has been carried on in an effort to pick up extensions of some of the rich Hollinger veins.

General Manager Brigham, of Hollinger Consolidated, told the writer this week that it would be four months before they would be able to reach a definite conclusion in regard to Kamiskotia copper claims which they are exploring. The rock is buried under a thick layer of sand. The discovery was made in a rock outcrop of only medium size and Mr. Brigham said he concluded that it was as cheap to sink a shaft as to diamond drill. He would not say more than that values were encouraging and said that those who fathered the report that the values were encouraging and said that those who fathered the report that the values were confined to narrow widths must have got information from others than Hollinger as he said the Hollinger results had been closely guarded.

Sylvanite, a Kirkland Lake operator, should get its 200 ton mill going almost immediately. It will likely start with 100 tons daily and on ore carrying an average value of $14. No statement on ore reserves has been made public so that the real possibilities of the mine cannot be sized up. It is generally accepted that the ore shoots are shorter than those of the leading producers of the area and more like those of Tough Oakes Burnside to the east.

There has been a strong market for Wright Hargreaves and Teck Hughes of late. The opinion prevails in well informed circles, that the market has by no means discounted all the good news that is to come from these operations. Wright Hargreaves new compressor is working and the machines working underground have been increased from 13 to 21. This will speed up the opening up of the mine laterally down to the 1500 ft. level. The increase to be made in the mill will be 250 tons instead of 200 and will make the tonnage per day 700.

Teck Hughes is getting ready for the second half of the first unit of the new mill. This plant is now handling 150 tons of high grade ore per day and by June this will be stepped up to 300. The old mill continues to handle 250 tons daily from the upper part of the mine.

In conclusion, the writer would follow up briefly the news that was given in the last article on International Nickel. There is important news pending. This was given the writer in confidence. Just how soon a public announcement of the diamond drilling of the Frood mine will be made, is unknown, but the figures given last week are conservative. Nickel is beginning to take on proportions something like those of Consolidated Smelters. It will take at least two years to work the operation out, whereby the new developments will begin to place earnings in the treasury of the company.

In the coming year Connecticut again will lead the States in the number of its women lawmakers. When the legislature assembles in January one woman will sit in the State senate and fourteen in the lower house.

BISHOP STRESSES NEED FOR VISION

Delivers First Charge To Synod of Ontario Diocese.

KINGSTON, May 17.— (Canadian Press)—Delivering his first charge to the Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Ontario here to-day, Right Rev. C. A. Seager, Bishop of Ontario, stressed the necessity of a fresh vision of the purpose of God in His church and a wider vision of the objective of furthering the kingdom of heaven.

He referred to the work of the Upper Canada Bible Society as essential to the work of the whole Church of England, distributing the scriptures as it does in 200 languages and dialects, emphasizing the fact that in his opinion the society should be centralized.

Bishop Seager appealed to the Synod to strengthen the official organization of the church itself.

"Other societies and organizations are of great value," he said, "and should have active support, but the great need is to strengthen the church itself. Remember the diocese, and not the parish is the unit for organization and administration in any Episcopal church, while the parish is only one unit in a great whole."

LADIES FIRST AT CAIRO FAIR.

Feminism decided that men must wait at the Oriental Kermiss given recently by society women of Cairo. The event was held at the Gezira Casino by the Dispensing and Working School, and men were not even admitted the first day, when an Arab orchestra and Om-Kalsoum, a celebrated Egyptian singer, gave a concert. Men grasped the privilege of attending on the second day when a feature pageant showing Egyptian woman at every epoch in history was given by high society leaders. The costumes donated by Princess Trousoun were rich in texture and color. Women in charge of booths wore magnificent costumes of their ancestors. The organization provides vocational training for poor girls.

FLIERS DIFFER WITH BACKER

Chamberlain and Bertaud Win Out, Getting New Contract Drawn.

READY FOR TAKE-OFF.

NEW YORK, May 16 (Canadian Press).— Three monoplanes today waited favorable weather to start them on their non-stop flights to Paris, although last minutes differences threatened for a time to wreck the plans of one of the contenders.

A possibility that Clarence Chamberlin and Lloyd Bertaud might not navigate the plane "Columbia" in its race with Commander Richard's Byrd's "America," and Capt. Charles Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," arose as a result of a dispute between the two fliers and Charles Levine, backer of their flight, over contract terms.

The dissension was finally settled, however, by an arrangement of a new contract that appeared a complete victory for the aviators. They sought and received protection for their wives in case of mishap and a guarantee of all money rewards, said to total upwards of $100,000, offered if they negotiate the New York-Paris flight.

BUSINESS WOMEN AS GOOD AS MEN

Generous Tributes Paid to Them By Hamilton Leaders.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 16. Canadian Press. — The Women's Page Editor of the Herald says: "Mayor Treleaven a barrister by profession, speaking at the Business Women's Club, paid a tribute to the girls with whom he had come in contact in the business world. He said that he had found them to be accurate painstaking, capable, courteous and capable of greater concentration than the average man, than which nothing more flattering or generous could have been said by one sex of the other, more especially when the one is invading territory formerly sacred to the other. Mr. Illsey, a banker, from what he said, appeared to be of the same mind. He had women working with him, he said, whom he would not exchange for any man offered in their place, and he seemed to discount sex altogether in business, attributing the varying qualities, good and bad solely to the individual. Dr. Holbrook, a physician, seems to have altogether passed the point where he compares the sexes in their value to either his own profession or to the business world in general.

"Such organizations as the business women's club, have naturally been a strong factor in the development of a class consciousness, and pride in the business girl. This has reflected favorably on her work, and in turn has enhanced her value in the eyes of the employer, and stabilized her position. Altogether taking stock to-day, the women who are earning their livelihoods in Hamilton may feel satisfied with the progress they have made collectively in the past 10 or 15 years and their satisfaction is not all on their side. They have contributed to the progress and efficiency of office and factory life, they have enriched the professions, and they have taken from the world a class of individuals who were once an object of either ridicule or pity—according to the disposition of the critic—the unattached and dependent women."

BASTEDO GETS $1,100 DAMAGES

In Suit For $10,000 For Detention in Hospital.

TORONTO, May 16 (Canadian Press).—Judgment by consent in favor of the plaintiff for $1,100 damages was entered in the Assize Court by Mr. Justice Smith in the $10,000 suit brought by William E. Bastedo against Dr. C. B. Farrar, of the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital.

The plaintiff, a solicitor, claimed that on January 13, 1927, while visiting the home of his relatives in Toronto, he was, "without his consent, forcibly and illegally apprehended and removed by the defendant and two persons unknown. He was taken to the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital and there kept for three days." He claimed also that he was treated as an insane person, and was forced to perform menial tasks.

Heart Palpitation Dizzy, Sinking Spells

Mrs. M. A. Gagnon, Donatville, Alta., writes:—"Some time ago I was very nervous, could not sleep at night, often had dizzy, sinking spells and palpitation of the heart, and was so run down I could not do my housework, but just leave everything and sit down.

I spent a lot of money using medicine from the doctor, but it did not do me any good.

At last a friend told me to use and after using a couple of boxes I was not the same woman. I began to feel so much better, and after a few more boxes I was in perfect health. I always recommend them to all those I know who are suffering from heart trouble."

TRACK IS BUILT AROUND WRECK

No Change in Condition Of Badly Injured Men at Port Arthur.

TRAFFIC RE-ROUTED.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., May 16 (Canadian Press) — A temporary track has been constructed around the landslide which caused the derailment of Canadian Pacific passenger train number two at Fire Hill, Ontario, on Sunday morning, in which three persons were killed and twenty-five injured and traffic will be re routed over this section until the wreckage is cleared and a new track put down.

The dead are, engineer John Hogg, Fort William, Ont.; Fireman Harvey M. Sly, Schrieber, Ont.; Mail man W. L. Kirkpatrick, Fort William.

Physicians reported this morning that there was no change in the condition of the most seriously injured, William Loeki, Montreal, who is suffering from back and internal injuries and Paul Newton, mail clerk, of North Bay, with back injuries.

WANTED PAPER NOT YET FOUND

Home Secretary Says He is Satisfied Document Was in Soviet House.

DELEGATES NOT IMMUNE.

LONDON, May 16. Canadian Press — In the House of Commons this afternoon Sir William Joynson Hicks, Home Secretary, stated that a certain official document for the possession of which the raid on Soviet House had been carried out, had not been found. Sir William reiterated, however, that he was satisfied it is, or was, in Soviet House. The document was one of which unauthorized persons were known to be attempting to obtain copies.

His action, he added, in authorizing the warrant for the raid, was with the knowledge and consent of Premier Baldwin and Foreign Secretary Chamberlain.

Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs Locker Lampson stated that neither the Russian trade delegation nor its head enjoyed diplomatic immunity.

SPLENDID PLAY AT LAKEFIELD

Ladies' Guild of Knox Church Stages Three Act Comedy.

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

LAKEFIELD, May 17.—The Ladies' Guild of Knox Church put on a successful and entertaining comedy in three acts on Friday evening in the Memorial Hall, and was greeted with a capacity audience which proved most appreciative and attentive. Several musical selections were given between the acts.

The following is the cast:

Madame Charteris, an old aristocrat—Mrs. E. Bailey.

Enid Bellamy, a Southern Cinderella—Miss Marion Payne.

Mrs. Rosie Winterberry, a famous settlement worker—Mrs. G. E. Renwick.

Johnny Bell Randolph—Miss Helen Burgess.

Mammy Judy Johnson, a black Blue Grass widow—Mrs. A. H. Clarke.

The place was an old Southern home, the scenes being laid in the living-room of Charteris Hall.

C.G.I.T. Concert.

The entertainment given at Bethel Church, Dummer, on Wednesday evening last under the auspices of the C.G.I.T. group of Regent Street Church was very successful, the auditorium being packed with a large and highly appreciative audience. The programme consisted of selections by the Regent Street Orchestra, solos, both piano and vocal, and readings, and a play, "'Neath the Sceptre of Susan," a boarding school comedy in two acts. The girls taking part in the play were: Misses Jean Galvin, Margaret Richardson, Thelma Carveth, Irene Sanderson, Merle Crawford, Olive Northey, Mildred Purdy, Grace Darling, Eileen Brown, Madeline Junkin, Elva Hendren and Greta McCall.

A novel feature of the evening's programme was a drill in which a group of girls in the attractive uniform in vogue in the C.G.I.T. groups spelled with flags this sentence, "We are the Canadian girls in Training of Regent Street Church." Among the girls in the drill were: Misses Marion Pearson, Hazel Darling, Frances Fairbairn, Marjorie Frankish, Edna Frankish, Marion Wagar, Irene Darling, Mary Dever, Helen Everett, Zelma Darling, Alma McCracken and Janet Charlton.

After all expenses were paid the net proceeds amounted to $56, which was divided on a fifty-fifty basis between Bethel Church and the C.G.I.T. group.

This entertainment was put on for the first time on March 29th in Lakefield when it scored a great success, and the second success is creditable to the girls and to their painstaking and efficient leader, Mrs. S. A. Kemp.

Meeting Called.

A public meeting is announced for Monday evening, May 16th, to discuss a proper and appropriate celebration for Dominion Day. The Reeve, Mr. C. S. Tanner, will preside and a good representation of citizens is asked for.

I.O.O.F. Church Parade.

The members of Lakefield Lodge No. 358, I.O.O.F., marched to the Baptist Church on Sunday evening for their annual church parade. The choir prepared special music for the occasion, and Mrs. J. R. Hull sang a solo in splendid voice. The pastor, Rev. William Spencer, delivered a thoughtful sermon on "The Good Samaritan," a story which is especially well adapted to the tenets of the Oddfellows' creed.

K. of P. Service.

About forty members of the Knights of Pythias Lodge, Peterborough, motored to the village on Sunday morning and attended service in the Lakefield Baptist Church. Rev. Bro. W. Spencer extended a welcome on behalf of himself and his congregation, and gave them an eloquent and inspiring sermon. Special music was rendered by the choir.

Dramatic Contest.

The tie between St. Luke's and St. John's, Peterborough, in the dramatic contest put on under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. of Peterborough district will probably be decided in Lakefield at an early date. The committee wishes to secure a neutral hall for the contest, and it is likely that the entertainment will be given in Lakefield. It will be a novelty in dramatic entertainments, and will draw a large number from Peterborough and the district.

News Briefs.

The dramatic event of this week will be the musical comedy in two acts given by the Lakefield Cheerios, entitled "Oh, for Pity's Sake!" It is expected that the production will equal, if not surpass, "The King of Timbuctoo," last year's offering.

The A.Y.P.A. is holding its annual banquet on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, with the men of the society as hosts. The programme is being kept a strict secret, but preparations are being made on a large scale for the evening's entertainment.

Rev. J. V. McAulay, of Ennismore, will give a lecture in the Queen Street Theatre on Tuesday evening, May 17th, under the auspices of the Holy Name Society on "The Holy Name Society." Father McAulay is a good speaker and will be very interesting.

Among the delegates from Lakefield to the W.M.S. meeting of Lindsay Presbytery held last week in Peterborough were representative from both United churches. Regent Street Church—Mrs. S. A. Kemp, Mrs. W. W. Leonard, Mrs. C. Kingdon, Mrs. W. Purdy, Mrs. H. R. Wagar. Knox Church—Mrs. T. M. Wesley, Mrs. E. W. Bailey, Mrs. P. Baptie, Mrs. F. J. Burgess and Mrs. J. A. Porter. Mrs. E. W. Bailey was made a member of the Finance Committee and Mrs. (Rev.) S. A. Kemp was appointed a delegate to the meeting in Pembroke.

Lamp Given in Memory Of Mother of "Duce"

RACUSA, Italy, May 16 (United Press)—A perpetually burning lamp was placed to-day in front of the main altar of the cathedral in memory of Rosa Mussolini, the premier's mother. A group of local women provided the lamp.

Simple Home Treatment Works Wonders. Stops Dandruff, Itching, Falling Hair, Makes Hair Soft, Lustrous, Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "Hair Tonics" in the world is this simple old-fashioned home recipe of plain Bay Rum, Lavona (de Composee) and Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home or by your druggist, in a couple minutes' time, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see!

Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavona, 6 oz. plain Bay Rum and ½ drachm of Menthol Crystals. Dissolve Menthol in the Bay Rum, pour in 8 oz. bottle, add the 2 oz. Lavona, shake well, let stand for one hour—and the greatest hair dressing you have ever tried is ready for use. Ask your druggist.

Apply night and morning, rubbing briskly into scalp with finger tips or medium stiff brush. This cleanses scalp of dirt, dust, excessive oil and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage. Itching ceases, dandruff soon disappears and within a few days, you will notice that loose straggling hair takes on new life and stops falling out.

A week's trial of this simple home recipe will easily convince you of its superior value and we know nothing so delightfully effective and certain in action. Any druggist can make it up in a couple of minutes—get it today!

MILLBROOK NEWS

MILLBROOK, May 17.—Mr. Weston Fallis is building a new home on the west side of Tupper street, north, the foundation having been completed over a week ago. The lot was purchased from Councillor T. J. Lang. The house is to be somewhat of the bungaow design, and Mr. and Mrs. Fallis expect to occupy their new home before fall. They have been living with his uncle, Mr. John Gardiner, since moving to Millbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Fallis, and ex-Warden A. J. and Mrs. Henderson motored to Orillia on Saturday, and spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Devitt, and other friends in the northern town.

Mr. and Mrs. James McMillan have moved to the house on Queen street recently vacated by Mr. Parrinder. Mr. George Fallis has purchased the house where Mr. McMillan was living, and moved to his new property last week. Mr. and Mrs. E. Mitchell expect to remove to the house Mr. Fallis has just left.

Mrs. B. R. Richards and baby girl, Laureen, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Campbell, Toronto.

There is one house quarantined for diphtheria in the village, Venner Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Lambert, having developed the disease last week. Dr. H. Young is the physician in charge.

Miss Margaret Whyte's many friends will be glad to learn that she is recovering satisfactorily from the operation she underwent at Dr. H. A. Turner's private hospital last week. Dr. Cameron, of Peterboro, was here assisting Dr. Turner when the operation took place.

Mr. Howard Lancashire is spending the summer at Moose Jaw, Sask. Mrs. Joseph Lancashire, sister, Mrs. J. E. Allen, and younger brother, Henry, motored as far as Toronto with him last Monday when he left for the West. This is the second summer Howard has spent in missionary activity in the western provinces.

Trading Centres Mainly On Four Or Five Issues

TORONTO, May 16 (Canadian Press).—While a wide range of issues was dealt in on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day, the bulk of trading was transacted in four or five issues. Davies "A," International Nickel, Massey Harris, Seagrams, Noranda, Kirkland Lake, Gooderham and Worts, and Hiram Walker furnished great activity. Noranda was the feature, touching a new high of $25, but receding at noon to $24.10, unchanged from Saturday's close. The market was generally strong and gains of more than a point were recorded. Davies "A" was up 15-8 at 43¼, Nickel gained 1¼ at 58⅜, Massey was down 3-8 at 36¼, Seagram gained one point at 28, Kirkland Lake gained one at 145, Gooderham and Worts was up 1½ at 59½, and Walkers gained 5-8 at 52 1-8. Christie Brown was also higher, recording a gain of 1½ at 57½.

CADETS ATTEND CHURCH SERVICE

Millbrook Corps Parade To St. Thomas' Church in Body.

INSPIRING SERMON.

MILLBROOK, May 17.—The Millbrook Cadet Corps; Captain B. B. Dawson, Instruction Officer, held its annual parade to attend divine worship on Sunday morning, marching from the Armouries to Saint Thomas' church at 11 o'clock.

About thirty Cadets answered the roll-call, the front pews of the church being reserved for the visit-Corps. Gerald Todd is drummer boy for the Company, serving efficiently in this capacity at the annual official inspection by Captain Heron, on the school grounds last week, and again during the parade to and from the church on Sunday morning.

The rector, Rev. Canon Allen, was in charge of the service, his sermon being given in an informal manner as wise fatherly counsel, and while applicable to all the congregation, it was particularly addressed to the younger members of the Cadet Corps.

Canon Allen chose his text from Paul's second letter to Timothy, chapter 2, verse 3 and 4: "Thou therefore endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ; No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier", and preceded his remarks with the statement that the uniforms the boys were wearing were not significant of a training that was meant to be provocative of war.

"The Bishop of London recently said: 'War is God's second best'; Christ came as the Prince of Peace, and I would urge you to follow Him; true He said, 'I came not to send peace but a sword', because the gospel coming into contact with the lives of those who will not receive it has provoked strife. But the right spirit of peace should be cultivated by youth.

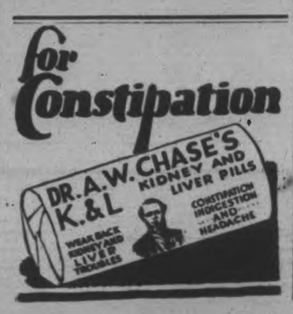
"'Be my comrade in suffering', Paul is saying to Timothy; the discipline of the spirit is just as important as that of the body which you know is essential in your Cadet training. Do not be entangled with other matter so you cannot give a ready obedience and service. You have all been baptized, and through this solemn rite you have been called to be 'good soldiers of Jesus Christ'.

"It is a hard thing to be always a good soldier in the warfare against the world, the flesh, and the devil. Hard to refrain at all times from untruthfulness, unclean habits of speech, and thought, and from deceitfulness. But to control yourselves is greater than taking a city.

"There is but one thing in the Christian life and that is to follow Christ, and remember you are enlisted under His Generalship, and to be like Him is your ideal. Your goal is Heaven, and your simple, constant aim, if you would truly be good soldiers, is to grow more and more like your Great Captain."

In his closing remarks the rector made special reference to a prayer which has been in use for hundreds of years', the Collect for the fourth Sunday after Easter, and taking its petitions separately he showed that "our unruly wills and affections can only be brought into subjection through Jesus Christ, our Lord."

Mrs. Allen presided at the organ, and the hymns chosen were all specialy appropriate to the sermon theme.



LEAGUE STUDIES MISSION WORK

Citizenship Department Takes Charge of Next Meeting at Petherick's.

LEAGUE SOFTBALL.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, May 17—The regular League service at Zion church on Thursday evening was in charge of the missionary convener, Earl Fairman, with Miss Alma Simpson as leader. Fifty were in attendance with the Reds in the lead. The White group still leads the contest, over forty points ahead of the Khaki group. The Scripture lesson, Mark 4:1-20, was read by Miss Simpson and a splendid devotional talk given by the Rev. Mr. Daniel. The parable of the sower provideth the theme of the address. As there are different kinds of soil so there are different ways in which people respond to the word of God. These were placed in four classes: Indifference, shallow enthusiasm, divided attention, wholehearted responsiveness.

The topic, "A Tour Among the Villages of India" was given by Earl Fairman and readings by Jessie Wright and Aylmer Petherick. Interesting features of the meeting were short talks by Gladys Simpson and Verna Barnum on their recent trip to Guelph, where they attended a Women's Institute convention. Miss Simpson led a discussion on social activities when several good points were discussed.

The meeting this week is in charge of the citizenship department and Stewart Carr of Campbellford, member of Older Boys' Parliament for Northumberland, will give an address. The League softball activities will begin at 6.45 p.m. when a game will be played between the Benedicts and Bachelors of the Society. A large crowd is expected to attend this special gathering.

Several young people of the district are afflicted with the malady known as "German Measles." It is fortunately not very serious.

Messrs. Earl Fairman, Wilfred Spencer, and Grenville Meiklejohn motored to Peterboro on Friday evening to attend the showing of George White's "Scandals."

Harold Petherick will be for some time removed from the immediate vicinity as he is assisting Leslie Shillinglaw, cheesemaker at Brae factory.

Mme. Noel Makes STARTLING STATEMENT

3 years of stomach trouble wrecked her health. Reduced to extreme weakness, she tried Tanlac and now enjoys full strength and youthful vigor.

Mme. Ignace Noel, 21 8th Ave. Limoilou, Quebec, is a happy, healthy, woman today. "For 3 whole years," she said, "nervous indigestion caused me a lot of misery. My nerves were on raw edge all the time. My housework was a heavy burden and I was listless and depressed. I grew so nervous the slightest noise upset me. The lightest food caused my stomach to bloat with gas.

"The slightest exertion was a big effort. I couldn't stand those conditions much longer and was getting desperate, for nothing seemed to help. Finally I tried Tanlac and from the very first bottle a marked improvement showed. Normal sleep and appetite returned. Now my digestion is perfect. I took but 4 bottles of Tanlac and to these alone my complete recovery and present robust health are due.'

If you are below par, get a trial bottle today. Tanlac is nature's own remedy made from herbs, roots and barks. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottle already sold.

RAIN DELAYS LATE SEEDING

Grain Already Sown is Doing Well in Burnbrae District.

MILK FLOW INCREASING.

BURNBRAE, May 17.—Frequent and heavy showers this past week have delayed the finish of seeding and farmers with much low land are but little ahead of a week ago. The grain that has been in the ground is making rapid strides and in many cases is up so high that picking stones is out of the question and several fields will be in a somewhat unfinished condition. The hay and clover crop is growing fast and to all appearances the old proverb "Rainy May makes lots of hay" is going to be true again. This spring's seeding of clover is coming much faster than is ordinarily the case. Many farmers have delayed seeding sweet clover until just when the grain is coming up. Then they sow it in by hand and roll the ground. The sweet cover in this way is held back by the grain crop and does not bother at harvesting time.

The flow of milk at the cheese factories is increasing slightly but is only a little over half of last year's production. Many dairymen are still skimming and sending the product to the creamery.

BODY IDENTIFIED.

Participant in Shooting Fray at Sudbury Was Ex-Convict.

SUDBURY, Ont., May 16 (Canadian Press)—The body of the unknown man who figured in the double shooting fatality with Joseph Martel on Thursday was to-day identified as that of John Hudson of Combermere. He served a term at Portsmouth Penitentiary for robbery with violence some time ago.

TWEED NEWS

TWEED, May 17.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Sutherland and Mrs. E. Allen left this week for their new home in Fort Erie. Miss Kathleen Allen will remain here until summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. William Clapp and son, Jack, are visiting with Mr. Percy Clapp of Batavia.

Mr. Fred Alexander, Queen's University, Kingston, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Donnelly.

Mr. Merritt Clarke, Rochester, is spending a few months with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clarke.

Miss Rocolfson, R.N., Fredericton, N.B., spent a few days with Mrs. Percy Badgley while on her way to her home at Galt, Ont.

Mrs. R. Coulter, Toronto, spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. James Lowry.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Towriss have left for Lyndoch. Mr. Towriss was manager of Fawcett's hardware while Mr. Fawcett spent the winter in Florida.

Miss Hilda Stout has resigned her position as chief operator for the Bell Telephone Co. and left for Guelph where she will enter the Homewood Sanitorium as nurse-in-training.

CRUISER SAILS FOR CHINA.

MALTA, May 17.—(United Press.)—The British cruiser Curlew sailed from this Mediteranean station today for China.

LEGION NOTES

A record meeting of the members of the local branch of the Canadian Legion is expected tomorrow night at headquarters, when an address will be delivered by the Provincial Secretary. Preparations will then be launched for the reception of the delegates attending the annual Provincial Convention, which will be held in Peterborough on June 1st, 2nd and 3rd. Most of the delegates are expected to arrive the day previous, as proceedings will commence sharp at 9 a.m. on the opening day of the convention.

It is six years ago since the last convention was held in Peterborough, and it is singularly pleasing that the first annual meeting of the Provincial parliament of the Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L. should be held in this city.

During the last session of Parliament two important amendments were made to the Pension Act following a lengthy debate of the whole pension question in the House of Commons on April 7th. On March 30th Hon. J. H. King, Minister of D.S.C.R. had announced that the Government "did not intend to extend the provisions of the Pension Act by further amendments this year.' Protests from branches of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League and the Ladies' Auxiliaries throughout Canada poured in upon the Government and private members, urging action before the sessions closed. One week later, on April 7th, the Minister introduced an amendment extending the time in which new applications for pensions can be made, and another amendment providing for the right to a second appeal where new evidence is brought forward in support of a claim for pension. These proposals, which subsequently became law, were additional to the announcement that a conference of tuberculosis experts would be called in June under the direction of the D.S.C.R. and would consider all problems relating to tubercular veterans.

Representatives of the Tuberculosis Section of the Legion will appear before the conference and state their needs. The Minister also undertook to effect a consolidation of the Pension Act during the recess of Parliament, and announced that any proposed amendments to the Act would be submitted to a special committee of the House of Commons early during the next session.

The all-important question of pensions and treatment for veterans will occupy considerable time at the convention here in June.

BREACH OF PROMISE ALLEGED BY WOMAN

Toronto Girl Sues Farmer Who Married Another, For $3,000.

TORONTO, May 16 (Canadian Press).—Miss Jessie Murdock of Toronto answered an advertisement in a local newspaper last June and formed an acquaintance with Hubert Meredith, a farmer living near Merrickville. The exchange of correspondence led to an engagement, but in November, after writing a kindly letter to her, he married another woman.

This briefly, was the story told Mr. Justice Smith and a jury in Assizes today, when Miss Murdock brought suit for $3,000 for alleged breach of promise to marry.

In his defence, Meredith denies there was any promise of marriage.

NAME OF COUNTY ON ENGLISH MAIL

British Post Office Officials Ask For Assistance From Writers.

The British Post Office has specially requested that all mail for London should be addressed with the district initial and number, thus: "London S.W. 8," and that mail for other parts of Great Britain and Northern Ireland should have the name of the county included in the address, for instance, Halifax, Yorkshire.

REGISTERED MAIL ALL TO BE TRACED

Post Office Department To Make Enquiry Into Losses of Wreck.

OTTAWA, May 17 (Canadian Press).—A full inquiry respecting the destination of all the registered mail destroyed in the wreck of the Imperial Limited, near Nipigon, early on Sunday morning, is being conducted by the Post Office Department. The investigation will probably take several weeks as the mail coach which was burned to its iron frame, together with its contents, carried registered mail all the way from Vancouver and various points en route.

PINEDO LEAVES CHICAGO TO-DAY

Italian Aviator Hopes To Reach Montreal This Afternoon.

MAKING LONG TRIP.

CHICAGO, May 17. — (Canadian Press).—Commander Francesco De Pinedo, Italian four-continent flier took off from Chicago at 6.58 a.m. today, Chicago daylight saving time, with Montreal as his destination. His plane, Santa Maria Second, rose from Lake Michigan after one attempt a few minutes earlier had been balked by choppy seas.

The Italian airman, who has already flown 40,000 miles in bringing to America the message of Fascism, made Chicago his last stop in the United States and planned to reach Montreal at 3.30 this afternoon.

SEEN OVER LAKE ERIE.

CLEVELAND, May 17.—(Canadian Press.)—A plane identified by observers as that of Francesco De Pinedo, Italian flier, seemingly was somewhere over Lake Erie at mid-day on his flight from Chicago to Montreal.

Picked up by watchers at Bryan and in the north-west corner of Ohio, the course of the plane believed to be his was followed past Toledo and to Vermillion, Ohio, about fifty miles west of here, where it was said to have turned north and disappeared over the lake at 11.26 a.m.

The fact that he turned from his course at Vermillion led to the belief that he was steering a straight course from there to Montreal, directly across the length of the lake.

DOG CARRIED DRUG SUPPLY

Man and Woman Held as Vagrants—Report To Narcotic Office.

FOUND NEAR BRANTFORD.

BRANTFORD, May 17.—Charged with vagrancy and being held for one week at the request of Crown Attorney Charlton, Fred and Nellie Hunt were sent to the local jail yesterday, where they will be examined. Meanwhile a report of the arrest is being sent to the Narcotic Department at Toronto.

The pair were arrested on the Paris Road, complaints having been received that a drunken woman was driving a sedan in a very erratic manner.

On arriving at the station they were searched, and police claim to have found an automatic gun attached to the woman with picture wire, as well as a hypodermic needle.

Further disclosures resulted, it is alleged, when a French poodle, carried by the woman, was taken from her. Underneath a coat worn by the dog there was found a quantity of morphine, police say, and equipment for its administration.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Old Philip Schultz, the beggar, if indeed the pitiful wretch on whom Faith and Bob were spying was Phil the beggar, had evidently suffered a stroke of paralysis, which had cramped his left foot and knee grotesquely, twisted his hip and withered his left arm, which hung useless from the shoulder.

"Poor old devil!" Bob whispered to Faith, a little shame-faced. "So that's the 'murderer' we have been tracking! Pretty poor sleuths, aren't we, honey? He couldn't kill a cat, much less wield that heavy Chinese vase and crack a skull with it."

"Bob, please get out and give him something," Faith pleaded. "I feel like we owe him something for having suspected him."

Bob vaulted willingly out of the car, but before he approached the cripple he stopped at the newsstand run by old Kelly, who had promised to notify Bob immediately if the cripple appeared at his corner.

"Is that Philip Schultz?" Bob asked in a low voice, as he offered three pennies for a paper.

"Yep, that's him all right," the old newsdealer murmured out of the corner of his mouth. "Did you get my message? I sent one of the newsboys to the courthouse at half past ten. Been looking for you."

"No, I didn't get the message," Bob told him.

Faith, watching her sweetheart, was acutely proud of the tall, splendid young body that looked so strong and graceful as it swung up to the grotesque wreck of a man. The beggar bobbed his head for thanks as Hathaway dropped a large coin into the pencil box.

"Why, Bob, what's the matter?" Faith demanded, when Bob was again at the wheel, his face stern and thoughtful.

"It's Phil, all right. Kelly says so, and his metal license tag is hanging on a dirty cord around his neck."

Faith looked and saw the crippled beggar beckoning to a taxi which was cruising past, apparently in search of a fare. The driver of the cab alighted, and almost lifted the horribly twisted body of the beggar into the tonneau of the car.

"I'm going to follow that cab and try to solve at least one phase of the mystery—find out where he lives," Bob said grimly. "Odd that a beggar should travel by taxi.

"I believe he recognized me as the chap who had been on his trail and decided to beat it before I called a cop," Bob told her rapidly as he shifted gears. "Someone in Peach Tree Hollow may have tipped him off that I've been making inquiries for him.

"Memorize the number of that cab!" Bob commanded Faith grimly.

Twice during the next few blocks Faith and Bob were sure they had caught sight of the cab. It proved a real will o' the wisp, but at last, about ten blocks from the corner of Main and Columbus, a clear half block granted them a convincing view of the pursued cab, which, as they drew up close behind it, pulled up to the curb before a tall office building to discharge a passenger.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PROUD SNAIL.

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Once upon a time Uncle Wiggily hopped down to the end of his carrot garden, where a little brook kept the ground moist for the vegetables to grow, and there, on the path, the rabbit gentleman saw a snail slowly crawling along with his house on his back.

I mean the snail had his own house of shell upon his own back. I didn't mean that the slow, crawling creature was carrying Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. Gracious, no! That would be too much. But many snails who live in shells have this house fastened to their back so they must carry it with them wherever they go. And when danger seems to threaten a snail he just pulls his head, horns and body into his shell, as a mud turtle does, and nothing can harm him. Unless, indeed, his shell is crushed.

What's that? You didn't know a snail had horns? Oh, yes they do, but not horns like a cow. The horns of a snail are really two long rods, or feelers, and on the end of each horn is an eye. Thus raising his eyes above him, the crawling snail can see where he is going.

"Good morning, Mr. Slump," Uncle Wiggily politely called to the snail. "And how are you this bright, beautiful day?"

To the rabbit gentleman's surprise, Mr. Slump, which was the snail's name, kept on crawling, with his shell on his back and his long eye feelers held well up in the air, looking neither to right nor left.

"I guess Mr. Slump must be getting deaf," said Uncle Wiggily. Then the rabbit called more loudly: "Good day to you, my crawling friend!"

But Mr. Slump never answered, and then from the weeds beside the garden path another snail slowly spoke, saying:

"Don't mind him, Uncle Wiggily. He is so proud he will speak to none of us now, and he won't even notice you. Let him go his way! He is a proud snail!"

With that another of the little creatures, with his shell house on his back, crawled out on the path.

"Oh, good-morning, Mr. Glump!" Uncle Wiggily greeted this snail. "And why is Mr. Slump so proud?" asked the rabbit for the other crawler was out of sight now in the tall grass.

"Slump is proud because he thinks he is the fastest snail in the garden," answered Mr. Glump. "The other day he crawled over the gravel hill and back again in fifteen hours ten minutes three and four-fifth seconds. He says it's a record and he's so proud of it he won't notice any of us now. He says if we want to travel with or talk to him we must go out and get a reputation.'

"What does Mr. Slump, the proud snail mean?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, he wants some of us other snails to crawl faster than he does," went on Mr. Glump. "If any of us could crawl over the hill and back here again in less than fifteen hours, it would take all the pride out of him," sighed the other snail. "But we are all too slow. Slump has been practising for years to go so fast over the gravel hill and back. None of us can hope to do it as well as he can, so he will be proud all his life I guess."

"Now look here!" spoke Uncle Wiggily, scratching his pink nose with a blade of grass. "If there was some way of one of you snails beating Mr. Slump's time over the hill, it would take his pride down; wouldn't it?"

"Oh, yes," agreed Mr. Glump. "But none of us can. Why it is more than twenty feet over the hill and back again—an enormous distance. It would take me twenty hours at least, and I am considered next to Slump in speed. No, I guess none of us can ever beat him," and the snail sighed. "He will keep on being proud and speaking to none of us."

"That is all nonsense!" declared Uncle Wiggily. "That trip over the hill and back—hardly twenty feet—isn't anything."

"Not for you, but it is for us snails," said Mr. Glump. "Oh, I guess we shall have to let Slump keep on being proud."

"No! Not so!" cried Uncle Wiggily in a ringing voice. "We must take his pride down! Listen! I have a plan! Meet me here to-morrow morning," went on the rabbit, whispering, "and we shall play a trick on Slump to make him less proud. Now hush! Not another word. But be here in the morning!"

"I will!" promised Mr. Glump in a low voice. "But what are you going to do to take away Slump's pride?"

"You shall see," was all Mr. Longears would answer as he hopped away, twinkling his pink nose.

Two Egyptian figures, one red and one green, join hands to make the little hat pin shown above, and a solitary red figure is used as a pendant for the bracelet to be worn with the pin. A hat pin with a pendant that gives the effect of a lone earring is shown in the center and at the left a hat pin consisting of large gold balls worn with a bag with the same sort of gold balls forming the fastening. The jabot pin shown on the figure is of turquoise and rhinestones, and just to the left of this is a pendant of onyx and aquamarine that is sewn to the gown.

The man or woman who—in dim ages past—made the first pair of earrings was doubtless looked upon as a bold and daring innovator—a person of imagination and inspiration. So, too, was the man or woman who invented nose rings—but nose rings have gone out of fashion, save among a small minority hardly worth considering—while earrings have persisted all down the centuries. We sometimes forget that there ever was anything new or daring about these long established sorts of jewelry—earrings, bracelets, finger rings, brooches. We think of them as having been worn since the days of Eden, and we are a bit amazed when jewelers depart from these age-old devices and show us ornaments that are new and original.

The successful jewelry designer nowadays must do more than study the ornaments of the past. He must be an inventor in his way as well as an artistic workman. Within a generation or so we have had a number of very important innovations in the way of jewelry. Of them all there is none other so important as the screw earring that has practically ousted the old-time pierce earring.

And now we have earrings that neither pierce nor screw, but hang from the side of the hat—as a sort of pendant to the metal or jeweled hat ornament. The inventor of this is to all intents as unknown as the prehistoric inventor of the original earring, but he too possessed originality and a dash of daring. Another innovation recently seen was a powder compact made to be held in the buttonhole, serving not only its usual purpose as first aid to the complexion, but as a boutonniere besides.

Among other novelties in present-day jewelry might be mentioned leather bracelets shown by one of the Paris dressmakers to be worn with sports frocks, jeweled bracelets offered by O'Rossen of Paris to be worn over the coat sleeve, ornamental "pendants" which are really not pendants at all, but which are sewn to the frock by the dressmaker, brooches of rhinestones and other more or less precious stones made especially to be worn with the newly revived jabot.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

Wednesday, May 18, 1927.

(Copyright, 1927, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Sinister stars dominate to-day, according to astrology, which finds the planetary aspects decidedly adverse.

This is a time to pursue beaten paths and to maintain mental poise, an opportunity to take stock of one's mental and physical conditions.

The total eclipse of the sun, June 29, which will affect Wales, England, Scandinavia and Siberia, is read as most threatening. It is the first total obscuring of the principal luminary from English eyes for more than two centuries.

The seers read the eclipse as presaging tremendous gains on the part of revolutionists.

An epidemic of measles, smallpox, fevers and diphtheria is prognosticated for Great Britain.

Austria comes under an unfavorable sway in midsummer which may be serious in results, it is foretold.

Paris, Rome, Belgrade and Warsaw may be gravely affected by the Sun's eclipse.

Mars is still in an aspect sadly affecting Ireland and England where there will be an even greater tendency toward dissensions of serious import.

Labor trouble and strikes, which will develop in various quarters, may cause widespread anxiety, it is foretold.

One strike of far-reaching effects is indicated and it may be the means of ending this form of contest between capital and labor.

Warning is given that many nervous diseases may be prevalent and for that reason mental control should be sought.

The seers foretell a period of new beauty culture in which the wrinkles in the disposition will be erased and the blemishes in character will be carefully treated.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a quiet year in which they will win great success.

Children born on this day probably will be kindly and optimistic in nature and more successful in employment than in independent enterprises.

One of the most successful detectives in the world is a London woman whose services have been enlisted by Scotland Yard on more than one occasion. During the nearly 20 years that this woman has followed her unusual profession her work has carried her to nearly all parts of the world.

BUILDS PROPELLERLESS AIRSHIP

An amazing propellerless all-metla airship is being built by Thomas Benton Slate, well-known engineer, at the Glendale airport, California, according to "Popular Science Monthly." Planned on an entirely new principle, it will be neither pushed nor pulled through the air, but will "float" by air pressure from behind. A radial blower in the ship's nose will create in effect a vacuum in front of the dirigible, air pressure from behind constantly urging the ship forward into this vacuum. The power plant comprises two turbines.

MINERS BOYCOTT LOCAL FAIR

When miners boycotted the recent annual show, or fair, at Wollongong, by calling it "black," members of the Ministry of New South Wales who have been asked to open the event, declined to do so and two labor members for the district failed to attend for a similar reason. It was the first time in the history of the annual agricultural show that no members of Parliament were present at the official ceremony. The mayor of Wollongong presided at the opening, and appealed to the people to support it. The miners boycotted the fair because admission fees had been raised.

SAFEGUARDING MILK BY PASTEURIZATION

3rd.—The albumen does not coagulate at 145 degrees F., but at 150 degrees F. 5.75 per cent. of the albumen is rendered insoluble. As the temperature increases the amount of coagulated albumen increases, so that at 155 degrees F. the quantity increases to 12.75 per cent., and at 160 degrees F. the amount coagulated is increased to 30.78 per cent.

4th.—The time required for coagulating the casein by rennin is slightly less in milk pasteurized up to 140 degrees F. than it is in raw milk. At 150 degrees F. there is a slight retardation, while at 167 degrees the time is almost doubled.

5th.—The acidity as determined by titration is slightly diminished in pasteurized milk.

In Report No. 17 of the British Ministry of Health, issued in 1923, on public health and medical subjects, we find under the title, "Notes on pasteurization of milk," the following significant statements:

"When milk is pasteurized at a temperature of 145 degrees Fahrenheit, for thirty minutes, no appreciable change takes place in the milk proteins. The soluble calcium and magnesium phosphates in the milk do not become insoluble or separate out when the milk is pasteurized at the aforesaid temperature for thirty minutes. This treatment has, furthermore, only a slight effect upon the enzymes which may be present in the milk."

The British Ministry of Health further states: "The problem, therefore, arises, as to how such milk can best be rendered safe for the consumer, and its keeping qualities maintained so that it will remain fresh and sweet for a reasonable time after delivery, without at the same time unduly increasing its cost or materially altering its nutritive value. This problem can be solved by pasteurization."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By ROBERT F. FOSTER.

(Copyright 1927 by Robert F. Foster.)

THE PARTNER'S ASSISTS

Having settled upon some system that will g vern the opening bid upon any hand that may fall to the player's lot there are two situations that may arise. One is where the second hand puts in a bid that overc lls or doubles and the other is wher second hand passes. This takes us across the table to the partner of the first bidder who must determine what he is going to do.

We have already seen that after two passes the dealer's partner would require at least a trick more than would be enough for a dealer because he has a partner whose weakness in high cards is announced. Third hand should also have three suits stopped or six tricks if he has only two stopped. After three passes fourth hand should be cautious about reopening the bidding as game is extremely doubtful and penalties may be severe.

For the sake of clearness in defining the relative positions of the players in what follows we shall call the player who makes a free bid the "dealer" whether he is the actual dealer or second hand and his partner we shall always call the "partner."

If one is accustomed to auction one must keep constantly in mind the difference between the two games in the matter of having to bid game in order to win game. When second hand passes up the dealer's bid at auction it is quite unnecessary for the partner to say anything if the bid suits him unless he is so strong that he is anxious to warn the dealer not to shift because it does not matter how cheaply they get the contract they score toward game every trick they make over the book.

The "Jump Assist."

Since free bids on four-card suits have come into vogue there are some players who believe in what is called the "jump assist." This is increasing the bid even when second hand passes in order to show unusual trump holding As we shall see presently the partner is expected to have what is called "normal" trump assistance which is three. But if he has four or more trumps and a strong assisting hand elsewhere he jumps the bid to show the dealer that even if he is bidding on only four cards he will find at least four in the dummy. This jump assist is never made without the extra trump length at auction.

In contract it is most important for the partner to advance the contract far enough to win game regardless of any unusual trump holding which is often possible if there is a partial score. If he passes and fourth hand says nothing a chance for game may be missed.

This brings us to the consideration of how the partner shall estimate the trick-taking value of his hand taking it in connection with the dealer's bid.

In the first place he counts all combinations of high cards at their double value except in the suits named by the dealer or by second hand if any. It is important to remember that if the dealer bids a heart and second hand two clubs the high cards in both hearts and clubs fall to their normal value in the hand of the partner.

The same is true for the dealer's cards if the partner denies the suit. If the dealer bids a heart on ace-king to five and the partner denies heart assistance with two clubs the ace-king of hearts are worth two only not four.

The partner must never forget that many free bids are made on the minimum of four tricks but the contract is to win seven; therefore the dealer expects to find three in the dummy which gives us the first rule that governs assists:—

Three of the tricks in the partner's hand are included in the dealer's bid and must never be counted or bid over again.

What You Should Have.

In order to increase the dealer's bid the partner should have at least four tricks in his hand counting both high cards in suits other than trumps usually called "plain suits" and any superfluous trumps or any uses to which trumps can be put such as "ruffing" (trumping) a plain suit.

Four tricks justifies one assist.

Five tricks two assists.

Six tricks three assists and so on.

By "assists" is meant raising the contract a trick. If the dealer bids one heart and partner holds three assists he should advance the contract to four hearts at once. In auction he would advance it only one trick but would go on if that was overcalled by an adversary not otherwise. We shall see presently what the partner would do if the dealer "rebids" his hand; that is advances his own bid if it is overcalled when partner passes.

The high cards being counted according to the table of Double Valuations already given we shall turn attention to the trump suit; that is the suit proposed by the dealer.

Probably the most difficult part of the game for the partner is leading up to a slam contract. Suppose the dealer bids two hearts unopposed and you have raised to four. If the dealer goes to five such a bid is not only useless but loses points unless you can go to six.

If instead of bidding five hearts the dealer shifts to five clubs he does so in order to inform you of the exact location of his outside sure trick. Then if you cannot go to six you must return to hearts.

Another point is showing that your assist is on ability to trump an adverse suit or a missing suit. Suppose the dealer bids spades the adversaries hearts and you go to four spades they to five hearts your double means you have no hearts and can trump them.

You deal and bid two spades adversary three hearts your partner four spades. Then you bid five clubs and your partner five hearts (or diamonds.) That means he has none of that suit and can trump it.

SPRINTER USES UP NINE HORSEPOWER

Electrical Timing Necessary as Runners Near Human Speed Limit.

When Charles W. Paddock, the California sprinter, famous as "the fastest human," not so long ago ran 100 yards in 9.5 seconds, he established an American record, clipping one-tenth of a second off the mark set by Arthur Duffy a quarter of a century ago. To do that, Paddock had to run at an average speed, pistol to tape, of 10½ yards a second. In his stride, he must have been stepping about 12 yards a second—which means that he was traveling at the lively rate of 24½ miles an hour.

Is that the speed limit, or close to the speed limit, of the human runner?

Has stern and inflexible Nature established speed laws which even the greatest of athletes may not break?

Science is answering these questions, writes Arthur Grahame in the June Popular Science Monthly. Prof. A. V. Hill, noted English physiologist and winner of the Nobel prize in medicine in 1922, has perfected a method by which he can measure accurately the characteristics of an athlete in respect to expenditure of energy and calculate his speed for a given distance. His studies of the effects on the human mechanism of violent effort and of fatigue, in conjunction with an ingenious timing method, may result in proving that in some of the shorter running events the best athletes have come so close to the human speed limit that future record breaking is likely to be in hundredths, rather than fifths or tenths of a second.

Professor Hill has been conducting his experiments on a small outdoor training track at Cornell University, where he has been a non-resident lecturer in chemistry. The experiments showed that with all sprinters examined it took, at the start, about one tenth of a second for the runner to flash the order "go!" from his mind to his muscles. A runner who did sixty yards in 7.56 seconds reached maximum speed at some moment between twenty and thirty yards, which seemed to be the case with all sprinters.

"A runner," Professor Hill explained, "is subject to a retarding influence proportional to his velocity. The faster he runs, the greater the resistance he must overcome. The sprinter who ran sixty yards in 7.56 seconds exerted a constant force of about eighty per cent of his body weight. He started with an initial acceleration equal to four-fifths of gravity. In running 100 yards he would do work equal to that required to lift his body 240 feet in the air.

"A sprinter capable of running 100 yards in record time would perform work equal to that required to lift himself 300 feet or more in the air. In running 100 yards in ten seconds a man uses nine horsepower of energy."

This tremendous expenditure of energy supplies scientific basis for the belief, expressed by many prominent track coaches, that when the present sprint records are beaten, it will be by fractions of a second so small that they can be recorded only by electrical timing apparatus.

TYPICAL EXAMPLES OF FINE WESTERN HOME

By H. H. Simmonds, Architect

For those who prefer the modified Colonial design for a home of generous accommodation and have the means to contract for a house of the better class on a good sized lot, this dignified residence recently erected in the exclusive Shaughnessy Heights residential section of Vancouver, B.C., will have a particular appeal.

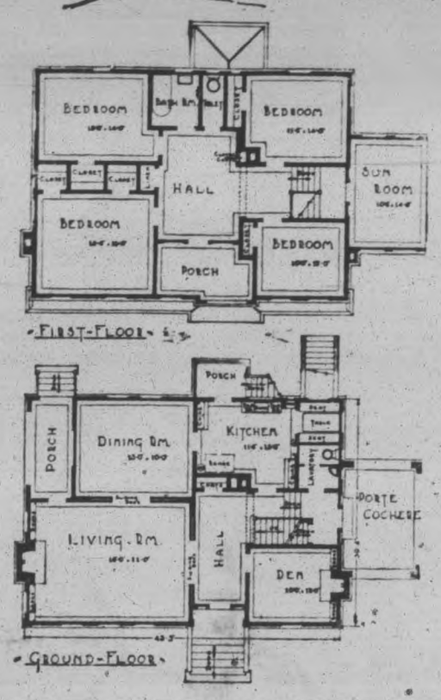
This is a structure that will cost between $10,000 and $11,000 according to existing Canadian material and labor prices. It probably could be built in some of the eastern centres for about $9,500.

The pleasing design and compactness of this house comprise its strongest appeal. In size, the building is 30 feet 9 inches by 43 feet 3 inches.

The ground floor plan provides for the usual large living room with open fireplace, and sliding doors connecting with a dining room of generous dimensions, off which is a small porch. The main entrance hall ends in a convenient clothes closet while on the right is a cosy den which can be combined with a library, as bookcases are provided for on each side of the fireplace. The kitchen plans provide for a very convenient and practical layout of the necessary modern culinary and household equipment, while the popular breakfast nook has not been overlooked.

The four bedrooms on the upper floor provide for accommodation for a good sized family as well as a maid's room, while the sleeping porch and balcony is a combination that would make an especial appeal in any locality where the summer nights are warm.

Readers desiring further information regarding the plans and specifications of this house should communicate with the architect direct. Address H. H. Simmonds, Vancouver, B.C. Copyright 1927, MacLean Building Reports Limited.



READS THE OLDEST BOOK

Aided by a sharp chisel, Dr. H. Lutz of the University of California has just finished reading the oldest book known to man. The task has taken him twenty years. The chisel was necessary because the "book" is a series of clay tablets, about the size of a pocket notebook, each incased in a baked clay sheath, which had to be chipped away by the sharp tool.

Dating from a period between 2,000 and 2,500 years before Christ, the book, says Popular Science Monthly for June, is part of the records of the little-known Hittite Empire, and explains hitherto baffling mysteries of ancient civilization.

The tablets were dug up in the ruins of the Hittite capital, near Angora, Turkey, with other letters and documents, all inscribed on sunbaked clay and filed away just as a modern business firm keeps its records. The writing was done while the clay was soft. When a tablet was to be sent any distance, powder was sprinkled over the text and the tablet wrapped in a soft, wet, clay "envelope." The powder prevented sticking, and the recipient broke off the clay wrapper with a thin chisel.

The text, as Dr. Lutz found it under the clay envelopes, was in the cuneiform or wedge-shaped characters of ancient writings. Once natives of the country known as Hatti, now modern Turkey, the Hittites are disclosed by Dr. Lutz's translation as a sort of "missing link" between Babylonian and Greek culture. Such Biblical tales as those of Moses, Saul and David, as well as the legends of the Iliad and the Odyssey, the origins of which have long been a mystery, are revealed by the tablets to have come down to us from the Babylonians and Chaldeans through the Hittites.

RUBBER CHEMISTRY WORKS MAGIC

The world owes a billion dollars a year to chemistry in the rubber industry alone, according to Dr. W. C. Geer, one of America's foremost rubber experts. This billion, he declares in Popular Science Monthly, is represented in the production of better rubber by speedier processes. Our automobile tires, golf balls, garden hose and rubber gloves last twice or three times as long as they used to. New chemical processes have almost entirely cured the tendency of rubber articles to become hard and dry with age. In fact, but for the chemists, adds Dr. Geer, the world's supply of rubber would have been exceeded long ago by the demand.

MARRIED YESTERDAY

A smart event in St. Patrick's Church, Montreal, on May 16, was the marriage of Miss Kathleen Doherty, daughter of the Right Hon. C. J. Doherty and Mrs. Doherty, to Mr. George Gonthier of Ottawa, Auditor-General of Canada.

TWO NATIONAL PARKS

Jasper National Park, Alberta, is a magnificent natural playground, 4400 square miles in extent, located in the heart of the most scenic regions of the Canadian Rockies, and set aside by the Dominion Government for the enjoyment of the people for all time. Towering snow-crowned peaks (such as Mount Edith Cavell), magnificent mountain ranges, pierced by the beautiful valley of the Athabaska River, and in the centre of it all, Jasper Park Lodge, a wonderful hostelry with every comfort of a modern hotel—such is Jasper National Park.

Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming, U.S.A., which has been fittingly named "Nature's Show Window" is a park which, in the variety of its attractions and diversity of natural phenomena, has no rival. Geysers, hot and boiling springs, prismatic pools, multi-colored paint pots, tinted terraces, and the awe-inspiring mighty canyon of the Yellowstone River—all have been described many times, but they must still be seen to be appreciated.

These two parks, and many other wonderful scene, will be enjoyed by the members of the Kerr-Bryson Western Tour, which leaves Toronto via Canadian National Railways July 2, 1927. The trip is fully described in the handsomely illustrated booklet which may be had on request to any Agent of the Canadian National Railways or to Martin Kerr, B.A., 4 Beulah Ave., Hamilton, or Mr. A. E. Bryson, 44 Silverthorn Ave., Toronto.

HEARTBEAT LIKE CANNON'S BOOM

Two hundred medical students at the University of Pennsylvania recently had the startling experience of hearing patients' heartbeats at a distance of ten feet come to them like the booming of distant cannon. The sound was made audible, says Popular Science Monthly, by a wonderful new electric stethoscope capable of magnifying heart noises 500,000,000,000 times! If the energy of a pocket flashlight could be magnified to the same extent, it would develop more horsepower than all the electric generating plants in the world.

LIMIT FINGER BOWLS.

LONDON, May . —When the King and Queen of Great Britain dine at the homes of friends the royal couple are the only ones provided with finger bowls. The custom dates back to the time of King George II., when the guests passed their hands over their finger bowls when they drank to "the King," signifying that they drank to the Stuart "king over the water," and not to George. He decreed that no guests other than the king and queen might have finger bowls.

Emphasize Alleged Brutality of Raid—Protest in Prospect.

MOSCOW, Russia, May 17 (Canadian Press).—With early delivery of a Soviet note of protest to Great Britain in prospect, the Moscow newspapers continue to print derogatory articles against Great Britain, rehearsing at length all the details of the raid on Soviet House in London, emphasizing its alleged brutality and analyzing its probable motives.

MELTING POTS GET 'EM.

GOVERNMENT PAYS THINKERS.

To obtain greater efficiency in its postal department the Australian Government is extending its system of granting bonuses to employees for suggestions leading to economies of time and money. Heretofore suggestions have been handled in each state by a committee that passed its recommendations for reward to the central office in Melbourne. Ideas now are being submitted direct to Melbourne, and already an average of 50 suggestions a week are being received. Awards are based on the amount of thinking done by the employee and in proportion to the savings effected. If a suggestion results from an officer's experience in his ordinary duties the reward is not so great as it is for a man who has had no similar opportunity of gaining inspiration, and thus displays greater initiative.

The "Green Envelope"

Thousands of them came to Peterborough parents and sweethearts during the war—and what treasures they were! Treasured at home for what they contained and appreciated at the front because in them a fellow could say what he wished without fear that his regimental officers would read.

What stories they brought—many of them were printed in The Examiner during the war! All the romance and adventure were there—but very little of the mud and blood.

Paul Adams does not have to use green envelopes, but what he puts in the white ones he uses is just as interesting as we used to get—he tells about the front as it is today and recalls old times—old places—old comrades. Turn to Page 2.

Mining Shares Steady; Trading Is Brisk To-day

TORONTO, May 17. — (Canadian Press.)— Prices were steady on the standard mining exchange to-day, with gains and losses being equally distributed over the list. Trading was fairly brisk, sales being close to half a million shares. Argonaut Consolidated declined 1-2 at 49, Area was up one at 29 1-2 ,Atlas was up 1-8 at 5 7-8, and Barry Hollinger declined 1-4 at 31 1-4. Bidgood gained 1 1-2 at 11 3-4 and Duprat was up 1-4 at 8 3-4. Kirkland Hunton gained 2 1-2 at 25 while Kirkland Lake declined six at 139. Laval, Quebec, was up 1-2 at 24 1-2, Macassa gained four at 37 ,and Potter Doal declined two at 25 1-2. The new Wright Hargreaves declined fifteen at 605.

Many Shares Move Up On Wall Street Exchange

NEW YORK, May 17.—(Canadian Press.)— One of the most comprehensive buying movements in recent weeks took place in to-day's market with more than 100 issues selling one to five points above yesterday's final quotations. Easier money rates, despite the calling of about $10,000,000 additional in loans and the unexpected decrease in brokers' loans last week, provided the background for the advance.

Special buying again developed in the railroad group. The demand for the Van Sweringen issues reflected hopes of the Inter-state Commerce Commission's approval of the revised merger plan, while the brisk accumulation of the Western Maryland issues was based on unconfirmed rumors of buying for the account of the New York Central and Baltimore and Ohio roads. About a dozen specialties sold at new high levels for a year or longer. The list included such diversified shares as Worthington Pump, Purity Baking 'B,' Simmons Corporation, American Sugar preferred, Electric Auto Lite, Eureka Vacuum ,and Liggett and Myers 'B.'

Oils developed a firm undertone. The sharp rise in the Pipe Line shares apparently had a sympathetic effect on the steels. Railroad Equipments were whirled upward as a result of the $7,000,000 order placed by Erie Railroad yesterday.

Wheat and Corn Rally After Opening Weakness

CHICAGO, May 17 (Canadian Press).—Wheat and corn rallied quickly today from an initial downturn. Buying of wheat was associated with reports that Kansas as a whole is likely to raise less wheat than last year. Opening ⅛ to ¾ cent off, wheat later hovered around yesterday's finish. Corn paralleled the action of wheat, starting ½ to ⅝ cent down, and after a little additional sag recovering about in full. Oats were draggy. Provisions inclined downward.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 139¾, July 134⅝. Corn, May 83½, July 87⅝. Oats, May 48, July 48⅛.

Distillery Shares Among Leaders Of Toronto Market

TORONTO, May 17. — Canadian Press. — To-day's trading on the Toronto stock exchange was of little interest. The market was decidedly listless, and only two or three major isues were dealt in to any extent. As usual, International Nickle, Seagrams, Gooderham and Worts, and Hiram Walker's, were the features.

Nickel gained 1-8 at 58 3-8; Seagrams dropped ½ at 27½; Gooderham and Worts was unchanged at 79, and Walkers gained 52 1-8; Massey-Harris common was 1-8 lower at 36, and Davies 'A' lost ½ at 41½.

Wrangling at Meals Cause of Dyspepsia

TO EAT in a congenial atmosphere is to insure better digestion. Contention and wrangling cause dyspepsia. Under such conditions, one does not relax, and relaxation is the prime requisite for good digestion. Various kinds of mental states have a marked reflex influence on the motor and secretory functions of the intestinal tract through the nervous system. In other words, the process of digestion is greatly affected by the state of mind. Nervousness, excitement, apprehension, worry and general disorder may inhibit the normal functions of the stomach, intestines and other digestive organs. Or, on the other hand, they may stimulate them to an excessive degree. It is a well-known fact that hyperacidity, diarrhea and colitis (inflammation of the large intestine) are influenced by the state of mind. In the light of all this, it is wise to observe the following precautions:

1. Lie down and relax for ten or fifteen minutes before a meal. 2. Do not discuss family or business affairs at the dining table. For conversation, pleasantries about the food and other light topics are safest. 3. See to it that the atmosphere is congenial while eating.

Diet to Aid Digestion

BREAKFAST: Stewed unsweetened fruit; eggs, poached, soft cooked or scrambled soft without grease; dark bread toasted with butter; cocoa, chocolate or a coffee substitute. DINNER: Soup; toast; baked apple with cream, a fruit pudding, tapioca or gelatin; glass of milk or cocoa or chocolate. SUPPER: Broiled lean meat, chicken or fish; any two of the following: spinach, string beans, baked potato, green peas, beets, turnips, carrots, squash; dark bread toasted; for dessert, fruit or a gelatin pudding; coffee substitute.

NURSES GIVEN DIPLOMAS ON

Dobbin; from St. Luke's Church, Mr. J. J. Turner; from St. James' United Church, Mr. Thomas Brown; from Knox United Church, Mr. H. J. McCannon. The Mayor of the city, at present Dr. W. T. Holloway, is also a member of the Board. Mr. Richard Hall has been chairman since its inception and takes an active interest still in its affairs, and Mr. John Crane is its secretary.

Mr. Fowler spoke of the additions to the Nurses' quarters, made during the past year, and of the plans of the Board to submit a proposition to the ratepayers shortly, with regard to an extension to the Hospital itself. He concluded with an expression of appreciation from the Board, the superintendent and the nurses to the audience for their presence in such large numbers.

Rev. J. E. Todd

A pleasing, inspirational address, brief and to the point, was given by Rev. J. E. Todd, pastor of George Street United Church. "Our contribution to life," he said, "must either enrich or impoverish it, and the nursing profession is one that is bound to enrich life. I am delighted to see you here tonight, at the conclusion of the task you set yourselves to do. One of the greatest handicaps in life is the failure to bring to any kind of a satisfactory conclusion something that we started in a fit of enthusiasm. One of the saddest things in life is our lack of determination in bringing about the satisfactory ending of something we have embarked upon, and I would like to congratulate you tonight on the successful conclusion of your efforts. Edgar Guest has said that anyone who wishes to amount to anything in this world must commit himself or herself to a task and do so with the will to carry it through. There must have been many dark hours in your years of training when you felt discouraged and disheartened at your task, and wished you could quit, but, once having set your hands to the plough, you went through to the end.

"In this materialistic age, it is no exaggeration to say that you have adopted a high and holy calling. We are apt nowadays to tabulate and measure and size up nearly everything by a foot-rule or by the dollar sign, but the doctors and nurses and superintendents of the Nicholls Hospital cannot be tagged and labelled in either way. We are apt also to place on a lower plane the doing of mere physical tasks ,but in my reading of the Bible, I have noticed that Christ brought to the healing of the sick bodies of His people just as much enthusiasm and consecration as He did to the curing of their souls."

Rev. Mr. Todd finished with an expression of thanks to the staff and nurses of the Nicholls Hospital, for the unfailing courtesy and kindness extended to him on occasions when he visited the sick there.

Presentation of Diplomas.

While the audience stood, Mr. Fowler read the Affirmation to the nurses, who repeated it after him in clear voices, and he also presented them with their diplomas, tied with the Hospital colors of gold and purple.

The graduation medals were pinned on by Mrs. E. M. Leeson, superintendent, who, with the assistant superintendent, Miss Elleda Walsh, had charge of the nurses. The address to the graduates was then given by Dr. C. B. Waite, who outlined for them the qualities necessary for a successful carrying on of the work of nursing. He adjured them to be cheerful, as a pleasant smile was often as efficacious as a dose of medicine, to be patient, even though sufferers from long illnesses were often hard to manage and serve, to keep constant control of their tempers, even though "the doctors are sometimes hard to get along with," to be diplomatic with varying types of patients, to soothe the nervous patient and encourage the apathetic case, and to practise faithfulness and devotion to duty at all times. "Do not be too prone to criticize the physician," he went on, finishing with advice as to neatness in the sick room, and in personal appearance, and care for her own health by the nurse.

Prizes for Proficiency.

The presentation of prizes for proficiency was then carried out, Mr. Fowler presenting Miss Daisy Metcalfe, R. R. No. 2, Peterborough, with the first prize of $25, and Miss Helen Mae Russell of Napanee, with the second award of $15, both presented by the Trustee Board of the Hospital.

The prize for Proficiency in the Intermediate Class, a ten dollar gold piece, was won by Miss Bessie Reynolds of Bowmanville, and was awarded by the Medical Staff of the Hospital.

The prizes for Bandaging, awarded by the Trustee Board to the Junior Class, were presented by Dr. J. A Morgan, woh remarked on the proficiency in bandaging exhibited by every member of the class, and were won by Miss Pearl Finnie of South Monaghan, receiving a fountain pen and pencil set, and Miss Mary McCormack, of Peterborough, winner of a fountain pen.

Mr. E. B. Fowler concluded the programme by a sincere vote of thanks to all taking part in the evening's programme, to the assisting artists, and to Miss Mabel Clarry, organists, who played for the vocal numbers of the evening. Miss Alma Blanchard, contralto, sang, "Where My Caravan has rested;" Miss Margaret Dickson, soprano, gave three numbers: "A Brown Bird Singing," "The Song of the Thrush," and a lullaby in "Rockaby Land," and Mr. J W. Bryan, tenor, sang "Absent," and "Danny Boy." The vocal numbers were delivered in splendid style, and received hearty encores in every instance.

The graduates of this year, six in number, are Miss Daisy Metcalfe, R. R. No. 2, Peterborough; Miss Helen Mae Russell, of Napanee; Miss Mabel Watson of Peterborough; Miss Thelma Mae Wood, of Fraserville; Miss Lillian G. Edmison, R. R. No. 2, Peterborough, and Miss Edith A. White, Maitland avenue, Peterborough.

SALARY OF TWO CENTS.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 16. — For two cents a week, Howell J. Davis, local business man, recently acted as city manager in the absence of Louis Brownlow, who went to Johns Hopkins Hospital for treatment.

WHERE LABOR FAILED.

HUGE ARMADA TO CARRY KING

squadron of forty-nine vessels be built to escort the King. Each Spanish province would raise funds by means of celebrations, bull fights and tombolas to build one ship which would carry the name of the province. The construction of forty-nine ships would greatly remedy the current labor crisis. A fiftieth vessel would be constructed with funds provided by Spaniards living in North and South America.

That vessel, to be named America, would carry the King and his party.

Many details remain to be considered, for instance, the appointment of some kind of regency during the King's absence. King Alfonso's desire to go is undeniable.

He was recently quoted as having said, "America, spiritually, is a prolongation of Spain."

The King would have visited the new world long ago, probably in 1920, but was obliged to cancel his plans because of domestic considerations.

SHE FOOLS DOCTORS.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 14. — After lying in a hospital for six months, paralzed from the waist down by a bullet which severed her spinal column, a woman now is on the road to recovery. Physicians operated at the time, but expected her death within a few days. They say there is no similar case on record.

LEVEE BREAKS NEAR MELVILLE

Residents of Town Forced To Flee Before Flood Waters.

GAP 800 FEET WIDE.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 17 (Canadian Press).—Reports that the main levee at Melville, La., on the west bank of the Atchafalaya River, broke to-day and that residents were forced to flee were received here to-day. The information came from the telephone operator at Melville, who stated that virtually everything in the town was destroyed.

Melville lies about 130 miles northwest of New Orleans, and is on the opposite shore of the river from the Crescent City.

The levee was from fifteen to eighteen feet high, and John M. Parker, State flood director, was advised that two hours after the break which came about six a.m., the crevasse had widened to 800 feet. Confidence was expressed here that no lives had been lost.

HUNG UP HIS WIFE.

CHICAGO, May 14.—Being hung up on the wall like an overcoat was too much for Eleanor Benafield, so she sought a divorce. Her husband, she said, had a playful habit of tieing her arms over a coathanger and then hoisting her to an iron hook where he would let her hang until he decided to let her down. Eleanor got the divorce.

OVERSEAS OFFICER.

Lieut.-Col. Charles Edward Bent, C.M.G., D.S.O., who took part in the parade, to deposit the old colors of the 48th Highlanders of Canada in St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, on Sunday. Colonel Bent, who is a Nova Scotian, commanded the 15th Battalion, 48th Highlanders of Canada, in France and Germany, for over three years. He was famous throughout the corps for his gallantry in action and his fearlessness under fire. He was badly wounded at Amiens, while directing the men on August 9, 1918, in their attack from the Sunken Road, south of Caix.

MISS MACPHAIL SUPPORTS CUT

Appears Before Tariff Board Asking Decrease in Utensil Tariff.

BURDEN ON FARM WOMEN.

OTTAWA, May 17 (Canadian Press).—Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., appeared before the Tariff Board today as the champion of the farm woman. "To be the most widely known woman in Canada has its disadvantages," began Miss MacPhail rather ruefully, adding with obvious reference to criticism of her letter on China, "and other women ought to be glad they haven't had to endure it lately."

Miss MacPhail was supporting an application by R. J. Deachman for reduction in the tariff on kitchen utensils. She urged that the tariff on kitchen utensils meant an additional burden for the farm woman.

Queen Mary Hospital Report Shows Decrease During Month.

HEALTH BOARD MEETS.

At the meeting of the Board of Health this morning the City Engineer was instructed to report whether a sewer could be laid on Benson Street, from Antrim to Smith Streets.

The report of Queen Mary Hospital showed only two patients in the hospital on the first of May. On April first there were six patients in the hospital, all suffering from smallpox. During the month three were admitted, six discharged, and one died.

Several complaints were received from property holders who have been ordered to put in sanitary conveniences, and in these cases the Board either stood by its ruling or asked that an inspection be made. Several

LOCK MAKERS DEFEAT C.G.E. IN OFFICIAL SOFTBALL OPENER

Slam Lock Company By Scoring Seven Runs in the First.

DARLING HIT HARD.

Griffin's Double Play in the Fifth the Only Feature of Game.

Last night in Central Park the softball season was officially opened when the Industrial Control team from the C.G.E. met the Lock Company boys. The Lock Makers are composed of last year's Firemen team which won the Eastern Ontario championship, and it was an easy victory for them when they defeated the Electric boys to the tune of 20 runs to 7.

The C.G.E. boys are a new team composed mostly of players who have played very little softball before and they got off to a very poor start when they let the winners bring in seven runs on one hit, in the first innings.

Waddell, who comes from Hamilton, pitched a very swift ball but at times lacked control, walking seven men in the eight innings. Darling pitched for the losers and he was hit often and hard. Waddell had eight strikeouts and Darling one. A. Griffin pulled off a double play in the fifth which was the only feature of the game.

The line up:

C.G.E.—Williams, 3b; McCall, c; Heffernan, lf; A. Griffin, 1b; Simmons, lf; Bennett, cf; Darling, p; F. Griffin, ss; Graham, 2b.

Lock Company—Crary, ss; Weese, 2b; Nichols, lf; Galbraith, rf; Dobson, c; Montgomery, cf; Westbrooke, 3b; Smith, 1b; Waddell, p.

Referees—Coursey and Bennett.

Lock Company ..... 71112134—20
C.G.E. ..... 21000004— 7

Tonight the Belmonts meet the Knights of Columbus in Central Park at 6.15.

Softball Schedule.

Following is the softball schedule for this week and next week.

May 17—K. of C. vs Belmonts.
May 18—C.G.E. vs Examiner.
May 19—Peterborough Canoe vs 4th Battery.
May 20—Seven Oaks vs DeLaval.
May 23—C.G.E. vs Peterboro' Canoe.
May 25—K. of C. vs Lock Works.
May 26—De Laval vs 4th Battery.
May 27—Belmonts vs Ind. Control.
May 28—Seven Oaks vs Examiner.

Seaton's House Team Loses 119 To 98 in Two Inning Game.

SOME GOOD BOWLING.

Seaton's House XI. of Upper Canada College, Toronto, lost to the Lakefield Preparatory last Saturday in a cricket game 119-98, in a two-innings game.

For Lakefield, Robertson 36, Leggatt 18, Dawson and Pringle 8 each, and for the U.C.C. Shipp 18 and Carter 16, all batted well. In bowling Robertson, for L.P.S., six wickets for 8 runs, Peck ii, 7 for 32, and for U.C.C., Haycock 7 wickets for 15 and Pepall 5 wickets for 32, did good work on a wet wicket.

LARGE PICKEREL CAUGHT IN TRENT

James Cook Lands One Weighing More Than Ten Pounds.

TRENT RIVER, May 17.—James Cook has landed the largest pickerel so far this season. While anchored near the pier at the swing bridge Friday night he caught one weighing 10 pounds, 6 ounces. Mr. Cook won the prize awarded last year by Mr. Allan, hardware merchant of Havelock, and he will in all probability secure another trophy this year.

The funeral of the late Mr. Mark Spencer was held on Saturday afternoon from his late residence, Havelock. Interment at Maple Grove cemetery. Messrs. George and Charles Spencer, Norwood Road, are sons of the deceased.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Waterhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Goodman motored from Toronto on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Walterhouse will remain at "Riverview" for the season while Mr. and Mrs. Goodman left for Toronto Sunday expecting to return to their cottage about June 1st.

FINDS CAR, KEEPS IT.

BATH, Me., May 17.—Horace W. Ward of this city is the owner of a sedan as a result of finding it on the North Bath road, early one morning last summer. Ward came upon the car, deserted, and with no clue as to the owner. Taking possession of it, he attempted in every manner required by law to locate the owner, but to no avail.

A fifteen-year-old boy, Sidney Lee, has won the London qualifying competition for the English amateur billiard championship. Young Lee was coached in the game by Tom Newman, one of Britain's foremost cue experts.

SCORE IN 11TH TO BEAT LEAFS

Colts, Winners 9-8 in Eleven Inning Tussle at Rochester.

BISONS WIN FINAL.

New York, May 17. Canadian Press—Rochester scored three runs in the eleventh inning to win from the Toronto Leafs at Rochester yesterday in the only game of the series by 9 to 8. The Leafs scored twice in the eleventh on pitcher Schoffenr's wild heave to first which allowed a runner to score from first, and Alexander to scamper to third, from which he scored on Spencer's hit to centre. Maranville scored the Tribe's winning run with a single to centre to bring in Kunesch, a pinch hitter for Head. The scheduled first game was postponed, rain.

Syracuse's pinch hitting strategy worked like a boomerang yesterday, and Buffalo broke its losing streak of four straight by taking the final game of the series at Syracuse, 13 to 4.

Joe Poetz, relieving Grabowski in the fourth, stopped Buffalo cold, but he gave way after hurling two-thirds of an inning, to a pinch hitter. Stout, who relieved him, was reached for five runs.

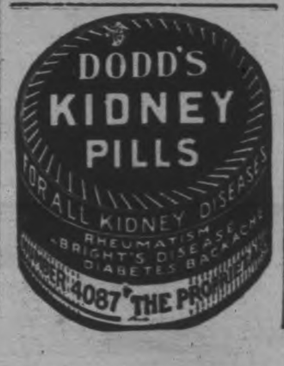
Jersey City at Reading, rain.

BURNBRAE READY FOR OPENING GAME

Softball Enthusiasts Hope To Make Good Showing in League.

BURNBRAE, May 17.—In spite of the frequent showers local softball enthusiasts manage to stage occasional practice in preparation for the opening game of the League season with Hoards on the latter's grounds Wednesday evening. The Burnbrae boys are newly entered in the league and are grouped with Hoards, Mt. Pleasant and Glen Ross in the southern section while Wellman's Corners, Minto, Bethel, and Springbrook comprise the northern section. Burnbrae has gathered together a strong team including J. Rannie of last year's Hoards finalists and H. Petherick, star first sacker of the Petherick's Corners team. Shillinglaw and Eagleson of hardball fame will try their hand at the new pastime. Don Craighead will not play as he has secured a position in Eastern Ontario and will be away from home. He will be missed but several likely prospects are in the offing. Hoards team looks weaker than last year, although the young players may prove surprisingly strong. Of last year's team J. Rannie, C. Smith, and K. Haig are gone, while Will Hume is not likely to play. A game or two will serve to give a line on the teams but on paper Burnbrae and Glen Ross look 1, 2 in the southern group with Bethel, last year's champions the strong team in the northern end. However, a dark horse is likely to upset the dope at any time.

The old standbys of local baseball Will Hume and Ernest (Barney) Eagleson, are likely to line up again with Campbellford in the Northumberland League, playing right field and short stop respectively.



You'd Be SURPRISED!

BY BILLY EVANS

At the start of the 1926 campaign in the National League, few of the critics considered it more than an outside chance that Rogers Hornsby, as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, would win the pennant.

On the other hand, these same critics were agreed that Hornsby was the outstanding hitter of the majors and that, barring accident or illness, he would again lead the National League.

The long shot came through—Hornsby won a pennant with the Cardinals. The one best bet "flivvered"—Hornsby wasn't in the first twenty batsmen. He hit only .316. A lame back that curtailed his natural swing and the woes of a big league manager in the thick of a pennant fight exacted its toll.

Hornsby's failure to lead the National League last season brought to a close a remarkable batting streak that had extended over six seasons. For that many consecutive years Hornsby had topped the league in batting. His six in a row was the only performance that ever threatened Ty Cobb's nine straight batting titles in the American.

Hornsby's six in a row, however, gave him the premier honors in that respect in the National. Hans Wagner had been the previous record-holder with four swat championships in succession.

During that six-year streak Hornsby hit better than .400 in three of the campaigns, thereby equaling a record jointly held by Jesse Burkett and Ty Cobb.

As a member of the New York Giants, in prime condition and relieved of the managerial burdens, Hornsby expects to pick up where he left off in 1925 and is all set to add another batting championship to his long list of records.

ROBINS WIN FROM PIRATES

After Losing Two, Turn on Adversaries For 9-5 Victory.

CARDS WIN DECISION.

NEW YORK, May 17 (Canadian Press)—After losing two straight to the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Brooklyn Robins turned on their adversaries yesterday afternoon to score a 9 to 3 win. Jess Petty was on the mound for the winners and although he allowed thirteen hits to 11 made by the Robins off the delivery of three Pirate moundsmen, he was tight in the pinches. The veteran Max Carey led the hitters with four hits in five times at bat. One was a double. Grantham hit a home run.

At Philadelphia Jess Haines won another game for the St. Louis Cards when he bested Ferguson in a tight hurling duel to give his team a 2 to 1 decision over the Phillies. Frisch, Hafey, Southworth, Haines, Williams and Wilson contributed doubles. The game was played at the American League park where the Phillies will remain until their stands have been repaired. The right field stand collapsed during Saturday's game.

Rain kept the Reds and Giants idle at the Polo Grounds as well as Chicago and the Braves at Boston.

HAMMER THREE TIGER PITCHERS

Yankees Take 6-2 Victory From Detroit in Fast Game.

TIES WITH RUTH.

NEW YORK, May 17. Canadian Press. — After rain had caused a postponement of the first two games of the series at Detroit, the Yankees pounded three Detroit pitchers for a 6 to 2 victory yesterday Lou Gehring slammed out his eighth homer in the game to go into a tie with Babe Ruth for American League honors. Meusel stole second third and home in the third inning.

The Philadelphia Athletics and Browns each got 12 hits at St. Louis yesterday but the Athletics excelled in hitting distance and won 10 to 8. The visitors annexed sixteen extra bases including four home runs, with two by Simmons and one each by Cochrane and Cobb. The Browns used four pitchers. O'Rourke was put out in the seventh inning for arguing with th umpire.

Ted Lyons registered his fifth victory of the season to-day when Chicago bunched hits behind Wiltse's wildness and defeated Boston at Chicago 5 to 2. Wiltse who had won four of Boston's eight victories this season, was hit by a line drive off Falk's bat in the second inning, and had to be carried off the field. He was not seriously hurt.

FOOTBALL AT LOTUS.

Game Postponed From Saturday To Wednesday Because of Rain.

PONTYPOOL, May 17.—The football game between Lotus and Pontypool scheduled for Saturday night had to be cancelled on account of weather conditions. It will be played on Wednesday, May 18, at Lotus at 7.00 p.m. Lotus won the cup last year and is anxious to retain it and this should be a good game, as both teams have strengthened considerably since last year. The other two teams, Lesk and Kirby, meet on Saturday, May 21 at Kirby which will be their initial contest.

Soccer Notes

The soccer cup game for Saturday is Thistle versus Quakers in the Holloway Cup. All funds collected will be put into the injured players' fund. It is a worthy cause, and the Association desires the fan not to forget the collectors.

Referee, Wm. Rickard. Kick-off at three o'clock.

League Standing.

Two points for a win and one for a draw.

The draw for the Holloway injured players' cup resulted in the Thistle vs. Quakers. Masseys, a bye.

In previous years, the Senior and Junior Association co-operated in the interest of football—so why not now. The ruling between the two associations in regard to players reads as follows—Why not now. Any senior and junior player who plays one game in each respective association cannot revert back. It acts both ways. There is nothing to prevent any junior going senior any time, but cannot revert back after two games. Also they had a representative at each board—why not now.

The referee of last Saturday's game recommended that the west-end goal be put back four yards so as to facilitate better playing conditions in taking flag-kicks.

The Masseys bicycle was received from the Massey Football Club by William Rickard, the well-known referee.

Any teams desiring to compete in the local junior cup-ties are requested to enter the team at earliest convenfence. Every member desires the co-operation of every soccer fan to encourage the junior players. Two teams have already entered.

Figure skating as well as speed skating was popular in America in Colonial days, but it was not until many years later that organized skating clubs began to appear in the larger cities. One of the first was the Philadelphia Skating Club, which held competitions on the Schuylkill River as early as 1849. In 1853 and 1859 Boston and Philadelphia skaters introduced figure skating in New York. The New York Skating Club was organized in 1863. A few years later a club was formed in Pittsburg. In 1868 representatives of the various clubs got together and organized the National Amateur Skating Association. The first American skating champion was William M. Bishop, who was known professionally as "Frank Swift."

WILSON'S BACHELOR

HEAVY STORMS MARK OPENING OF BRITISH LADIES' GOLF PLAY

Many Players Unnerved By Electric Flashes and Heavy Thunder.

CHAMPION STRUCK.

Two French Girls Remain Formidible Challengers For Title.

NEWCASTLE, County Down, Ireland, May 17 (Canadian Press) — A stormy day of golf during which Miss Cecil Leitch, famous English champion, was struck by lightning and many players were unnerved by the electrical flashes and heavy rolling thunder, saw the first championship matches of the British ladies' open championship.

The storm was particularly severe during the round between Miss Enid Wilson, of Nottinghamshire, and Miss Janet Brooks, of Englewood, N. J., which Miss Wilson won by six up and four to play. On another part of the course a rare accident brought near tragedy to Miss Leitch, who is the present holder of the championship, but is not defendng her title.

Mis Leitch was watching the matches and at the sixteenth green while carrying an umbrella in her left hand ,this hand and the entire arm stiffened and became intensely painful after a particularly vivid flash. The fact that she had been struck was apparent, and a doctor among the spectators gave emergency treatment. Later she received further treatment, and last night was resting easy and it is hoped has not suffered serious injury.

The championship matches started yesterday morning over the sea-girt course of the Royal County Down Club at the foot of Mourne Mountains. Miss Virginia Wilson, of Chicago, won her way into the third round, and with two French girls, Mlle. De La Chaume and Nanette Leblan, remains a formidable foreign challenger for the British title, whih has never gone abroad.

Mlle. Leblan's ability was not known, but she has established the right to recognition by defeating Miss Audrey Croft, two and one, then Mrs. A. Mellis, a strong Scottish player, by the same score.

Mlle. De La Chaume had a strong first round opponent in Mrs. Garon, who was runner up to Miss Leitch last year, the French girl winning, 2 and 1.

CUT IN WAGES BY MUSSOLINI CAUSES UPROAR

Bulk of Population Reduced To Starvation Wages Now.

COST OF LIVING HIGHER.

Violent Outbreaks in Remote Places Where Fascists Are in Minority.

VENTIMIGLIA, Italy, May 17.—Deep discontent has been created throughout Italy by the ukase of Premier Mussolini abolishing "high cost of living bonuses." The measure, which was done on the pretext of a revalorization of the lira has reduced the bulk of the population to starvation wages, especially as employe, following the Duce's lead, have also cut salaries. Food remains as high as ever while some landlords are raising rents.

In remote places where Fascists are in minority, peasants are rebelling openly. At Inveruno near Milan, an armed revolt was led by Don Galbiati, the parish priest. Several Fascists were wounded, but Carabineers saved their lives. The priest's superiors forced him to surrender to the police, who have sent him to prison at Milan where he awaits trial on a charge of inciting rebellion and insulting the Duce.

A mob at Florence burnt the effigies of several Fascist landlords who raised rents. Fascist labor corporations in Southern Italy are powerless to enforce their contracts owing to employes' resistance. Sporadic strikes in other parts of the country prove the application of labor charters is extremely difficult. The men resent having their already low wages diverted to such purposes as internal loans, Fascist union subscriptions and the buying of new black shirts for local Fascist organizations.

When Mussolini recently visited his family at Milan the police were so fearful of an attempt on his life that they arrested 700 persons, mostly lawyers, doctors and journalists. Encouraged by general discontent, Communists are issuing from secret sources, several sheets with a total circulation of 500,000. These broadsides are filled with the most violent anti-Fascist propaganda and insults of the Duce.

The United States and Great Britain are getting a share of criticism for "tightening the chains around the Italians through lending Mussolini money and moral support. President Coolidge and Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, are branded as oppressors.

The fact is noteworthy that the Reds stand utterly alone amongst other foes of the regime, all of whom have gone under without leaving the least sign of resistance.

VOCAL RECITAL.

Pupils of Miss Mathilde Masson Give Interesting Programme.

There was a good attendance at the recital held last evening in the hall of the Conservatory of Music, when two pupils of Mademoiselle Mathilde Masson gave an interesting programme of vocal music. Miss Edith Tucker and Miss Gertrude Doyle were heard to good advantage in an artistic series of lovely songs, the youthful quality and clear, sweet tones of their voices receiving appreciative applause, and showing excellent training and careful attention to details of voice production. The vocalists were assisted by Miss Viola White, pianiste, of Bailleboro, who played several numbers in brilliant fashion, and Jack Thackeray, violoncellist, both pupils of Mr R. Gliddon. Accompaniments were played by Mdlle. Masson and Mrs. W. M. Thackeray. The young ladies taking part, and Mdlle. Masson received pretty bouquets of flowers.

The programme was as follows: "Irish Love Song," "Down the Vale," and "Prelude," sung by Miss Gertrude Doyle; piano solos, Loret's "Elegie," and "Danse Orientale," played by Miss Viola White of Bailleboro: "London Bridge," "Villanelle," and "To the Sun," sung by Miss Edith Tucker; violoncello solo, Davidoff's "Song Without Words," played by Jack Thackeray: "Homing," "Dream Song," and "The Year's at the Spring," sung by Miss Gertrude Doyle; piano solo, Mozkowski's "Grand Concert Waltz," played by Miss White; "The Asra," "Heard Ye His Voice?" and 'Good-Night," sung by Miss Edith Tucker.

Master of Motorship Says He Heard Voices Out in Lake.

NO TRACES FOUND.

KINGSTON, Ont. May 17.—Captain Joseph Delahey, master of Motorship No. 104, owned by the Erie and St. Lawrence Corporation, Buffalo, N.Y., reports that about 10 p.m. Sunday, while bound for Montreal via Kingston, and about ten miles east of Point Peter and three miles off shore, two small lights were seen and voices heard as if from a small boat, but although the ship was stopped and the waters searched nothing further could either be heard or seen.

No word has been received here of a motorboat or other small craft being missing. The water was calm and the weather fairly clear last night.

CARRY HUBBY'S SKULL.

LONDON, May 14.—A deceased husband is not easily forgotten by a widow of the Isle of Andaman off the coast of Africa. A lecturer here says he found that in Andaman, when a husband dies, the wife wears his skull on a chain for a year. When the year is up she throws away the skull and is open to new proposals.

OSHAWA MAN FATALLY HURT

Caught in Car Between Heavy Truck and Wire Fence.

NEAR PICKERING.

PICKERING, May 17.—John White, aged 35, a native of North Bay, but employed by the General Motors at Oshawa, was fatally injured in an automobile smash on the Kingston Road, about one mile east of Pickering last night.

Mr. White was returning to North Bay a car sent to Oshawa for repairs, and was proceeding toward Toronto immediately behind a truck driven by A. H. Cook of Pickering.

The truck swerved to enter a side-road, and White apparently did not see the turn in time, for his car was jammed between the truck and a heavy wire fence at the edge of the road.

He was badly cut by flying glass, and after Dr. Field of Oshawa had given first-aid treatment he was removed to the Oshawa Hospital by Highway Constable Reid. Mr. White died shortly after he was admitted.

MADE 26 TRIPS ACROSS BORDER

Crystal Beach Man's Car Was Never Searched For Contraband.

RUM RUNNER QUESTIONED.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 17 (Canadian Press)—A man who made twenty-six trips across the border at Fort Erie and Niagara Falls with smuggled goods in his car without detection, gave evidence before the Royal Customs Commission this morning. Not only was he able to bring the goods across, but according to evidence, the car was not searched once in twenty-six trips. Customs officers would look in and ask him if he had anything to declare, and on receiving a negative response would let him pass.

"It looked pretty easy to me," said his man, John Oliver Ritchie, of Crystal Beach, on the Canadian side, opposite Buffalo.

It developed that Mr. Ritchie runs some "games of skill and chance" at Crystal Beach and presented prizes of cheap jewelry, clocks, watches, and perfumery to lucky winners. He admitted that he had bought these prizes to the value of several hundreds of dollars into Canada without declaring them. He stated, however, that he could not purchase the articles which he smuggled in Canada.

Mr. Ritchie explained that after he had crossed the border a number of times without any smuggled goods and found the car was not searched it "looked easy to him," so he began bringing in goods.

Amos Vandeveer, of Port Colborne, was questioned respecting certain rum running trips which he made, and mentioned F. Savard was one of his consignees. He thought that the agent of Savard, with whom he dealt, was Jack Sullivan.

AVIATOR WITH FORMER WIFE

LABOR LEADER GOES TO HOUSE FROM VESSEL

Ramsay MacDonald Won't Take Time To Visit Own Home.

TO ENTER FIGHT ON BILL.

Says Measure Unjust To Labor —Condemns Raid on Soviet.

NEW YORK, May 17.—J. Ramsay MacDonald, former British Prime Minister, appearing weak from his recent illness, but eager to return to England to lead the fight of the Labor party against the Government's Trade Union Bill, sat before an open fire in the Henry Street Settlement House yesterday and talked of political questions and his party's policy concerning them. Mr. MacDonald, accompanied by his daughter, will sail to-night on the Berengaria.

"If I am able," he said, "I shall go straight from the dock at Southampton to the House of Commons. I shall not even go home."

Unjust to Labor.

The Trade Union Bill, by which the Government hopes to make a general strike forever impossible, was characterized by Mr. MacDonald as "unjust to Labor, a cause of much ill will among the classes, and of industrial friction." He said the bill "was originally not an act, but a leading article" in the newspapers. "It is all a vague expression, the precise meaning of which was left to be determined by the courts." Mr. MacDonald said. "No citizen knew whether he was violating the law until the courts had spoken.

"As far as I can make out, it will have to change a great deal before it is adopted, and when the Labor party comes in that bill will be wiped off the statute books as quickly as we can do it."

Raid Not Justified.

Mr. MacDonald said he could see no justification for the raid of the police last Thursday night on the offices of Arcos, Limited, the Russian commercial agency, and the quarters of the Soviet Trade Delegation in London. "Discoveries must be more than trivial to justify such a raid," he said. "Everybody in Europe knows that money from the Third International in Moscow has been sustaining the Communist movement in Europe. I took steps to stop it in 1924."

Speaking of Sir Austen Chamberlain's new policy in China, Mr. MacDonald, referring to the recent change, said: "I am glad to see that he has at last seen that he was wrong."

BABY NOW WORTH $9,333.

The fact that we live longer than did our grandfathers is bringing us billions of dollars in cash, says a great insurance company whose experts estimate that the total increase in earning power of American men and women in the present generation, or since 1901, is $3,500,000,000. This gain, they declare in Popular Science Monthly, has been due largely to the extension of life.

In 1901, a baby boy at birth was considered to have a potential value of $7,553. By 1924 this value increased to $9,333. This gain also, they conclude, is due to expectation of longer life, with a consequent longer period of earning capacity.

STUDENTS TIDE TURNS.

LONDON, May 16.—According to Dr. C. M. Gayly, the dean of the American University Union in Britain, the number of scholarships offered to British students for advanced education in the United States is equal to and will be greater than the number of such scholarships which citizens of the United States hold at Oxford, Cambridge and other seats of learning in England.

NOTHING GAINED FROM FLIGHTS SAYS OFFICER

No New Type of Machine Made For Long Trips, Says General Duval.

NO PROGRESS RESULTS.

Engines Used Have Already Demonstrated Value Under Tests.

PARIS, May 17.—Hope for the rescue of Captain Charles Nungesser and Major Francois Coli is almost gone from France and with its departure has come the reaction that trans-Atlantic flying is a useless folly under present conditions.

Arguments are crystallized in an article by General Duval in "Le Figaro," who contends that even a successful attempt to fly across the Atlantic would not add to knowledge of aeronautics nor indicate progress in the science of trans-oceanic air navigation.

"Everyone knows that a vigorous skilful pilot can fly for 48 consecutive hours. The record has already been set at more than 51 hours. He may, if he be bold, put in these 48 hours between Paris and New York only all the elements of uncertainty must swing in his favor—favorable winds, clear atmosphere, no navigation mistakes, no engine trouble. Is it worth risking lives for such a demonstration?"

The General observes that no new type of machine has been evolved for the Atlantic flight, the only idea being to discard everything possible to make room for fuel, thus transforming the plane into a mere "flying petrol tank."

As for engines, the General remarks, "those used in the planes of both Nungesser and Saint Roman passed their tests long ago. It was known they were able to turn for 50 hours, but was known also that they were at the mercy of any insignificant accident, the consequence of which would be almost bound to be fatal."

He concludes by saying the trans-Atlantic flight, is a great sporting exploit, but nothing more, and not worth sacrifice of life, as nothing practical nor scientific can be gained even from successful attempts.

SYNOD OF NIAGARA MEETS IN GUELPH

Two Hundred Delegates Attend First Session Held in That City.

GUELPH, Ont., May 17. — Canadian Press. — The Anglican Synod of the Diocese of Niagara is meeting in Guelph for the first time in its history, and two hundred delegates are in attendance. Mayor Robson formally welcomed them this morning.

Bishop D. T. Owen will deliver his pastoral charge this afternoon, and the Most Rev. David Williams, of London, Archbishop of Huron, and Metropolitan of Ontario, will preach this evening.

AROUND THE CITY

Much excitement was caused at the corner of Simcoe and George Streets this morning when a part of the Turnbull awning caught fire from a spark blown down from the chimney. The firemen quickly extinguished the blaze but a small loss will result.

Employment Bureau records show sixty-two new applicants and fifty placements, with one hundred and eleven still on the list, for the past week.

A chimney fire at 520 Dickson street called the firemen out at 11:20 this morning.

OBITUARY.

THOMAS STINSON.

The body of Thomas Stinson, a former resident of this city, will arrive here this evening. Mr. Stinson died yesterday in Detroit. Funeral announcement will be made later.

DENNIS KYLIE.

On Saturday morning, at the House of Providence, the death occurred, after a brief illness, of Dennis Kylie. The late Mr. Kylie has been a lifelong resident of this city, and will be sadly missed by a host of friends He leaves to mourn his loss one sister, Mrs. Annie Crowley, of Otonabee, and two brothers, Martin of East City and Richard of Lindsay, and a number of nieces and nephews.

The funeral was held this morning from the residence of his niece, Mrs. V. O'Dette, Sophia Street, to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, where Mass was sung by Rev. Father Guiry, and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery, where prayers were said by Rev. Father Carroll.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. T. Crowley, J. Ryan, and his four nephews, E. Kylie, J. Kylie, L. Crowley, and E. Foley.

MARK SPENCER

HAVELOCK, May 17—The funeral of the late Mark Spencer, whose death occurred on Thursday, May 12th, took place on Saturday afternoon from his late residence on Mill Lane. The funeral service, which was held in the United Church, was largely attended and was conducted by the Rev. W. R. Archer. Interment took place in the Maple Grove Cemetery.

The deceased, who was 81 years of age, was one of the oldest and most successful farmers of this district, it being over a half a century since he came to Belmont. Some years ago he retired, and hade his home in Havelock. He enjoyed good health until a few weeks ago when he was stricken with paralysis. Besides his widow he leaves to mourn his loss three daughters, Mrs. George Ackerman of Rossmore, Mrs. W. Ackerman of Picton, and Mrs. T. Flynn in Alberta; four sons, William of Frankford, George of Seymour, Thomas in Saskatchewan, and Charles of Norwood.

The pallbearers were grandsons: Rev. Ralph Spencer, Harold Spencer, Charles Ackerman, Frank Ackerman, Arnold Ackerman, and Kory Ackerman.

HUGH MASTERSON.

At St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterboro, the death occurred at 12.20 a.m. on April 27th, of Hugh Masterson, a lifelong resident of Alnwick Township, in his 82nd year. He was born in the Township of Hope, and came to Alnwick, when only seven years of age, with his father and mother, the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Masterson, four sisters and two brothers.

He married Miss Catherine Kewin. Their union was blessed with eight children, seven of whom still survive: Mrs. T. A. Walsh, Hastings; Mrs. R. Roarke, Guelph; Miss Katie of Peterboro; James of Edmonton; Thomas of Regina; John of Toronto, and Hugh of Detroit. The youngest daughter, Nellie, died at the age of 16 years. His wife predeceased him thirty-seven years ago.

He was a man of sterling character, upright and honorable in all his dealings, and his generosity and cheerful disposition endeared him to all who had the pleasure of knowing him. He will always be remembered for seeking to perfect unity between classes and creeds, for justice, irrespective of race or religion.

He always took a keen interest in municipal affairs, was a member of Alnwick Council for 15 years. He was Reeve for four years, and after that County Commissioner. In religion he was a Roman Catholic and in politics a life-long Liberal.

The funeral took place from the home of his daughter, Mrs. T. A. Walsh, Hastings, to St. Jerome's Church, Warkworth, where Rev. Father Ferguson sang Requiem High Mass, assisted by Rev. J. J. O'Brien and Rev. Gerard Maher of Peterboro, as Deacon and Sub-Deacon. Rev. Father McCauley, Ennismore, preached the sermon, which was a striking tribute to the departed gentleman The spiritual offerings were numerous and the beautiful flowers.

He was buried in Warkworth R. C. Cemetery. His pall-bearers were: John Jones, John Collins, John O'Reilly, Casey Masterson, Patrick Cooney, Peter Brahany.

May his soul rest in peace.

The Star joins a host of friends in extending sympathy to the sorrowing family in their hour of sorrow.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were: Mr. Hugh Masterson, Jr., of Detroit; Mrs. Don Barnett of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Casey Masterson, Miss Katie Masterson, Mr. Hugh Walsh, Mr. John McCabe, Mr. M. J. Maher, Miss Desatell of Peterboro; Mr. Matt Mulhern, Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. Lawless, Mrs. D. Calanan, Mr. John Kewin, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kewin, Mr. Pat Cooney, Mr. Jas. Walsh, of Grafton, and many others.—Hastings Star.

IN MEMORIAM.

HERRON.—In loving memory of my dear husband, James Edward Herron and Daddie, who was drowned May 17th, 1925.

Softly the stars at night are shining
On a cold and silent grave
Where lies our darling daddie
Whom we loved but could not save.

His life was earnest, his actions kind,
A generous hand and active mind,
Anxious to please, loath to offend,
A loving husband and faithful friend.

Cherished memories of one so dear
Are often recalled by a silent tear
It's only those who have loved and lost
Who can realize the bitter cost.

However long our lives may last
Whatever lands we view,
Whatever joy or grief be ours
We will always think of you.

May God, who taketh count of all,
Whose eye doth never sleep,
Beneath his own almighty wing
Our loved one safely keep.

NAVY LEAGUE BEARING FRUIT STATES HARRIS

Hold Annual Convention of Ontario Division at North Bay.

YEAR REPORTS READ.

Says Canada Not Doing Her Part in Naval Defence.

NORTH BAY Ont., May 18.—That the work of the Navy League of Canada is bearing fruit, was the message given to delegates to the annual convention of the Ontario division of the league by President Sam Harris.

The convention opened in North Bay yesterday with representatives present from all points in Ontario.

"The world has not yet reached the state of security and tranquility that would justify Britain in allowing the navy—our sure shield in the past—to sink into impotence," President Harris said.

"There are signs of returning sanity among the nations. The numerous pacts and treaties that have been solemnly entered into, culminating in the Locarno agreement and the entry of Germany into the League of Nations, are omens of the brightest kind and we can hope that before long the burden of armaments which is at present a large factor in preventing the economic recovery of Europe, may be lightened. But a sense of proportion should be maintained. Britain's position is such that the freedom of the seas is essential to her existence and nothing must be done or left undone which would imperil that freedom."

The president did not believe that Great Britain could afford to take the initiative in a move to abolish undersea fighting craft, but felt it desirable that all nations take this step simultaneously. He felt that Canada is not doing its full part in naval defence and believed it to be incumbent upon Canadians to at least bear the expense of protecting their own trade routes.

He told of the activities of the League during the past year and expresed the hope that they would go forward to greater things in the future. The League intended to urge upon the government of Canada at every opportunity its conviction that Canada should not look to Britain—already bearing a great burden of defense—to also shoulder Canada's share.

Buyers Competing For First Permits

TORONTO, May 18. —(Canadian Press.)—At the various offices of the issuers of liquor permits, in and about Toronto, there was an evidence of competition to be first to get the permits, but there was no great rush at any point this morning.

Throughout the day there was a steady round of applications, however. Some of the foreign speaking applicants expressed disappointment that their permits were not negotiable till June 1, when, according to unofficial announcement made last night, the Government Control stores will be ready for business at several points and the full operation of the Government Control Act proclaimed.

Meanwhile such clauses of the Act as are necessary to allow preparations have been brought into force.

BOARD RETURNS FOUR CHILDREN

Bequest of $2,841.08 Received By Children's Aid Society.

REGULAR MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon in the City Council Chamber, the president, Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave, in the chair. The following ladies and gentlemen were present: Mesdames Welsh, Gibbs, Hodgson, Hopwood, Wiggins, Knox, Messrs. Edgar, Hopwood, Dobbin, Parsons, Stocker, Abraham.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, J. Edgar, who also gave the report of the superintendent, and of the matron. A letter from J. F. Strickland recorded the bequest to the society, mentioned some time ago, of the sum of $2,841.08, from the Estate of the late Mary Jane Braden, who bequeathed at her death one-half of her estate, amounting to nearly $12,000, to the George Street United Church, the remaining half to be divided equally between the Protestant Home and the Children's Aid Society.

Sundry Business.

On motion of J. Abraham, seconded by Mrs. W. H. Gibbs, it was decided to have the four children of Mrs. King, Greta, Robert, Jennie and George, returned to the mother's home, the majority of the members of the Board concurring in this action, on condition of future good behavior in the home.

A letter from Bruce Coones of Chandos, complaining of the actions of boys under sixteen years of age, who are causing trouble in his neighborhood, was read, and it was decided to ask Rev. Mr. Spence of Apsley to look into conditions of affairs in that district.

After considerable discussion as to the finances of the Society, which are at present at a low ebb, it was decided to divert enough money from the capital account to make up any deficit in the current account, so that the latter will not be overdrawn, this action to be adopted until such time as the Society finds itself in the possession of a larger income.

The purchase of an electric washer for the Shelter at considerable expense was regarded by the ladies as a real necessity, and mention was made by them of the recurring difficulty encountered in children of mentally deficient type, who are constantly being played out by the Shelter authorities and constantly being returned to them, after being fitted out carefully for new positions from

LOST FLIERS STILL ALIVE, NORTH FEELS

CONTINUE SEARCH.

Say Plane Seen Early on Monday Off Cape Sable.

NEW YORK, May 18.—With the search spurred by a $25,000 reward offered by Rodman Wanamaker, reports continued to come in of clues that indicate Nungesser and Coli, heroic French fliers, are somewhere on the Island of Newfoundland.

Added to the five at Harbour Grace, Newfoundland, who heard the planes hum at 10 a.m. Monday of last week was the testimony of Fletcher Beck, who lives at Swift Current, on Placentia Bay.

Beck said he heard the plane pass over his home Monday a week ago. He said it seemed to be travelling in a northwesterly direction. Another report was that the airplane had been seen at Ocean Bay, ninety miles from St. John's.

Previously Mrs. Ann Kelly, and two members of the Peddle family, near Harbor Grace, testified to seeing the White Bird, high in the air.

The Aerial League of America urged that hope not be given up.

So wide is the area to be searched and so wild and sparsely inhabited is the country, that Nungesser and Coli, if wounded, might remain for weeks subsisting on game, before discovered.

Wanamaker's reward was for Nungesser and Coli to be found "dead or alive," and brought to this country or France. The League issued a statement commending him, adding:

"We believe the reports that Nungesser and Coli were heard at Harbour Grace deserve serious consideration."

Seen by Rum Runners

LYNN, Mass., May 18.—The Lynn Item printed yesterday a story of a large plane having been seen off Cape Sable, N.S., early in the morning of Monday, May 9, by men on a rum running schooner who landed here Monday. Neither the names of the men or the schooner are used, in conformity with their request, but the men were positive in their statements.

The schooner, according to the report, had been lying in the vicinity of 40 miles south of Cape Sable for nearly three weeks while making arrangements for its cargo.

At 7 o'clock Monday morning, May 9, the lookout heard the sound of a motor. He called several others on the vessel and they were soon able to distinguish a large plane flying at an altitude of about 3,000 feet. It was headed southwest from Cape Sable and, checking it by their own homeward course, it was pointed straight for Boston Light. Then a heavy fog bank shut down and sight of the plane was lost.

The men on the schooner did not know that a trans-Atlantic flight had been attempted, the story said, and on being landed here Monday enquired if anyone had been flying toward the Arctic. Told of the missing Nungesser and Coli, they sought a newspaperman whom they knew and gave him the information, saying that they feared to report to the authorities.

Cape Sable is the southeasternmost point of Nova Scotia and in an air line is little over 400 miles from Boston. The area between Boston and that section of the Nova Scotia coast was combed all last week by coastguard and naval craft, who worked, however, under the handicap of heavy fogs during the entire search.

PERMITS GO ON SALE TO-MORROW; WORK ON STORE IS PROGRESSING

Deputy Sheriff Frank L. Bradburn in Charge of Papers.

PROVISIONS OF ACT.

Permits Not Transferrable and Can Be Cancelled at Will.

Sale of permits for the purchase of liquor under the Liquor Control Act will be commenced to-morrow by Deputy Sheriff Frank L. Bradburn at the Sheriff's Office at the County Buildings. This does not mean, according to W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., that Col. Bradburn will be the vendor here. The name of this official of the Board cannot yet be divulged, he stated, but some announcement on this matter will be made in the course of a few days.

Workmen employed by T. C. Ephgrave have been engaged during the past week in making alterations in the premises on George Streeth formerly occupied by the Central Shoe Shine Parlor.

A new concrete floor has been laid on the basement. Part of the rear end of the building was torn down this morning for the erection of a new door and carpenters were busy erecting new partitions.

The Board's architect, Mr. White of Toronto, inspected the store last night.

The Act

The Liquor Control Act provides for the sale of beer and liquor in government stores, which will be established throughout the province by the Board of Liquor Commissioners. The sale of liquor at each store will be conducted by a person appointed under the Act who will be called the vendor, and he may sell to any person who is the holder of the subsisting permit. All liquor must be purchased in packages sealed with the official government seal and can not be opened on the premises of the store. No liquor can be delivered until the purchaser has given a written order to the vendor, dated and signed by him and stating the number of his permit and the kind and quantity of the liquor ordered. The purchaser must produce his permit for inspection and endorsation by the vendor, he must pay in cash, and the vendor must endorse on the permit

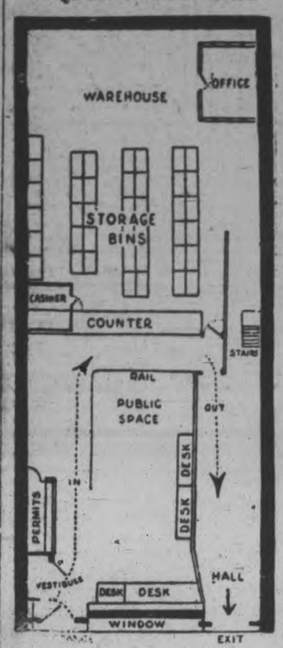
LIQUOR STORE PLAN.



This is how the interior of Ontario government liquor shops will probably be laid out. Uniformity, it is said, will be pretty well maintained in both interior and exterior appearances. Store fronts will be of standard pattern, and the provincial coat-of-arms will adorn each window.

THE WEATHER

The highest temperature yesterday was 63 degrees; the lowest last night was 43. The rainfall last night was .61 of an inch—almost equal to the total for April. May's rainfall already is considerably over twice that which fell in April. The leaves on the trees are now rapidly unfolding, and with a little warmer weather should be out in full foliage for the 24th. All nature will soon be looking its best.—W. P.

DEMAND EXACT FULFILLMENT OF THE PROVISIONS OUTLINED COMMERCIAL TREATY OF 1921

Is Only Way Possible For Continuance of Commercial Relations.

UPHOLD PROTEST.

Also Demands Definite Re-assurances on This Subject From Britain.

MOSCOW, May 18. — The Soviet government in a note delivered last night to the British charge d'affaires, in protest against the recent raid on Soviet House in London, declares that the continuance of commercial relations with Great Britain is possible only on the condition of exact fulfillment of the provisions of the commercial treaty of 1921, free from violations growing out of interparty manoeuvres and the fantastic beliefs of one minister or another. It demands from the British government definite reassurances on this subject, from which, it says, "necessary conclusions can be made."

Furthermore, the Soviet government declares that it reserves the right to make claim for violation by the British government of the agreement, for the insult offered thereby, and for material losses growing out of the raid.

The note points out that Soviet interior development is based on a definite economic plan and foreign trade relations and, accordingly this plan cannot be allowed to be jeopardized by British domestic political considerations.

"The Soviet government," continues the note, "has observed with satisfaction the interest in the Soviet market evidenced by London, and the Soviet economic organization has been more and more trusted by the London banks, in proof of which an agreement was signed a few days ago between the Soviets and one of these banks for £10,000,000.

"But a campaign of unheard of hostility, which reached its culmination in the raid on the Soviet trade delegation, induces the Soviet government, with all the seriousness and frankness which the grave situation demands, to lay down before the British government the question: Is it willing further to maintain and develop Anglo-Soviet relations, or is it its intentions to oppose this in the future?"

UPHOLDS ENVOY'S ACTION.

MOSCOW, May 18. — The British charge d'affaires at Moscow yesterday received from Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet acting foreign minister, the protest of the Soviet government against the recent raid on Soviet House in London.

The protest was in the form of a note which begins by confirming and upholding the protest which M. Rosengolz, the Soviet charge, made in London. It then draws the attention of the British government to the fact that when economic relations were resumed with Great Britain and other western nations at the close of the intervention and blockade period, the Soviet republic set forth in a postulate that, as the relations between private commerce firms, the greatest importance should be attached to safeguarding commercial secrets of governmental organizations, which under state monopoly of foreign trade had to deal with all export and import operations.

"In the subsequent negotiations for the restoration of relations with western nations and the conclusion of commercial treaties," the note continues: "Sovietia accordingly always laid stress upon its demand for guaranteeing the full immunity of its trade agencies abroad in respect to state documents, instructions, and so forth. At the same time Sovetia also took into consideration the hostile atmosphere in which the commercial agents of the First Soviet Republic would have to work in capitalistic countries, and the extraordinary attention they might attract on the part of the re-

Drives Car on Fire To Fire Hall For Help

The old heroic story of Captain Maynard bringing a burning ship to land had nothing on a young man in a roadster on George street last night. It seems that his car caught on fire in some section of the downtown district about 5.40.

Not wishing to stand idle and watch his car burn the boy "stepped on it" and drove around to the Fire Department where the flames were promptly extinguished. It must have presented a "flaming scene" as the car swept towards the Fire Hall.

CHEN REGIME IS INCAPABLE BRITISH CLAIM

Maintenance of Envoy at Hankow Useless and Undesirable.

LEAVES IMMEDIATELY.

U. S. Counsel Tells Chiang Chinese Fired First Along River.

PEKING, May 18. — (Canadian Press).—Withdrawal of Basil Newton, as the British Minister's representative at Hankow, the seat of the Nationalist Government in the Central Yangtse Valley, was accompanied by a note declaring that the Hankow regime had "failed to make good its claim to govern in accordance with the standards of a responsible modern government."

The note made public by the British Legation to-day is regarded as tantamount to breaking off the quasi diplomatic relations which have existed between Great Britain and the Hankow regime since the Charge D'Affaires, Owen O'Malley, opened negotiations with Foreign Minister Chen in January.

Great Britain, the communication said, was "forced to the conclusion" that for Mr. Newton to remain "at the seat of a regime so totally incapable of discharging the responsibilities of a civilized government would be both useless and undesirable." Hence he was leaving forthwith.

Conference Arranged.

Special importance is attached to the note here because Sir Miles Lampson, the British Minister, is en route to Shanghai aboard a warship to confer with Major-General Duncan and Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt regarding future dispositions of the British forces in China. Although it is stated that he does not intend to go to Nanking, the seat of the Moderate Nationalist regime, it is probable that he will come into contact with Chiang Kai-Shek's representatives in Shanghai.

Nationalists Warned.

LONDON, May 18 (United Press).—The American Consulate at Shanghai Shek, head of the Moderate Nationalhas explained to General Chiang Kai-ist Government, that American warships on the Yangtse River never fire on Chinese on the river banks unless the ships are fired on first, the Daily Express Shanghai correspondents reported to-day.

General Chiang had protested against firing by American and British ships.

The Senior British naval officer at Nanking warned the Chinese there that unless firing on British merchant men ceased, forthwith, "sternest measures" would be taken.

The correspondent also reported the Nationalists had again captured Pukow, across the river from Nanking, and had advanced to Puchen.

Pukow has changed hands several times in the last few days.

Peace At Angelus, Aimee Announces

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 18. —(Canadian Press.) — Peace returned to Aimee Semple McPherson's flock at the Angelus Temple to-day exactly a year after her disappearance at Ocean Park, which culminated in her being accused of conspiracy in connection with her story of being kidnapped.

The evangelist made this announcement last night at a meeting celebrating the anniversary of her disappearance. The meeting was held on the spot where Mrs. McPherson said she was whisked away in her bathing suit by kidnappers.

Mrs. McPherson announced that virtually all the members of her orchestra and choir who seceded and formed an independent church recently, had returned to Angelus Temple.

KUNTZ CALLED BEFORE BOARD

Head of Brewery Must Appear in Toronto on Friday.

MORE ABOUT "RAT FUND."

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 18 (Canadian Press).—H. F. Kuntz of the Kuntz Brewing Company, Waterloo, Ont., will be sent an official intimation that his presence is required before the Royal Customs Commission in Toronto on Friday morning. Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., Commission counsel, stated this morning that there was some difficulty in getting Mr. Kuntz to come and give evidence. His counsel had been notified that the Commission desired to examine Mr. Kuntz further, but thus far the Waterloo brewer had not turned up.

"He is carrying on business on a large scale and he can't escape," said Mr. Rowell. "No, he can't afford to ignore us, I think," suggested Chief Commissioner Brown.

Instructions were given to notify Mr. Kuntz to appear in Toronto.

The "Rat Fund" Again

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 18 (Canadian Press).—Further evidence in regard to the "Rat Fund" came before the Royal Customs Commission here this morning.

L. A. Irion, president of the British American Brewing Company of Windsor, Ont., said that his brother, R. E. Irion, secretary of the company, had paid W. M. Egan, "seven or eight thousand dollars in cash."

"He said he was paying it to Egan for campaign purposes," Mr. Irion told N. W. Rowell, K.C., Commission counsel.

The cash payments to Egan, explained the witness, were in addition to the $150 monthly retainer paid the former Windsor lawyer by the brewery. This retainer, paid over a period of several months, was made for services which Egan rendered in the collection of some accounts. Mr. Irion, the witness, said that his brother was seriously ill and could not give evidence at present.

Vessels for Customs

OTTAWA, May 18 (Canadian Press).—A fleet of more than twenty vessels, with speed in some cases of about thirty knots an hour, has been commissioned to patrol the coast line along the Maritime Provinces in an effort to combat smuggling. These vessels will be supplemented by twenty or twenty-five high powered automobiles operating from strategic points where roads meet in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island. Official announcement to this effect was made shortly before noon today by the Department of National Revenue.

LIQUOR WENT ACROSS BORDER IN COAL TRUCKS

Customs Commission Investigating Methods of Smuggling Alcohol Across Line.

QUESTION POLICE.

Given Information Concerning Forged Whiskey Labels Brought From Buffalo.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 17 (Canadian Press).—Alcohol brought in from Niagara Falls, N.Y., as coal, and stored in a barn near here from whence it was distributed, commanded the attention of the Royal Customs Commission for a time yesterday afternoon. Also, the commission was given some information about forged whiskey labels which were brought into Canada from Buffalo, and subsequently seized.

The information in regard to the alcohol came largely from F. W Secord who owns a barn in Grantham Township, not far from Niagara Falls.

"Do you remember a seizure being made in your barn?" asked R. B Law, assistant commission counsel.

"Yes."

"What was it?"

"I believe it was some alcohol and some beer."

The seizure had been made in March, 1926.

"How did the alcohol get into your barn?" pursued Mr. Law.

"I believed some men put it there."

"How many truck loads arrived before the seizure was made?"

"I think it was twenty-three."

"Were you paid anything for storing it?"

"I got $50 a load." Altogether, said the witness, he had received about $1,100 for storage.

Mr. Secord explained that he had been approached by a man from Niagara Falls, N.Y., named Cline, who asked him about storing the alcohol.

"He told me if there was any trouble he would look after me," the witness informed the commission.

"Did he look after you?" asked Mr. Law.

"No. I had to look after myself."

"You knew Cline was going to bring alcohol across the border?"

Brought in Trucks

"Yes," the witness admitted. Cline had told him the alcohol was going to be brought in, camouflaged as coal. It was to be in trucks from a Niagara Falls, N.Y., coal company.

"Where was the alcohol going?"

"I don't know. People came for it in cars."

The alcohol, said the witness, was in one gallon and five gallon tins.

Forty-Three Truck Loads

Records showed that forty-three truck loads of this camouflaged alcohol and beer had crossed the Niagara River. Sergeant A. Birtwhistle, head of the Mounted Police patrol here told the commission. Of the total number, twenty-four loads had gone to the Secord barn. He testified that, at the time, there was no examination of coal trucks crossing the lower bridge. The word of the driver as to his cargo was accepted.

"Did you calculate what the customs duties would amount to on the shipments?" Mr. Law asked the witness.

Sergeant Birtwhistle estimated the amount at about $200,000 on the basis of $10 a proof gallon. The alcohol seized was now in the hands of the customs at St. Catharines.

Labels Seized

A part of the evidence with respect to the forged whiskey labels also came from Sergeant Birtwhistle. He told of a seizure of seven dozen of these counterfeit labels at the home of Arthur Franklin.

"He admitted he was smuggling these counterfeit labels in, in two hundred dozen lots and supplying them to a party in Toronto," testified the sergeant. Franklin, he said, admitted bringing the labels over from Buffalo on a number of occasions. The seizure was made in November, 1926, and had resulted in a prosecution for smuggling.

Constable William Chisholm, who made the seizure, declared that Franklin had elaborated on his method of bringing the labels across, in the course of a conversation with him.

"He said he used to take his wife over with him, and she would conceal the labels on her person," he said. Franklin had also stated that the labels were brought across when a certain officer was on duty at the lower bridge, and that this officer sometimes came up to his house for a drink.

When Mr. Franklin took the stand, he denied saying anything about an officer on the bridge. "I was intoxicated at the time the seizure was made," he told the commission in justifying the remarks attributed to him.

"Did you speak the truth when you were intoxicated?" asked Chief Commissioner Brown.

Mr. Franklin replied that if the story told by the Mounted Policeman was based on what he (Franklin) said, he had not spoken the truth. The fact was that he had brought

Top Hats, Old and New, Come Out in London For Their Annual Day at Picture Exhibit

LONDON, May 18 (A.P.).—Top hats, many of which had seen service in the days of Queen Victoria, predominated in men's wear at the private view of the Royal Academy Exhibition of Art at Burlington House, preliminary to this year's opening. Women's millinery, for some reason, was anything but sparkling, and spectators said that the men's toppers more than made up for anything lacking in pep from the feminine side in dress.

On the Continent and in many other parts of the world men remove their hats when visiting an art display, but not in London. Top hat possessors here—old as well as new—look forward each year to wearing their hats at the Academy opening with as much anticipation as women enjoy the foretaste of Easter.

There were ancient toppers, impressively tall and quaint, as delightfully described by Dickens, and toppers with wide brims and dulled by the passage of time. It was said by persons who went to see the dress show and not the pictures that many of the hats gave off an odor suggestive of moth balls, cedarwood chests and musty closets from various parts of the provinces.

The toppers of old were outshone in every respect by the up-to-date, immaculate toppers, but in numbers there were two to one of the old-fashioned variety which had been seeing better days for years.

The wearers were not short of cash—the morning coats and shoes of many of them were of the latest pattern—but it was evident that the toppers had become sort of family heirlooms or keepsakes. The owners naturally dread the thought of giving up the old faithfuls, as a boy hates the idea of parting with his favorite pair of well-worn shoes, regardless of what the neighbors think.

There were all kinds of soft felt hats, too, and many derbys, several of them in dark blue with very small brims. But none of these really cut any figure, because the toppers were having their annual outing and were as much of the "show" as the pictures.

Highest Human Flight Made By Captain Gray In Record of 42,470 Feet in Army Balloon

WASHINGTON, May 18.—All records for altitude attained by man were broken by Captain Hawthorne C. Gray of the Army Air Service in a free balloon at Scott Field, Ill., on May 4, when he attained a height of 42,470 feet or 12,944 meters, the War Department announced yesterday.

The exact figures were received from the National Aeronautic Association after the instruments which Captain Gray carried had been calibrated by the Bureau of Standards. The record will be sent to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale at Paris for final official confirmation.

The altitude reached is 1,650 feet more than the record for airplanes held by M. Callizo of France, and 7,037 feet higher than the record for free balloons made in 1901 by the German aeronauts, Suring and Verson. It was attained after Captain Gray soared on March 9 in a free balloon at Scott Field to 28,510 feet, thereby shattering the American record. This latter record has just been promulgated by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

Captain Gray made his world record flight without physical discomfort, due to the improved oxygen apparatus he carried with him. Through a radio set in his equipment he maintained exceptional reception of a program up to 35,000 feet, when the broadcasting station signed off.

In descending his balloon dropped so rapidly that he jumped at 8,000 feet and completed his trip by parachute, thereby joining the mythical organization of airmen known as the "Caterpillar Club." He landed in a plowed field.

At 40,000 feet the rate of ascent slowly died, and desiring to attain a still higher altitude, the pilot dropped one of the oxygen cylinders overboard attached to a parachute.

An aviator from Scott Field located the empty balloon and recovered the recording instruments.

SAYS WEATHER CLEARING FOR OCEAN FLIGHT

Weather Man Tells of Slight Let-up Over Storm Area.

CONTINUE TESTS.

Agreement Reached Between Fliers and Backers of Bellanca Plane.

NEW YORK, May 18 (Associated Press).—The weather man became almost optimistic late yesterday in his consideration of atmospheric conditions in their relation to trans-Atlantic flying.

Almost optimistic he became, but not quite.

"There is a slight turn in the right direction," he said cautiously, "but only a slight one."

"How about later in the day?" he was asked.

"Well, there's just a chance," he replied. "Just a chance. There are indications of gradual clearing but not strong enough yet to make any definite predictions. We'll wait and see."

Asked if this was an unusually long run of unfavorable weather for this time of year, the weather man replied that it was just about what might be expected.

And while the weather man prepared charts of fog and wind for them, the aviators waiting to hop off on their great adventure continued tests of their planes, went visiting, or just fretted the time away at the flying fields.

The three-man crew of the giant three-engined Fokker, America, made two weight tests yesterday morning, and at noon had luncheon with Rodman Wanamaker, financial backer of the flight, and had a long conference with him.

Make No Tests.

Chamberlin and Bertaud, of the Bellanca monoplane, Columbia, made no flights yesterday, spending most of their time in conference with their lawyers. G. Bellanca, designer of their plane, and Charles Levine, head of the company backing the flight, about contracts and other considerations.

Charles Lindbergh, the man who will fly for Paris unattended in the Spirit of St. Louis, idled away the morning and in the afternoon flew to Hasbrouck Heights to inspect the Wright factories, where the engines of all the planes now waiting to hop off were made.

As Byrd and Noville and Acosta came from their conference with Wanamaker they announced that they would fly to France just as soon as their final tests were completed and the weather permitted.

"Not a minute will be lost," Commander Byrd said. "We'll wind up those last tests in the morning and then we'll be set."

One More Test.

Twice the trio went aloft yesterday with loads slightly below the weight they will have when they take off for Paris, and they reported that the Fokker behaved perfectly. One more loading test, with the full weight of 14,500 pounds, is to be made, and then the America will be ready to head eastward across the sea.

Lindbergh has been ready to fly for several days, and is waiting only the encouragement of a favorable weather report. Chamberlin and Bertaud have still some minor adjustments to make, but it is not believed they would be far behind if the weather should turn favorable at the present time.

After the conference between members of the Bellanca camp, Levine announced that all differences had been smoothed out and that Chamberlin and Bertaud would fly as soon as everything was ready.

WAR MEMORIAL TO BE UNVEILED

Programme Prepared For Ceremony on Sunday at Stirling.

SOLEMN OCCASION.

STIRLING, May 18.—The committee in charge of the ceremony of unveiling the memorial to the fallen soldiers who went from Stirling, has its work about completed. A very solemn and impressive program is to be carried out on Sunday afternoon, May 22nd. It will be of military nature, although every organization, including the fraternal societies and churches, has been asked to contribute flowers for the occasion. These will be borne to the memorial by an ex-soldier, who served overseas. The Hastings-Prince Edward Regimental Band will furnish music for the occasion. The officers of this regiment have charge, but officers from a distance are expected to grace the occasion by their presence.

The following is the proposed programme which will be given:

Hymn—"O God, Our Help in Ages Past."
Opening Address by the Chairman
Honor Roll Call—Col. Darius Green.
Prayer.
Short Addresses.
Selection by the Band.
Address and Unveiling.
Last Post.
Two minutes silence.
Dedicatory Prayer.
Reveille.
Placing of Floral Tributes.
Hymn, "Abide With Me."
Benediction.
God Save the King.

DE PINEDO ARRIVES AT MONTREAL CITY

Four-Continent Flier Tendered Welcome By Crowds in Harbor.

MONTREAL, May 18. —(Canadian Press.)—The Marquis De Pinedo, the Italian four-continent flyer who started from Chicago at 6:58 yesterday morning, reached Montreal on his homeward journey at 6:35 yesterday evening, having flown the 800 odd miles in approximately 11 1-2 hours.

The Santa Maria II had been expected earlier and throughout the afternoon great throngs, recruited chiefly from the Italian colony in Montreal, had crowded the harbor. They patiently awaited the arrival of their intrepid compatriot. For the occasion all the Italian ships in the harbor were dressed, bunting fluttering gaily from their masts, and since this day coincided with the anniversary of Norwegian independence and the Norwegian ships were likewise decorated, the scene was a riot of color.

Pinedo's monoplane was soon flying at a height of about 1,000 feet over the Back River of Montreal Island about 6:25 p.m. and his appearance was signalled to those awaiting him on the docks, about ten miles distant. At 6:30 the aviator was flying directly over the city, steering a course for the Victoria Bridge which was a landmark. In a few minutes he had gracefully descended in the basin south of the bridge and taxied to a stop.

The aviator was welcomed officially by Senator the Hon. W. L. MacDougald, chairman of the harbor commissioners, and by the Italian consul-general, Signor P. Margotti.

DEMAND EXACT FULFILLMENT OF

sctionaries and police of those countries.

"The principle of immunity of trade delegations and representatives of the Soviet Union has been recognized by nearly all the countries with which Sovietia has treaty relations. No objections were raised against this principle by the British government, in the person of Sir Robert Horne then president of the Board of trade, who in 1921, negotiated with the late Leonid Krassin.

"This principle was embodied in the fifth article of the Anglo-Russian trade agreement of 1921, which now has been violated by the British authorities in the grossest and most insulting manner.

Double Warrant.

"According to the information at hand the warrant under which the raid on Soviet House was made, and which was presented only one hour after the arrival of the police, had in view both Arcos, Ltd., and the trade delegation. A police raid on an English trading company with good references in British business circles and with an annual turnover of tens of millions sterling, and which has accurately fulfilled its obligations, is altogether unprecedented in the city of London.

"The raid could only have been actuated by a motive causing detriment to the Soviet interests connected with the activities of Arcos by compromising the latter and creating around it an atmosphere of want of confidence and hostility. From this viewpoint the Soviet government has the right to protest against the raid.

"If the British can sustain their formal rights with regard to Arcos, there cannot exist the least doubt that the violent irruption of police into the premises of the trade delegation and the acts they committed there, were a flagrant violation of the 1921 agreement. According to the fifth article of that agreement the Soviet Republic is granted the right to use cipher correspondence. It follows that such correspondence, as well as the ciphers themselves, may by no means be examined by the agents of other states or any outside persons without the special consent of the chief of the trade delegation.

"If the same article grants an official agent the right to receive on the strength of diplomatic immunity, through special couriers, sealed packets, it is self evident that the contents of these packets are immune."

Were Ill-Treated

"Nevertheless, the police forced their way into the delegation's premises and the personal bureau of M. Khinchuk, who enjoys diplomatic immunity, and examined and took away all papers found, including those received by diplomatic mail.

"At the same time two officials, Mm. Miller and Hudiakoff, who protested against the illegal demands of the police, were subjected to violence, even beaten, while the wife of the interim charge d'affaires of the U.S.S.R., who was on the premises and has a diplomatic passport, was violently detained and searched.

"The absolutely uncalled for raid on a government institution of another State, apart from the question of treaty rights belonging to it, is a most serious and hostile act, without doubt jeopardizing the further preservation of relations between the interested states, with all the ensuing consequences.

"The fact that the trade delegation by its activity gave no justification for such a raid can be proved by the circumstances that the British government has not made a single representation of complaint about this activity."

M. Litvinoff contends that by refusing to allow the delegation's representatives to be present during the search and certify to the authenticity of the documents abstracted, the police deprived the search of any formal significance. To provide the search with even the most elementary legal significance was, he says, the more necessary in view of the ominous role already once played in the relations between Sovetia and Great Britain by a forged document.

Can Produce Proof

"Against the unfounded and absolutely unproven, although often repeated, accusations against the Soviet Government of non-observance of obligations undertaken and violation of the rules of international relations," says M. Litvinoff, "the Soviet Government can produce absolutely unquestionable proof of the violation by the British Government of the agreement of 1921 and of the most offensive handling of persons enjoying the right of diplomatic immunity, while the requirements of international law and recognized international usages have been totally ignored.

"The British Government's action shows that it is not only not disturbed by the tension of Anglo-Soviet relations, of which it complained in the note of February 23, but apparently is striving to bring this tension to a culminating point. Moreover, it contradicts the British Government's repeated declarations of a desire to preserve general peace and improve the economic conditions of Europe and shows the whole world where are to be found the really destructive forces working for economic chaos and anarchy in Europe."

OBITUARY.

MRS. FREDERICK STENSON

The death occurred in Toronto on Tuesday, May 17th, of Sarah Ann White, beloved wife of Frederick Stenson, Provincial Highway, North Monaghan. The late Mrs. Stenson was born in Fenelon Falls, Ont., on June 13th, 1853.

She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her sorrowing husband, two sons, Arthur F. Stenson and Norman W. Stenson, Provincial Highway, North Monaghan; also one sister, Mrs. Archie Lillico of Chesley, Ont. Two brothers, David White and Arthur White, predeceased Mrs. Stenson some years ago.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, Provincial Highway, on Friday, May 20th, 1927, at 2.30 p.m., and procced to the Little Lake Cemetery, with the Rev. D. Wren of Trinity United Church, officiating.

SHE HAS THE GREATEST FAITH IN THEM

Says Mrs. Elliott of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Alberta Lady Strongly Recommends the Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills to all Sufferers.

SOUTH EDMONTON, Alta., May 17.—(Special)—"I have used your Dodd's Kidney Pills for a few years and for kidney and backache trouble they have worked wonders. I have great faith in them. I have heard great praise about them from a number of people in our district."

This statement comes from Mrs. Elliott, who resides at 9324 70th Ave. The relief that Mrs. Elliott found has come to thousands of other Canadian women through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

There are only a few people who appreciate the great importance of keeping the kidneys in good order at all times. The kidneys are the purifiers of your blood. If the kidneys become clogged with impurities they cannot perform their functions properly. The blood, instead of being purified, is poisoned, and in turn poisons the whole system, with the result that a condition may develop very serious.

APPOINTED CONSTABLE.

CHARLES DUNCALFE

The municipal council of Campbellford on Monday night appointed Charles Duncalfe night constable of the town assisting Chief Constable Light who has succeeded Chief John Brown recently engaged as chief constable of the Brockville force.

CANADA IS A NATION.

Canada is a nation, some day in the near future she will be a great nation, and it is within the range of possibilities that she will be the greatest unit of the British Empire. It is a wonderful country, a country, of unlimited resources and magnificent possibilities. As a nation she celebrates her sixtieth anniversary this year. What better way for you to celebrate it then by taking a trip "Across Canada and Back", and seeing for yourself the reason for this optimism about the future. Prof. Laird of Macdonald College, Que., has arranged with the Canadian Pacific Railway for a special train of sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 25th, cross the continent and get back to Toronto on August 15th, and in that space of 21 days to see all the principal cities, and the noted beauty spots of the West. After Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and the principal cities of the prairies there is the magnificence of the Rockies, and those famous beauty spots, Banff, Lake Louise, Emerald Lake and Yoho Valley. Then there are two wonderful motor drives, from Banff to Winderemer 104 miles, and from Field to Lake Louise 40 miles. The Kootenay district of which Nelson is the capital, and Okanagan Valley fruit country in which is located Penticton will be visited, and Vancouver and Victoria, those rapidly growing Pacific Coast cities, will delight everyone.

An illustrated booklet descriptive of the tour is now ready, and can be had on application to W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, or to Prof. Sinclair Laird, Macdonald College P.O., Que.

Will Erect Memorial To French Aviators

PARIS, May 18.—(United Press.)—A monument to the attempt of Captain Nungesser and Major Francois Coli, to fly from Paris to New York, will be erected on the cliffs above the town of Etretat, where they last left French soil, the International League of Aviators voted yesterday on the anniversary of its foundation.

The members made clear, however, that they still hold the hope that the pair will be found.

Every Man Past 40 Should Make This Test

For Amazing and Lasting Relief From Middle-Age Ailments That Cause Daily Annoyance and Sap Vital Force

No longer need men near or past the prime of life put up with those painful and often embarrassing conditions brought on by overworked, sluggish Kidneys, Bladder Weakness and Prostrate Gland Trouble, with their distressing symptoms of Lameness, Pains in back and down through groins, scanty but frequent and burning urination, "Getting-up-nights," Nervous Irritability and lack of force—because a ten-day test of Dr. Southworth's URATABS will convince the most skeptical of the value of this special treatment for their particular case.

Amazing testimony of Physicians and users gives convincing proof of the power of URATABS to restore Health and Strength to a weakened, inflamed or irritated Bladder and Urinary Tract. A multitude of alarming symptoms seem to quickly disappear—and you see and feel a truly genuine improvement often within two or three days. "No more Backaches, no more pain, no more embarrassment or Getting-up-nights. I now sleep soundly, and get up in the morning full of "pep", thanks to URATABS!"

While new to the general public, the wondrous value of URATABS has been thoroughly proven by nearly 40 years of successful use in the private practice of Dr. H. C. Southworth. And now any good druggist will supply them on a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Try URATABS today."

RESUME DEBATE ON TRADES BILL

Government Amendment Was Carried 291 to 157 Revising First Clause.

LABORITES BACK.

LONDON, May 18 (Associated Press).—With the Laborites back in their places, the House of Commons yesterday resumed the committee stage of the Trades Union Bill in a calmly argumentative mood, in striking contrast to the noisy scenes of the early stages of the measure.

A Government amendment was carried, 291 to 157, late at night without demonstration, revising the first clause dealing with illegal strikes. This now applies also to lockouts and exempts from penalties those strikers who are not engaged in inciting or organizing illegal strikes.

The whole day's debate was devoted to efforts by Liberal and Labor critics to extract from the Attorney-General, Sir Douglass Hogg, what in his view would constitute an illegal strike. It was an interesting study to watch John Robert Clynes, Sir Henry Slesser and James Henry Thomas, Labor leaders, seeking, with the aid of assumed cases to involve Sir Douglass in a legal dilemma as to the exact point where a sympathetic strike would become an illegal strike.

The most amusing passage was when Sir John Simon observed that the lost State document which the police had sought in the Arcos raid must have been the document containing the Government's definition of a general strike.

POWERFUL SKIN REMEDY DISCOVERED

Dries Up Eczema, Barbers' Itch and Skin Eruptions.

Must Give Results in 7 Days or Money Back

This wonderful surgeon's prescription now known all over America as Moone's Emerald Oil, is so efficient in the treatment of skin diseases that the itching of eczema often stops with one application.

A few applications and the most persistent cases of Eczema often are healed never to return.

Moone's Emerald Oil is safe and pleasant to use and it is so powerfully antiseptic and deodorant that even odors arising from ulcers, gangrene and cancer are instantly killed.

Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle is dispensed by pharmacists. Bond's Drug Store, McDermid Drug Co., Ltd., and McDermid & Jury always have Moone's Emerald Oil on hand.

OLD MASTERS

Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
Where wealth accumulates and men decay:
Princes and lords may flourish, or may fade;
A breath can make them, as a breath has made;
But a bold peasantry, their country's pride,
When once destroyed, can never be supplied.

A time there was, ere England's griefs began,
When every rood of ground maintained its man;
For him light Labor spread her wholesome store,
Just gave what life required, but gave no more:
His best companions, innocence and health;
And his best riches, ignorance of wealth.

But times are altered: trade's unfeeling train
Usurp the land and dispossess the swain;
Along the lawn, where scattered hamlets rose,
Unwieldy wealth and cumbrous pomp repose.
And every want to luxury allied,
And every pang that folly pays to pride.

—Oliver Goldsmith. From "The Deserted Village."

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

A GARDEN

If you don't want to work in a garden along at this time of the year,
If you don't want to poke among roses, or watch till the pansies appear,
If you don't like to water the dahlias, and fix up a trellis or two,
There's nothing much wrong with creation, but much is the matter with you!

If you don't want to raise some tomatoes, and beets for the beets and the greens,
If you don't want to sprinkle the lettuce, and gather the peas and the beans,
If you don't want to rise in the morning and work in a little back yard,
No wonder you're sighing, and saying that life us uncommonly hard.

But, oh, if you long for the roses, the way that most anyone will,
Ah, yes, if you wish for the lettuce, and something to tend and till,
Yes, if you're that kind of a woman, or if you're that kind of a man,
But live where you can't have a garden, then why don't you get where you can?

The stores will not be open on a holiday or on any day in which polling takes place at any Dominion or Provincial election held in the electoral district in which the store is situated, or on any day when a municipal election is taking place in the municipality in which the store is situated.

Two Kinds of Permits

An individual permit may be had by any person who is twenty-one years of age who has resided in the province for at least one month before applying for the permit. Visitors' permits will be issued to persons who are twenty-one years old and are temporary residents in the province. Unless sooner cancelled every permit expires at midnight on the 31st day of October of the year in respect to which the permit is issued. Every permit must be issued in the name of the applicant and permits are not transferable nor can the holder allow any other person to use it.

Must Sign Permits

No permit will be issued until the applicant has duly signed the same before someone appointed to issue the permits. A person cannot hold more than one individual permit at the same time. Liquor purchased by any person pursuant to a permit held by him may be kept, had, given, and consumed in the residence in which he resides; unless the occupant is convicted of keeping a disorderly house or of any offence against any of the provisions of the Act, when the house will cease to be known as a residence under the provisions of the Act.

May Cancel Permits

The Liquor Commission may for any cause which it deems sufficient with or without any hearing cancel or suspend any permit. The justice before whom any holder of the permit is convicted of any violation under the Act may suspend the permit for a period not exceeding one month and he must notify the holder and the Board, of the suspension of the permit. When the holder has his permit suspended he must give it to the Board, and if he fails or neglects to deliver it to the Board he will in all probability have it cancelled. When the permit is cancelled the Board will notify all vendors of the same. If a permit is produced at a government store by a person who is not the holder of such permit or when a cancelled or suspended permit is produced the vendor must keep the permit and notify the Board and if the permit has not been cancelled it will then cancel it.

No Drunkenness

No person may be in an intoxicated condition in a public place and no vendor shall allow any liquor to be sold to a person who is under the influence of liquor. No person will be allowed to purchase or attempt to purchase liquor under a permit which has been suspended or which has been cancelled or of which he is not the holder. Everybody must apply in his own name for permits and nobody shall permit drunkenness to take place in any house or on any premises of which he is the owner, tenant or occupant; or shall permit any person apparently under the influence of liquor to consume any liquor in any house or on any premises of which the first-named person is the owner, tenant, or occupant, or given any liquor to any person apparently under the influence of liquor.

Must Be Hotel Guest

No person will be allowed to consume liquor in any place in an hotel other than a private guest room or shall keep any liquor in any room in of the hotel and is duly registered as of the hotel and is duty registered as an occupant of that room and has baggage and personal effects belonging to him in the hotel.

FINDS ARCTIC PLANTS IN SOUTH.

Following the recent discovery of rare plants in New Zealand it is expected that that country soon will be invaded by an army of botanists. Dr. G. Du Reitz, a celebrated botanist of Upsala, University, Sweden, has been spending several months there and on Mount Chapman, near Hammer, he recently found some litchens that previously were known only in the Arctic Regions. He says that the dominion is one of the most interesting and important countries in the world from a botanist's viewpoint and predicts that a large number of botanists from Europe will visit the island within the next few months.

PRISON TERMS GIVEN BROOKS AND WITHROW

Doctor To Serve Seven Years and Girl's Fiance Five.

PRISONERS COLLAPSE.

Judge Denounces Two Men For Cowardly Crime Against Miss Dembner.

TORONTO, May 18 (Canadian Press).—Found guilty of performing an illegal operation on the late Ruth Dembner, Doctor O. C. J. Withrow was sentenced to seven years and Bartlett J. Brooks, fiance of the late Miss Dembner, to five years in Portsmouth Penitentiary by Mr. Justice Logie in the Assizes today. Doctor Withrow collapsed just before being sentenced.

Ruth Elizabeth Dembner died in hospital at Gravenhurst on February 19, following an operation performed at Strathcona Hospital here. Dr. Withrow and Bartlett J. Brooks were arrested on March 23, on charges of performing an illegal operation and manslaughter. At the trial on May 6, the charges of manslaughter against the two men were dropped by the jury and both were convicted on the illegal operation charge. They have been awaiting sentence since that time.

Evidence given at the trial indicated that previous to her death Ruth Dembner said that she was married to Brooks; she was registered at the hospital as "Mrs. Brooks." With Brooks accompanying her she entrained at the Union Station here for Muskoka, but she left the train at Parkdale Station, in the Western section of the city and went at once to the Strathcona Hospital without the knowledge of her family, where the operation was performed by Dr. Withrow. Miss Dembner then went to Gravenhurst, dying shortly after her arrival there.

On the night of March 26, at the conclusion of the inquest, Dr. Withrow was placed under arrest on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Dembner.

The inquest, begun in Gravenhurst, lasted four days in Toronto. The jury added a rider: "That B. J. Brooks was fully aware of her condition and was solely responsible for her condition, and was an accessory before and after the operation."

When Dr. Withrow and Brooks appeared before Justice Logie today, Withrow appeared to be suffering acutely as a result of his position. Brooks looked worried and nervous as he took his place in the dock and listened to the sentence. The doctor, according to his counsel, is in very serious mental condition. He collapsed in the dock and was sitting down as sentence was passed on him. Brooks listened to the judge intently and broke down as he was being taken to the jail following his sentence.

Very few spectators were in the court room and no relatives of either man were present.

Great interest was taken during the trial and the public was finally excluded from the court room.

Addressing Brooks, Mr. Justice Logie said: "Yours was a cowardly offence—to put the blame on the deceased girl. There is not a tittle of evidence to show that you were under her influence at all.

"I accept her mother's evidence that she was a dainty girl with pride in her own personality. She was well brought up by good parents. I believe you seduced her under promise of marriage on the First of September.

"I believe that she was a good and modest girl and you ruined her."

Turning to Dr. Withrow, the judge continued: "You have debased an old and honorable profession to criminal ends. Abortion is all too common a crime and the law looks on it as very serious."

Strangely enough, today was Ruth Dembner's birthday. Had she lived, she would have been 23 years old.

SYNDICATE PLANS SUMMER HOTELS

Viewing Sites in Northern Part of County For This Purpose.

An international syndicate, which is composed chiefly of Canadians, proposes looking over sites in this district for the purpose of erecting hotels to accommodate the summer tourist traffic.

Inquiries have already been made for sites at Catchecoma, where there is a beautiful beach, at Gannon's Narrows, and on Gull Lake. Peterborough will be the logical place where the people from these proposed hotels will do their buying.

MANY DROWNED NEAR MELVILLE

Residents of Central Louisiana Wait Helplessly For Cessation.

FIFTY BELIEVED DEAD.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 18. — Canadian Press. — With 7,000 square miles inundated and waters from breaks in the Atchafalaya River and Bayou de Glaises levees constantly covering more territory, residents of South Central Louisiana to-day helplessly watched the greatest flood in the history of the state as it moved toward the Gulf of Mexico.

An undetermined number of lives have been lost and prospects are that many more will perish before the waters finally fall.

At Melville, 130 miles northwest of this city, where the most serious break occurred yesterday, ten negroes were unofficially reported to have been drowned. At Rosa Plantation, near Melville, the fate of forty persons, was not known here.

ENGINEERS NAME NEW EXECUTIVE

Annual Meeting Held By Local Branch—Reports Presented.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute was held in the Chamber of Commerce council room last night. The reports of the secretary and the chairmen of the sub-committees were presented. A motion picture of several reels was shown of an up-to-date lumber camp illustrating the lumber industry from the time the huge trees are first hewn till they are made into the popular hardwood with which almost every modern home is fitted.

A vote was taken for the executive for the coming season and the following is the scrutineers' report of the result of the vote:

"The executive of the engineers for the coming year will be G. H. Burchwell, E. A. Caddy, W. M. Cruthers, A. B. Gates, J. A Goulet, P. Manning, B. Ottewell, W. E. Ross."

Following the business meeting a social hour was held.

JUPITER NODS.

"Sixty Years of Canadian Progress" is the title of a most interesting booklet prepared by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in connection with the Diamond Jubilee celebration.

It is a splendid volume, full of valuable information, but it slips a cog in one place.

So far so good, but, alas, the picture is an excellent photograph of the lift lock at Kirkfield.

Just in case some of our good Canadian friends may be misled by this mistake, we crave permission to point out that the world's largest lift lock is at Peterborough, and that it is much bigger than the one illustrated in the Confederation booklet.

It is well worth a visit, and as a feature of jubilee year is the adoption of the slogan, "See Canada First," we invite all Canadians to visit Peterborough this summer, and see not only the largest lift lock but the biggest single arch bridge in the country, the largest cereal mill in the British Empire, and a host of other interesting things that we'll be proud to show to our visitors.

CONGRATULATIONS.

Congratulations are in order not only to the six nurses who have graduated from the Nicholl's Hospital Training School but to the management of the hospital itself upon the splendid standard it has maintained in the graduates who have been trained here.

There is a very real place in the community for the nurse who knows her business, and there has never been any question of the capability of those who have graduated from Nicholl's Hospital.

The total number of nurses trained in this well equipped and carefully managed institution since the training school was inaugurated is between 150 and 175, and these graduates have undoubtedly contributed valiant service in the constant warfare that is being waged against illness.

The routine followed by nurses-in-training is far from being a bed of roses; the work is hard and exacting, the responsibility is great, and those young women who have followed the trail to the end are deserving of every congratulation their friends can give them.

A noble profession is theirs, and it is a matter for rejoicing that each year the Nicholl's Hospital is sending out more experts to enlist in the fight to save humanity.

WAIT UNTIL THEY HEAR THIS.

If Commissioner Hanna has been quoted correctly, our friends from the United States are not going to be able to use Ontario as a filling station so far as alcoholic refreshments are concerned.

The genuine tourist who comes into this Province to spend a vacation here is to be treated like one of ourselves and will be able to secure a permit and satisfy his thirst, but the individual who has been counting upon being allowed to slip over the border whenever he felt like it and take on board a supply of liquid refreshment is likely to find himself out of luck.

To enforce this ruling, especially at the border points, is a task that will give the officials much over which to worry.

Half the population of Detroit, for example, has been hopeful of finding Windsor an oasis in the Volstead desert, and the people of Buffalo, Niagara Falls, N. Y., and other cities are looking across the border now with expectant eyes and a fully matured thirst that they expect to be scientifically and efficiently dealt with in Ontario.

The agitation in Windsor over the exclusion from Detroit of Canadian workers will seem tame when compared with the grief that will be occasioned in United States border cities when Mr. Hanna's pronouncement sinks in.

A REAL PROBLEM.

The question is raised by The Globe as to what the traffic conditions on the highways will be in ten years from now if the number of motor cars in commission continues to increase.

It is a query that is already giving many people cause for worry.

Even now the traffic on main highways, notably on Sunday, is so heavy that motoring has ceased to be a pleasure, especially to the driver who finds his nerves shaken by the constant strain of endeavouring to avert accidents.

With more cars in use this situation will rapidly grow worse, and before long there will be a real problem to solve, as to how safer and more comfortable conditions can be reached.

In the meanwhile the responsibility upon every driver to observe traffic regulations and to follow the Golden Rule of the road is heavy.

Only by careful and courteous driving can accidents be avoided under traffic conditions as they are at present, and the reckless and the careless will have to be dealt with more severely than has so far been the case.

In the first place, the man who is found guilty of driving a car while under the influence of liquor should be prevented from again touching the wheel of a motor car.

With traffic congesting the main highways there is no room for people who attempt to drive when they have not complete control of their faculties.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Fortunately the only warfare so far occasioned by the raid on the London Soviet headquarters has been between The Toronto Globe and The Star.

Miss Agnes MacPhail must be ill. She has not yet raised her voice to protest against the attack by the British Government on the headquarters of the Soviet.

Mr. Hanna is said to have "good-naturedly" remarked that no liquor will be sold until some time after May 24th. Some of the prospective customers see no reason to be good-natured about the delay.

The Anglican Synod of the Diocese of Huron has passed a resolution declaring that cadet training "makes for steadiness of character and the building up of sound minds and healthy bodies."

"What will the ever-increasing hordes of automobiles do next summer? What will they do ten summers hence?" asks The Globe. By that time probably they will have to be alloted turns to use the highways.

SHREDDED WHEAT

Its toothsome whole-wheat flavor
Gives new delight in food

HIC-CUPS MAY BE DANGEROUS.

Hic-cup may also be pronounced hic-cough but never "he-cup." This disorder may be of brief duration and often starts after a spell of laughing. In such a case it usually disappears as soon as calmness is restored to the nervous system. Taking a drink of cold water or breathing in and out deeply will generally suffice.

The cause is always a spasmodic contraction of the diaphragm either of a nervous origin, or because of some pressure or irritation of the diaphragm itself. If too much food is eaten at a meal the pressure may be great enough to start a hiccup which may continue until the stomach is empty, which may require eight or ten hours. By that time the diaphragm, which is a flat muscle, may become sore and irritated and keep right on with its spastic jerks, unless something is done to quiet it down.

Excessive stomach gas may likewise cause the hiccups to start and if the gas is quickly eliminated by belching the hiccups will cease.

A chronic hiccup may develop from brain irritation or from kidney stones, or a pelvic disease. This chronic form is often quite dangerous if it continues for several days. Drugs are sometimes given with good temporary results, but in many cases even this fails.

I have never known of a case which could not be stopped within a minute or two by a simple treatment with pressure upon the central cervical plexus. This collection of nerve centers is located on each side of the spine, about in the center, between the base of the skull and the seventh cervical vertebrae which is the one you can feel protruding at the base of the neck.

The layman can sometimes deaden this plexus by holding a piece of ice on each side of the neck, about half way down between the head and shoulders. Another treatment may be used by the patient by placing the fingers of each hand on the sides of the neck and bending the head as far backwards as possible, pressing forward with the fingers at the same time.

If these treatments do not stop the hiccup, call in an osteopath or chiropractor who will be able to make the needed pressure at exactly the right spot and thereby stop the spasms almost instantly.

Of course, if a chronic cause continues to exist the hiccup will return again in several hours, and the real cause must be ascertained and eliminated.

If one is subject to these attacks every evening after dinner, it is well to remember what I have said about the common cause often being from eating too much food—eating too rapidly, or using food which makes too much stomach gas.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

THE BEST MONUMENT
By Dr. Frank Crane.

Gabriele d'Annunzio, Italy's soldier poet, came out of his self-imposed exile at Lake Garda the other day and announced that he would attend the ceremony in honor of St. Francis and plant trees for the reforestation of Mount Subasio.

He said that the tree was a better memorial to the saint than the erection of a monument.

Man has been a monument building animal. He differs from the other animals in putting up memorials over the grave of his kind.

There have been many splendid monuments in the past, such as the tomb of Hadrian, the Pyramids and the Taj Mahal.

It is doubtful, however, if anything in the way of a memorial could be set up so appropriate as a tree, for the tree is man's best friend and the tree is a living thing.

By its annual regeneration it illustrates the hope of man's immortality, by its shade or its fruits it gives of its substance to man's welfare.

It is especially fitting in the case of Saint Francis that a tree should be selected, for Saint Francis was a great lover of nature. He called the birds and the animals of the forest his friends and even composed a poem to his brother the Sun.

How he must have loved the trees and have been grateful for their protecting life.

Man has been slowly coming to the conclusion that he must conserve the forests as well as exploit them. They temper the climate, they modify the effects of the rain fall and from their wood many implements, and the dwellings of man are constructed.

It would be most in keeping with the order of things that those who are seeking for a memorial to their dead should plant a tree.

Among the ancient Germans each man's life was supposed to be bound up with some tree, and when he was dead his coffin was made from that tree.

We may not be descended from tree inhabiting animals, as it has been held, but it is certain that deep in the heart of mankind is implanted a love for trees, and the waving tree will be his best memorial.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 18 (Canadian Press).—Owing to the continued indifferent demand from English importers for grain in the Montreal market exporters generally reported business dull.

There were no new features in the local cash grain market, prices being firm, but the demand was limited and the volume of business small.

The inquiry for Spring and Winter wheat grades of flour showed no improvement, but the undertone was steady.

A fair trade was done in all lines of millfeed and values were firm. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was inactive, blue values were unchanged.

Prices for all grades of eggs were well maintained under a good demand. The receipts were 4,583 cases.

The strength which has characterized the potato market of late was more pronounced yesterday and prices scored a further advance of 10 cents per bag. This was attributed to the scarcity of supplies and the good demand. Sales of odd cars of Quebec B grade were made at $2 to $2.10 per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, ex-track.

An easier feeling developed in the butter market owing to the small demand, and prices were reduced ½c per pound. The receipts were 674 packages.

The cheese trade continued quiet but firm. The receipts were 2,453 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 18 (Canadian Press).—Embarrassing heavy rains in Canada and predictions of a big decrease of wheat acreage there did a good deal to lift wheat values yesterday. Wheat closed firm ½ to 1c net higher, with corn ⅝ to ¾c up; oats ¼ to ½c off, and provisions varying from 15c decline to 5c advance.

Corn developed independent strength with aggressive buying based on a forecast of widespread showers which are expected to cause further delay to plowing and planting. Delay to field work is now regarded as very serious over a big area, with temperatures too low for germination. Oats were sluggish and lacked support.

Firmness of hog values upheld the provision market.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, May 18 (Canadian Press).—Cattle 11,000; stockers and feeders few and far between, $8.50 to $9.75; best heavy steers $13.65; sprinkling at $12.60 to $13.25; most fed steers $10 to $11.75; largely $10 to $11; trade to big packers on vealers, few $11.50 to $12; outsiders $13 to $13.50.

Hogs 20,000; top $10.10; bulk better grade, 160 to 200 pound average $9.75 to $10; 210 to 240 pounds $9.65 to $10; 140 to 170 pounds $9.50 to $9.85; most pigs $9 to $9.50; bulk packing sows $8.50 to $8.75; few big weight butchers below $9.40; most 260 to 300 pound averages $9.50 to $9.65.

Sheep 9,000; desirable clipped lambs $15 to $15.50; three doubles Colorado wool skins $16.50; wooled ewes up to $9; slipped ewes $7.50 to $8.25.

FARMER FINDS BLOOD ROYAL.

That the blood that has been coursing through his veins for nearly 40 years is of royal hue, has just been learned by Thomas W. Goodwin, a humble farm worker of Berden, England. Through accident he ascertained that his ancestry has been traced back to Earl Godwin, father of King Harold, who was killed in the Battle of Hastings in 1066. Deprived of their wealth and possessions when King Harold died, his relatives were obliged to become farm hands, and today Harold's descendents plough for a living. Goodwin is a typical Saxon, content to do his work well, cultivate his little garden and bring up his two daughters and one son, who is known in the village as "Little King Harold."

Orvil Vokes, 9, Falls Beneath Wheel of Manure Spreader.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., May 18—Running along beside the manure spreader on the farm of his father, nine-year-old Orvil Vokes, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs Ernest Vokes, of Derby Township, fell under the wheel of the machine and was brushed to death instantly yesterday morning.

Fred Thompson, who was driving the team at the time, saw the lad and two others running beside the wagon but considered them well out of harm's way.

NEW BARRYMORE FILM DRAMATIC STORY

"The Beloved Rogue", in which John Barrymore brings to the screen the fascinating story of Francois Villon, famed eccentric poet of Fifteenth Century France, and Barrymore's first feature production for United Artists, is a picture composed of "big moments." Dramatic highlights follow each other in such rapid succession that the production affords a continual series of thrills, building up to a surprising climax.

The new Barrymore picture, which opens tomorrow at the Capitol theatre, begins its story just before the birth of the baby Villon, who is destined to infuence the entire history of France through the power of his pen. The opening sequence strikes a high dramatic note without preliminaries, with the burning at the stake of Francois Villon's father, advocate of liberty and compatriot of Joan of Arc. While his ashes still are smouldering in the square of Rouen and while bold ravens flutter over the charred heap on the altar, the mother places some of the ashes in a small locket and vows that the babe yet to be born will finish the work of the father. This locket, on the birth of Francois Villon, is placed about his neck and remains there throughout his life, the significance of the token forming a poignant dramatic strain throughout the picture.

Then, from this depth of tragedy, the story swings forward into a lighter phase, with Villon, now full grown, revealed not only as the greatest poet of the time, but also as a housebreaker of exceptional skill, clambering over the rooftops to steal great pitchers, and using the pitcher in a game of wits to defraud an inn keeper of wine.

Villon, brilliant of mind yet the companion of thieves and the idol of the street sharps, is chosen King of Fools by the merrymakers of the streets on All Fool's Day. With the assistance of his friends and admirers he is made up in a manner befitting the title, with a comic crown atop his head, distorted eyebrows, a great clump of a putty nose and exaggerated lips. The makeup is at once ludicrous and startling, and sharply in contrast with anything Barrymore ever has essayed previously.

During the merrymaking Villon, from the vantage point of an equestrian statue, taunts Charles of Burgundy, en route with his entourage to visit the king, and incites the mob to surround the visiting ruler and his chief aide, Thibault D'Aussigny so that they are unable to proceed. Louis XI of France, riding out to meet Charles of Burgundy, arrives in the midst of the confusion and the crowd falls away, abashed, leaving Villon crouched on the statue, a most amazing figure in his disguise. The King, played by the great German actor, Conrad Veidt, on learning the identity of the mischief maker, decrees that Villon is to be banished from Paris.

For a moment Villon is unable to understand the full meaning of his words. And then he realizes that he must leave Paris, the Paris that means life to him, the source of all his inspiration, his greatest love. And with the realization tears well in his eyes. Heartbroken, he twists the misshapen nose of putty from his face, and casts it dejectedly aside. The tears stream down his face and Villon, giving way to his feelings, rubs his knuckles in his eyes and works his hands across his face in desperation until the makeup of the King of Fools is gone and there on the screen, in a startling closeup, in less time than it takes to tell it, is the pitiful, unnerved, shattered Villon—victim of a foolish impulse.

And throughout "The Beloved Rogue" there is this skilful blending of the tragic and the comic, for in Paris of the Fifteenth Century tragedy and comedy went hand in hand. The spirit of the time is caught by the players and placed on the screen with a fidelity and realism that marks one of the outstanding motion picture achievements in years.

In addition to the support of Conrad Veidt in the heavy role of the king, John Barrymore selected to play with him in "The Beloved Rogue" such well known players as Marceline Day, Lawson Butt, Henry Victor, Slim Summerville, Mack Swain, Nigel de Brulier, Lucy Beaumont, Otto Matiesen, Jane Winton, Rose Dione, Bertram Grassby, Dick Sutherland and Angelo Rossitto the dwarf. Alan Crosland directed.

AT THE REGENT.

"MAGNIFICENT AND SPECTACULAR.

For many years producers have cast longing eyes at "Michael Strogoff," Jules Verne's gripping story of a Russian officer's mission through Siberia at the time when the country was infested with hostile Tartars, but the difficulties involved have always turned them away disappointed. That is, until the Societe des Cineromans, fresh from their triumph with "Les Miserables," undertook the work.

It was a tremendous undertaking. Eight months were consumed in making the picture, which comes to the Regent Theatre to-day, and the director and his company journeyed from Paris to Latavia, a former province of Russia, to film the exteriors. There they were given every assistance by the Latvian government. Of this the advance agent who preceded the company wrote:

Latvian Government Assists.

"I have found the most kind and charming welcome here, and my task has been facilitated by the courteous chief of the Latvian delegation in Paris who prepared the way for me and introduced me to the chief of the Press Services at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Riga. Thanks to their valuable support, I have only had to knock at the doors of the ministries for them to be opened. The Minister of Foreign Affairs has granted us all the necessary visas; the Home Office has authorized us to film in all the teritory of the Latvian Republic; the Financial Department to enter the French customs house for a period of three months. In addition, the railways have placed at our disposal a complete train which dates back to 1850, the period of the story. I have also obtained a steamship which belongs to the period whhich moves by a single paddle-wheel placed behind."

"JOYFUL" FINDS SAD DEATH.

"Joyful," who for years made many Scottish hearts light, has died in the poor house that she so long fought to evade. "Joyful" was Christina Macdonald, a street singer, who lived in a cave near Coversea Lighthouse near Lossiemouth, Scotland. She earned her sobriquet because of the partiality of herself ad her blind husband for the hymn "Oh that will be Joyful." Taken ill recently she was moved to the Elgin poorhouse, but disliking to live under a roof, escaped at night. Her dog led rescuers to a lonely spot where she was found numb and speechless. Policemen fought off the faithful animal and took "Joyful back to the poorhouse, where she died.

In Peterborough Churches

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCHES

Last Sunday marked another milestone—the 94th, in the long history of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough, one of the oldest Presbyterian churches in the Dominion. The interest of the members in the work of the church was reflected by large attendances both morning and evening, the evening gathering being particularly large. The anniv rsary preacher was Rev. Dr. R. W. Dickie, of Knox-Crescent Presbyterian Church, Montreal. Dr. Dickie is known from coast to coast for his scholarship, and as a powerful speaker, and showed these qualities in the addresses delivered on Sunday. The choir rendered splendid co-operation at both services and in the evening assisted with the special organ prelude, commencing at 6.45. Mr. Heather, the noted tenor of Toronto, was the special soloist for the day, singing twice, both morning and evening. The n w organ is being increasingly enjoyed, especially on special occasions such as was observed on Sunday.

The characteristic of a true congregation of believers were described by Dr. Dickie at the morning service. Such a congregation means a community of interest and identity of purpose. It is more than the building in which it worships, and involves a willingness to bear and forbear. St. Paul, in laying the foundation of the Christian church, did not accept any or all who desired to join but insisted on the necessity for their accepting Christ as their Lord and Master, and as their salvation from Sin, and on looking to Him as the Head of the Church.

Evening Service.

The text for the evening service was found in St. Luke, 19: 8 and 9, "And Zaccheus stood and said unto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor, and if I have taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold, and Jesus said unto him, This day is salvation come to this house." "Jerusalem," said Dr. Dickie, "is famous among other things because it was the home of two social outcasts—Rahab, the harlot, under the old dispensation and Zaccheus, the publican, in the new, of both of whom it is reported that they turned from sin unto God."

Christ once said, "Thou art not far from the Kingdom of God." There are many people who give us that impression. When they accept Christ we are not surprised. There are others, however, of whom we expect but little. Their character and mode of life appears to set them aside as hopeless sinners. To the Jews of his day, Zaccheus was one of these. It is the habit of mankind to create social distinctions and to classify people by these standards. Often these standards are wrong. This was shown when on one occasion Christ stated, speaking to the Pharisees, that the publicans and harlots would enter into the Kingdom of Heaven before they would.

There are three things which might be noted about Zaccheus. First, he was dissatisfied with his own life. It had been a profitable one for him, but it had made him unpopular with his people. He was in the pay of the Romans, and collected taxes on their behalf from his brethren, the Jews. It was his privilege to take all that he could secure above what it was necessary to pay over to the Romans, or "all the traffic would bear." Then, as now, prosperity covered a multitude of sins. Nevertheless, Zaccheus was uncomfortable. His mode of life had hardened him and had driven him away from the people with whom he would have liked to have associated. He had become a social outcast. Unlike humanity, Christ did not turn away from such people. He had pity on them and brought to them a loving friendship that He might win them back to Him. We should show a love toward sinners strong enough to condemn their sins, and yet which will restore them to a proper life. Zaccheus had heard of Christ. He had heard that He was a friendly man, and that He had actually eaten with publicans like himself. It was said that He associated with sinners, and that He met with all classes of people. Zaccheus felt himself a friendless, homeless, soul. This led him to seek out Jesus in order that he might see Him for himself.

The second point about Zaccheus was that he put himself in Christ's way. To his great surprise Christ welcomed him and offered to abide in his house. No one had spoken to him in that way before. This treatment reached his heart. They went home together. All the while the Love of God was finding its way into this publican's heart. Zaccheus was transformed into a new world of thought and action and soon realized that he wanted to make it permanently his. It made him dissatisfied with himself and with his past life. He saw things in a new light. Money no longer seemed the most important thing in life. Instead he realized that it was a trust from God, and he related it to Christ.

The third thing about Zaccheus was that he had to decide for himself what his future action was to be. He immediately determined, in a very practical way, that he would befriend the poor and make good his former extortions. He realized at last that money was not something for his own selfish purposes. Instead its chief value consisted in the good that might be accomplished through it. No one took his money from him. The law said he was legally entitled to it. Christ did not command that he should surrender it. His decision grew out of the new vision of himself he received through contact with Christ. This showed him that there were things in his past life that needed to be put right. Only the touch of Christ in our lives will yield such results. He had learned to love the Lamb of God and his life was transformed thereby.

SALVATION ARMY TEMPLE

Services were conducted by the local officers of the corps, in the absence of Adj. Ham. The evening service was in charge of Brother and Sister H. Parnell, who have lately returned to reside in the city, following several years service as Salvation Army officers. The Altar Service in connection with the Self-Denial Campaign was also held during this service. Mrs. Parnell read from the 9th Chapter of Revelations, and taking no set text, drew the attention of the congregation to three cities, first the one we live in, second, the one we shall one day reside in; third, the one we hope to enter into.

In the first chapter of the Bible we commence reading the story of creation, and how God created things inanimate, then that which had life and lastly, the wonder creation—man. Springtime, more than ever, draws our attention to the marvels of God. You and I entered the world and became habitants of the city of Mankind, and God's purpose was that we should glorify Him in all things. It is now that while in health and strength we must do the will of God—we must not live to ourselves in the city of Mankind, and in all put God first—others second—self last.

How true are the words of the old hymn:

"Swift to its close ebbs out life's little day"

And we must all soon become residents of the city of the Dead—the cemetery. Often when with solemn tread and reverence we wander in our cemetery I am struck with the thought that, although this city, Peterborough, sometimes is thickly peopled, how much more is that true of the cemetery on every hand graves no matter where you look. And again, while one thinks of the sadness of death, yet there is comfort in blessedness of death. It must surely be terrible to meet death unprepared, but what joy for those who go—

Washed in the blood of the Lamb."

And we can to-night in truth say:

"O death, where is thy sting."

Lastly, we all want to take up our residence in the city of God. There is only one way of entrance and that is by the blood of Jesus Christ. He died on Calvary for you. We each have different thoughts of this city—Heaven; to me it means Jesus, for—

"I shall see Him face to face."

There are those here who Heaven is most precious to, because of loved ones there—of the meeting that there will be again. Often have we sung these words:

"Picture tonight a city fair and bright
All its beauties never yet were told;
'Tis there I long to be,
For loved ones wait for me
Up in that city paved with Gold."

And while we think of it tonight, let us each one determine then, while in the city of Mankind, we will do all we can to make it happy for others; then when we are to enter the city of the Dead, it will not be with fear and trembling, but with joy, realizing that we are about to enter the City of God.

ENDURED AGONY FROM BRUISES AND STRAIN

Hurt in bad fall, young woman makes quick recovery

A young woman at Bushnell's Basin, Monroe County, New York, fell and was badly bruised and strained.

"I suffered agony," she writes, "but I used Sloan's Liniment and it relieved the pain right away. Now I don't feel it at all."

What is the secret of the almost magical powers of this remarkable remedy?

Simply the fact that Sloan's doesn't merely deaden the nerves so that you don't feel the pain. It really drives out the pain by helping the conditions that are causing it.

Right to the affected spot it brings a healing stream of fresh, revitalizing blood, driving out congestion, relaxing contracted muscles. The pain stops as a natural consequence.

So clean and easy to use, too. Just pat it on lightly without rubbing, and the liniment will do its work. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists have it—35 cents.

Extreme Exhaustion

A Hospital Matron's Opinion of Virol

"Rosevale Hospital, Dumfries, Scotland.

"The above photographs are of a little girl aged 7 years and 5 months, who was certified by her doctor to be suffering from Wasting Disease and sent to Hospital, where on admission her weight was 25½ lbs.

"She was in a state of extreme emaciation and exhaustion. Apart from the usual Hospital diet she had no special treatment except Virol, which she had thrice daily from admission. Eight weeks after admission she weighed 39¼ lbs., and the photograph on the right was taken at that time.

"I think you will agree with me that it is a striking recommendation for your wonderful preparation Virol, and I am pleased to have this opportunity of stating that during my nursing experience of over 20 years in Hospital, I have considered it to be my greatest standby in the treatment of all delicate children under my care.

(Sgd.) "J. A. McCALLUM, Matron."

Here in this case you have the Doctor prescribing Virol, the Matron testifying to the splendid results. No wonder that

Virol is used in more than 3,000 Hospitals and Clinics

No other food has ever had the same confidence with Doctors, or gives the same splendid results.

TRIBUTE PAID REV. H. J. KEITH

Former Minister Here Subject of Article in Winnipeg Tribune.

POPULAR IN WEST.

The following tribute to a former minister of Knox church, written for The Winnipeg Tribune by "The Wanderer" will be of interest to many Peterborough people:

"Rev. Henry James Keith, M.A., D.D., pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, River Heights, on the evening of March 2, 1919, at an induction service in old St. Andrew's Church. Mr. Keith (he was not a doctor at that time) came to Winnipeg from Westminster Presbyterian Church, Edmonton, to succeed Rev. Dr A. G. Sinclair. Mr. Keith impressed me that first evening of our acquaintance with his similarity to David, the sweet singer of Israel. He was of "a ruddy countenance," his fair hair and sanguine complexion being very striking, and giving him an air of vigorous good health and abundant energy

"When Mr. Keith came to live in Winnipeg he was already a seasoned veteran in the ministry Born in Smith Falls, Ontario, he obtained his high school training in that town, then proceeded to McGill University, where he received his B.A. in 1899. His theological studies were pursued at Montreal Presbyterian College and Princeton Theological Seminary. His B.D. was conferred upon him by Montreal Presbyterian College. After spending another year in graduate work at McGill and in teaching Latin and Greek in theological college, he obtained his MA. degree. In 1904 he married Miss Louise McDougall, a class-mate and graduate of McGill University. Mr. and Mrs. Keith went to India in the same year under the auspices of the International Committee of the Y.M.C.A.

"On returning to Canada in 1906, Mr. Keith received a call to Knox Church, Peterborough. After eight years of faithful service to that congregation, when he saw the membership grow from 60 to 300, he followed Horace Greeley's advice and took the western trail. Settling in Edmonton in 1914, he was minister there during the difficult years of the war Mr. Keith was for a year President of the Social Service Council of Alberta.

"This experience in social work was very helpful when he became pastor of St. Andrew's Chruch in this city. Twenty years ago it was one of the largest congregations in Winnipeg, but the invasion of the railways into the Elgin Avenue section of the city, there was a movement of population to the newer districts Many of the members of St. Andrew's built homes in the River Heights area. During Dr. Sinclair's pastorate the congregation decided to build a church on Oak Street and by the time Mr. Keith arrived on the scene St Andrew's was a bifurcated charge, the newer church, although a small edifice, being well attended. It was, however, a difficult task to look after the two congregations, specially where a down-town problem was involved. That Mr. Keith accomplished this work with devotion and established himself firmly not only in the hearts of his own people but won recognition from his brother ministers for his good work and graces of character is evident from the fact that two years ago he received the honorary degree of D.D. from Manitoba College

"Owing to the rapid growth of the work in both churches it was felt that a rearrangement would benefit both congregations. Accordingly a year ago, with the sanction of Presbytery, St Andrew's became two independent units, Dr. Keith being installed as pastor of St Andrew's Heights.

"Dr. Keith has not confined his labors entirely to his own congregation For several years he has been convener of the Fresh Air Camp Committee, supervising the camps of the United Church in Gimli. Troughout his entire ministry he has been an enthusiastic supporter of the foreign missions of the church. While minister in Peterborough he was appointed member of the Foreign Mission Board of the Presbyterian Church and has been a member of that body ever since.

"As a preacher Dr. Keith is of the old covenanting order. He believes in passing on to his congregation "the strong meat of the Word." He is the antithesis of the sensational, topical preacher. His message is noted not only for its sanity but for its spirituality. Every Sunday he has a little sermon for the boys and girls and is an adept in the attractive feature of the service.

"In his pastoral work Dr. Keith has endeared himself to his people by his unfailing kindliness and devotion"

COUNCIL MEETING.

MILLBROOK, May 18.—The regular monthly meeting of Cavan Council was held on May 11, with all members present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and on motion of Councillors McKnight and Finney were adopted and signed.

A communication was read from the Ontario Bridge Company stating they had some second hand steel bridges on hand which might be suitable for some local work. Also from Jamieson Bone & Co. offering a few wheel scrapers for sale.

A deputation headed by Mr. R. Patton waited on the Council asking to have some work done on the 4th Line, West. Also a deputation headed by Mr. R. O. Ball asking to have a certain amount expended on the 12th Line, East. Both these deputations were assured that they would receive consideration when the Council made their annual trip over the roads to lay out the season's work.

McKnight-Finney: That the Reeve sign the following orders. Carried: J. Douglas, $290.00; S. C. Boyles, $200; The Millbrook Telephone Co., $2.47; London & Lancashire Ins. Co., $50; George Dalnard, $10; W. A. Fallis, $5.80; T. M. Brock, $12.95; J. H. McKnight, $7.75; H. I. Seymour, $15.35; W. Nill, $16.25; L. T. Moncrief, $24.50; L. E Fallis, $10.50; J. W. Hamilton, $12.05; W. Greig, $2.60; Ira Lowes, $5.50; W. G. Russell & Sons, $13; Sawyer & Massey, $17.16; L. H. Gibson, $301.60; Council pay, $42; J. N. McGill, $37.50.

Hooton-Finney: That the Council adjourn to meet Tuesday the 31st, day of May, 10:30 a.m. for a first meeting as a Court of Revision on the Assessment Roll of 1927 and that a regular meeting of the Council be held on the same date.

HASTINGS LIQUOR SHOP IS RUMORED

Permits Arrived Yesterday, But Who Has Them ?

HASTINGS, May 18.—(Special).—The possibility of Hastings getting a liquor store was mentioned here yesterday with a degree of positiveness suggesting that it 'could be had for the asking." The town gave the Government a majority, and, with the exception of one local option vote, it has manifested a "wet" sentiment whenever its opinion was sought. A close friend of the Government was The Examiner's informant that there was considerable likelihood of a vendor's shop being allotted to Hastings, but it is unlikely that any move in that direction will be made until the larger centers are supplied.

Yesterday there were rumors that the new permits had arrived, but no one could locate the citizen who had been selected to dispose of them. Several names were bruited around the streets, and the final rumor was probably the correct one, although there was no special interest flown from that quarters, no sign for instance, "Liquor permits; for sale here; $2 each. Line up on the right." Nothing like that at all. In fact it is altogether likely that the parties of American tourists who arrived this week with the May flowers and Golden Orioles were unaware that the Government's licenses to consumers had reached town, signifying a culminating stage in the sumptuary law amendments the people of Ontario demanded in the 1926 provincial elections.

Mr. T. A. Coughlin has purchased the P. M. Howard residence and will occupy it next week .

Women, Here Are Facts

Mrs. Walter Coles

Woodstock, Ont.—"I have been greatly benefited by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and do not hesitate to recommend it as a woman's tonic and nervine. I was all rundown, weak and nervous—had a draggy, worn-out feeling. I took the 'Prescription' and found it very helpful. It built me up in health and strength and made me feel so well that I would take it again if I were ever in need of a tonic and nerve medicine, for I was very well satisfied with the way it helped me."—Mrs. Walter Coles, 53 Huron St.

FIRST PERMIT IS HIS PROUD BOAST

Campbellford Man Gets His Before Designated Day.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 18.—(Special).—One day in advance of the general sale, the first liquor permit was issued in town yesterday to a prominent citizen who had established his priority by request some time ago. Of course he was a loyal supporter of the Ferguson Government in the December polling and was keen for what the W.C.T.U. might regard as the questionable distinction of receiving the first permit handed out in Campbellford.

And from all accounts the aforementioned prominent citizen doesn't intend to frame this official license to buy from the government beers, wines and liquors, at least not until its sanction lapses in October. By that time it will probably be tattered and torn from frequent displaying of its—to his friends. Well, there's no suggestion of Campbellford getting a liquor store.

Mr. Robert Lowry is the official distributor of the licenses which are being issued from J. C. Birmingham's hardware store. And on the opening page of the pad in the Abou Ben Adam's position is the name of the gentleman of leisure who has thereby achieved the ephemeral fame of "beating the gang" to the Government's new form of "scripts."

Girl telephone operators in New Orleans no longer waste time by repeating numbers. They simply say "Thank you."

That nine-tenths of the women nowadays are "one-hat women" is a complaint heard in the millinery trade. When her piece of felt head covering becomes too shabby to wear, the woman visits her hatter and buys a near duplicate of the hat that is to be discarded.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Faith and Bob looked at each other with blank eyes, sick with disappointment, when they saw that the passenger who alighted from the cab they were pursuing was not a crippled, twisted old wreck of a man, but a briskly stepping, tall, middle-aged business man. He paid his fare and passed through the storm doors of the building's entrance.

"I suppose I'm a fool, but I want to follow that man, find out where the beggar got out and he got in. You sit here, honey, and if a cop tries to pinch you for parking in the 'no parking' zone, tell him I'm on police business. God knows I hope I am!" And Bob swung out of his car and ran into the building.

A uniformed elevator starter had just given the signal for a car to close its door and ascend when Bob reached the row of elevators.

"Can you tell me who that gentleman is?" he asked the starter. "The last one who entered the car—the man in the gray overcoat and gray felt hat, middle-aged, tall and thin."

"Why, that's Mr. Hutchinson, president of 'The Modern Terpischore Company,' on the seventh floor," the starter told him.

"'The Modern Terpsichore Company'?" Bob smiled. "That's a new one, isn't it? What does he do—teach dancing? He hardly looks the part."

"Haven't you seen his ads in the papers and magazines?" the starter asked with a grin. "'How to learn to dance, in ten easy lessons.' Mail order graft, you know. Been in the building about six or eight months. Pretty good little business, I understand, though Mr. Hutchinson leaves most of the work to his secretary. She tells me she's working herself to death."

"Did you find out where the beggar got out of the taxi?" Faith asked him when he took his place at the wheel again.

He drove frowningly for a few minutes, then asked abruptly: "You did not look into that cab when the fare got out, did you, dear?"

"No, I didn't," Faith answered puzzled.

"That smartly dressed business man, darling," Bob grinned at her, but his eyes were serious with thought, "was not so smartly dressed a year or so ago. In fact, he was wearing a nifty suit of horizontal stripes."

"What in the world do you mean, Bob?" Faith gasped. "What is he?"

"None other than Brady W. Hutchinson, who was convicted of embezzlement in this town about ten years ago. I didn't recognize him at first—he looks much older—why's he's really only about thirty-eight years old, but he looks fifty—"

"Did Mr. Cluny defend him?" Faith demanded, her eyes widening with incredulous hope.

"He did—and lost the case. Don't you remember? But I guess you were too young. Hutchinson was caught dead to rights, though the bank he swindled never recovered the money. There were ugly rumors that he turned it over to Uncle Ralph to defend him, and to salt the rest of it away for him until he got out of trouble and could skip the country."

"Brady W. Hutchinson!" Faith cried, awe-struck at the size of the fish they had accidentally caught in their net, spread to snare a twisted old cripple. "Brady! Why, Bob, he's the 'B' who signed the threatening letter! And he was riding in the same taxicab with the cripple whose footprints match the ones you saw under your uncle's window. Oh, I was right! Hutchinson did hire the crippled beggar to kill your uncle—"

"I thought we had both concluded, darling, that old Phil was too horribly crippled up to kill a cat," Bob reminded her. "But—the plot certainly thickens at an astonishing rate. Shall we tell Churchill?"

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

Reports From Presbyterial Feature Regular Monthly Meeting.

The monthly meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held on Tuesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. G. W. Gordon, in the chair. The usual devotional exercises marked the opening of the meeting, Mrs. Gordon and Mrs. Leslie leading in prayer.

The Misses Best and Ferguson gave reports on the recent W.M.S. convention held here, and were listened to with much interest.

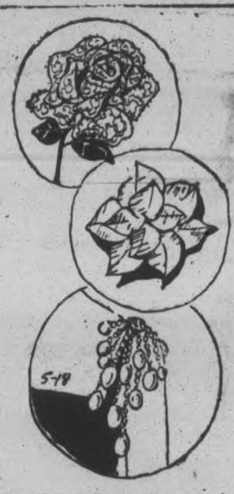
Mrs. V. Walker favored the ladies with the beautiful vocal solo, "I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go, Dear Lord," much to the pleasure of all present.

A very fine paper was then read by Mrs. W. J. Nelson, the subject being "Thank offering box in the family."

The meeting closed with prayer by Miss Dixon and the Lord's prayer in unison.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL



Ecru lace fashions the rose shown above; white pique forms the white flower for tailored suit shown in the center, while the shoulder ornament for evening wear consists of a rose made of a variety of imitation jewels.

French observers sometimes ascribe the present and continued fashion for artificial corsage flowers to the patriotic intention of French women to support the artificial flower industry. Once this industry depended on the milliners to make business brisk and keep thousands of women busy, but since it does not please fashion to trim hats with flowers—at least lavishly—other places must be found for them.

Patriotism may have some small element in the fashion abroad—but in this country we can have no such motive. We wear our boutonnieres and corsage flowers frankly because we like them, and because most women have come to feel as unfinished without some such ornament as they would without powder on their noses or a handkerchief in their handbags.

There is a strong disposition to wear flowers that are not made in the old conventional manner of the usual silk and velvet. And every day we seem to see some new material called into requisition by the flower makers. There is a fresh, summary look to the white pique boutonnieres to be worn with the tailored suit, quite as smart and crisp as those of leather, but lighter, and therefore more in keeping with the season.

There is no limit apparently to what the flower makers can do with ribbon. Charming new boutonnieres are made of striped ribbon cut and slashed irregularly and made into neat flat blossoms. Gauze ribbon is made into large flowers, as light as thistle down to wear with summer evening gowns, and metal trimmed ribbons are made into ornaments half rosettes and half flowers in appearance.

Lace flowers are exquisite—especially when made of fine ecru alencon lace the color of cream-white roses. There are wax flowers, feather flowers, wooden flowers, linen flowers, cretonne flowers, fur flowers, metal flowers, and now some lovely flower-like ornaments for evening wear made from strands and strings of jewel-colored glass beads and drops.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

Thursday, May 19, 1927.

(Copyright, 1927, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Another unfavorable day is read by astrologers who counsel care in conducting business and domestic affairs.

He who is most confident is likely to meet with disappointment under this planetary government, which makes for bad judgment.

It is well for merchants and manufacturers to be conservative, for surprising conditions are to develop which will affect world markets, the seers warn.

Changes in the modes may cause losses to importers, if the stars are read aright.

Fashion is to decree that dress shall cost more for men and women, but at first it may not benefit those who materialize the new ideas.

Reactionary tendencies toward modest and simple manners as well as attire again are foretold.

There is a fairly good sign for starting on journeys and there are many indications that the volume of travel will be greater than ever before during vacation time.

Large movements of populations are to be evident before the coming of autumn when commerce will affect the Pacific coast favorably.

Astrologers foretell a startling crime that will be of international concern.

A man high in governmental affairs is to be assassinated or wounded and sensational conditions are to develop.

All the signs appear to presage bitter clashes of opinion regarding religion and politics.

Success for forces not in good repute with conservative citizens is prognosticated for political campaigns in certain states.

Persons whose birthdate it is have an augury of a favorable year and they should be most successful in large enterprises.

Children born on this day may be rather self-contained and difficult to influence, but they probably will be exceedingly successful all through life.

Dainty Clothes for Baby

Comfort and daintiness combine in these extra garments for babies who must look their prettiest every hour of the day. When taken for an airing in the pram, a long coat of soft warm flannel, with dart-fitted cape, and round collar having scalloped edges and touches of embroidery, would be the very nicest thing to wear, especially when a bonnet with turn-back extension of matching material and embroidery is worn with it. The pattern also provides a short jacket, and the extension may be left off the bonnet. Cream cashmere makes an adorable kimono when tied with pretty ribbons down the front and under the arms. The kimono pattern is perforated for shorter length. Coat with cape requires 2½ yards of 36-inch material, without cape 1⅞ yards, short jacket ⅝ yard, long kimono 1⅝ yards, short kimono ⅝ yard, bonnet ¼ yard. The complete pattern is cut for one size only. Price 20 cents.

Our Fashion Book, illustrating the newest and most practical styles, will be of interest to every home dressmaker. Price of the RECITAL GIVEN.

Pupils of Mrs. P. S. Dallin and Miss Mary Wood Please Audience.

A very successful recital by advanced pupils of Mrs. P. S. Dallin, A.C.A.M., and Miss Mary Wood, A.T.C.M., assisted by Miss Violet Buckham, soprano, and Mr. Edwin Rowe, baritone, was given in the green room of the Young Women's Christian Association last evening, with a large attendance of about one hundred and thirty people, who applauded enthusiastically the various instrumental and vocal renditions.

The pupils displayed in every instance careful training and played with ease and skill, while the vocal solos were extremely attractive. Mrs. Dallin and Miss Wood received several bouquets of pretty flowers.

The programme was as follows:—Pupils of Mrs. Dallin: Piano solo, Beethoven's "1st movement, Sonata pathetique," played by Miss Olive Prest; piano solo, "At Evening," played by Miss Pearl Thomas; piano solo, "Sir Rupert," and "Curious Story," played by Miss Alice Bradshaw; piano solo, "Gypsy Rondo," played by Miss Myrtle Jones; vocal solo, "The Lass with the Delicate Air," and "Bird Lullaby," sung by Miss Violet Buckham; piano solo, "Spring Song," played by Miss Irene Killenbeck; piano solos, Bach's "Two Part Invention," and Chopin's "Valse Lento," played by Miss Pearl Smith; piano solos, Beethoven's "1st Movement, Sonata," and "Morceau Characteristique," played by Roy Tranter, and piano solo, Weber's "Rondo Brillante," played by Miss Olive Prest.

Pupils of Miss Mary Wood: Piano duet, "Valse Venetienne," played by the Misses Margaret Patoine and Lillian Wesley; piano solo, "Barcarolle," played by Miss Molly Siegel; piano solo, Chopin's "Prelude," Opus 28, No. 6, played by Fraser Bradshaw, piano solo, "Bluette," played by Miss Jennie Smart; piano solo, "Will o' the Wisp," played by Miss Lillian Wesley; piano solo, "Success Mazurka," played by Miss Dorothy Allen; vocal solo, "Shipmates o' Mine," sung by Mr. Edwin Rowe; piano solos, "Etude," and "Butterflies," played by Miss Margaret Patoine; piano solo, "Solfeggietto," played by Jack Bradshaw; piano solo, "Second Valse," Opus 5, played by Miss Mabel Copson; piano solo, "Les Sylphes," played by Gordon Dearborn; piano solo, "Fifth Nocturne," played by Miss Adelle Vincent; piano solos, Bach's "Fuga V." and Rubenstein's "Kammenoi Ostrow," played by Gordon Dearborn and Jack Bradshaw.

London Mayor May Get Official Robes

LONDON, Ont., May 18.—Flowing robes trimmed with ermine may be purchased for the Mayor of London in time for the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, if the plans of Alderman D. F. Glass and a number of the Aldermen are accepted by the Council. Recently Mayor Mederic Martin of Montreal greeted in his robes the members of a civic delegation from London, and the Quebec official made a profound impression on the Londoners. Acting Mayor Edwin Smith is likely to be the first to wear the robes.

Women's Danger

Of offending under the oldest hygienic handicap now ended. New way provides true protection—discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

WITH the old-time "sanitary pad" women realize their constant danger of offense, plus the embarrassment of disposal. And thus spend unhappy days.

"KOTEX," a new and remarkable way, is now used by 8 in 10 better-class women.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

You dine, dance, motor for hours in sheerest frocks without a second's doubt or fear.

It deodorizes, too. And thus stops all danger of offending.

✓ Discards as easily as tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX."

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Be sure you get the genuine, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Takes his Milk eagerly

"We don't need to coax Sonny when we give him Puffed Rice"

One mother who has found out how to get her boy to take his milk at every meal tells me how she does it.

"We don't need to coax Sonny when we give him Puffed Rice", she says.

Sonny thinks Puffed Rice is just like nuts. It tastes as good. He's always ready for it, whenever he feels the slightest hunger.

And wise mother pours over the Puffed Rice generous quantities of whole milk. As these intriguing grains float about in the milk, Sonny eats both with all the zest of a small boy.

Just serve Quaker Puffed Grains and you won't have to coax your children to take the whole milk they should have every day. You'll notice their appetites will improve and they will long for other wholesome foods rather than for things which are too rich or sweet for them.

Puffed Wheat, Too

Quaker Puffed Wheat is another cereal delight—grains of wheat exploded like the rice. Most mothers get a package each of the wheat and the rice, and thus supply variety to all the family.

NEW CRUISER IS VERY FAST

H. M. S. Berwick Maintains a Speed of 32 to 35 Knots.

OIL BURNING TYPE.

LONDON, May 18 (Canadian Press).—The British cruiser Berwick, laid down in September, 1923, and the first of her class to be completed, was given her high-speed trial yesterday. For eight hours she was driven under full power. The propelling machinery developed over 80,000 horse-power and the cruiser maintained a speed of between 32 to 35 knots.

H.M.S. Berwick, an oil burner, is equipped with geared turbines which drive four propellers. Four other vessels of the same type were provided for under the 1923-24 estimates—the Cornwall, Cumberland, Kent and Suffolk.

They are of the 10,000 tons standard displacement established by the Washington Naval Treaty, and are marked by their high freeboard and flush decks. Each will carry a main armament of eight 8-inch rifles mounted in turrets.

4th PETERBOROUGH TROOP

"Every day in every way, we are getting better and better," and so went the meeting of the 4th Peterboro Troop last Thursday night, at their troop room.

The Owl Patrol, who were the duty patrol for the evening were there in plenty of time to clean up, arrange the flag, and arrange the observation sign. The observation sign was the Troop Charter turned upside down. The Owls would have won a point in the competition if no other Scout had observed it, but the keen-eyed patrol leader of the Kangaroo patrol spotted it, and so won the point for his patrol.

A relay race was run around the block on which the Westclox Building on George St. is located. The Crow patrol won by a small margin. Then for a "breather," a game of dodge-ball was played in the troop room, followed by a twenty minute instruction period, under the supervision of the patrol leaders in their corners.

A short session on life saving was given by the scoutmaster, in recognition of the coming swimming days, in which it was pointed out that every boy should know something about how to rescue a drowning person. First of all he should know how to swim, or if he can't, he should make it his duty until he does know, and not only know how to swim one way, but be able to swim on back, holding another person above water, or on side using the two legs and one arm or to be able to dive from the top of the water, five or six feet below the surface. The troop was shown five different methods of rescue, and five different ways to release a drowning person's grip. But practice is essential, and water is the place to learn how, not on terra firma. It was also pointed out to use discretion, that means, that if there was anything handy to throw to the victim, such as life preserver, long rope, or pole, why by all means don't take the chance of risking another life unless absolute necessary.

The Council Fire was a howling success! The singing of "O Canada," and two new songs from the new song books, were given with a hearty good-will, while the game of "Poor Pussy" which followed certainly sounded as if a cat show was being held. The scoutmaster, Mr. Corbet, then finished telling a story about a beaver, known as Captain Jack, the leader of a band of about twenty other beavers. They went on a long journey to escape the traps and snares of the incoming trappers and after many thrilling adventures, finally made their home at the mouth of a creek. The story was told how they made their dam, bringing to the fore their ingenuity, and their wonderful spirit of teamwork. During the winter months they were all trapped or shot by trappers, except Captain Jack. He was very lonely, and to rid his mind of his sad thoughts, he travelled till he came to a place where he didn't have to make another dam. He tried to find contentment here, and in a measure he succeeded but there was a family lived nearby, who bothered him quite a bit, but gradually he lost his fear of them.

One day, sitting on a rock, near the creekbank, he lay basking in the sun, and so fell asleep. Two boys came along the creek, carrying a shotgun. They had never been taught to value the lives of wild things, but belonged to the vast horde of people, who go forth to kill, kill, until there is nothing left to kill, and yet call themselves sportsmen. One of the boys spied Captain Jack, took careful aim and fired. The Captain spun off from his perch and disappeared. He had a hard fight to win back to his tunnel, but there he lay in a half-exhausted state. Once he heard the tread of the boys above his head searching for another of God's creatures to exterminate, but darkness came, and with it dropped the curtain on Captain Jack's life.

The meeting closed with the singing of God Save the King, the lowering of the Union Jack, and Scout's Silence.

Chief Commissioner. Signature of Issuer.

ABOVE is the form of the liquor permits to be granted—on payment of $2— to residents in Ontario on Wednesday of this week. The sale to tourists and non-residents will not open until the stores are operating. The back of the permits is ruled in lines and columns so that the date, quantity, kind of liquor, store number and vendor's initials may be recorded. Evidently the liquor control board expects to sell half a million permits or so, for this sample is No. 520,698.

Leafs Lose Opener - Ruth Connects for 9th Homer

LEAFS LOSE OPENING GAME

Eight Players Banished in a Spectacular 14 Innings Duel.

CALL ON POLICE.

NEW YORK, May 18 (Canadian Press).—The Stars used four pinch hitters yesterday, all of them delivering hits, and Syracuse won the first game of the series from Rochester at Syracuse, 12 to 11. Five home runs were collected, three by Syracuse. Lee Head, Rochester catcher, tied the score in the ninth with a homer on Haid's second pitch that scored three runs.

In a spectacular 14-inning duel marked by near riots and the banishment of eight players from the field at various stages of the game, the Bisons repulsed the Maple Leafs in the opening game of the series at Buffalo by a score of 1 to 0. Ogden, who relieved Thomas, won his game with a single, scoring the winning run. Umpire Hayes had numerous clashes with the players, while Huber and Hargrave became involved in a fist fight at third base and the presence of police on the field three times during the game was required.

Single Wins Game.

Jocke Conlan's single to left field with the bases full in the tenth frame at Newark yesterday gave the Bears a hard-fought ten-inning victory over Jersey City in the opening game of a four-game series, by the score of 5 to 4. Al Mamaux, Newark's veteran twirler, was invincible with men on bases. Errors by Kingdon and Lee gave the Jerseys two runs. Al. Moore, Jersey City outfielder, hit a long home run.

Overcoming a small lead in the fourth inning with a rally that sent five runs across the plate, the Orioles gave the Reading Aces their nineteenth consecutive defeat in a game at Baltimore which ended 7 to 5. G. Maisel's wild throw and Crane's error, together with hits by Lake, Scott, Ogden, Porter and Sheedy, did not work.

NEW ZEALANDRS LOSE AT LEYTON

Essex, Winners By Five Wickets in Cricket Match.

LONDON, May 18 (Canadian Press Cable).—The touring New Zealand cricket eleven tasted their first defeat at the close of yesterday's game at Leyton, when Essex disposed of them by five wickets. In their previous turns-out the Antipodeans had drawn with Middlesex at Lords and with Martineau's XI. The scores were not particularly startling, although the New Zealand Captain, T. C. Lowry, was again useful at the bat, registering 61 runs as his high score. C. S. Dempster, with 79, was the top scorer of the game, while J. E. Mills recorded 64.

For the English county eleven Russell had 76, O'Connor 65, Nichols 61, and Hubert Ashton 52.

The team scores were:

New Zealand 289 and 208.

Essex 373 and 125 (for 5 wickets).

The batsmen did not cut such an aggressive figure in the county games which wound up last evening, only seven centuries being made. Of these two went to Surrey.

The champion county, Lancashire, had their run of victories brought to a stop when Derbyshire took points from them at Ilkeston by winning on the first innings.

The score board:

Payton, Notts vs. Warwick, 148.

Sandham, Surrey vs. Somerset, 148.

Shepherd, Surrey vs. Somerset, 134.

Tate, Sussex vs. Worcester, 122.

Hearne, Middlesex vs. Hants, 121.

Smith, Warwick vs. Notts, 101 not out.

ALL-CANADIAN TEAM TO MEET BRITISHERS

British Ryder Cup Team To Play in Toronto in June.

MONTREAL, Que., May 18 (Canadian Press)—An all-Canadian team of professional golfers will meet the British Ryder Cup team in matches at the Toronto Golf Club, Saturday, June 18, and over the Royal Montreal course here, Tuesday, June 21, according to the selection announced to-day following a meeting of executive members of the Royal Canadian Golf Association at the Beaconsfield golf club.

Following are the ten Canadian pros who will meet a similar number of the visiting golfers, captained by Abe Mitchell, for a cash prize of $1,000 — Charles R. Murray, Royal Montreal ,who will captain the Canadian team; Phil Taylor, Oak Bay, Victoria, B.C.; Dave Black, Shaughnessy Heights, Vancouver; J. Rimmer, Jasper Park, Alberta; Eric Bannister, St. Charles, Winnipeg; J. Johnstone, Rosedale, Toronto; Andrew Kay, Lambton, Toronto; Nicol Thompson, Hamilton; Albert H. Murray, Beaconsfield, Montreal; Dave Spittal, Timberdale, Montreal. Reserves, Jock Brown, Summerlea, Montreal; George Cumming, Toronto Golf Club.

Of the Canadian team, four are from the west and six from the east, the latter being represented by three Ontario professionals and three from clubs in the province of Quebec. In making the selection, the R.C.G.A. committee gave due consideration to the playing ability and records of the Canadian professionals. The committee faced a difficult task in selecting ten of the best Canadian professionals, for, while it was a simple matter to choose some of the first ranking players, the task became more involved after the first four or five. All things considered, they are satisfied that they have selected the best ten.

The R.C.G.A. has been making strong efforts to unify golf in Canada and the selection of the Canadian team to meet the visiting British golfers is yet another indication of the national scope the game is assuming in the Dominion.

The same team of 10 players will represent Canada both at Toronto and here. Owing to the arrangements for the matches and the prize involved, no change in the personnel of the Canadian team would be advisable after the first match as a means of possible strengthening of the Canadian side. The R. C. G. A. committee members present at Beaconsfield were at the Point Claire Club in connection with the friendly meeting between Ontario and Quebec golfers and utilized the opportunity presented to complete the plans for the visit of the British Ryder Cup golfers. Those in attendance were, W. W. Walker, president of the R.C.G.A.; B. L. Anderson, secretary-treasurer; Ralph Connable, Toronto; Alfred Collyer and T. O. Lyall, members of the executive committee of the Association.

MERCANTILE LEAGUE.

There will be another meeting of the Mercantile Baseball League this evening at 7 o'clock sharp. Any club wishing to enter a team should make sure to have a representative at the meeting, as this will be the last chance. Four clubs have signified their intention of entering teams but there is room for a couple more yet.

AMERICANS OUT OF BRITISH TOURNEY

Eliminated in Third Round of British Women's Golf Championship.

NEWCASTLE, County Down, Ireland, May 18 (Canadian Press Cable) — The last American challenger was eliminated in the third round of the British women's open golf championship yesterday, but there still remains a distinct possibility that the title will go out of England for the first time in history. Two Frenchwomen are in the fourth round, and one of them is the favorite. She is Mlle. Simone de la Chaume, and her countrywoman is Mlle. Leblan. Both are playing excellent golf.

Six British women are arrayed against the two cross-Channel stars in the fourth round. They are the English champion, Molly Gourlay, the Derbyshire champion Enid Wilson, the Scottish player Jean Gow, Dolly Pearson of Neville, Mrs. Percy of Almouth and Mrs. Kelway of Strule.

BELLE MAHONE IS COMING HERE

Many Other Fine Trotting Horses Will Race on Holiday.

Everything is in readiness for a big day on Tuesday, the 24th of May, when many of the best trotters horses in the country will gather at the Exhibition Grounds to display their ability in competition.

Some of those under colors will be: Belle Mahone, Jack Abbe, Major Hal, Just Jack, Bub, Hal E, Mister Healey, Charles Stout, Lou Gratton, Valley Todd, Hal Direct, Doris Patch, Grenville Lady, Dick Windsor, Leona Gratton, and Five Points.

All of these horses have interesting performances to their credit and it will be well worth the while of all those interested in the welfare of man's best friend to be on hand to see them perform.

The track is in good condition now, it has been rebuilt and is now one of the best in the country.

The Peterborough Turf Club is sparing no efforts to make the meet one of the best ever held in this part of the Dominion.

There will be a 2:14, 2:20, and 2:30 class with good purses in each with plenty of lively and spirited competition.

Boston and Chicago Battle 22 Innings

BOSTON, Mass., May 18. — (Canadian Press).—Running up a total of forty innings in two consecutive playing days, Boston and Chicago battled for 22 innings here yesterday. As in the previous extra inning encounter, the Cubs were victorious by a 4 to 3 score.

When the game threatened to reach the major league record of 26 innings established in 1920 by the Braves and Brooklyn here, Bob Smith, who went the full distance for Boston, passed Wilson, the first man to face him at the opening of the twenty-second. Stephenson sacrificed the runner along and Grimm brought him home with the winning run by a single to centre field.

In the game played here on May 1, 1920, which set the record for length of games, Leon Cadore, of Brooklyn, and Joe Oeschger of Boston went the whole route. On Saturday last the Cubs and Braves went 18 innings, Chicago ultimately winning, 7 to 2. Monday's game was postponed because of rain, so the two extra inning encounters were consecutive contests in the same series.

PENNOCK NOW LEADS HURLERS

Wins Fifth Consecutive Victory in as Many Starts This Season.

HOMER FOR RUTH.

NEW YORK, May 18 (Canadian Press).—Herb Pennock took his place as the leading pitcher of the American League by defeating the Tigers at Detroit yesterday, 9 to 2. It was Pennock's fifth victory is as many starts this season. Babe Ruth regained leadership among American home run hitters when he drove the ball over the centre field fence in the eighth inning. It was his ninth of the season, and it came when the bases were empty. Rip Collins was hammered hard by the Yankees and suffered his first defeat of the present campaign. Bob Meusel, outfielder of the Yankees, was out of the game, having broken a small blood vessel in his left leg when he slid into second base in Monday's game.

Collects 16 Hits.

The Browns collected 16 hits off three Philadelphia pitchers at St. Louis and won, 11 to 4. Ehmke was batted out in the fifth inning. Sisler brought in the first run for the Browns in the first inning when he and E. Miller worked the double steal.

Boston hammered Joe Brown, making his first start for the White Sox this season, off the hill in the first inning and then continued hitting off Cole in the sixth and seventh innings to defeat Chicago, 6 to 3, in the final game of the series at Chicago. Slim Harriss was hit freely by the Sox but managed to tighten up in the pinches.

Washington knocked three Cleveland pitchers off the rubber and won, 12 to 0, at Cleveland, breaking even in the two-game series. Speaker, former Cleveland manager, who went hitless in the first game of the series, drew three singles, a double and a base on balls in five trips to the plate, scoring four runs. Lisenbee was a puzzle throughout, holding Cleveland to four hits, three of which were popped flies.

REDS LOSE IN PITCHING DUEL

Giants Tag Cincinnati For Their Sixth Consecutive Defeat.

HARGRAVE INJURED.

NEW YORK, May 18 (Canadian Press).—The New York Giants tagged the Reds with their sixth consecutive defeat in winning yesterday's struggle at the Polo Grounds by 2 to 0, Grimes vanquishing Carl Mays in a pitching duel. Lindstrom, New York third baseman, was out of the game with a strained back, and Jackson took his place. Hargrave, Reds' catcher, was injured when he was hit by a pitched ball in the eighth inning and Picinich replaced him.

At Boston, Chicago and the Braves approached the major league record for length of game when they battled yesterday for 22 innings. The Cubs ultimately won 4 to 3, on a base on balls, Stephenson's bunt and Grimm's single. The Cubs were held runless from the fifth inning to the twenty-second, when R. Smith weakened under the strain. The Cubs used three hurlers, Blake, Brillheart and Osborn, the latter coming through as victor. The Braves totalled 15 hits against 20 for Chicago.

Cards Defeated.

Jack Scott won a hurling duel Philadelphia and Philadelphia took from Grover Cleveland Alexander at the third and deciding game of the series from St. Louis by a 4 to 3 margin. Scott was invincible from the first to the ninth, but in the final inning Jim Bottomley drove one over the fence with Frisch on base, accounting for the last two Cardinal tallies.

Brooklyn gained an even break in the four-game series with the Pirates at Brooklyn by taking the concluding fray yesterday by 2 to 1. Dazzy Vance allowed eight hits against three yielded by Hill and Morrison of Pittsburgh. Partridge hit a homer in the first. The Pirates' only run came in the ninth on Wright's single and Grantham's triple.

PASS HOCKEY DRAFT RULE

California Pro League Admitted By Proxy To Conference.

PROBLEM SSETTLED.

TORONTO, May 18.—The conference of the minor professional hockey league representatives and Frank Calder, president of the N.H.L., the "Judge Landis" of professional hockey came to a close yesterday after a morning spent in fruitful confab. When the meeting was finished many matters between the National Hockey League and the minor leagues were straightened out and a satisfactory settlement arrived at. All the minor leagues with the exception of the American Association had their representatives present. The deelgates were: C. C. Platt and Geo. V. Brown of Boston, representing the Canadian-American League; Charles King, of Windsor, representative and president of the Canadian League, and Col. E. W. Seaborn of Moose Jaw, president and representative of the Prairie League. Mr. Calder was empowered to rpresent the newly organized California professional league.

The meeting dealt with many problems and the most important was the drafting of players from the minor leagues to the major loop, the N.H.L. To cover both the N.H.L. and the minors a draft rule was put through. The National Hockey League has the right to draft any player from each of the minor clubs of the Canadian-American, Canadian and Prairie Leagues at a price of $5,000. The drafting period for this year will date from May 18 until July 1.

The arrangement by which the N. H. L. clubs loaned players to the minor league clubs has been amended so that a player so loaned must stay at least twenty-one days with the minor league club. The date of recall of players to the major league clubs was advanced to February 15.

The California Professional Hockey League composed of clubs in Hollywood and Los Angeles was admitted by proxy as party to the minor league conference.

The world's record for the longest ski jump is 213 feet, made by Anders Haugen in Colorado in 1919.

Sion will enter the $50,000 Canadian National Exhibition swim in August in Lake Ontario at Toronto as well as the Lake George marathon sponsored by the American Legion.

LIQUOR WENT ACROSS BORDER

the labels over on only one occasion, and that was when they were seized.

No Money Demanded

The operations of the Cronmiller and White Brewing and Malting Company of Welland, Ont., were looked into. Evidence of Alan L. Brooks, secretary of this company was that no money had been contributed to W. M. Egan, formerly of Windsor, Ont. A lawyer who, according to evidence, made demands for money on many Ontario brewers and distillers. Egan, he said, had not demanded any money from him. Strong beer was exported to Detroit and Buffalo, the great majority of the shipments being made by boat because of the brewery location on the Welland Canal.

A. E. Nash, commission auditor, informed the commission that arrears of this brewery for sales and gallonage taxes amounted to $10,132. This was based on the assumption that export business was subject to a sales tax.

George M. Grabell, at present manager of Cronmiller & White, admitted that the export business of the brewery had fallen off recently. Business might improve when the new Ontario law went into effect.

From A. J. Cawdon, head of the Criminal Investigation Department of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Commission learned that there had been a "tightening up" along the Niagara frontier recently. Mr. Cawdron gave it as his opinion that this was partly due to the customs probe and partly to the border patrol. He understood from reports received some time ago, that there had been a good deal of laxity along here.

The addition of Pensacola to the circuit is expected to give added strength to the Southeastern Baseball League. The Southeastern is one of the few newcomers in minor league baseball that have made good.

A school has been opened in London to teach beginners the art of ski-walking and jumping.

REGENT THEATRE HAS NEW SEATS

Chairs Of Most Up-to-date Type Installed Recently.

The management of the Regent Theatre has just completed the installation of new seats over the entire ground floor of the theatre. Each seat consists of sixteen springs, is well padded and upholstered in leather, and is trimmed with mahogany. These seats are the finest theatre seats installed in any theatre in Eastern Ontario and have been manufactured specially for this theatre by The Canadian Office and School Furniture Company of Preston, Ontario, which has specialized in this line of work for years.

It has always been the policy of the owners of the Regent to look after the comfort of their patrons and in this new addition they are fulfilling their aim more than ever. During the last night or two the patrons have been slightly inconvenienced while the seats were being changed but the management assures them that this inconvenience will be more than made up with the comfort of the new seats.

Admission prices will remain the same except when showing an outstanding picture of the type of "Michael Strogoff" when they will be slightly advanced.

WOMAN TELLS HOW HUSKY BENEFITTED HER IN EVERY WAY

"I am feeling better in every way and have gained several pounds since I started taking Husky. I am still taking this medicine and getting fine results." This statement was made by Mde. J .McKay, 4445 Rivard St., Montreal, in speaking of her experience with Husky, the herb preparation, now distributed by local drug stores.

Speaking of her case in more detail, Madame McKey said: "For about four years I suffered from catarrh of the stomach and neuritis in my left side. I also suffered from biliousness, dizzy spells and constipation. I could hardly do my housework and would always feel tired before the day was half gone. I had to be very careful about food as everything seemed to disagree with me.

MDE. J. McKEY

"I began taking Husky sometime ago and have taken three bottles of this medicine so far. It has helped me wonderfully and I can now eat good, hearty meals and my food digests. The catarrhal condition has been relieved and the neuritis is very much better. Before taking Husky I slept very little, but I now sleep fine. I am feeling much better in every way and have gained several pounds since I started taking Husky. I am still taking this medicine and getting fine results. I will always praise Husky."

At Good Drug Stores.

Every man and woman suffering in any way Husky is recommended to relieve, owes it to himself or to herself to give the Husky treatment a trial. Husky can be obtained at good drug stores everywhere and when taken regularly and over a reasonable length of time it will help you just as it is helping thousands of others.

IN MEMORIAM.

ARMSTRONG. — In loving memory of George Armstrong, who died May 18, 1925:

He always had a cheerful word,
His smiles we see them yet,
His tender love for everyone
We never shall forget.

The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day;
But never will the one we loved,
From memory pass away.

He is not gone. He is just away
Upon that golden shore,
Where the light that shines so brightly there
Shall shine for ever more.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps him ever near us,
Though he died two years ago.
—Sadly missed by Wife and Family.

OBITUARY

THOMAS PROUT.

The death occurred suddenly on Wednesday morning at Galt Hospital, of Thomas Prout, of Acton West, in his 79th year.

Deceased was born in Cornwall, Eng., and came to this country when 20 years of age, settling on a farm. This occupation he followed until ten years ago, when, following the death of his wife, he retired, living since then at New Dundee and Peterborough. For the past three months he had been visiting his daughter at Preston, Mrs. J. E. Tripp, Duke street. He was taken ill some three weeks ago, death occurring just a week after he entered the Galt Hospital.

The funeral service was held on Friday at 11 a.m. at the home of his daughter ,Mrs. J. E. Tripp, Preston, and proceeded to Acton cemetery, where interment was made. Service was conducted by Rev. Arthur O. W. Foreman, of Preston United church.

He leaves to mourn his loss one son, William of Richmond Hill, and four daughters, Mrs. J. E. Tripp, Preston, Mrs. Fred Wright, Toronto, Mrs. Dr. N. A. Morrison, Chicago, and Mrs. Richard Patten, Peterborough, with whom he has been living for the past three years.

The pallbearers were his son William, his four sons-in-law, Fred Wright, Edward Tripp, Richard Patten and Dr. N. A. Morrison and one grandchild, Frank Tripp.

ROBERT HENRY JACKSON.

There died in Peterborough, on Tuesday, May 17, Robert Henry Jackson, in his 71st year. He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing wife and two daughters, Mrs. F. A. Clark, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. W. H. Stroude, of Montreal.

The late Mr. Jackson was an old resident of Peterborough, coming here about 40 years ago. He established the well-known piano business, then later took over the Crown Inn. For the past few years he has lived retired in Lakefield.

The funeral will take place from Comstock's Funeral Home, on Thursday, May 19, at 11 a.m., and proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

JOHN H. BALDWIN.

The death occurred this morning in New York city, of John H. Baldwin. The deceased was for a short time a resident of Peterborough, where he assisted in the construction of several of the city's paved streets, and his wife was formerly Miss Marie Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen, 422 Rogers street, East City.

Wheat Prices Rise Sharply On Bad Weather Reports

CHICAGO, May 18. — (Canadian Press.)—With snow and rain drenching Alberta and Saskatchewan, active buying and scarcity of sellers led to sharp advances to-day for wheat. Owing to heavy rains, corn also jumped upward. July and September touching a new high price record for the season. Opening at 1-4 cent. off to 3-8 cent. advance, wheat later showed gains of 2 1-2 cents in some cases. Corn started at 1-8 cent to 7-8 cent and continued to ascend. Oats were firmer. Provisions held steady.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 140 3-4, July 145 5-8. Corn, May 85 1-2, July 89 3-4. Oats, May 48 5-8, July 49 1-4.

Mining Market Slow; Noranda Drops Quickly

TORONTO, May 18. — (Canadian Press.) — Business was slow on the standard mining exchange to-day and little of interest was recorded. Noranda was the feature, declining 58 to 22.70. This contrasts with the recent high of 25.00 a few days ago. Tough Oakes Burn was weaker, declining three at 40. Amulet gained two at 138. Area was 1-4 higher at 30 while Atlas was up 1-8 at 5 7-8. Wright Hargreaves, old issue, was up five at 12.10 while the new issue of this stock gained four at 6.04.

TORONTO, May 18. — Canadian Press. — Listless trading took place on the Toronto stock exchange today and the only issue to show any real signs of activity was Walker's. More than seven thousand shares of this stock were sold, but the issue remained unchanged at 52. Seagram's declined 7-8 at 26 7-8; Gooderham & Worts dropped 1 3-8 at 57½, and International Nickel was ¼ lower at 58¾. Davies' 'A' registered 1½ points higher at 44. The balance of the list was unchanged.

LIQUOR SALE OPENS JUNE 1

Permits Are Put On Sale Today All Over Ontario.

AGENTS APPOINTED.

TORONTO, May 18.—The sale of liquor in the Province of Ontario for beverage purposes will commence on Wednesday, June 1st. It was learned last night that this is the date which has been set for the opening of the first liquor stores throughout the Province and for initiating the operation of the Liquor Control Act passed by the Ontario Legislature last session. While it is hardly likely that all stores will be ready for operation at this time, it is understood to be the intention of the Commission to give service in all areas throughout the Province without discrimination.

The proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor putting into force the remaining clauses of the Liquor Control Act including that repealing the Ontario Temperance Act will, it is learned, be signed on the day preceding that of the opening of the stores. At present time about five-eighths of the new Act has been brought into force in order to allow the Commission to make its preparations. The sections authorizing the actual sale for beverage purposes and governing its distribution, however, have still to be proclaimed.

Liquor permits will be issued for the first time to-day to permanent residents of the Province and preparations have been made in every important centre in Ontario to provide for an adequate service to the early applicants. In the smaller centres agents of the Board have been appointed temporarily to take charge of this while in Toronto, Hamilton, and other cities where dispensaries are already in operation the Board is utilizing the old staffs.

That Cold

A cold may come upon you without any apparent reason, but you can be sure that there is an accumulation of poisons within your body or you would not catch cold.

Exposure to a draft is often an exciting factor in the development of a cold, but if you are in proper tone a draft will not affect you. If your body is free of poisons you are immune to colds. If your spine is in normal alignment, the spinal nerves free of pressure, and you live rationally, poisons will not accumulate in your system.

CHIROPRACTIC SPINAL ADJUSTMENTS will aid you in overcoming a cold, and also in establishing immunity to colds and other ailments which are so prevalent at this time of year.

COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED BY CANADIAN LEGION MEMBERS FOR NEXT MONTH'S CONVENTION

Put Final Touch To Arrangements For Provincial Convention.

DELEGATES CHOSEN.

Announced Premier Ferguson May Take Part in Proceedings.

The appointment of committees to put the final touch to the arrangements for the Provincial Convention of the British Empire Service Legion to be held here on June 1, 2 and 3; the announcement that Col. J. L. Ralston, W. H. Price and possibly, Premier Ferguson, would take part in the proceedings of the Convention; and an address explanatory of the aims, objects and efforts of the Legion from the Provincial Secretary, Alexander Shields, were the outstanding features of the meeting held last night in the Hall of the Legion on Murray Street.

Captain James Abraham occupied the chair, Secretary Sidney Whateley, Captain Rev. Paul Costello, Colonel C. H. Ackerman, and Comrade Crowe were appointed delegates to the Convention. The following committees were appointed—Reception, Dr. N. H. Sutton, Colonel Johnstone, Comrades Hurrle, Bonner, Hardie, Fletcher and Nurse Lynch. Publicity—J. R. Heron, Sidney Whatley, J. D. Fletcher, and R. E. Layfield.

Before the address the meeting was called to order and two minutes silence was observed in commemoration of fallen comrades. Mr. Shields in his address briefly reviewed the conditions which led up to the formation of the Legion.

Were Split Apart.

Ex-soldiers' organizations, he said, suffered from a state of chaos for over three years. They were split apart. In Ontario alone there were no fewer than thirteen organizations. For several years, it had been impossible to get the men into the one big body that all knew was necessary if veterans and dependants were to be looked after in the proper manner. Following the visit of Earl Haig to Canada, a Convention was held at Winnipeg and unification was decided on. A rough draft of the proposed constitution was drawn up largely the work of General Gunn and Colonel McKay, and brought before the London Convention last year and accepted. There were many difficulties to overcome. An executive was formed of every rank in the army, and of every grade in civil life, from the general to the private, from the man in business to the worker in the workshop. All they had to work with was the skeleton of the old organizations; there were no funds, and all the executive had was the backing of the men who were interested in the formation of the new organization.

In Toronto, the home of many organizations, there had been four offices all doing exactly the same work—good work—but which could have been done much more efficiently under a united body. Within four months of the act of union these four offices were merged into one—into the Canadian Legion. A steady growth followed and, in all, 102 branches were formed in the province with a membership which was large, considering the difficulties that had to be overcome. The speaker said he was looking ahead to the Convention to be held in this city in two weeks' time. He looked to that Convention to be a milestone in the history of the Legion, and he believed that in two years time, between 60 and 70 per cent of the ex-service men of the Province would be enrolled in the Legion.

Caring for Men.

Next to organization the great problem was that of caring for the men who needed it most. Every sanitarium and every asylum in the Province was choked with men, who in many cases, received no Government aid. In ten months, $65,000 were disbursed in pensions and retroactive pensions—through the labors of the Legion. This meant more than the mere securing of a pension. It meant that the man was cared for and provided for, and that a burden was lifted from the shoulders of the municipality.

Appeals were made by the Legion to Parliament, asking that body to put on the Statute Books, legislation which it had already passed in previous sessions, but which had been killed by the Senate—legislation which was important to over 500 branches of the Legion throughout Canada. Parliament toyed with this request, but finally, pressure secured a concession in the shape of an extension of a time limit for claims for pensions on account of disability. Why, asked the speaker, should a man be barred because he had tried to play the game, and had endeavored to carry on in civil life in spite of his disability without claiming a pension? The time limit had been extended for two years more. They had to aim at having the time limit

London Crowds Cheer President of France

LONDON, May 19 (Canadian Press)—Crowds lining the streets cheered President Doumergue of France yesterday as he was driven in state to the famous Guildhall, to be the guest of honor at a banquet and receive an address of welcome in a gold casket from the Lord Mayor and city dignitaries.

The presence of Cabinet ministers, ranking naval and military officers, the Archbishop of Canterbury and many social celebrities made the function, in the setting of the historic Guildhall, a brilliant one.

SOVIET'S NOTE NOT WORRYING GREAT BRITAIN

Such a Note Was Anticipated Before the Raid Was Launched.

LIABLE UNDER LAW.

Government, However, Seems Satisfied Concerning General Result of Raid.

LONDON, May 19.—The British government will have little difficulty in replying to the Soviet note of protest over the recent raid on Arcos, Ltd., the British United Press learns, because such a note was anticipated before the raid was launched.

Downing Street will insist that Mr. Kintchuk, head of the Russian trade delegation, enjoying no diplomatic immunity, although previous statements that he did are being quoted against the government by Labor and the Liberals, and some mystery seems to exist.

At any event, even foreign embassies are liable to invasion under the old British law, which declares that when the realm is in danger such action can be taken, though naturally such drastic measures would not be pursued unless there had previously been a breach of diplomatic relations.

"Jicks" in Trouble

Meanwhile the failure to find the much-discussed "missing document" about which it has been impossible to gain any accurate information, is very embarrassing for the government, and rumors still persist that Sir William Joynson-Hicks, the Home Secretary and authority for the raid, will resign because of his inability completely to justify the taking of so serious a step.

Members of the government say "No" to this rumor but if the Arcos organization brings an action against the authorities, as threatened in the Soviet note, and should such an action be successful, the position of "Jicks" would undoubtedly be precarious, although he survived when the Sinn Feiners in London were rounded up and compensation had to be paid them at the expense of the country, an action for which the Home Secretary was likewise responsible.

Government Satisfied

The government, however, seems to be satisfied concerning the general result of the raid, which it believes is the greatest blow Communist activities have so far suffered here. Furthermore, it is convinced that the raid has placed in its possession very valuable information which can be used against the Soviet administration at any time.

It is also confidently believed that the invasion of Arcos Ltd., has taught the Russians a much needed lesson and that relations between Britain and the Union of Soviet Republics, instead of becoming worse, may even improve, in view of the fact that Russia has for some time been taking extraordinary liberties with British tolerance.

Dislikes Action

The Union, it is emphasized is always happy so long as there is a mere interchange of notes and arguments going on, but that when definite action is taken it seems to be unable to make any effective reply.

Another blow for the Russians was the government's refusal to have anything to do with Eugene Chen, Cantonese foreign minister at Hankow, and for the time being at any rates, they seem to have lost their grip on the Chinese situation, having been beaten by the course of events, and Britain's determination to protect her subjects and property in the Far East.

While there is some anxiety in Labor circles as to what the Soviet retort to all this will be, members of the government are confident nothing serious will happen.
